Hitherto the fashionable fishing costume has still been the sensible and Jacquard. The color is worsted, in fine soft silk. The color is grayish myrtle, in green great prominence, in some in different shades, ranging from the light green to the dark, and the darker tone of the champagne bottle. Glorinna is accorded a very prominent place in the color silks for next year. This is a terra cotta shade, used in grounds as well as relief effects. In the former it is relieved by black and white and contrasting colors. Artsilk is a new prime shade, a dark rich purple. It is to be utilized in these same cost in all the old shades, with the addition of at least one newcomer that promises well. This is a beautiful mauve, a foulard tone, a trifle lighter than the famous Bond street. A new dark shade is called Bismarck.

In effects there is an unmistakable tendency to broken plaids all the old ideas. This is shown in the great prevalence of so-called "broken-up" designs. Shows in neckwear has not been shown yet, but it is predicted there will be little change.

ALBERT EDWARD TYRRELL.

A SUBMARINE BOAT.

It Successful It May Revolutionize Naval Warfare.

Mr. Baker's Wonderful Craft That Has Been Especially Navigated Under Water—How to Destroy an Ironclad.

The hull of the boat is forty feet long from stem to stern, fourteen feet deep and nine feet beam. The hull itself, says the San Francisco Chronicle, weighs twenty tons, and with the machinery and ballast will be twenty-five or twenty-five tons. The boat is built on perfect curves, and a cross section from side to side shows it to be a true ellipse. The hull is constructed of oak, an ideal wood for this kind of submarine boats. The skeleton work, which really forms the hull, is covered with water-proof cloth, and then planked with yellow pine, one inch oak, the structure being capable of standing a pressure of seventy-five pounds to the square inch. On two of customer, who objected seriously to the long cut of the single-breasted cutaways.

DESIGNS FOR FALL AND WINTER OVERCOATS.

"I know," said he, "that the new style will be unbecoming to small men, but it is the fashion of London and Paris, and you know the old adage: 'One might as well be out of the world as out of style.'"

The tall man will, I think, like the new styles. They are longer in cut, way and all coats, frock coats, top coats, ulsters and as well in reception and dress coats. The double-breasted frock coat will be made short waisted, extending in length well below the knee, but fitting very tightly about the body and anything but baggy. The collar will be a low roll, the lapel faced with silk or satin. The buttons will be of the cloth of which the coat is made, and five buttons on each sleeve will be the thing. Trousers will be full style.

At one fashionable tailor's I was shown the goods ordered by B. C. Gwendia, who is anything but showy in the hull and directly in the center is the conning tower, fifteen inches high and fitted with lights for observation. The tower has a watertight cover, through which entrance to the boat is obtained. In the rear of the conning tower is the movable smokestack of telescopic structure, so arranged as to be completely covered when the boat is under water. About the same distance forward of the conning tower is a movable air pipe, through which the air is drawn down by means of a powerful electric fan. The smoke-stack, conning tower and airpipe are surrounded by a light and strong iron railing placed several inches above the level of the water line at which the boat ordinarily sails.

DECK PLAN.

The deck is three feet from the bottom, and the space beneath is divided into bulkheads, by which the trim of the ballast and compartments in which water ballast may be used, the water being let in by valves at the bottom. By this means, when the wheels are started to submerge the boat, the ballast may be adjusted so that it will stay desired level. On the deck are arranged the boiler, motor and batteries. The boiler, located in the rear, is of 150-horse power, oil being used for fuel. The engine is a compound marine engine of sixty-horse power. The Janay motor is located directly under the boiler. The motor is also capable of being used as a dynamo to supply the Woodward storage batteries. These are of 36 cells, divided into three series, and capable of giving a force of fifty-horse power for four hours. The steam power is shown in blue and gray. The style in the garment will be double breasted, the roll to correspond with that of the coats.

THE PROPELLER.

In single-breasted wear the style is on the same general plan, long and rather tight-fitting. The new orders for these is diagonals, cassimeres and in a mass of fine-faced goods. There will be an outside breast-pocket to be seen in the double-breasted. The sleeves in both styles will be cut rather narrow, following out the original conception of departing as far as possible from the "flopping and baggy" fashion of the past few seasons.

Sack coats will be thirty-two inches for a man five feet eight in height and proportionately shorter or longer for the various normal heights above and below that average.

THE BOAT AT TWELVE-FOOT WATER LINE.

The cloths are about the same as those used last fall, there being the same objection to anything loud or flashy, either in checks or plaids. They will be in single-breasted style, although the double-breasted will be allowable. The cloths for these outer style has seen its best days and they are placed on the fashion cards simply because a few of the English fashion leaders persist in wearing them whether they are just the thing or not.

But we will have the pleasure of seeing as of yore. Trousers will be cut straight with a medium circle at the knee and a little wider swath at the foot. But the bagging is avoided to some extent only.

Of course, with the long coats, the overcoat, too, will require more material in length. I saw five styles ordered by Banker Tewksbury, the genial-faced, with the twenty thousand dollar backelor apartment, and they were all long ones, rough-faced material, and in light gray fine-faced material, the last named for early wear. They will be double-breasted, with four buttons, the same three-quarters of an inch wide, over edged with double row of stitching and velvet collar. And this also the garment a style of close-fitting garment is followed and shaped well to set slightly to the figure.

Ulsters will be fashionable this winter. They will be made of fine Irish frieze, though the rough-faced cheviots, not as a novelty this year, will be in full vogue.

While the men of fashion will adjust himself easily to the gentle changes in wearing apparel, he will have a splendid opportunity to revel in bright decorations in his neckwear. The four-in-hand will be the favorite, and the latest block and bubble, black and orange. The combinations are exquisitely blended over the graduated scale, from the lightest to the darkest tone of the champagne bottle. Glorinna is accorded a very prominent place in the color silks for next year. This is a terra cotta shade, used in grounds as well as relief effects. In the former it is relieved by black and white and contrasting colors. Artsilk is a new prime shade, a dark rich purple. It is to be utilized in these same cost in all the old shades, with the addition of at least one newcomer that promises well. This is a beautiful mauve, a foulard tone, a trifle lighter than the famous Bond street. A new dark shade is called Bismarck.

LITTLE FISHER MAIDEN.

In effects there is an unmistakable tendency to broken up plaids all the old ideas. This is shown in the great prevalence of so-called "broken-up" designs. Shows in neckwear has not been shown yet, but it is predicted there will be little change.

ALBERT EDWARD TYRRELL.

A SUBMARINE BOAT.

If Successful It May Revolutionize Naval Warfare.

Mr. Baker's Wonderful Craft That Has Been Especially Navigated Under Water—How to Destroy an Ironclad.

The hull of the boat is forty feet long from stem to stern, fourteen feet deep and nine feet beam. The hull itself, says the San Francisco Chronicle, weighs twenty tons, and with the machinery and ballast will be twenty-five or twenty-five tons. The boat is built on perfect curves, and a cross section from side to side shows it to be a true ellipse. The hull is constructed of oak, an ideal wood for this kind of submarine boats. The skeleton work, which really forms the hull, is covered with water-proof cloth, and then planked with yellow pine, one inch oak, the structure being capable of standing a pressure of seventy-five pounds to the square inch. On two of the hull and directly in the center is the conning tower, fifteen inches high and fitted with lights for observation. The tower has a watertight cover, through which entrance to the boat is obtained. In the rear of the conning tower is the movable smokestack of telescopic structure, so arranged as to be completely covered when the boat is under water. About the same distance forward of the conning tower is a movable air pipe, through which the air is drawn down by means of a powerful electric fan. The smoke-stack, conning tower and airpipe are surrounded by a light and strong iron railing placed several inches above the level of the water line at which the boat ordinarily sails.

DECK PLAN.

The deck is three feet from the bottom, and the space beneath is divided into bulkheads, by which the trim of the ballast and compartments in which water ballast may be used, the water being let in by valves at the bottom. By this means, when the wheels are started to submerge the boat, the ballast may be adjusted so that it will stay desired level. On the deck are arranged the boiler, motor and batteries. The boiler, located in the rear, is of 150-horse power, oil being used for fuel. The engine is a compound marine engine of sixty-horse power. The Janay motor is located directly under the boiler. The motor is also capable of being used as a dynamo to supply the Woodward storage batteries. These are of 36 cells, divided into three series, and capable of giving a force of fifty-horse power for four hours. The steam power is shown in blue and gray. The style in the garment will be double breasted, the roll to correspond with that of the coats.

THE PROPELLER.

In single-breasted wear the style is on the same general plan, long and rather tight-fitting. The new orders for these is diagonals, cassimeres and in a mass of fine-faced goods. There will be an outside breast-pocket to be seen in the double-breasted. The sleeves in both styles will be cut rather narrow, following out the original conception of departing as far as possible from the "flopping and baggy" fashion of the past few seasons.

Sack coats will be thirty-two inches for a man five feet eight in height and proportionately shorter or longer for boat's hull keeps it perfectly horizontal, preventing its nose from running into the bottom as the boat approaches those used last fall, there being the same objection to anything loud or flashy, either in checks or plaids. They will be in single-breasted style, although the double-breasted will be allowable. The cloths for these outer style has seen its best days and they are placed on the fashion cards simply because a few of the English fashion leaders persist in wearing them whether they are just the thing or not.

THE BOAT AT TWELVE-FOOT WATER LINE.

But we will have the pleasure of seeing as of yore. Trousers will be cut straight with a medium circle at the knee and a little wider swath at the foot. But the bagging is avoided to some extent only.

Of course, with the long coats, the overcoat, too, will require more material in length. I saw five styles ordered by Banker Tewksbury, the genial-faced, with the twenty thousand dollar bachelor apartment, and they were all long ones, rough-faced material, and in light gray fine-faced material, the last named for early wear. They will be double-breasted, with four buttons, the same three-quarters of an inch wide, over edged with double row of stitching and velvet collar. And this also the garment a style of close-fitting garment is followed and shaped well to set slightly to the figure.

Ulsters will be fashionable this winter. They will be made of fine Irish frieze, though the rough-faced cheviots, not as a novelty this year, will be in full vogue.

While the men of fashion will adjust himself easily to the gentle changes in wearing apparel, he will have a splendid opportunity to revel in bright decorations in his neckwear. The four-in-hand will be the favorite, and the latest making the ashes stick to the points of the pens, stick half a match on each pen point, and then let each match burn down. Carefully place the cork, thus equipped, on a little lamp, filled with mineral oil, so that the wick of the lamp passes through the hole in the cork.

MAKING AN INCANDESCENT LAMP.

Now light the lamps and keep the wicks well lowered, so that it gives only an almost imperceptible blue flame, and you will see the ashes of the matches by incandescence, take on a magnificent blush, and for a moment the light will be almost as strong as that of the ordinary electric lamp.

Trying Times.

Pessimistic Friend—Well and knows a great deal for a little boy. The other day she was looking at a picture and she said to how she—

"I think this uncle very pretty, mamma."

"What makes you think so?" asked her mother, just for the sake of talking.

"My brains, I s'pose," said she turned over the leaf with a very evidently settled conviction that she knew what she was talking about.—Detroit Free Press.

About Imported Cigars.

"I like your imported Havana cigars very much, but you must let me have them a little cheaper," said a Texas tobacconist to a drummer of a New York tobacco firm.

"We can't do it. I am offering you these imported Havana cigars at the same figures that we have to pay the firm that manufactures them, and they brought the cigars to Cuba to order when it was cheaper than it is now."—Texas Siftings.

Railroads.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA
PASSENGER DEPARTURES AT NEW YORK
Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.
TRAINS FOR THE WEST.
On and after Apr. 24, 1892, trains leave New York as follows:
6.00 A.M. FAST LINE, with Pullman Vestibuled Cars for Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Chicago, Cleveland, Indianapolis, Chicago, Dining

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY,
W. L. FORCE & A. L. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors.
AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.
TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXV. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1892. No 35.

"Support the Constitution, which is the consent of the Union, as well as its limitations as to its authorities."—Madison.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODDINGTON,
Counsellors-at-Law,
Commissioners of Deeds, Masters-in-Chancery, Notaries Public, Solicitors under act of Park streets and Bonds, &c.

GEORGE W. DAY,
General Auctioneer,
Sales of Personal Property solicited. P. O. Box 118, Dunellen, N. J. Residence in rear of Odd Fellows' Building. Terms reasonable.

DR. CHARLES J. PRIME,
Dentist,
is West Front street, A new local anesthetic application for extracting teeth without pain. Gold fillings a specialty.—jy15

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VanArsdale,
PIANO TUNER.
Instruments put in thorough order. Terms reasonable. Orders left at Cooper & Co.'s store and to inform by postcard, P. O. box 295, or at No. 36 Watson's shop store, No. 6 Park avenue, will receive prompt attention. Residence, 10 E. Front street, corner 21st street. 3-27-y

T. J. GILLIES,
Auctioneer & Real Estate Agent.
ALEXANDER—Auctioneer—Real Estate—Public Notary—Established 1870.
Goods received on consignment.

John Chandler,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence and shop No. 26 East Third street.
Jobbing promptly attended to. ap29

WILLIAM B. RANDOLPH,
Successor to E. B. Maynard,
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 26 PARK AVENUE.
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their residence. Shaving, Shampooing, etc., satisfactorily performed. 12y21

CARNEY BROTHERS, Agents,
7 West Front St.
NEW YORK.
English Tiles, Annaglypta, Hand, Leather Stained Floor Papers, &c. Burlaps for Walls.

Manufacturers of Window Shades.
3-13-tf

LIVERY.
A. M. SEGUINE,
(Successor to John W. Laing.)
Laing's Hotel Stables
Front street, opposite Madison avenue.
Coaches for Weddings, Funerals and Private Calls. Light carriages of all descriptions for hire.

RIDING OR LIVERY.
Careful, safe drivers for shopping calls or pleasure drives. Special attention given to boarding horses by the day, week or month.—oct19y1
TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 26.

Parlor Stoves,
Furnaces, Ranges,
Water Piping, Plumbing,
Heater Work, Tinning,
Hardware.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
13 East Front Street,
TELEPHONE CALL, 6. 11 11-tf

Beautiful Assortment!
Furniture!
Largest Assortment!
Best Goods!
Lowest Prices!
Ever Offered in Plainfield!
23, 25 and 27 PARK AVE.
Garret Q. Packer.

SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc., Etc.
I am prepared to do any of the above branches in the most first-class, workmanlike manner, and at reasonable prices.
Residence and Shop, corner of Front Street and Park Avenue, Plainfield, N. J.
D. W. LITTELL,
No. 9 South Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

FOR MALARIA,
GENERAL DEBILITY
AND
ALL STOMACH TROUBLES
COLES'
PERUVIAN BARK
AND
WILD CHERRY BITTERS
ARE THE BEST.
A Vegetable Substitute for Quinine.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
Price, 50 cents and $1.00 per Bottle.
PREPARED ONLY BY THE
D. P. COLES DRUG AND MFG. CO
NEWARK, N. J.
3-27-y

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS,
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS,
BEST IN THE WORLD.
ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.
1-30-tf

C. E. & J. W. RROWN,
(Successors to D. F. & C. E. Brown & Co.)
Importers and Wholesale and Retail Dealers in
WALL PAPER.
321 Canal Street,
NEW YORK.

TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS.
PARLOR STOVES,
COOK STOVES,
HEATERS.
Grates and Bricks for all Kinds of Stov s can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your Thirsty Soul to us. We Treat Visitors, the Citizens of Plainfield, and the best One Store in this section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.
Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.
Tinware Made to Order.
Ranges, Brick and Portable Furnaces
SANITARY PLUMBING.

INSURANCE.
WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Av.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.
MAPPING

Fresh Garden Seeds
AND FERTILIZERS,
Farm and Garden Implements,
Lawn Mowers Refrigerators,
Ice Cream Freezers
Gasoline Stoves,
Hardware, Tools, etc.
J. J. HEIDELOFF,
No. 13 ROCKERT ST. 3-25-tf

GEORGE A. MOORE,
(Of the late firm of Moore Bros.)
is now the sole proprietor of the old established market at
NO. 14 NORTH AVENUE,
Where he will continue to supply patrons with the finest grades of
Fresh and Salt Meats,
Pork of all Kinds, Oysters, Clams, Game in season, at the Lowest Market Prices.
Anything not usually kept in stock, furnished at short notice. 4tf

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE.
Hugo Weigman,
DESERT PROPRIETORY, PLAINFIELD, N. J.
4-30-tf

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON,
(Successor to R. J. Cooper.)
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—32 W. FRONT ST.
Large Covered Vans for Furniture Goods delivered in any part of the U. S. Personal attention given to packing. P. O. Box 1.

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.

H. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of the Celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR.
The Tendency of Civilization is to Produce Cheaper Goods and Higher Wages. The McKinley Bill Reversed That Tendency—The Cost is Increased by That Act.

MR. PRESIDENT—Perhaps I ought to apologize to the senate for attempting on such a day as this, and at so late a period in the session, to occupy any part of its time in the discussion of a subject which we all agree cannot be disposed of; but the report made by the committee on finance in relation to the prices of commodities, the high wages of labor and the living in the United States has been so misrepresented in the public press and elsewhere, that I have felt it to be the duty of some one on this side of the chamber to assist in making that investigation to state our views of its results.

I think it is the unanimous opinion of economists and statisticians who have investigated the subject that for the last period, in all the great industrial and commercial countries of the world, the prices of commodities have been decreasing and the rates of wages, especially in those occupations which require a considerable degree of skill and intelligence, have been increasing, and of course there are very many and very conspicuous and aggravating exceptions to that general rule, but they are all attributable, in my judgment, to temporary and artificial conditions, created by unfriendly legislation in this and by corresponding unfriendly interference with the private business of the people, discriminating in favor of some and against others.

The Folly of Protection.

Whatever the system is under the people to live decently and comfortably, whether ever makes the necessaries of life which the people require cheap or dear, and living or and less expensive to the masses, is a blessing to mankind, and I have never been able to appreciate the wisdom of that policy which compels men to work longer and harder, to wear coarser clothes, and to subsist on poorer food, that they may build and shelter for themselves and their families; I have never been able to appreciate either the economic truth or the humanity of the proposition that the people can be made prosperous and happy by legislation, whether the purpose of that legislation be to defray the current expenses of the government, or to increase the prices which the people pay for what they eat, drink and wear.

Mr. President, any one who contends to this day, as he assumed from Horace (Mr. Stewart) Apparently has this morning, that the prices of the commodities are less added to the community at large, is at war with the spirit of the age in which he lives, at war with the current of public sentiment which during the last half century more than during any other like period in the history of the world has ameliorated the condition of mankind by bringing of the necessaries of life, and many of its luxuries, within the reach of every man who is willing to work.

I speak of production and distribution together, because cheap and easy distribution is the handmaid of production, the producer and to the consumer, as cheap and easy production; therefore every shackle imposed upon commerce, every interference with the free exchanges of products and markets of the world increases prices and deprives the people of the benefits which they have a right to enjoy, and which they otherwise would enjoy, resulting from improved facilities for transportation and cheaper distribution.

But, Mr. President, it is unnecessary to pursue this line of argument further, for it seems at last it appears to be admitted by the friends of the protective system that cheap commodities for the people, if they are beneficial, and the senator from Rhode Island (Mr. Aldrich), speaking but three days ago as the chosen champion of that system, bases his defense of the tariff act of 1890 on the ground that, as a result of it has reduced prices and enlarged the foreign commerce of the country.

That was not the purpose of the authors and supporters of that law at the time it passed congress, for it was so declared by the report which was made to the house of representatives when the bill was presented to that body. In that report Mr. McKinley, speaking for himself and all the Republicans on the committee, said:

"We have not been so much concerned about the prices of the articles we consume as we have been to encourage a system of home production which shall give to the American nation to domestic producers and fair wages to American workmen, and by increased production and home competition insure fair prices to consumers."

And again the report says:

"Your committee has not sought by the proposed legislation to farther cut down prices at the expense of our own prosperity, but to secure to the people certainty against that increasing competition from other countries whose conditions our people are unwilling to accept. We have every reason that our people, already suffering from low prices, will be benefited by such legislation which will result in lower prices."

Its Admissions Swept Aside.

Here is a clear and emphatic declaration by the majority of the committee, that it was not intended to reduce prices, that it would not, in fact, reduce prices, and that the people would not, in the language of the report, be benefited by them for many years

The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORCE, } A. L. FORCE
Editors and Proprietors.

Democratic Nominations.

For President,
GROVER CLEVELAND.
of New York.

For Vice-President,
ADLAI E. STEVENSON,
of Illinois.

CALL FOR CONVENTION OF DEMOCRATIC CLUBS.

TEMPORARY HEADQUARTERS
THE DEMOCRATIC CLUBS OF NEW JERSEY,
ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 4, 1892.

Pursuant to section 4 of the Constitution of the Democratic Society of New Jersey a convention of the Clubs composing the Democratic society of this State will be held at the city of

Camden, on Tuesday, Sept. 27, 1892,

Commencing at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purposes of electing officers and delegates to the National Convention of three years each ensuing, and the transaction of such other business pertaining to the work of the society, which might be presented. All organizations of Democratic clubs entitled to the State Society and entitled to representation in the above proposed Convention are invited to the following

OBJECTS OF THE SOCIETY:

To foster the principles of permanent Democratic Societies and Clubs throughout the State, and thereby more effectively promote the maintenance of the fundamental principles of governmental equality.

To preserve the Constitution of the United States, the autonomy of the States, local self government and individual liberty.

To resist revolutionary changes and the consolidation of power.

To oppose the imposition of taxes beyond the economical needs of a wise administration of public affairs.

To promote economy in all branches of the public service.

To oppose unnecessary commercial restrictions for the benefit of the few at the expense of the many.

To oppose class legislation, which despoils labor and builds up monopoly.

To maintain and inculcate the fundamental principle of Democracy—"Equality before the law," and

To co-ordinate with the regular organization of the Democratic party in the support of Democratic men and Democratic measures.

BASIS OF THE CONVENTION.

In convening the members of this Society shall be entitled to five delegates and one additional delegate for every fifty members over and above the first fifty, and to one delegate for each fraction exceeding fifty members. But no Society of fifty shall be entitled to more than five delegates.

It is particularly desirable that every Democratic Club in the State, be it a member of the present or of the State Society at once and become a full representative in the Convention of Sept. 27, 1892.

The Secretary of the State Society will furnish forms of "Applications for Membership" and for Credentials, and for the Constitution of the Democratic voters of every ward and township in the State, and all persons who desire clubs immediately and notify the Headquarters of such formation, that the Secretary may provide for all such clubs immediately. With co-operation of the Democratic clubs of the State we shall carry New Jersey by from 15,000 to 20,000 majority.

The permanent headquarters of the State Society will be established at the Taylor House, Jersey City, early in September.

A. P. HEWITT, President.
W. B. WILSON, Ch'm. Ex. Com.
Attest—W. S. BURKE, Secretary.

Democratic State Convention.

The Democratic voters of New Jersey are requested to meet at such times and places as may be designated by their respective county committees to elect delegates to a State Convention, to be held at Trenton, on Wednesday, the 7th day of September, 1892, at 12 o'clock m., for the purpose of selecting a candidate for Governor and candidates for Presidential Electors.

The basis of representation will be one delegate for each 500 votes and a majority fraction thereof, and one for each fraction of the same over one hundred, but at least one delegate shall be allowed to at least one delegate.

ALLAN L. MCDERMOTT,
Chairman Democratic State Committee.
WILLIAM U. FOX, Secretary.

NEVER.

President Harrison was escorted the other day from Loon Lake to Malone, N. Y., for the purpose of making a speech.

There was nothing startling in the reported contents of the President on that occasion, but the following quotation-borders upon the ludicrous:

"I take great delight in the contemplation of the fact, which I believe is now assured, that before another year has rolled around one of the swiftest and best of all the long line of steamships that go out of the port of New York will bear the American flag at the fore, and that the tribute to be paid to foreign nations in the way of freight charges I believe will speedily, in a large measure, be abrogated forever. Then great stores of agricultural products which we pour out from our granaries to feed the nations of Europe should, and I believe speedily will, be delivered to the port of Liverpool in American bottoms."

The idea of a strenuous advocate of a tariff system designed to deaden American commerce, posing as a public admirer of that once proud element of national glory and wealth.

How absurd!

And for him to herald the sailing of one swift steamship from our shores under the stars and stripes, instead of the steamer City of New York, owned principally in this country, and granted an American register by Congress in spite of McKinley prohibition.

If there were any sailors among his hearers, how wildly they must have wavered the word picture of a vessel flying the emblem of her nationality at the "fore" instead of the stern.

Hundreds of steamers pass in and out of the port of New York every year with the American flag "at the fore," but they are all seagoing carriers of our resources hearted patriots across the water who, according to the Ohio Solon, pay our taxes.

Ocean commerce is the life-blood of individual and national prosperity, and to rescue it from oblivion and again secure to the American people its lost prestige and rich earnings, is the settled policy of the Democratic party.

But that great fortune can never be realized under the restrictive, unjust and anti-commercial methods sanctioned by the official acts of Benjamin Harrison, President of the United States, and his political advisers.

Nevar!

GLASS.

A glass manufacturer in Western Pennsylvania, the employer of hundreds of men, is a pronounced Tariff Reformer and supporter of the Democratic ticket.

He speaks experimentally, and says the McKinley tariff has increased the cost of crude material that enters into the glass manufacturing business to an extravant extent, giving as an example, that one hundred pounds, when transformed into glass plate weighs only sixty pounds, yet the duty is enacted on the gross amount. His manufactured productions are of superior quality, and were it not for the McKinley handicap he could supply foreign markets with large quantities. He justly styles the whole Republican revenue system as a religious upon his collections.

Another established fact in favor of Reform.

And furthermore, figures that for the same class of work an American receives $16, the workman is paid $12 in England and $6 in Germany.

But, mark the difference!

The $6 in Germany and the $12 in England will purchase more food, clothing and other necessaries of living for the wage-earner than the $16 in American.

A clear exposition of the humbug claim that personal taxation enriches the taxpayer.

WERTS FOR GOVERNOR.

The popular Democratic feeling throughout the State of New Jersey is evidently in favor of the nomination of Judge George T. Werts, of Morris county, for Governor.

Judge Werts possesses every requisite for that high and responsible position, and if he only consents to be a candidate, his triumphal election will surely follow.

The fact that the name of George T. Werts has evoked such general enthusiasm, proves him to be a man of the people, and that is the kind of man Cleveland desires to select. Let the people rule the coming Democratic Gubernatorial Convention as they did the one called to elect delegates to Chicago.

One of the Republican stumpers seeks to belittle the tariff burdens borne by the people by the calculation that "one cent a day per capita" paid in the United States would pay the duty on all our imports."

Indeed! Do not the protection trusts prove that "the tariff is not a tax," and that the people get nothing from it? If it is a tax "the foreigner pays it"?

The stumper is more honest. But a little figuring by a laboring man having five children will show that even at one cent per head a day" the sum of $2.55 seven must pay in tariff taxes $25.55 each year. What other tax upon the poor man compares with this?

And for what—that Jay Gould, Carnegie to buy castles in Europe and the other monopolists to set up a plutocracy in the Republic!

"A cent a day" sounds small, but hence better times. This is the delusion that "one penny a mickle makes a muckle."—N. Y. World.

The Republican orators have now changed their tune. Instead of making the tariff responsible for a high standard of wages they now credit the latter to the fact that the United States is a manufacturing centre in the whole land in which a Republican speaker would venture to assert to an audience that could hear him, and not McKinleyism. An audience so challenged would rise up to a man in contradiction. The shifting of Republican policy is the clearest possible evidence of the weakness of the Republican position on the tariff."

"While the Democrats," says the Baltimore Sun, "urge a reform of the tariff by putting raw materials of manufacture on the free list and a reduction of excessive duties on finished products, they have never dreamed of bringing the average rate on dutiable goods below 40 or 35 per cent. In Germany, and even in France, a rate of 30 or 35 per cent. would be considered 'protective.' In short, no party in this country, not even the most extreme free trade, however desirable it might be in the interest of the people. We shall always want from our tariff more than the $100,000,000 England gets annually from her tariff duties. Republicans talk about 'free trade' is, therefore, mere campaign talk to fool the ignorant."

NEWS OF THE WHEELMEN.

Details of the County Championship and Coast Tournament Will Conclude To-Day.

The contest for the control of sports that will take place on the Elizabeth Driving Park grounds on Labor Day for the benefit of the building fund of the local hospital, closed Monday night, and from their number and character will be one of the most interesting in the history of athletic meetings in this section. In the morning, beginning at 10:30 sharp, the bicycle men will enter into the contest. There is a well-contested interest in the 10-mile team race for the team championship of Union county. The prize will be the handsome silver cup given by Mr. Mitchell, and will only remain in the custody of the club winning it three times.

The teams entered are the Elizabeth Wheelmen, Elizabeth Athletic Club, and Plainfield Bicycle Club. The team from the Plainfield Bicycle Club is composed of Martin, Hinrichs, and French, with J. R. Hyde and H. B. Titsworth as substitutes. The Union County Boasters sent in an entry after the committee had adjourned, but it will no doubt be received. A number of entries were received from the L. A. W. to count points in this race at the end of the two miles. At the request of nearly all the contestants the time has been changed from its position of last on the programme to third. The boys' one-mile scratch race has created a stir among the youngsters. There are several, and the boys are training night and day.

When the setting in the athletic events closed, it was found necessary to withdraw the one-mile race for the benefit of the small number of entries, but a substitution has been made that will amply compensate, and will not only furnish fun, but will require no little skill to win.

A surveyor was at the track yesterday laying off the course. It is the three-mile handicap run, one and a-half miles of which will be in the infield. The floss have been laid out with the idea of making it a genuine "go as you please" and seven must pay in tariff taxes $25.55 each year. What other tax upon the poor man compares with this?

And for what—that Jay Gould, Carnegie to buy castles in Europe and the other monopolists to set up a plutocracy in the Republic!

"A cent a day" sounds small, but hence better times. This is the delusion that "one penny a mickle makes a muckle."—N. Y. World.

The Republican orators have now changed their tune. Instead of making the tariff responsible for a high standard of wages they now credit the latter to the fact that the United States is a manufacturing centre in the whole land in which a Republican speaker would venture to assert to an audience that could hear him, and not contradiction. The shifting of Republican policy is the clearest possible evidence of the weakness of the Republican position on the tariff."

"While the Democrats," says the Baltimore Sun, "urge a reform of the tariff by putting raw materials of manufacture on the free list and a reduction of excessive duties on finished products, they have never dreamed of bringing the average rate on dutiable goods below 40 or 35 per cent. In Germany, and even in France, a rate of 30 or 35 per cent. would be considered 'protective.' In short, no party in this country, not even the most extreme free trade, however desirable it might be in the interest of the people. We shall always want from our tariff more than the $100,000,000 England gets annually from her tariff duties. Republicans talk about 'free trade' is, therefore, mere campaign talk to fool the ignorant."

"HAVING explained to the Western farmer that the tariff has raised the price of wheat, which I believe is now the American consumer, Maj. McKinley," says the Detroit Free Press, "is going East to explain to the consumer that the tariff has reduced the cost of everything the products of the farm. Mr. Orator Puff 'with his two voices,' was not a circumstance to the modern protectionist orator serving to fulfill the requirements of the situation."

The Bridgeport Farmer hopes that the whole Grow, Platt, Sherman line of speeches in Connecticut next month he will not forget to explain his beautiful scheme for making the blasted foreigners pay our taxes."

WERTS'S GROWING BOOM.

Wage-Laborers, Socialists of Party, Will Vote for Him.

(Paterson Labor Standard.)

George T. Werts is not the candidate for Governor, of South Jersey or of any section or faction. He is New Jersey's candidate—the candidate of the masses—the candidate of all peaceful citizens who desire to see an honorable, able and special man, who is well and kindly disposed towards the interests of the wage-workers, placed in Governor's chair. He will work and vote for George T. Werts.

Judge Werts's record is above reproach. His every public act has been friendly to the working people. The common people are with him; the masses are on his side; the wage-laborers of New Jersey, regardless of all else, will vote for him.

Judge Werts is the people's candidate.

GUARDING AGAINST CHOLERA.

State Health Authorities Preparing to Fight the Disease, if It Appear.

The State Board of Health has been particularly active during the past week preparing to fight the cholera at the several ports of entry in this State. Dr. Elsner has visited the Health Inspectors at Hoboken, Jersey City, Camden and Perth Amboy, and given them full instructions as to how examinations should be made of the passengers arriving, and with the health authorities of New York to receive a list of all the passengers arriving at that port and their point of destination and the condition of the emigrants arriving.

A circular has been prepared and sent to all the health boards in the State, including those of this city and borough, calling attention to the necessary precautions and what to do if the disease makes its appearance. Dr. Elsner says there is no cause for a panic, but these precautions are wise considering that there is a chance of advancement of cholera at Hoboken from the infested localities.

Sheep Dogs Destroyed by Order of Governor.

The farmers in this section of New Jersey are suffering from heavy losses this year through the destruction of large quantities of sweet corn by worms. The ravages are unusually destructive, and not only the ears in the centre of the cob. It is said that the large number of worms now in the corn will cause much damage this year than for several years past.

BUYING GOODS "SIGHT UNSEEN".

Plainfielders at the Beach.

Trade Old Friends and Acquaintances Together.

Many Bonded Forty and a Few Thousand Dollars.

BERGAN, N. J., Aug. 30.—The Plainfielders who have been remaining at the delightful resort are beginning to leave for home, for the weather here is very cool, even cold, and bathing in the surf is a decidedly uncomfortable operation.

Fishing has improved, and the numerous members of the Plainfield colony have been having good luck. Saturday night and Sunday morning Mr. Hinrichs, of Martin, Hinrichs, and French, with J. R. Hyde and H. B. Titsworth as substitutes. The Union County Boasters sent in an entry after the committee had adjourned, but it will no doubt be received. A number of entries were received from the L. A. W. to count points in this race at the end of the two miles. At the request of nearly all the contestants the time has been changed from its position of last on the programme to third. The boys' one-mile scratch race has created a stir among the youngsters. There are several, and the boys are training night and day.

When the setting in the athletic events closed, it was found necessary to withdraw the one-mile race for the benefit of the small number of entries, but a substitution has been made that will amply compensate, and will not only furnish fun, but will require no little skill to win.

A surveyor was at the track yesterday laying off the course. It is the three-mile handicap run, one and a-half miles of which will be in the infield. The floss have been laid out with the idea of making it a genuine "go as you please" and seven must pay in tariff taxes $25.55 each year. What other tax upon the poor man compares with this?

And for what—that Jay Gould, Carnegie to buy castles in Europe and the other monopolists to set up a plutocracy in the Republic!

"A cent a day" sounds small, but hence better times. This is the delusion that "one penny a mickle makes a muckle."—N. Y. World.

The Republican orators have now changed their tune. Instead of making the tariff responsible for a high standard of wages they now credit the latter to the fact that the United States is a manufacturing centre in the whole land in which a Republican speaker would venture to assert to an audience that could hear him, and not contradiction. The shifting of Republican policy is the clearest possible evidence of the weakness of the Republican position on the tariff."

"While the Democrats," says the Baltimore Sun, "urge a reform of the tariff by putting raw materials of manufacture on the free list and a reduction of excessive duties on finished products, they have never dreamed of bringing the average rate on dutiable goods below 40 or 35 per cent. In Germany, and even in France, a rate of 30 or 35 per cent. would be considered 'protective.' In short, no party in this country, not even the most extreme free trade, however desirable it might be in the interest of the people. We shall always want from our tariff more than the $100,000,000 England gets annually from her tariff duties. Republicans talk about 'free trade' is, therefore, mere campaign talk to fool the ignorant."

THE DEADLY HORSE CAR.

Kills Motorman Ross Over and Killed on Broadway.

Within sight of the usual throng of people who pass up and down Broadway, New York, late in the afternoon, Miss Nellie McCarthy, a spinster, 40 years old, was knocked down at 5:40 yesterday afternoon by a broadway car at the Grand-Jones street crossing. She died in a few minutes.

Miss McCarthy, in company of another woman, had just been to a dentist's to have her teeth fixed. It is supposed that she was still suffering from the pain of the operation, and was not in her usual calm state of mind. As the two women started to cross the street Broadway car No. 81 came along from the up-town. The trunk in front hid the car from the view of Miss McCarthy and her companion. They crossed in front of the truck. Miss McCarthy, who was a large woman, could not get out of the way quick enough, and the car struck her and knocked her down. One of the wheels crushed in her skull. She was dead when an ambulance arrived.

A Colored Contractor Abuses an Official.

Mr. Cook, the inspector of the county roads, was in Cranford on Saturday and called on Charles Burnett of Plainfield, the contractor of the stone-horse block, and requested him to stop work on the section of the road for the bedding material, but within the past few days brick and stone have been placed on the middle of the road. Cook then left word that the same by road must be cleared at once, and the section kept open, or else he would have the permit revoked.

TRUSTS AND PROTECTION.

New Jer. Democrats Would Abolish Trusts by Abolishing Protection.

A doctrine which has found favor with many of the conventions in this State is that which would abolish trusts by abolishing a protected industry enter into a trust, it takes from the duty enough to abolish the protection that the trust affords. When withdrawn from the schedules, the trust ceases to exist, because it can't operate to bring the guilty parties to time, and the country, and the rank, file are painted them six different colors."—Good News.

A Thoughtful Sport.

Pelham Parker—Charlie Meadowbrook's horse ran away with him at the last stage, and broke his neck. Charlie's heart had finally overtook and passed the fox.

Bergy Wagstaff—Couldn't he stop?

Pelham Parker—That's what the whipper-in asked him, but Charlie said he couldn't. Afraid of stopping when he was ahead of the game.—Life.

The Commissioner Friend.

Gus De Smith—You have not congratulated me on my appointment as Collector of Col. Yerger—You see, I can't conscientiously extend any congratulations to a fellow who has been appointed to a job the young lady you are about to marry.—On the other hand, knowing you intimately, I must consider your appointment a good reason to congratulate your future wife.—Texas Siftings.

He Had Observed It.

"By the way, Johnson," said the man who was looking over the new Chicago Directory, "have you noticed how the Johnsons and the Smiths predominate?"

"Hum—yes," replied my friend Johnson, somewhat embarrassed, "I suppose it is natural that one of the Smiths to the altar next week myself."—Chicago Tribune.

An Exile from Home.

Travers—I've just got a letter from my mother and she wants me to come home. Her husband, my own father, is ill, but (sadly) I don't see how I can.

Dashaway—Can't you get away?

Travers—Oh, I'm in the village tailor one made me a suit of clothes.—Detroit Free Press.

Important City Folks.

City Niece (reprovingly)—Uncle Waybach, why do you pour your coffee into the saucer before it's cool enough?

Uncle Waybach—To cool it. The more air surface you give it, the quicker it cools. Guess these city folks don't know much science, do they?—N. Y. Weekly.

LANE'S MEDICINE

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

Between Joseph Scudder, complainant, and Jacob Scudder, et al., defendants.

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the 27th day of August, A. D. 1892, I, Thomas Scudder, Jr., Receiver appointed by the said Court in the above stated cause, will expose at public sale, at the Court House, in the city of Elizabeth, in the county of Union, on at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all that certain lot, piece or parcel of land and premises hereinafter particularly described, situate, lying and being in the city of Elizabeth, in the county of Union and State of New Jersey.

WEDNESDAY, THE TWENTY-FIFTH DAY OF OCTOBER,

Beginning at a point in the northerly line of Second street, distant thirteen hundred and thirty (1330) feet westerly from the westerly line of Union avenue, said point of beginning being also the corner of lot No. 98, thence westerly along the said line of Second street, fifty feet to the place of beginning. Being known as lot No. 97 on a map of lots laid out by Jacob Scudder, Jr., and Joseph Pike, George Lasky, and a number of Mr. Allen's New York friends.

WANT THE FENCE REMOVED.

Westfielders Say the Intersection Greater Than the Former Risks.

The Central railroad has caused a great deal of dissatisfaction among the West field commuters by erecting a long fence between the fence in front of the station at that place. Early last spring work was begun on a handsome stone structure with large and comfortable waiting rooms, which is now completed after the months ago. The station stands on the north side of the tracks, and the town lies on the south side.

A tunnel was cut under the tracks in order that passengers might not be obliged to run the risk of accidents by crossing the tracks in front of the station. Still, neither of those records is up to Edge's 6:06 51 3-4 or Shoriand's 5:06 03 5-5, made on cleared ordinaries.

It is officially announced that the rac between Howell will not be allowed to men who are in the employ of manufacturers, and the rule governing this matter will be rescinded. Graves's case was a conspicuous one, the board could not help taking cognisance of it, although had the charges not been so openly preferred he would have escaped suspension, for the board cannot be expected to take notice such infractions of the amateur rule. Makers' amateurs will now be a class unto themselves, encouraged and protected.

It is hoped that Plainfield cyclers will secure some of the handsome prizes offered by the Somerset County Agricultural Society for races to be run under the direction of the Somerset Wheelmen, at Somerville, September 14. The meeting is held under the auspices of L. A. W., and the following races will be run: One mile safety novice, open; one mile club team race, three men, open only to New Jersey bicycle clubs; one mile safety handicap, open; two mile safety handicap, open. The entries close with Dr. F. B. Matheson, Somerville, September 7.

THE DEADLY HORSE CAR.

Kills Motorman Ross Over and Killed on Broadway.

Within sight of the usual throng of people who pass up and down Broadway, New York, late in the afternoon, Miss Nellie McCarthy, a spinster, 40 years old, was knocked down at 5:40 yesterday afternoon by a broadway car at the Grand-Jones street crossing. She died in a few minutes.

Miss McCarthy, in company of another woman, had just been to a dentist's to have her teeth fixed. It is supposed that she was still suffering from the pain of the operation, and was not in her usual calm state of mind. As the two women started to cross the street Broadway car No. 81 came along from the up-town. The trunk in front hid the car from the view of Miss McCarthy and her companion. They crossed in front of the truck. Miss McCarthy, who was a large woman, could not get out of the way quick enough, and the car struck her and knocked her down. One of the wheels crushed in her skull. She was dead when an ambulance arrived.

A Colored Contractor Abuses an Official.

Mr. Cook, the inspector of the county roads, was in Cranford on Saturday and called on Charles Burnett of Plainfield, the contractor of the stone-horse block, and requested him to stop work on the section of the road for the bedding material, but within the past few days brick and stone have been placed on the middle of the road. Cook then left word that the same by road must be cleared at once, and the section kept open, or else he would have the permit revoked.

CRAB EATERS IN TROUBLE.

They Must Eat Mice, However, and Will Probably Pay up and Settle the Matter Out of Court.

W. Trust, M. Coyne, M. Turton, G. Hoagland, C. DeGraw, E. Miles and W. Jukes are charged with having got away with about 180 hard shell crabs that were purchased by them on the 29th inst. from Constable Stephen Ryder, from Bergen Point, Wednesday. Inquiry at the city judge's office this morning, however, was met with the response that they will not be arraigned for trial to-day.

The crabs after being boiled were placed on ice to cool in a small room back of the bar. The constable's suspicions were discovered in the room a short time afterwards, up to their necks in shells, but not a crab was left. The owner of the crabs is out of town, and until he returns it will not be known when warrants will be issued. It is probable, however, that the young men will get off by paying costs, as the complaint is not large.

Among the guests who repaired to Jot Travis's place on Staten Island, Joseph Pike, George Lasky, and a number of Mr. Allen's New York friends.

WANT THE FENCE REMOVED.

Westfielders Say the Intersection Greater Than the Former Risks.

The Central railroad has caused a great deal of dissatisfaction among the West field commuters by erecting a long fence between the fence in front of the station at that place. Early last spring work was begun on a handsome stone structure with large and comfortable waiting rooms, which is now completed after the months ago. The station stands on the north side of the tracks, and the town lies on the south side.

A tunnel was cut under the tracks in order that passengers might not be obliged to run the risk of accidents by crossing the tracks in front of the station. Still, neither of those records is up to Edge's 6:06 51 3-4 or Shoriand's 5:06 03 5-5, made on cleared ordinaries.

It is officially announced that the race between Howell will not be allowed to men who are in the employ of manufacturers, and the rule governing this matter will be rescinded. Graves's case was a conspicuous one, the board could not help taking cognisance of it, although had the charges not been so openly preferred he would have escaped suspension, for the board cannot be expected to take notice such infractions of the amateur rule. Makers' amateurs will now be a class unto themselves, encouraged and protected.

It is hoped that Plainfield cyclers will secure some of the handsome prizes offered by the Somerset County Agricultural Society for races to be run under the direction of the Somerset Wheelmen, at Somerville, September 14. The meeting is held under the auspices of L. A. W., and the following races will be run: One mile safety novice, open; one mile club team race, three men, open only to New Jersey bicycle clubs; one mile safety handicap, open; two mile safety handicap, open. The entries close with Dr. F. B. Matheson, Somerville, September 7.

THE DEADLY HORSE CAR.

Kills Motorman Ross Over and Killed on Broadway.

Within sight of the usual throng of people who pass up and down Broadway, New York, late in the afternoon, Miss Nellie McCarthy, a spinster, 40 years old, was knocked down at 5:40 yesterday afternoon by a broadway car at the Grand-Jones street crossing. She died in a few minutes.

Miss McCarthy, in company of another woman, had just been to a dentist's to have her teeth fixed. It is supposed that she was still suffering from the pain of the operation, and was not in her usual calm state of mind. As the two women started to cross the street Broadway car No. 81 came along from the up-town. The trunk in front hid the car from the view of Miss McCarthy and her companion. They crossed in front of the truck. Miss McCarthy, who was a large woman, could not get out of the way quick enough, and the car struck her and knocked her down. One of the wheels crushed in her skull. She was dead when an ambulance arrived.

THIS CRIPPLE'S A FRAUD.

He Fearfully Jarred for Help, But Had Lots o' Money to Bet Against Plainfield's Good Institutions.

A one-legged red-nosed tramp whose countenance bore traces of inebriety, and whose voice trembled with suppressed hoarseness, entered the police headquarters office Wednesday morning and tremulously pleaded for alms for "a poor cripple". He was respectfully referred to the T. S. P. C. A. office. "I'll, when he learned that if he were a worthy object of charity they would help him.

The tramp's ire was instantly aroused, and he remarked that such worthy institutions mentioned, with great volubility.

"I used t'b'long t' 'em both,"—he said —"an' they ain't no good!

"As you ain't no good, neither!"—he added—"for needin' a poor helpless feller t' sooh clammy-hearted people. I've been a-toggin' for a livin' for thirteen years, an' never helped me once."

Here he fished down into his pocket, and drew out a handful of silver.

"But yer don't see dollars,"—he ejaculated "an' put up the money, that they don't help me a bit. I'll go to 'em, an' if they give me a cent I'll give yer five dollars."

The fellow was accordingly taken at his word, when he became violently abusive, heaped sooty insults on everybody around him, flourished his crutch menacingly, and refused to "touch the accursed".

He was promptly ejected, and this article is written to warn people who help such fellows that they are doing little but encouraging kinds of fraud. The tramp, and all of his ilk, are utterly undeserving of sympathy.

CONTRACTOR ALLEN ASSAULTED.

One of His Workmen Violently Attacks Him, Beats His Face, Holds His Head in the Sewer, and Spoils His Clothes.

Contractor Sam Allen of this city is reported to have been well-nigh the victim of a murderous attack at the hands of Jackson Hughes, of Bergen Point, who knocked down, beaten in the face and rolled into a brook where his assailant held Allen's head under water until he was almost suffocated.

This all took place, it is said, at a spot near the Allen farm where a clam-bake was being prepared for the men. It is said that Hughes had been employed by Allen to help him dig a sewer, and refused to "make the sewer".

He was promptly ejected, and this article is written to warn people who help such fellows that they are doing little but encouraging kinds of fraud. The tramp, and all of his ilk, are utterly undeserving of sympathy.

CRAB EATERS IN TROUBLE.

They Must Eat Mice, However, and Will Probably Pay up and Settle the Matter Out of Court.

W. Trust, M. Coyne, M. Turton, G. Hoagland, C. DeGraw, E. Miles and W. Jukes are charged with having got away with about 180 hard shell crabs that were purchased by them on the 29th inst. from Constable Stephen Ryder, from Bergen Point, Wednesday. Inquiry at the city judge's office this morning, however, was met with the response that they will not be arraigned for trial to-day.

The crabs after being boiled were placed on ice to cool in a small room back of the bar. The constable's suspicions were discovered in the room a short time afterwards, up to their necks in shells, but not a crab was left. The owner of the crabs is out of town, and until he returns it will not be known when warrants will be issued. It is probable, however, that the young men will get off by paying costs, as the complaint is not large.

Among the guests who repaired to Jot Travis's place on Staten Island, Joseph Pike, George Lasky, and a number of Mr. Allen's New York friends.

Reunion of Old Sailors and Soldiers.

Two coming important events of interest to sailors and soldiers of the late war will be the reunion of the Naval Veterans at Baltimore, September 15 to 19, and the encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic at Washington, beginning September 20. Immediately after the Sailors' reunion. Interest in the reunion will be heightened by the presence of the White Squadron in the harbor of Baltimore. The G. A. R. encampment will be the occasion of the greatest military assemblage in Washington since the grand review of 1865, following the fall of Richmond. For both of these events the Baltimore and Ohio railroad will sell tickets at greatly reduced rates. Tickets will be sold from September 13 to 20 inclusive, valid for return journey until October 10. During the encampment at Washington the Baltimore and Ohio railroad will run excursions daily to Gettysburg, Harper's Ferry, and the Virginia battlefield, to all of which points tickets will be sold at low rates. The Baltimore and Ohio is the familiar route to thousands of veterans who travelled over it early in the sixties as the reunion to join the ranks.

For detailed information as to time of trains, rates, and designating our accommodations, apply to A. J. Simmons, 211 Washington street, Boston; C. E. Cook, 415 Broadway, New York; James Potter, 833 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, or Charles O. Scull, gen'l passenger agent, Baltimore, Md.

Umbrella Tails.

Here is what comedian John T. Kelly, who is to appear at Music Hall, Friday evening, has to say about it:

To place an umbrella in a rack at the club indicates that it will shortly change owners. If a cotton one is substituted for a silk, it means that it will be lost.

An umbrella held over a lady, with a man getting all the rain drops from the points, signifies courtship. But when a man keeps the lion's share of the article it indicates marriage.

To carry an umbrella with the arm at an angle implies that the individual following will lose an eye, while to hold it just high enough to injure the spectator's eye and wear's hats signifies "I am a lawyer."

Lastly, the loan of an umbrella is synonymous with an outrageous folly.

A Three Days' Tennis Tournament.

The second annual tournament of the Athletic Tennis club will commence on Saturday afternoon and is to be continued on Monday, Tuesday, and the following Saturday. The events will be ladies' single, and gentlemen's singles and doubles. Entries will be received later they Friday afternoon. The committee in charge is Messrs. F. Murray, E. L. Wells, jr., Fred W. Wale and Howard W. Beebe secretary of the club.

Tickets for Friday evening at Music Hall are now on sale.

Fun at Aunt Betty's.

Mother—I did not know that Aunt Hetty was a writer before marriage, or I wouldn't have sent you children there to spend the day.

Young Hopeful—Oh, we had a real good time. She let us play with her pen, all she was so busy with the workmen. We went upstairs all by ourselves, and she gave us the run of the house.

"What did you do for animals?"

"We hadn't any 'cept Aunt Hetty's Fido, and the canary, and the cat, but we painted them six different colors."—Good News.

A Thoughtful Sport.

Pelham Parker—Charlie Meadowbrook's horse ran away with him at the last stage, and broke his neck. Charlie's heart had finally overtook and passed the fox.

Bergy Wagstaff—Couldn't he stop?

Pelham Parker—That's what the whipper-in asked him, but Charlie said he couldn't. Afraid of stopping when he was ahead of the game.—Life.

The Commissioner Friend.

Gus De Smith—You have not congratulated me on my appointment as Collector of Col. Yerger—You see, I can't conscientiously extend any congratulations to a fellow who has been appointed to a job the young lady you are about to marry.—On the other hand, knowing you intimately, I must consider your appointment a good reason to congratulate your future wife.—Texas Siftings.

He Had Observed It.

"By the way, Johnson," said the man who was looking over the new Chicago Directory, "have you noticed how the Johnsons and the Smiths predominate?"

"Hum—yes," replied my friend Johnson, somewhat embarrassed, "I suppose it is natural that one of the Smiths to the altar next week myself."—Chicago Tribune.

An Exile from Home.

Travers—I've just got a letter from my mother and she wants me to come home. Her husband, my own father, is ill, but (sadly) I don't see how I can.

Dashaway—Can't you get away?

Travers—Oh, I'm in the village tailor one made me a suit of clothes.—Detroit Free Press.

Important City Folks.

City Niece (reprovingly)—Uncle Waybach, why do you pour your coffee into the saucer before it's cool enough?

Uncle Waybach—To cool it. The more air surface you give it, the quicker it cools. Guess these city folks don't know much science, do they?—N. Y. Weekly.

LANE'S MEDICINE

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

Between Joseph Scudder, complainant, and Jacob Scudder, et al., defendants.

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the 27th day of August, A. D. 1892, I, Thomas Scudder, Jr., Receiver appointed by the said Court in the above stated cause, will expose at public sale, at the Court House, in the city of Elizabeth, in the county of Union, on at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all that certain lot, piece or parcel of land and premises hereinafter particularly described, situate, lying and being in the city of Elizabeth, in the county of Union and State of New Jersey.

WEDNESDAY, THE TWENTY-FIFTH DAY OF OCTOBER,

Beginning at a point in the northerly line of Second street, distant thirteen hundred and thirty (1330) feet westerly from the westerly line of Union avenue, said point of beginning being also the corner of lot No. 98, thence westerly along the said line of Second street, fifty feet to the place of beginning. Being known as lot No. 97 on a map of lots laid out by Jacob Scudder, Jr., and Joseph Pike, George Lasky, and a number of Mr. Allen's New York friends.

WANT THE FENCE REMOVED.

Westfielders Say the Intersection Greater Than the Former Risks.

The Central railroad has caused a great deal of dissatisfaction among the West field commuters by erecting a long fence between the fence in front of the station at that place. Early last spring work was begun on a handsome stone structure with large and comfortable waiting rooms, which is now completed after the months ago. The station stands on the north side of the tracks, and the town lies on the south side.

A tunnel was cut under the tracks in order that passengers might not be obliged to run the risk of accidents by crossing the tracks in front of the station. Still, neither of those records is up to Edge's 6:06 51 3-4 or Shoriand's 5:06 03 5-5, made on cleared ordinaries.

It is officially announced that the race between Howell will not be allowed to men who are in the employ of manufacturers, and the rule governing this matter will be rescinded. Graves's case was a conspicuous one, the board could not help taking cognisance of it, although had the charges not been so openly preferred he would have escaped suspension, for the board cannot be expected to take notice such infractions of the amateur rule. Makers' amateurs will now be a class unto themselves, encouraged and protected.

It is hoped that Plainfield cyclers will secure some of the handsome prizes offered by the Somerset County Agricultural Society for races to be run under the direction of the Somerset Wheelmen, at Somerville, September 14. The meeting is held under the auspices of L. A. W., and the following races will be run: One mile safety novice, open; one mile club team race, three men, open only to New Jersey bicycle clubs; one mile safety handicap, open; two mile safety handicap, open. The entries close with Dr. F. B. Matheson, Somerville, September 7.

THE DEADLY HORSE CAR.

Kills Motorman Ross Over and Killed on Broadway.

Within sight of the usual throng of people who pass up and down Broadway, New York, late in the afternoon, Miss Nellie McCarthy, a spinster, 40 years old, was knocked down at 5:40 yesterday afternoon by a broadway car at the Grand-Jones street crossing. She died in a few minutes.

Miss McCarthy, in company of another woman, had just been to a dentist's to have her teeth fixed. It is supposed that she was still suffering from the pain of the operation, and was not in her usual calm state of mind. As the two women started to cross the street Broadway car No. 81 came along from the up-town. The trunk in front hid the car from the view of Miss McCarthy and her companion. They crossed in front of the truck. Miss McCarthy, who was a large woman, could not get out of the way quick enough, and the car struck her and knocked her down. One of the wheels crushed in her skull. She was dead when an ambulance arrived.

A Colored Contractor Abuses an Official.

Mr. Cook, the inspector of the county roads, was in Cranford on Saturday and called on Charles Burnett of Plainfield, the contractor of the stone-horse block, and requested him to stop work on the section of the road for the bedding material, but within the past few days brick and stone have been placed on the middle of the road. Cook then left word that the same by road must be cleared at once, and the section kept open, or else he would have the permit revoked.

Forget the Others.

Mabel—Papa says he never knew four these and swootions open to woman.

Clara—Dear me! What are they?

Mabel—I don't know. One of them is marriage and another is—Dear me! I've forgotten the others.—N. Y. Weekly.

Saving a Stamp.

Mamma—Why did you put two stamps on this letter? One would have been plenty.

Little Tommy—One of the stamps was torn, and I didn't want to waste it.—Good News.

Off the Scent.

Mr. Sofadowl (tenderly)—Ah, Miss Hyler, how

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

J. A. DEMAREST - - City Editor.

—Workmen are engaged in painting the belfry of the M. E. church.

—The Democratic State convention is called for the 14th of September.

—The Democrats of North Plainfield will organize Thursday evening at the rooms of the association, 85 Somerset street.

—A rule of the Street Railway company provides that conductors must call out the names of all streets before reaching them.

—The curtains in the show-windows of the store at 44 West Front street caught fire at 6 o'clock Monday night. The blaze was promptly extinguished.

—Seats are now on sale at the Central pharmacy for the appearance of Mr. Kelly, Miss Watt and Miss Vickers, at Music Hall, Friday evening.

—The new hook-and-ladder truck will probably be a combination truck and water tower. Plainfield is bound to have all the modern improvements.

—Hamilton, who won the time prize in the Plainfield Crescent League bicycle race Thursday, came within 1 min., 10 sec., of the record—5 miles.

—A valuable Alderney cow owned by L. W. Serrell, and pastured on Girard avenue, had the tip of one of its horns shot off by some miscreant Saturday.

—Forepaugh & Sells will show in this city Friday afternoon and evening, Sept. 23, on the former base-ball grounds at Leffrands avenue and Richmond street.

—All the private boxes in Music Hall have been secured for the season of Mr. Netherwood together with a number of orchestra seats for Friday evening's performance.

—Officer Frisbie has reconsidered his resignation, and to-day resumed the office of dog catcher. He says he is going to do his duty faithfully, and capture all dogs running at large, showing no favorites.

—As a sanitary precaution, Dr. Probasco ordered French's raceway cleaned of the green scum that had accumulated to large proportions on the surface of the water. The raceway has therefore been cleaned out.

—Special offers: Hope to present a wheelbarrow full of coal, Saturday night, near the coal cars at Richmond street. The goal was stolen from the cars. The thieves ran when Hope approached. They will be arrested.

—The Park club of North Plainfield has put another bowling alley in its house, making three altogether. The building has been in the hands of D. L. Bullis, the carpenter, for a week past, and is now in thorough repair.

—Doud & Rice, the contractors, inform THE PRESS that the shanty burned at Westfield, Tuesday evening, was set afire by a Hungarian employe. They discharged their Italian employes from it to Garwood two months ago, as told in these columns.

—The Union Water company is laying a main in Westfield along North avenue, from Broad street to the station. Grogan's three houses, Barton's livery stable, and the railway station are to be supplied with water from the Netherwood wells.

—A framed set of finely engrossed resolutions, to be presented to the widow of Theodore A. Sofield by Gazelle Engine company, testifying to associates' appreciation of his character, are on view at Flower's window, next to the post-office.

—The Cleveland and Stevenson Campaign club held a regular meeting last evening. The club was an enthusiastic attendance and many new names were enrolled. Delegates were chosen to represent the club at the convention of the State associations at Camden, next month.

—The eighth team contest of the New Jersey Trapshooters' League will take place at the grounds of the East Orange Gun club, Saturday, Wednesday, September 14. The conditions are five men to a team, each to shoot at 25 bluerocks under American Shooting Association rules, Keeney's system to govern.

—The crop report from South Plainfield is: "A total absence of rainfall, together with hot, temperature and the abnormal amount of sunshine obtained, has been very injurious to corn, potatoes and lima beans; apples dropping badly; peaches and pears scarce; potatoes are a light crop here; farm work well along."

THEY DIVIDED THE JOKE.

And Miss Vickers and Mr. Kelly Will Now Play on the Same Stage.

The appearance of John T. Kelly and Mattie Vickers in the same company at Music Hall, Friday evening, recalls an incident that befell them while Kelly was starring in "I I" and Mattie Vickers in "The Circus Queen".

It happened that they were opposing attractions at different houses, and in a western town one night last season, and Kelly decided to give Miss Vickers a surprise by taking advantage of a lengthy absence from the city. The afternoon train Kelly was to drive quickly to the other theater and rush on the stage during one of Miss Vickers's scenes and inquire wellnotously as to the whereabouts of her husband.

The scheme promised well; but meanwhile the comedienne's manager had said to her: "Well play a joke on Kelly, tonight. You can appear on the stage during the first twenty-five minutes of the second act. As soon as you have changed dresses at the end of the first act, we'll jump into a carriage, drive over to the Academy and you can surprise Kelly by going on in one of his scenes."

In carrying out their plans each of the two stars came from their respective theaters at about the same time. It so happened that the two johns driving their carriages in opposite directions met in an obstructed place in the street. The two johns got interlocked and a pair of drivers swore at only drivers can. Kelly's head popped out of the window of his carriage, only to come in contact with Mattie Vickers's blonde wig thrust from the window of the other.

"The divil!" said John in his rich Mission brogue.

"Nein! Nein, Heber John, only me," was Gretchen Vichers's reply, and they divided the joke, behind the windows to say nothing, and hurried back to their respective theaters.

Baskets and Squeezes.

William E. Rentell, No. 512 West 37th street, N. Y., says:

"I have been a martyr to bilious headaches and dyspepsia. Any indiscretion in diet, overlarging or cold brings on a fit of indigestion, lasting for days, sometimes for two or three days at a time. I think I must have suffered from every different remedies, which were recommended as certain cures by loving friends, but it was no use. At last I thought I would take a simple course of purgation with BRANDRETH'S PILLS. For the first week I took two pills every night, then one pill for 30 nights in that time I gained 3 pounds in weight, and never have had an ache or a pain since.

"Disease in one part of the body will evidently fill the whole body with disease. Every part of your body is part of you, and must be given rest and healthful nourishment, which can only be had when every one neither be allowed to take its place. There's no need of cutting it out with a surgeon's knife and worrying yourself to disease and worried parts with BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

PERSONALIA.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Vanderbeek are home again from Denver.

C. P. Bull and family have returned from West Hampton, L. I.

C. B. Corwin is now at the Algonquin House, Cape Vincent, N. Y.

Mrs. T. S. Armstrong and children are home from Avon-by-the-Sea.

Mrs. J. W. Yates has returned from Minnewaska, Ulster county, N. Y.

Counselor Wm. Stillman and wife returned home from Europe Wednesday.

The Rev. Dr. C. B. Mitchell and wife are home from "The Portland", Asbury Park.

Mrs. J. F. Sheppard and daughter, of Orchard place, are home from Ocean Grove.

Otto Arens and family, who are home again from Europe, are stopping at the Albion.

Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Roberts have left Moscow, Pa., and are now at Tobyhanna Mills, Pa.

George W. Demeza is home again from Texas. He is in excellent health, and has a fine trip.

J. C. Peck and family, of 105 Rockview avenue, are home from a tour through New York State.

H. A. McGee and family, of Orchard place, Washington Park, are home from Mount Island, Maine.

Mrs. James A. Spence, of New York, is visiting th' home of her father, Alfred Bonnell, Manning avenue.

C. I. Ames and family of Crescent avenue leave Town Price for Maplewood Oakes, Maplewood, N. H.

Mrs. L. Cole, of Dorr street, and Mrs. W. H. N. Cadmus, of Brooklyn, N. Y., are at Asbury Park, for two weeks.

Miss May Sheppard of Manning avenue has returned to her home after a pleasant sojourn at Ocean Grove.

Edward B. Daly, formerly of the Evening News, is dangerously ill of pneumonia at his home on Madison avenue.

Mrs. Frisbie has reconsidered his resignation, and to-day resumed the office of dog catcher. He says he is going to do his duty faithfully, and capture all dogs running at large, showing no favorites.

—As a sanitary precaution, Dr. Probasco ordered French's raceway cleaned of the green scum that had accumulated to large proportions on the surface of the water. The raceway has therefore been cleaned out.

—Special offers: Hope to present a wheelbarrow full of coal, Saturday night, near the coal cars at Richmond street. The goal was stolen from the cars. The thieves ran when Hope approached. They will be arrested.

—The Park club of North Plainfield has put another bowling alley in its house, making three altogether. The building has been in the hands of D. L. Bullis, the carpenter, for a week past, and is now in thorough repair.

—Doud & Rice, the contractors, inform THE PRESS that the shanty burned at Westfield, Tuesday evening, was set afire by a Hungarian employe. They discharged their Italian employes from it to Garwood two months ago, as told in these columns.

—The Union Water company is laying a main in Westfield along North avenue, from Broad street to the station. Grogan's three houses, Barton's livery stable, and the railway station are to be supplied with water from the Netherwood wells.

—A framed set of finely engrossed resolutions, to be presented to the widow of Theodore A. Sofield by Gazelle Engine company, testifying to associates' appreciation of his character, are on view at Flower's window, next to the post-office.

—The Cleveland and Stevenson Campaign club held'a regular meeting last evening. The c was an enthusiastic attendance and many new names were enrolled. Delegates were chosen to represent the club at the convention of the State associations at Camden, next month.

—The eighth team contest of the New Jersey Trapshooters' League will take place at the grounds of the East Orange Gun club, Saturday, Wednesday, September 14. The conditions are five men to a team, each to shoot at 25 bluerocks under American Shooting Association rules, Keeney's system to govern.

—The crop report from South Plainfield is: "A total absence of rainfall, together with hot, temperature and the abnormal amount of sunshine obtained, has been very injurious to corn, potatoes and lima beans; apples dropping badly; peaches and pears scarce; potatoes are a light crop here; farm work well along."

"TURN HIM OUT!"

A Sensation Never Closely Rendered by the Junior Guests at the Netherwood.

(SPECIAL TO THE PRESS.)

NETHERWOOD, Aug. 29.—The hotel bulletin board announced the following event: "Monday evening, August 29, grand performance by the junior guests of the hotel. The performance will commence at 8:30, with selections by the Netherwood Glee club, to conclude with the screaming farce entitled 'Turn Him Out!'"

Promptly at 8:30, this evening, the guests of the hotel and their friends assembled in the annex of the dining room. The room was handsomely decorated for the occasion. The fine curtain was a work of art, and particularly noticeable. The stage settings were all that could be desired. The Netherwood Glee club opened the evening's entertainment with several songs, which were received with hearty applause, after which the farce was produced, with the following caste, under the direction of Harry Carpenter:

Nicodemus Note.....Willard Bunchor
Mackintosh Mohr.....Anastasius Swyzette
Mr. Rossland.....Alexander Hamilton
Julia.....Pearl Buschner
Joan }
Portiere }.....Frank Poe
Jessie.....Miss Elsie Poe

To say that the play was a decided success, and that the young actors covered themselves with imperishable glory, is but faint praise. I know the young cavaliers will pardon me if I particularize only in the case of the sweet little fairy, Miss Elsie Poe; acting was second to none born". Frequent and hearty applause followed her all the way through Theodore Dear little Percy Buschner, as Julia, was the sweetest little rosebud in the wide, wide world, and too cute for anything. The affair started at 9:30, and one more delightful event was entered on the Netherwood roll. A handsome sum was realized, and will be devoted to a charitable object.

The two little Netherwood darlings, Eddie Green and Leonard Buschner, made a little speech at the conclusion of the performance, which was very touching and beautiful.

J. A. H.

NEWS OF THE WHEELMEN.

What the Cyclists Are Doing, in and Out of Plainfield.

At the fourth annual fall meeting of the Riverside cycling club, Newark, the afternoon of Sept. 24, there will be a two mile and a five-mile safety bicycle race, handicap, open to all amateurs. The handicapper will be F. F. Pride. The handicapped the most in the recent Crescent League road race. Besides the bicycle races there will be: 100 yards run, handicap; 220 yards run, handicap; 880 yards run, handicap; 1 mile run, handicap; 220 yards hurdle, handicap, (10 flights, 2 ft. 6 in. high); running high jump, handicap (to take off from one foot); scratch. A handsome gold medal will be given to the first, and a silver medal to the second, in each event. These medals will be exhibited at Beck & Segelcke's, 189 Nassau street, New York, on and after Sept. 12. The entrance fee is 50 cents for each event. The entries close Saturday, Sept. 17, with E. W. Pride. The athletic committee, corner of Lincoln and Arlington avenues, Newark. There should be large numbers in these events. They are all open to all amateurs.

An "ordinary" ridden by a colored youth ran away with a base-ball, Monday afternoon. Two lads were catching ball on Fifth avenue, and one of them threw the ball just as the cyclist whirled in between them. The ball lodged in the spokes of the wheel, and the colored youth laughed gleefully. The ball jammed, shouted to him to stop, but he put on steam instead. They chased him through the streets, but he soon outdistanced them, and the boys returned sorrowfully to their playground.

The sentiment is steadily growing among Plainfield wheelmen in opposition to road racing. Such an important cycling centre as Plainfield deserves a wheelmen's racing track. One would be laid out on the Crescent league grounds were it not that the trustees expect the Peace street extension to cut through the field.

Joseph Pike, of this city, is being generously voted for in "the most popular wheelman in America" in the columns of a New York paper.

Blacksmithy and Repairing About the Trolley System.

(New York Sun.)

We print elsewhere, from the Electrical Review, an article on the trolley system, which appears to us to contain a good deal of common sense. We have a good sympathy with the widespread condemnation by the newspapers of the trolley, because it seemed to us to be mainly rhetorical and to lack scientific and practical substance.

We have always held that there was only one sound and serious objection to taking a current of high voltage through overhead wires in a city, and that was that in case of fire it would probably interfere with the working of the firemen. We must admit, however, that it would be a very simple affair to introduce a device whereby the firemen could cut off the current. It would be at this point where it threatened to affect their operations. Our elevated railroads are sometimes brought to a standstill by the current escaping by the rail to the boxes, but the trolley lines need not necessarily be stopped in their entire length, since it should be a simple thing to short the current, let it make a detour and return to the main line at a point where it would not interfere with the firemen.

There has been a great deal of dishonesty and nonsense in what some newspapers have printed about the trolley system.

Vacation of the Peach Crop.

(Farmington Democrat.)

The peach is a peculiar freak. This year in a great many orchards he did not make his appearance at all, while in a few others, with nothing but a few trees, he fell heavy climbing them from non-bearing orchards, he came in great abundance. This is true in a marked degree on the premises of our friend, Dennis Hart, near Sand Brook. He owns three orchards, and each one of them is producing many hundreds of baskets of extra fine peaches, while orchards adjoining and composed of very healthy, hardy looking trees, are yielding next to no peaches. We agree with Mr. Alvater in his remark that it is better to be born lucky than good-looking.

Plainfield Hours a Remarkable Preacher.

The Rev. Dr. Joseph Osgood, of Concord, Mass., who preached in the Plainfield Unitarian church last Sunday, is seventy-seven years old and has been the pastor of one church, his only charge, for forty years. He is a graduate of Harvard, and, in commemoration of the semi-centennial anniversary of his pastorate, that institution conferred on him at his last commencement the degree of Doctor of Divinity. His mental powers are unimpaired, as his sermons, which are delivered extemporaneously, abundantly testify. In connection with this the Plainfield Journal says: "While we are hearing so much about the vigorous old age to which the Grand Army of the Republic veterans are destined to attain, it is worth while to be reminded, now and then, that American pre-eminence in matters of intellectual activity equally respectable."

NETHERWOOD'S FAIR WOMEN.

An Old Times Belle of the Ancestral Among the Visitors at the Hotel.

UST ACROSS the railroad from the picturesque Red Mill is a large, square, flat building, that imposing, castle-like structure which has been known as "The Hotel Netherwood" since, filled at this date with guests from various States and cities.

While we have with us some charming maidens, the special feature of our company is a bevy of charming matrons, many of them strikingly "fine looking", with queenly forms and graces.

Mrs. E—n, with her iron-gray hair, lustrous brown eyes, and sweet friendly manner, is popular with all. She has been a guest here for several consecutive summers.

Mrs. P—k, transplanted from Chicago to New York, has just claims to many admirers. That her husband is proud of her is apparent in his every look and act when she is near. Both idolize their toddling baby boy.

Mrs. C—r a pronounced blonde, more than ordinarily pleasant to look upon, and carries the years she claims to be twenty-seven with a very graceful ease. Her piquant looks and repressed humor would mark her for pointed admiration were her husband less in love with her fine, handsome face and sensuous mouth.

Mrs. C—n, of Washington, is the type of gentle loveliness in face and manner. Her voice is strikingly sweet and she is totally free from the mannerisms that so often spoil the favorites of society. She has a brother and watches her boys unceasingly.

Mrs. L—h, whose oriental features mark her as one of the race celebrated through generations for beauty of their beauty, is regally queenly in her style and manner. She, too, has a husband who plainly shows his entire satisfaction with his fascinating venture.

Tall, stately, statuesque and in every way charming, is Mrs. B—d S—h, another representative of our nation's beauty. Her ready courteous attention and admiration wherever she may be.

These, grouped with others, all more or less charming in the shifting scene daily presented here, make a picture well worth remembering.

Everybody that is any body (figuratively speaking) has a "turn out" here, and there is never less than a hundred well made roads in the general order for a part of the day; but the crowning feature of each day's diversion is "out-bonded suche". Neither "Pole", "Cavendish", "Clay" nor "Proctor", condescends to describe this fascinating game in any of their works on cards, hence I assume it is of local origin. Its inventor ought to be canonized, or anathematized, as may suit.

Real whist has few votaries here. Our guests prefer soothing requiring less mental strain, with more opportunity for the exercise of their vocal organs.

AN OLD TIMER.

PLAINFIELD MARKSMEN ABROAD.

Jersey Wing shoots to Beat a Team from the Volunteer State.

Enoch D. Miller, of Springfield, manager of the Union Gun club, left Tuesday for New London, Connecticut, to take part in the fifth annual tournament of the Standard Keystone Target and Trap company. The shooting will begin to-morrow and continue until Friday night. On Friday a team from New Jersey, under the leadership of Mr. Miller, will shoot against a Connecticut team for a purse of $100. Each man will shoot at twenty-five Keystone targets.

With Mr. Miller the following shooters will represent New Jersey on the team: Ford VanDyke and R. H. Breintnall, Newark; Wm. Sigler, Montclair; Neal Agnar, Charles Squier and Thomas Brandreth, Orange; Frank Post, Jr., Lindsley and Ed. Collins, West Roboken; F. G. Moore and J. S. Richmond, Claremont.

Entries and Table of Plainfield Lead. (Elm Park Bowling Club.)

In the Eighth District—a new one made up of Union county, the Plainfield section of Hudson, and the Democratic townships in Essex—Democratic candidates for congressional honors are: E. Ross Adams, of Plainfield, known locally as the "Farmer Orator", and Joseph W. Yates, also of Plainfield, who was one of the delegates to the last Democratic State convention, was chiefly talked of among the Union county men. Ex-speaker John T. Dillon, who never tires of being a candidate for office, is being pushed by the Abbett followers in Elizabeth. A Mr. O'Reilly and Colonel George B. M. Harvey will go into the convention with some backing from the Essex townships. The foremost among these candidates seem to be Martine and O'Reilly. If his party friends can persuade him to take a second nomination Foster M. Voorhees of Elizabeth will lead the Republican forces here.

Reopening of the Boys' Club.

The Boys' club will be opened Thursday night, September 1. Mr. Bond, the superintendent, will be at the rooms daily from 10 to 12 a. m. and 5 to 6 and 7 to 9 p. m. He would be thankful for any games, books, papers, etc., which may be donated to the club, and will receive them during the office hours at the club rooms, corner of North and Park avenues.

Low Rate Excursion Excursions.

The announcement that the North-Western line, comprising over 8,000 miles of thoroughly equipped railway, has arranged to run two low-rate harvest excursions during the months of August and September, will be gladly received by those who are interested in the development of that great section. Mr. Bond, the general passenger agent, or to W. A. Thrall, G. P. T. A., Chicago & Northwestern Railway, Chicago. 8 11 8t

Passed the Friend Alive He'd Come to Bury.

"Colonel Eph", a well-known character during the days of Plainfield's first boom, and now a resident of Round Brook, received a wire from this city Saturday to the effect that his friend Edward Skinner was dead, and that his funeral would take place the next day.

So Eph arrived in Plainfield yesterday, dressed in his best suit of clothes, with tears in his eyes and his gay cane exchanged for a sombre mahogany affair. He hurried around to Mr. Skinner's house on the Third street side, and found him in a hammock in the yard, looking about the picture of perfect health. They are now both on the warpath for the people who "jollied" them, with followers a mile in the rear.

THE GREAT ROAD RACE.

WILLIS OF WESTFIELD WINNER.

Riders of Plainfield a Fine-Skin Second—Exertion of Secretary Gets the Bon Time Price—Details of the Contest.

The first annual 25-mile road race of the Elm Park bowling club was run off on Thursday, beginning at 2:30, over the Fanwood-Scotch Plains course. The start was made from the Park house, Front street near the corner of Richmond. The official list of entries and handicaps was as follows:

No.	Name	Handicap.
1.	G. D. Greenwood, R. C. C.	6 Minutes
2.	Louis R. Mier, R. W.	6 "
3.	J. W. Hedges, Plainfield	6 "
4.	C. Mosher, P. L. C.	7 "
5.	G. Malone, P. L. C.	7 "
6.	W. A. Glass, P. L. C.	7 "
7.	C. Vanderveer, R. R. W.	7 "
8.	A. Atkinson, P. L. C.	7 "
9.	A. S. Pike, Plainfield	7 "
10.	I. Jones,	7 "
11.	A. Bell, Jr., R. C. C.	7 "
12.	C. H. Coffin, Newark	7 "
13.	H. Harvey, Plainfield	7 "
14.	W. J. Kiely,	7 "
15.	H. Martin,	7 "
16.	W. Cowell,	7 "
17.	W. Bettner, Elizabeth	6.30 "
18.	A. M. Callister, Rapidoso	6.30 "
19.	E. Morris, Elizabeth	6.30 "
20.	F. C. Gilbert, Elizabeth	6 "
21.	H. Hamilton, P. L. C.	6 "
22.	J. Cockburn, H. A. C.	6 "
23.	S. R. Bowman, R. A. C.	4 "
24.	G. C. Hamilton, Plainfield	Scratch.
25.	J. R. Hamilton, R. A. C.	Scratch.

A large crowd witnessed the contest.

Many of the records were made in 1887, at which time Greenwood, 1, and Mier, 2, started. The others followed in this order:

1887.—Willis, 3. 2:55, Maisby—4. 2:55, Mahon, Clapp, Vanderveer, Atkinson, Pike, Jones, Bath, Coffin, Harvey, Kiely, Martin, Gothhelf. 7:30.—Callister. 7:50 Gilbert, Leggett, Jones Hamilton. 8:05—G Coffin, Hamilton. (Coffin discarded handicap and started scratch.

Bettner, R. Morris and Bowman did not show up.

Great excitement prevailed throughout the contest.

Bath, 7, took the lead in the first lap and kept it to the end.

The first lap was ended with the riders in this position:

1, 12, 5, 1, 30, 21, 6, 16, 7, 28, 16, 11, 8, 2, 10, 14, 13. Maltby dropped out and became pacemaker for Mahon. Martin, 15, fell from the tire of Coffin, 24, burst, and he went out.

The fourth lap finished as follows, all but one not mentioned dropping out: 2, 5, 12, 1, 20, 21, 30, 6, 11.

On the home stretch the finish was in this order:

	Time of Actual.	Finishing.
2. White	1:26:01	1:26:01
5. Mahon	1:26:08	1:26:08
12. Coffin	1:26:08 1-5	1:26:08 1-5
1. Greenwood	1:26:09	1:26:09
30. Gilbert	1:26:09	1:26:09
20. Hamilton	1:26:01 1-2	1:26:01 1-2
21. Atkinson	1:26:02	1:26:02

Some of the disappointed riders talk of protesting Mahon because Maltby paced for him, and of protesting Willis because Milligan of Plainfield paced him.

The wheels ridden were: Columbia, 12; Humber, 4; Liberty, 3; Victor, 1; Kings of Brothers, 1; Keating, 1.

A little boy was knocked down at the Richmond street turn by a racer in whose way he ran. The lad's legs were bruised, but he was not seriously hurt. Luckily the rider was not thrown.

OFFICIALS OF THE RACE.

Referee—Charles P. Lummis.
Judges—Dr. J. Morris, Charles H. Lyman, Dr. J. T. Pitts.
Clerk of course—William Ashgrove.
Timers—W. H. Rogers, Charles Vail, J. Harvey Doane.
Scorers—E. J. Thomas, Walter L. Clarke, G. W. Morrison.
Starter—T. H. Hinrichs.
Committee of arrangements—Dr. D. C. Adams, chairman, John J. Ramsey, F. Richard Morrow, J. A. Haynes, Robert Mosher.

Election Returns in Plainfield and Vicinity.

The list of election boards for Plainfield and vicinity is now officially announced as follows:

PLAINFIELD.

First ward—George W. Moore, R.; Richard E. Cornell, R.; Louis F. Walsworth, D.; John J. Mahon, D.

Second ward—John H. Bound, R.; Wm. M. Hamilton, R.; Louis R. Brown, D.; Chas. A. Stover, D.

Third ward—E. Frank Corbett, R.; M. Marvin Hedges, R.; Wm. H. Bigge, D.; Edward Wright, D.

Fourth ward, First district—William T. Newman, R.; Abraham Anderson, R.; Richard Wynn, D.; Vincent L. Brown, D.

Fourth ward, Second district—Franklin R. Millington, R., James B. Martin, R.; Jacob Kinney, D.; Thomas J. McCarthy, D.

FANWOOD.

Edward Miller, R.; Joseph Clark, R.; William C. Stanbury, D.; William R. Perrin, D.

SCOTCH PLAINS.

John H. Manning, R.; Charles Rowe, R.; J. S. Pennington, D.; W. G. Bennett, D.

Bowling on the Green.

Owing to the threatening weather, but few of the Dunellen Bowling club members on Mr. Schaplin's green Friday. Sides were selected by Andrew Love who drew Mr. Schaplin and Col. Moore, and by James Smyth who drew Wm. Love, of Plainfield, and D. B. Corbin. Seven first game resulted in a victory for Love, the score being 21 to 20. Skips were then changed, Moore and Love acting, and the result was 21 to 16 in favor of Love. The third game was stopped by the lateness of the hour. Messrs. Schaplin and Moore scored 19 points, and Messrs. Schaplin won by 7 to 1. The great American bowler Smyth was hardly up in form, physically, and this fact was to a great extent responsible for the victories during the month of August and September, will be gladly received by those who are interested in the development of that great section. Mr. Bond, the general passenger agent, or to W. A. Thrall, G. P. T. A., Chicago & Northwestern Railway, Chicago. 8 11 8t

Officers of the Normal Relief.

At a recent meeting of the North Plainfield Firemen's Relief association the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—E. R. Woodruff.
Vice-president—Ch. Schaplin.
Treasurer—J. F. Bonham.
Secretary—W. C. Hendrickson.

The Women Will Rule Everywhere.

Franklin county, Ohio, has a woman for a treasurer, a woman for a clerk, and a woman for a recorder. The Columbus Dispatch says: "The committee in charge of the Fourth of July celebration, G. S. Morris, F. M. Long, C. I. Young and H. E. Hutchinson, have decided to have a picnic and basket dinner at Lake Park, Blackhoof island, to be attended by the families of the committee, who will assist at the dinner. Whether or not the men will be invited to the table remains to be seen."

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—Latest U. S. Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER Co., 106 Wall St., N. Y.

NO MUSEUM WOULD HOLD HIM.

[FOR THE PRESS.]

For years I've made a business
Of interviewing freaks;
I've chased up each noteworthy
That creeps or crawls or speaks.
I've covered with the tattooed man
About the entire globe,
I've lubricated with the snake-charmer
And had my picture took
The albino, the Circassian,
The giant and the dwarf;
The sinister, the dog-faced boy
Have gladly blown me off;
The fattest woman I've boarded,
The fleshless man I've met,
The fasting lady's asked me in
To breakfast on her diet;
But still I feel I've yet to meet
The freak who makes the pace—
The modern man about town.
Last Thursday's cycle race.

T.

PUT UP A JOB ON THE BARBER.

Hofford Easily Won the Race, But an Outside Trick Was Played on His Competitor.

Several sports-at-boot-town arranged a bicycle race between Chris Hofford and Eugene Laine, Tuesday morning, for a distance of five miles, over the Scotch Plains-Fanwood course. The start was made at 9 a. m., from Fifth street, at Scott's Piano works. The signal was given by Sam P. T. Wilbur, and both men started even. But Laine lost his pedals some time after crossing the line, and fell considerably behind in regaining his foot-grip. Hofford was attended over the course by Jack Lowrie, who had loaned his racing wheel to the doughty captain of the Crescents. Hofford finished in 23 minutes, amid the applause of the crowd that had gathered. Laine did not show up till nearly half an hour later. He claimed that Gentle Willie Murphy had put roots on his chain and that every turn of the pedals was like drawing in a ton of coal. The wheel certainly did run very hard.

CAUGHT IN A CYCLONE.

Rev. A Cooperstown Captain Saved Frost-dent Smith and Family of Plainfield from Destruction.

During their recent stay at Cooperstown, ex-councilman Seymour G. Smith and family had a terrible experience with a cyclone. They were guests on the steamer Gem, returning from camping. A party of fifty were on board. When in the middle of the lake, the storm overtook them, and tossed the tie craft about like a feather. Some fainted from terror, and great excitement prevailed. The captain called out "Put on the life preservers!" Then came a crash. The vessel had been run into a dock at Hyde Clark's, with such force as to cut it right through, and there the craft was saved. That was not only means captain Cooper had of preserving his passengers from destruction. To his shrewdness they owe their lives.

Petition in This County.

(New York World.)

James E. Martine, of Plainfield, is not lasting grass grow under his feet these days, and is working assiduously and hard for the congressional nomination. Alderman Dunn, of Elizabeth, will do well to keep his weather eye on the horse-collar, as the latter is an earlybird and is hustling around Union county when his rival thinks he is asleep.

Jim Blivers, of Rahway, is reported to be making vigorous efforts to secure delegates in that place who will support him for surrogate. Of course this would injure county clerk Crowell's chances for renomination as Rahway is one of his offices. It is rumored that Silvers is trying to form a deal with ex-surrogate Gerber, of Elizabeth, who is a candidate for the Assembly, so that by combining forces they might stand a better chance of attaining their respective objects.

Senator Fred C. Marsh has been asked by the National Democratic committee to take the stump for a few days in Maine. Senator Marsh will give the party a work of his vacation, and will speak in Portland, Bangor and Dalaila. Ex-speaker Dunn and James Martine, the congressional aspirants and both able stump-speakers, will likely also be heard by the people in the Pine Tree State.

Plainfield's Trolley Steamer to Get There.

[Elizabeth Journal.]

Plainfield's trolley road carried as many people during the first week's running as the town has inhabitants. It is something of a toy at present, to be sure, but the Plainfield management has the "pioneer" of the road in shape, and both between two not very distant points, indicates what may be expected in the way of traffic when the road shall cover the streets of the city; as it must, in time, even though recalcitrating citizens, vulgarly called "kickers", may object. Plainfield moves ahead, even more slowly, in the introduction of public improvements, but it "gets there" all the same.

A Westfield Man Was the Pioneer.

[Elizabeth Journal.]

Great things from small beginnings grow. The late Dr. Francis B. Brewer, of Westfield, was honored as the "pioneer of petroleum", because he first conceived the idea of using it for commercial purposes. The original oil refinery was established by himself and Mr. Kier, who set up a small refinery in Pittsburg in 1853. At first he used a one-barrel still, but was the small beginning of what is now one of the greatest of industries, but this was afterward enlarged to a capacity of five barrels, and it is said to be still in existence, and adjacent thereto the plant of the Standard Oil company and pondes.

—The Newark Evening News quotes in full Tom Feaney's story of Thomas Hill Usme's wheelbarrow-trolley mishap, and calls it "a tale of misfortune quaintly told".

You can save money with Dr. Pierce's most popular remedy, Favorite Prescription. Suppose you're a little over the proper weight for your height, and you're not sick, but you're not well, and you're not strong, and you're not regular, and you're not happy, and you're not comfortable, and you're not anything that you ought to be, and you're not willing to be sick, and you're not willing to pay a doctor, and you're not willing to be examined, and you're not willing to be doctored, and you're not willing to be talked to, and you're not willing to be told what to do, and you're not willing to be told what to take, and you're not willing to be told what to eat, and you're not willing to be told what to drink, and you're not willing to be told what to wear, and you're not willing to be told what to think, and you're not willing to be told what to say

FREAKS OF MADNESS.

Curious Letters Written by the Inmates of a New York Asylum.

The Hopelessly Insane Much Given to Letter Writing—A Quaintly Sad Appeal to the Almighty—A Maniac with a Touch of Humor.

[COPYRIGHT, 1893.]

That "the excellent soul is exempt from a mixture of madness," was averred by Aristotle, and modern philosophers are disposed to confirm their views. The question that does perplex the student of psychiatry is just where the mixture was, and where the line between the realms of reason and the domain of lunacy.

Notwithstanding that, in point of law, all men are either sane or insane, there are many alienists who claim that, in point of fact, there is no defining line between sanity and insanity. Dr. Ireland, an eminent Scotch specialist in mental diseases, says the latter is but "as no eye is perfectly achromatic, so no brain is perfectly sane." He admits, however, that the gap between degree of insanity more or less dangerous, and states that only one person in about every five hundred is mad enough to require the restraint of an asylum. Each remaining four hundred and ninety-nine he thinks may with safety retain their liberty so long as their delusions do not conflict with the prevailing standards of the times.

SCENE IN AN ASYLUM.

Sanity, says Dr. Ireland, "implies the capability of a man living in close consonance with the society in which his lot is cast as not to come into continual collision with its beliefs and customs and modes of life."

With a view of obtaining a partial insight into some of the methods of determining the prescribed degrees of insanity, an interview was sought with a distinguished physician whose life has been devoted to the care of the unfortunate beings who can neither adapt themselves to circumstances nor shape the events of life to their own ends, and who are consequently condemned to confinement.

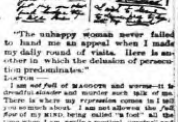
"How can you decide to a certainty that the people confided to your care are quite to be secluded?" was the question propounded.

"It is quite a rare thing for a patient to be brought to an asylum in the earlier stages of the malady," was the response. "Usually confinement is the last resort, and the disease has made such progress that it is unmistakable. To an experienced eye the evidences of mental derangements are, however, manifold. One of the most reliable modes of judging of a person's mental condition is from his written declarations. Every one of them is more or less variably classify a patient's disorder by reading one of the letters written by him, without having had anything to do with him. Insane people are much given to letter writing, and their epistolary productions form a valuable chapter in the history of the cases under our care."

Selecting from a letter file a number of "specimens," the physician passed them over for inspection. They proved an interesting study by dint of repeated solicitation he was persuaded to loan them for publication. He exacted the condition that the identity of the writers should in no way be revealed. To allow it to be remotely suggested would, he said, be a most unwarrantable breach of trust.

It was quite evident that years of association with unreasonable and demented creatures had not in the least affected his kind and sympathetic nature.

"This letter," explained the doctor, presenting the one of which a facsimile is given, "was written by a patient who suffered from delusional insanity. Fear of prosecution was particularly mingled in its composition. The tendency to underline is a marked feature in insanity as is the concentration of thought on self."



"The unhappy woman never failed to hand me an appeal when I made my daily round of visits. Here is another in which the delusion of persecution predominates."

I am not full of MADNESS and worse—it is unwarrantable to murder and ruin me as I am. There is where my reputation is at issue in my womanhood. I am not ashamed the full force of my position and I am not afraid of time when I am really a poetical 'genius' and don't know half what I am writing about. I have been injured people and that is why I wish to have them here. You must not ask me to pray for you would kill me. I must have my entire freedom. I am perfectly sane and perfectly balanced mind. You must not draw me with a straight line. I am

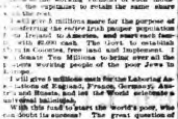
MRS. ——

You must let me leave home.

"Here is a case of dementiaa paralytica or general paresis. As a campaign document it will appeal to those familiar with many promulgated by politicians whose mental disturbances are not so certainly evident.



Reform Ye Working men of the World. No power on earth, no more ring, no more politicians, no more soldiers. Every laboring man a civil and social equal. Every man a voter of this purpose, I donate 5 million Dollars as a contribution Fund, to place every laborer in America on the same footing as the Millionaire, and enabled by law (if Congress, all trades and professions, every man, woman and child, to the working element of such industry, to receive the same wages as the employer, and give

I will give 5 millions more for the purpose of enforcing the above Irish proposed amendment to the Constitution, and will donate 10,000 each. The Govt. to establish a Bureau of Labor, and Commissioners, and I donate Ten Millions to bring over all the Europeans and Asiatics, and the Govt. to pay the passage.

I will give 5 millions each for an Laboring Association of England, France, Germany, Austria and Russia, and the Govt. to establish Bureaus of universal Intelligence.

By this fund to last for years the world's poor, who can doubt its success! The great question of the Cost of Living Labor, will be a matter of no consequence. Mr. W. H. Vanderbilt Rosenau, will send some behind me and follow my footsteps. And I hope these millions will be spent. Society I will be the prime cause of the prevention of Mr. Cleveland's becoming such an object to human mind, for the annexation of Texas and the —— Washington had no idea America people to Independence and economy. I will look to Napoleon and Wellington, and all I ask from my people in return is to elect Mr. President and Mr. Vice President, and I will say never my Country, giving them my administration.

"The confusion of words and letters, with the nonsensical confusion of ideas, are symptomatic of paresis. The following is also the effusion of a paretic"

My Dear Dr.—Good-morning. I thought as my new Head of Hair as deficient, and as sanity, as new hair as the old, as my wife to tell her dad on Saturday not to go to Ireland, as I am not going to Ireland, as I prefer my dinner to Law. I am confident of several in Ireland, as I am not going to Ireland. Yours, Lord Lieutenant Ireland.

"The writer of the following epistle did not lead his wife, although he often threatened. His letter was probably inspired by a "phenomenal," which, by perhaps, lucky guess, he thought his wife was seriously afflicted as his own.

MY DEAR DOCTOR—I had my wife taken to the Herald on the 20th ultimo, you must be the Herald on the 20th ultimo, you must be the Herald on the 20th ultimo, you must be

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.
W. L. FRINCE & A. L. PRINCE, Editors and Proprietors.
AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.
TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXV. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1892. No 36.

"Support the Constitution, which is the creature of the Union, and all its limitations are in its authorities."—MADISON.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODDINGTON.
Counsellors-at-Law,
Commissioners of Deeds, Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public, Offices, corner of Park avenue and Second street.—1m57

GEORGE W. DAY,
General Auctioneer.
Sales of Personal Property solicited. P. O. Box 135, Bridgewater, N. J. Residence, 2 miles from Bridgewater. Telephone connection.

DR. CHARLES E. TREES,
Dentist,
30 West Front Street, A new local anesthetic for painless fine operating teeth without pain. Also filling a specialty.—1y12

BUSINESS CARDS.

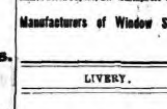
P. P. VanArsdale,
PIANO TUNER.
Instruments put in thorough order. Terms reasonable. Orders left at Constitutionalist office will be promptly attended to. Residence 81 E. Front street, corner Elm street. 11y12

T. J. GILLIES,
uctioneer & Real Estate Agent.
ALLSGOOD—HARDSCRABBLE—PIKE'S PEAK—Undersecretary on consignment.

John Chandler,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence and shop No. 38 East Third street. Jobbing promptly attended to. 49tf

WILLIAM B. RANDOLPH,
Successor to E. B. MAYNARD,
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 26 PARK AVENUE.
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their residences, shaving, Shampooing, etc., satisfactorily performed. 31Y51

CARNEY BROTHERS, Agents,
7 West Front St.
TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS,
PARLOR STOVES,
COOK STOVES,
HEATERS.
A. M. SEGUINE,
(Successor to John W. Laing.)
Grates and Bricks for all kinds of Stove s can be found here at Johnson' prices. Bring your Tinware according to us. The best Tinners, the best Plumbers, and the best Gas-fitters in the section. We use none but the very best of tin materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.
Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.
Tinware Made to Order.
Ranges, Brick and Portable Furnaces
SANITARY PLUMBING.

Laing's Hotel Stables


Front street, opposite Madison avenue.
Coaches for Weddings, Funerals and Private Calls. Light carriages of all descriptions for pleasure.

RIDING OR LIVERY.
Carefully, safely driven for shopping calls or pleasure riding. Horses taken to board. Careful attention given to the day, week or month.—oct15y1
TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 28.

RICKERT'S
ACCOMMODATION EXPRESS,
OFFICE—Vanderbeek's Music Store, Park avenue. The "Accommodation Express" will attend to the prompt delivery of packages in the city, delivering goods or baggage to and from depots, boats, etc.
Moving of Furniture, Pianos, etc., with care and safety.

Parlor Stoves,
Furnaces, Ranges,
Water Piping, Plumbing,
Heater Work, Tinning,
Hardware.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 8. 11 11-12

Beautiful Assortment!
Furniture!
Largest Assortment!
Best Goods!
Lowest Prices?
Ever Offered in Plainfield!
23, 25 and 27 PARK AVE.

Garret Q. Packer.

SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc., Etc.
I am authorized to act for any of the above businesses in Plainfield, and solicit your patronage.
D. W. LITTELL,
No. 4 North Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

INSURANCE.
WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.

Fresh Garden Seeds
AND FERTILIZERS,
Farm and Garden Implements.
Lawn Mowers, Refrigerators,
Ice Cream Freezers
Gasoline Stoves, Hardware, Tools, etc.
J. J. HEIDELOFF,
Nos. 13 and 15 SOMERSET ST. 3-25-tf

GEORGE A. MOORE,
(Of the late firm of Moore Bros.)
is now the sole proprietor of the old established Marble Yard at
NO. 14 NORTH AVENUE,
where he will continue to supply patrons with the finest monuments of
Fresh and Salt Meats,
Which, after all trades, Operatives, Shops, Banks in session, at the Lowest Market Prices.
Anything not usually kept in stock, furnished at short notice.

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE
Hugo Weigman,
29 EAST FRONTSTREET, PLAINFIELD, N.J.
Rubber

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON,
(Successor to T. J. Gillies.)
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—29 W. FRONT ST.
Leave orders at office or at residence, 15 Leeds Avenue, for Furniture Moving, Packing, Storing, Etc. Also for Freight Express Business. P. O. Box 1. 1y12

MISCELLANEOUS.

FOR MALARIA,
GENERAL DEBILITY
AND
ALL STOMACH TROUBLES
COLES'
PERUVIAN BARK
AND
WILD CHERRY BITTERS
ARE THE BEST.
A Vegetable Substitute for Quinine.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
Price, 50 cents and $1.00 per Bottle.
Manufactured only by
D. F. COLES DRUG AND MFG. CO
Rahway, N. J.
5-27-y

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS,
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS,
BEST IN THE WORLD.
ALLSGOOD DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.
1tf

A. WOLFF,
Manufacturer of
CIGARS,
And Dealer in all kinds of Smoking and Chewing Tobacco, also snuffs. Cigarettes, Pipes, Pouches, etc. Store open from 6:30 A. M. to 9:30 P. M. Factory, rear door east of Madison Avenue, also entrance at No. 2 Front street, Plainfield, N. J. Orders promptly attended to. 1-2 3m

PAINTERS & PAPERHANGERS SUPPLIES.
Paints, Varnishes, Glass,
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALLPAPERS
PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY.
A. SWALM,
No. 8 North Avenue, Plainfield.
4tf

L. D. WOOLSTON, E. P. BOCKEE,
Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS,
Wall Papers,
PAINTER'S SUPPLIES. 26 NORTH AVENUE
10Y37

WALL PAPER.
321 Canal Street,
NEW YORK.
English Tiles, Anaglypta, Hand, Leather Stained Flock Papers, &c. Surface for Walls.
Manufacturers of Window Shades.
3-15-y

LIVERY.

Laing's Hotel Stables

Front street, opposite Madison avenue.
Coaches for Weddings, Funerals and Private Calls. Light carriages of all descriptions for pleasure.

RIDING OR LIVERY.
Carefully, safely driven for shopping calls or pleasure riding. Horses taken to board. Careful attention given to the day, week or month.—oct15y1
TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 28.

RICKERT'S
ACCOMMODATION EXPRESS,
OFFICE—Vanderbeek's Music Store, Park avenue. The "Accommodation Express" will attend to the prompt delivery of packages in the city, delivering goods or baggage to and from depots, boats, etc.
Moving of Furniture, Pianos, etc., with care and safety.

INSURANCE.
WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.

Fresh Garden Seeds
AND FERTILIZERS,
Farm and Garden Implements.
Lawn Mowers, Refrigerators,
Ice Cream Freezers
Gasoline Stoves, Hardware, Tools, etc.
J. J. HEIDELOFF,
Nos. 13 and 15 SOMERSET ST. 3-25-tf

GEORGE A. MOORE,
(Of the late firm of Moore Bros.)
is now the sole proprietor of the old established Marble Yard at
NO. 14 NORTH AVENUE,
where he will continue to supply patrons with the finest monuments of
Fresh and Salt Meats,
Which, after all trades, Operatives, Shops, Banks in session, at the Lowest Market Prices.
Anything not usually kept in stock, furnished at short notice.

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE
Hugo Weigman,
29 EAST FRONTSTREET, PLAINFIELD, N.J.
Rubber

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON,
(Successor to T. J. Gillies.)
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—29 W. FRONT ST.
Leave orders at office or at residence, 15 Leeds Avenue, for Furniture Moving, Packing, Storing, Etc. Also for Freight Express Business. P. O. Box 1. 1y12

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c

H. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of the Celebrated
C. C. D. CIGAR,
The most pleasant cigar to the taste and made from the finest Havana tobacco.
CLEAR HAVANA SEGARS A SPECIALTY.
A large assortment of the Choicest Brands of Foreign and Domestic Cigars and Tobacco always on hand.
Smokers Articles in Great Variety.
29Y12

C. M. FINE,
Dealer in SEGARS & TOBACCO
SEGARS!
29 PARK AVE., (Next door to Record Office.) PLAINFIELD, N.J.
Tobacco and Smoker's Materials, Cheap for Cash.
The celebrated "Old Judge" Smoking Tobacco with Cigarettes to match, constantly on hand. 2-20tf

WORK OF CONGRESS.

REVIEW OF THE SESSION BY CONGRESSMAN WILSON.

A Strong Plea for Home Market—The McKinley Law—Economy in Appropriations Whenever Possible—Conservatism on Silver—What Congress Did Not Do.

The work of the recent session of congress, from a democratic standpoint, is reviewed by Congressman William L. Wilson, of West Virginia, as follows:

The fundamental creed of the Democratic party is that we are to work out our prosperity more by individual effort than by laws of congress. We want a low tariff for high government or in plentiful legislation. It seeks to confine federal legislation to the powers granted to congress by the constitution, and it seeks to confine all legislation to those powers. It cannot invade the legitimate freedom of the citizen. The Democratic house, therefore, we must observe, did not the quantity but the quality of the work it has done.

Its wise, reformatory and an unfriendly attempts it would have been more traveled for the Democratic house to enter upon any that came within its legislative legislation. It sought to relieve the burdens of the taxed people, to relieve the agricultural industry and commerce by repealing the most oppressive taxes of the McKinley bill. Having failed through the senate in this attack that bill in detail rather than by a single measure, it sought to have the tariff bills as follows: Putting wood on the free list and reducing the duties on woolen goods, reducing the duties on cotton ties and cotton bagging, as also machinery for making cotton bagging, by the free list; repealing duties on silver-lead ore and tin plate, and limiting the amount of wearing apparel that may be imported free of duty. Those six bills make up a substantial relief, and they would fully carry the benefits of tariff reform home to the working people of the country. They would have done so had they not other bills had not the senate shown its determination to defeat them. They led to a de facto, especially the woolen and tin plate bills, that evoked a large number of very good tariff reform speeches, excellent contributions to the campaign of education. A still stronger bill, however, was that not being a substantial fulfillment of Democratic promises to the people is met by assertion of a provision in the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, as all bill now, and that is to say, that no our yearly appropriations, and as all bill now, pension legislation never goes backward. So with the legislative, and house bills of that congress, which this house was powerless to repeal.

But while it has not honestly the requirements of these laws the house has been to the contrary in these bills and appropriations. It has passed no new public building bills. It has passed fewer private bills excepting appropriations for the recent congress, and its private pension bills have been more carefully scrutinized to separate the good from the bad.

On the silver question the house declined to pass the Sherman bill and refused to follow up the Stewart bill. Even those who believed that silver was to them the best investment for the people must admit that the Democratic party could not have committed itself to any more unwise or unstable proposal in those bills without shrewdly and justly losing the confidence in the presidential campaign and becoming for the time being almost a sectional party. As a national party, the highest political sagacity, whatever might have been the individual views of its members, to avoid any certain to disrupt it. It has had a code of rules and an administration of its rules that did not impose autocratic power, and the right of the small minority of Republican and third party members have been uniformly respected.

It has been distinctly free from sectional and factional bitterness. Even the most the passionate and indignant protests of a tyrannical majority have marred the proceedings of the last house.

I have never known a house in which there was more cordiality and good feeling existing or one in which more time and effort to the campaign given to the service of a national election.

If the house has been thwarted by the senate in much good work and in its efforts to lessen the burdens of the people, it has given proof of the desire and of its ability to have been always ready to consider any charges upon the treasury.

It has had inclinations. It passed no subsidy bill. It voted no bounties. It passed no bills to overthrow the rights of the states. It vitalized no Republican seats for Democratic contestants, except in one case, which, by all fair rules of law and common consistency, ought to have been given to the Democratic contestant. It did not ride its minority rights or privileges to the end to render its own rights into the hands of its opponents. It kept its own ranks in order, under firm discipline and recognized leadership it might have done all that it did more expeditiously and better, but it did and even wiser measures of relief and reform. It still kept the public faith with the people of the country, and it showed once again how much safer for the country and better for the people it is to be a Democratic house than one which represents the control of the senate by the country. Those acts records demand legislation for their own benefit, and demand it as an inspiration for the future. By the traditional usage, all the safeguards of free legislation and of free discussion have been broken down. The people of the country cannot again safely trust the house of representatives to the Republican party.

The Democratic party, as a party, and it showed once again how much safer for the country and better for the people it is to be a Democratic house than one which represents the control of the senate by the country. Those acts records demand legislation for their own benefit, and demand it as an inspiration for the future. By the traditional usage, all the safeguards of free legislation and of free discussion have been broken down. The people of the country cannot again safely trust the house of representatives to the Republican party.

What Free Wages?

Republican protection is justified by its authors and protectionists solely upon the assumed grounds that it secures high wages. The platform adopted at Minneapolis asserts in its fundamental law that protection is offer that capitalists may pay to work ... ...ssen higher wages than are paid in the countries with which they ...ete. ... which native manufacturers are called to compete. ... This is a simple issue, as if it can be shown that the effect of R...blican protection is not to improve the condition of the laboring men, the fallacy of the Republican pretense is exposed.

If Republican protection really helps the working man it must act in this fashion: The duty upon imported goods must be high enough either to prevent their importation or so to increase their price that they shall not undersell goods made in the United States. In other words, protection must either bar out the American market entirely to the American manufacturer, or it must see that prices are high enough to make some sales as well as to fair profit.

But where does the workingman come in? Nobody pretends that protected manufacturers pay higher wages merely because they are called to meet foreign competition in the market rate. But what fixes the market rate? Workingmen and farmers can answer this question as well as any one else. If only they will stop a moment to think upon things that have been with them and let us first ask the farmer what he knows about wages. He knows that they are higher in harvest than in winter, where there is little to do and there are plenty of idle men to do it. He knows that the wages paid up and up in harvest time when there is plenty and hands are few. What, then, fixes wages? Not the feeling of the farmer who hires workmen, but the amount of work to be done and the number of men to be found to do it, or, as the phrase is, demand and supply.

What do workingmen know about this question? Every farm laborer can tell you that wages are not the same all the year round for workmen on the same thing. If you have a large job of work to be done, and have to have it done quickly, you must expect to pay more than if you can wait for it to be done at your convenience. If you happen to be in a hurry to get a job done in the midst of ordinary labor, you can get it done cheaper than if you have to put on extra hands to do it. Wages must have a strong, regular basis, but they are influenced more or less with every man's mind that is employed. Wages are higher in the United States than in any other country because the demand for labor is greater than the supply. Wages are higher in the United States than in any other country because the demand for labor is greater than the supply.

The Law of Supply and Demand.

Even Man His Own Protection.

Thomas Hyde, in New York an Irishman who sometimes goes over to his native isle, writes home a thing or two at each visit. Upon one of these visits he found that one workingman in the region where his father-in-law found himself was paid considerably more per week than his fellows got. "Why do they pay you more than these other men get?" he asked the father-in-law. "Because I'm worth more," was the answer. "I've been in this country long enough to know how to work."

Now, this is the well known American working man and workingmen abroad can understand this. We are the merriest, cleverest, healthiest people on earth. It is just beginning to say this; it is simple truth. Not a few of the best of our young men are intelligent, foreigners coming to America soon excel our ways and learn how to do the best work of which they are capable. A man who has studied the Italians says that they learn more in America in a few days than they do at home in a month, but they presently learn how to work and develop into strong men. Contrast this with the unskilled peasant of unskilled workmen. The former is a man, the latter is not. He is a man because we are in America, and he finds himself at a disadvantage until he learns the ways of our people. Now if he has only to stay a few days in order to get a higher wage, what does it mean? Why, that the protection of labor is not in the tariff, but in the man himself. Every man is his own protection if he is worth more than his fellows. Every day the cost of doing that work will be thirty-five dollars a day. If in the three times as many unskilled, untrained, inefficient does at one-third the wages, you'll find that the cheapest work is the best and get no more work done.

But, are there not foreign workingmen as skillful and efficient as American workingmen? In a few trades there are foreigners who are the best in the world, people cannot do, or can do but poorly, and those men are often paid as high as the average in this country. In other trades there are skilled foreigners whose hours are shorter than those working men, but who use less labor saving machinery, a it therefore get less work done. Even so, however, the day's labor of an American is worth more than the day's labor of a foreigner who has been educated to labor and for that reason the wages of the American are the higher. If the workingmen of America labor live in the country, with intelligence and persistency of the average of money in the country, but before we go any further he ought to have this thought plainly before his mind.

CLEVELAND'S STRENGTH.

Why He Is Strong in His Own State. The Cleveland Democracy of the State.

The New York Evening Post says:

Several eminent Democratic politicians have been entertained of late by days from a tour of this state have expressed surprise at the widespread signs of popular support for Mr. Cleveland which they found. Without consulting each other in their observations, a very large majority for him in the election, some of them place the figure as high as 100,000.

The reasons for Mr. Cleveland's strength in the state are known of all men. Briefly stated, they are that he is a safe and sane man, a faithful and fearless public servant, a conservative executive, a true and not a false friend of the people. * * * He is intensely opposed to the spirit of the day, right without the slightest regard to its effect upon his personal fortunes. The people have watched his career with increasing confidence and pride, for while many steps of it has called forth unusual and growing capacity for public affairs, not one step of it has shown any faltering in the high sense of duty which has marked it from the outset.

It would be a genuine phenomenon if a man commanding the great popular confidence in his honesty and usefulness were not also to lead people to look to him for causes which he advocates. To say that the voters of this state are going to vote for Cleveland as to no other public man of his time, and yet, do not believe in tariff reform will not believe in the head of the administration committed to it would argue no more favorable view of their intelligence than the Republicans must say if they are going to elect any Democrat in their state than Harrison can carry New York. They have to go even further than this and claim that the voters of this state, after commending themselves by very large majorities for their election in favor of Cleveland's tariff reform views, are now going back on it and vote against him.

We have never been able to see any reason for this extraordinary claim. * * * It is the claim that there has been any change in the attitude of the voters of this state toward tariff reform. They have not had a quarantine of that have today there is a majority in New York state for what Grover Cleveland and against the fraudulent administration by which prices have in many instances been kept up to the old tariff level. It is the cheat of putting inferior and expensive goods in the place of cheap and low prices formerly asked for honest and greater superior goods, which constitutes the chief grievance of the people, and it is the democratic platform that "Republican protection is a fraud," and not any party platform, who thinks that the voters of New York state are of such inferior intelligence that they will fail to realize that the effect of this "fraud" will make a serious mistake in the election of 1892, if it fail to reform state, and it shows no sign of abandoning its faith.

A Republican Admission.

Everybody admits that the wages of labor by the day are higher in America than in Europe. What wages are is generally understood by all who are not misled by the shallow protectionist talk about "cheap labor" and "dear labor." Protectionist papers sometimes give the true explanation of wages when they are off their guard, but quite then under the power of the trust.

But worse than this, the trust has reduced the price of tobacco as much as it has the farmer. The particular kind of to bacco which is used in making cigars is known as "bright leaf." It put on sale in the large tobacco warehouses of Virginia and North Carolina, and the price is fixed at auction, appearing at the daily sales and the "quotations" are published in the papers the farmers' "bright leaf" at about two-thirds of the former prices.

And yet there is a duty of thirty five cents a pound on leaf tobacco to "protect" the farmer.

WAGEWORKERS DECEIVED.

High Tariff Speaks Do Not Exceed the Workingman's Pocket.

The workingman, who is not an unreasonable being, will submit to a reduction of his wages when he sees the necessity of it. He will be the last one to quarrel with a necessity under any circumstances. He will ascertain the more reasons he has even given to believe that he is not one of the intended beneficiaries of the laws which were done so much to make his employer rich. He will be rather inclined to argue that under these laws he had hardly had his full share of the benefits which were promised to him, and that somebody else had unfairly made off with a large portion of what was the workingman's share. And if upon this view of the case the intelligent man workman for himself the rights of rights far beyond this, we must not be surprised to find him voting for a change in tariff, with all those promises with which it has been commended to the favor of the workingmen, have proved to be only the clever propagandum of unscrupulous thieves.

The workingman is not slow to judge by their eyes to the fact that those great speeches have most greatly deceived them. They have only to look at the rates of wages in the different countries of the world to satisfy themselves that the wages are not always in a high ratio to the high tariff, and that low wages are not caused by the absence of a high tariff. We say wages are not caused by the absence of a high tariff, because we are constantly told, when comparing American wages with English wages, that wages in the United States are much higher and that wages in England besides are blessed with a protective system while England is not. But it is a notorious fact that wages in free trade England are much higher than wages in Germany and in other European countries blessed with a protective tariff. Now, if in our high tariff country wages are higher than in our free trade country, and if at the same time wages in that free trade country are higher than in several high tariff countries, then it becomes evident that a high tariff makes a high rate of wages and the absence of the tariff a low one.

If the workingman pursues his inquiries further he will find that during that famous period when the United States had a low tariff, from 1846 to 1857, wages here were as much higher than those in the European country as they are now, and that during that low tariff period they were steadily rising. He will find that wages in this country have always been higher than those in European wages, not on account of any tariff, but on account of the circumstances surrounding us—the large quantity of cheap land which is easily accessible to this land; the almost inexhaustible abundance and variety of our natural resources; the existing enterprise; the numberless opportunities for high tariff and the general prosperity and productiveness of labor in this country, and so on.

He will find that the wages of persons engaged in such labor as is not protected by any tariff are the highest in the world, and that the wages surrounding as—the wages of the vast army of railroad employees, the boatmen, the miners, the mechanics, the engineers, the farmers and the laborers—are as cheaply paid, as well as the wages of those who are protected by the high tariff. He will find that the wages of persons engaged in such labor as is not protected by any tariff are the highest in the world, and that the wages surrounding as—the wages of the vast army of railroad employees, the boatmen, the miners, the mechanics, the engineers, the farmers and the laborers—are as cheaply paid, as well as the wages of those who are protected by the high tariff. He will find that the wages of persons engaged in such labor as is not protected by any tariff are the highest in the world, and that the wages surrounding as—the wages of the vast army of railroad employees, the boatmen, the miners, the mechanics, the engineers, the farmers and the laborers—are as cheaply paid, as well as the wages of those who are protected by the high tariff.

The Law of Supply and Demand.

Even Man His Own Protection.

Thomas Hyde, in New York an Irishman who sometimes goes over to his native isle, writes home a thing or two at each visit. Upon one of these visits he found that one workingman in the region where his father-in-law found himself was paid considerably more per week than his fellows got. "Why do they pay you more than these other men get?" he asked the father-in-law. "Because I'm worth more," was the answer. "I've been in this country long enough to know how to work."

Now, this is the well known American working man and workingmen abroad can understand this. We are the merriest, cleverest, healthiest people on earth. It is just beginning to say this; it is simple truth. Not a few of the best of our young men are intelligent, foreigners coming to America soon excel our ways and learn how to do the best work of which they are capable. A man who has studied the Italians says that they learn more in America in a few days than they do at home in a month, but they presently learn how to work and develop into strong men. Contrast this with the unskilled peasant of unskilled workmen. The former is a man, the latter is not. He is a man because we are in America, and he finds himself at a disadvantage until he learns the ways of our people. Now if he has only to stay a few days in order to get a higher wage, what does it mean? Why, that the protection of labor is not in the tariff, but in the man himself. Every man is his own protection if he is worth more than his fellows. Every day the cost of doing that work will be thirty-five dollars a day. If in the three times as many unskilled, untrained, inefficient does at one-third the wages, you'll find that the cheapest work is the best and get no more work done.

But, are there not foreign workingmen as skillful and efficient as American workingmen? In a few trades there are foreigners who are the best in the world, people cannot do, or can do but poorly, and those men are often paid as high as the average in this country. In other trades there are skilled foreigners whose hours are shorter than those working men, but who use less labor saving machinery, a it therefore get less work done. Even so, however, the day's labor of an American is worth more than the day's labor of a foreigner who has been educated to labor and for that reason the wages of the American are the higher. If the workingmen of America labor live in the country, with intelligence and persistency of the average of money in the country, but before we go any further he ought to have this thought plainly before his mind.

CLEVELAND'S WORDS TO FARMERS.

What He Said in His Message About the Tariff and the Farmer.

Our farmers and agriculturists—those who feed us, clothe us, and whose toil is caused by all—are perhaps the more heavily and plainly concerned than any other of our citizens in a just and equitable system of federal taxation. Those so kindly engaged in said industry are connected with this kind of work number nearly one-half of our population.

None labors harder or more continuously than they. No enactments limit their hours of toil, and our interpretation of the government enhances to any great extent the value of their products.

And yet for many of the necessaries and comforts of life which the most scrupulous economy requires them to bring into their homes, and for their implements of husbandry, they are obliged to pay a tariff largely increased by an unnatural profit which, by the action of the government, is given to the more favored manufacturer.—Message to Congress, 1888.

Our farmers, busy suffering and patient, struggling in the race of life with the hardest and most unremitting toil, will not fail to see with a sense of bitterness and misleading fallacies, that they are obliged to accept such prices for their products as are fixed in foreign markets, where they compete with the farmers of the world, and that their lands are daily forced by the action of the government to pay tribute to the owners of others, such enhanced prices for the things they need for the nearly returns of their labor that they are compelled to support or have no margin for accumulation.—Tariff Message, 1887.

Two Tariff Trusts.

The New York Merchants' Review says that the recently formed Rice trust has increased the price of cleaned rice and reduced that of the raw material. Thus the price of paddy or unhusked rice, upon which is pretended to be a part of the so called "farmers' trust," is used by a combination of farmers themselves, and is made to do them more harm than good.

The same paper has inspected in regard to cigarettes. McKinley raised the duty on cigarettes, which was formerly under the old tariff to an ad valorem duty of 113 per cent., to a figure equal to 181 per cent. This also was for the farmer; but what has happened? The American Tobacco company, a combination of the leading cigarette trust, was organized in 1890, the great year of McKinleyism, with a capital of $25,000,000, and includes 85 per cent. of all the cigarette manufacturers in the country. At the same time it has control of 90 per cent. of the dealers in cigarettes, and a system of "freeze-out" agreements which puts them under the power of the trust.

But worse than this, the trust has reduced the price of tobacco as much as it has the farmer. The particular kind of to bacco which is used in making cigars is known as "bright leaf." It put on sale in the large tobacco warehouses of Virginia and North Carolina, and the price is fixed at auction, appearing at the daily sales and the "quotations" are published in the papers the farmers' "bright leaf" at about two-thirds of the former prices.

And yet there is a duty of thirty five cents a pound on leaf tobacco to "protect" the farmer.

WAGEWORKERS DECEIVED.

High Tariff Speaks Do Not Exceed the Workingman's Pocket.

The workingman, who is not an unreasonable being, will submit to a reduction of his wages when he sees the necessity of it. He will be the last one to quarrel with a necessity under any circumstances. He will ascertain the more reasons he has even given to believe that he is not one of the intended beneficiaries of the laws which were done so much to make his employer rich. He will be rather inclined to argue that under these laws he had hardly had his full share of the benefits which were promised to him, and that somebody else had unfairly made off with a large portion of what was the workingman's share. And if upon this view of the case the intelligent man workman for himself the rights of rights far beyond this, we must not be surprised to find him voting for a change in tariff, with all those promises with which it has been commended to the favor of the workingmen, have proved to be only the clever propagandum of unscrupulous thieves.

The workingman is not slow to judge by their eyes to the fact that those great speeches have most greatly deceived them. They have only to look at the rates of wages in the different countries of the world to satisfy themselves that the wages are not always in a high ratio to the high tariff, and that low wages are not caused by the absence of a high tariff. We say wages are not caused by the absence of a high tariff, because we are constantly told, when comparing American wages with English wages, that wages in the United States are much higher and that wages in England besides are blessed with a protective system while England is not. But it is a notorious fact that wages in free trade England are much higher than wages in Germany and in other European countries blessed with a protective tariff. Now, if in our high tariff country wages are higher than in our free trade country, and if at the same time wages in that free trade country are higher than in several high tariff countries, then it becomes evident that a high tariff makes a high rate of wages and the absence of the tariff a low one.

If the workingman pursues his inquiries further he will find that during that famous period when the United States had a low tariff, from 1846 to 1857, wages here were as much higher than those in the European country as they are now, and that during that low tariff period they were steadily rising. He will find that wages in this country have always been higher than those in European wages, not on account of any tariff, but on account of the circumstances surrounding us—the large quantity of cheap land which is easily accessible to this land; the almost inexhaustible abundance and variety of our natural resources; the existing enterprise; the numberless opportunities for high tariff and the general prosperity and productiveness of labor in this country, and so on.

He will find that the wages of persons engaged in such labor as is not protected by any tariff are the highest in the world, and that the wages surrounding as—the wages of the vast army of railroad employees, the boatmen, the miners, the mechanics, the engineers, the farmers and the laborers—are as cheaply paid, as well as the wages of those who are protected by the high tariff. He will find that the wages of persons engaged in such labor as is not protected by any tariff are the highest in the world, and that the wages surrounding as—the wages of the vast army of railroad employees, the boatmen, the miners, the mechanics, the engineers, the farmers and the laborers—are as cheaply paid, as well as the wages of those who are protected by the high tariff. He will find that the wages of persons engaged in such labor as is not protected by any tariff are the highest in the world, and that the wages surrounding as—the wages of the vast army of railroad employees, the boatmen, the miners, the mechanics, the engineers, the farmers and the laborers—are as cheaply paid, as well as the wages of those who are protected by the high tariff.

The Law of Supply and Demand.

Even Man His Own Protection.

Thomas Hyde, in New York an Irishman who sometimes goes over to his native isle, writes home a thing or two at each visit. Upon one of these visits he found that one workingman in the region where his father-in-law found himself was paid considerably more per week than his fellows got. "Why do they pay you more than these other men get?" he asked the father-in-law. "Because I'm worth more," was the answer. "I've been in this country long enough to know how to work."

Now, this is the well known American working man and workingmen abroad can understand this. We are the merriest, cleverest, healthiest people on earth. It is just beginning to say this; it is simple truth. Not a few of the best of our young men are intelligent, foreigners coming to America soon excel our ways and learn how to do the best work of which they are capable. A man who has studied the Italians says that they learn more in America in a few days than they do at home in a month, but they presently learn how to work and develop into strong men. Contrast this with the unskilled peasant of unskilled workmen. The former is a man, the latter is not. He is a man because we are in America, and he finds himself at a disadvantage until he learns the ways of our people. Now if he has only to stay a few days in order to get a higher wage, what does it mean? Why, that the protection of labor is not in the tariff, but in the man himself. Every man is his own protection if he is worth more than his fellows. Every day the cost of doing that work will be thirty-five dollars a day. If in the three times as many unskilled, untrained, inefficient does at one-third the wages, you'll find that the cheapest work is the best and get no more work done.

But, are there not foreign workingmen as skillful and efficient as American workingmen? In a few trades there are foreigners who are the best in the world, people cannot do, or can do but poorly, and those men are often paid as high as the average in this country. In other trades there are skilled foreigners whose hours are shorter than those working men, but who use less labor saving machinery, a it therefore get less work done. Even so, however, the day's labor of an American is worth more than the day's labor of a foreigner who has been educated to labor and for that reason the wages of the American are the higher. If the workingmen of America labor live in the country, with intelligence and persistency of the average of money in the country, but before we go any further he ought to have this thought plainly before his mind.

CLEVELAND'S WORDS TO FARMERS.

What He Said in His Message About the Tariff and the Farmer.

Our farmers and agriculturists—those who feed us, clothe us, and whose toil is caused by all—are perhaps the more heavily and plainly concerned than any other of our citizens in a just and equitable system of federal taxation. Those so kindly engaged in said industry are connected with this kind of work number nearly one-half of our population.

None labors harder or more continuously than they. No enactments limit their hours of toil, and our interpretation of the government enhances to any great extent the value of their products.

And yet for many of the necessaries and comforts of life which the most scrupulous economy requires them to bring into their homes, and for their implements of husbandry, they are obliged to pay a tariff largely increased by an unnatural profit which, by the action of the government, is given to the more favored manufacturer.—Message to Congress, 1888.

Our farmers, busy suffering and patient, struggling in the race of life with the hardest and most unremitting toil, will not fail to see with a sense of bitterness and misleading fallacies, that they are obliged to accept such prices for their products as are fixed in foreign markets, where they compete with the farmers of the world, and that their lands are daily forced by the action of the government to pay tribute to the owners of others, such enhanced prices for the things they need for the nearly returns of their labor that they are compelled to support or have no margin for accumulation.—Tariff Message, 1887.

Two Tariff Trusts.

The New York Merchants' Review says that the recently formed Rice trust has increased the price of cleaned rice and reduced that of the raw material. Thus the price of paddy or unhusked rice, upon which is pretended to be a part of the so called "farmers' trust," is used by a combination of farmers themselves, and is made to do them more harm than good.

The same paper has inspected in regard to cigarettes. McKinley raised the duty on cigarettes, which was formerly under the old tariff to an ad valorem duty of 113 per cent., to a figure equal to 181 per cent. This also was for the farmer; but what has happened? The American Tobacco company, a combination of the leading cigarette trust, was organized in 1890, the great year of McKinleyism, with a capital of $25,000,000, and includes 85 per cent. of all the cigarette manufacturers in the country. At the same time it has control of 90 per cent. of the dealers in cigarettes, and a system of "freeze-out" agreements which puts them under the power of the trust.

But worse than this, the trust has reduced the price of tobacco as much as it has the farmer. The particular kind of to bacco which is used in making cigars is known as "bright leaf." It put on sale in the large tobacco warehouses of Virginia and North Carolina, and the price is fixed at auction, appearing at the daily sales and the "quotations" are published in the papers the farmers' "bright leaf" at about two-thirds of the former prices.

And yet there is a duty of thirty five cents a pound on leaf tobacco to "protect" the farmer.

WAGEWORKERS DECEIVED.

High Tariff Speaks Do Not Exceed the Workingman's Pocket.

The workingman, who is not an unreasonable being, will submit to a reduction of his wages when he sees the necessity of it. He will be the last one to quarrel with a necessity under any circumstances. He will ascertain the more reasons he has even given to believe that he is not one of the intended beneficiaries of the laws which were done so much to make his employer rich. He will be rather inclined to argue that under these laws he had hardly had his full share of the benefits which were promised to him, and that somebody else had unfairly made off with a large portion of what was the workingman's share. And if upon this view of the case the intelligent man workman for himself the rights of rights far beyond this, we must not be surprised to find him voting for a change in tariff, with all those promises with which it has been commended to the favor of the workingmen, have proved to be only the clever propagandum of unscrupulous thieves.

The workingman is not slow to judge by their eyes to the fact that those great speeches have most greatly deceived them. They have only to look at the rates of wages in the different countries of the world to satisfy themselves that the wages are not always in a high ratio to the high tariff, and that low wages are not caused by the absence of a high tariff. We say wages are not caused by the absence of a high tariff, because we are constantly told, when comparing American wages with English wages, that wages in the United States are much higher and that wages in England besides are blessed with a protective system while England is not. But it is a notorious fact that wages in free trade England are much higher than wages in Germany and in other European countries blessed with a protective tariff. Now, if in our high tariff country wages are higher than in our free trade country, and if at the same time wages in that free trade country are higher than in several high tariff countries, then it becomes evident that a high tariff makes a high rate of wages and the absence of the tariff a low one.

If the workingman pursues his inquiries further he will find that during that famous period when the United States had a low tariff, from 1846 to 1857, wages here were as much higher than those in the European country as they are now, and that during that low tariff period they were steadily rising. He will find that wages in this country have always been higher than those in European wages, not on account of any tariff, but on account of the circumstances surrounding us—the large quantity of cheap land which is easily accessible to this land; the almost inexhaustible abundance and variety of our natural resources; the existing enterprise; the numberless opportunities for high tariff and the general prosperity and productiveness of labor in this country, and so on.

He will find that the wages of persons engaged in such labor as is not protected by any tariff are the highest in the world, and that the wages surrounding as—the wages of the vast army of railroad employees, the boatmen, the miners, the mechanics, the engineers, the farmers and the laborers—are as cheaply paid, as well as the wages of those who are protected by the high tariff. He will find that the wages of persons engaged in such labor as is not protected by any tariff are the highest in

The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORCE, } A. L. FORCE
Editors and Proprietors.

Democratic Nominations.

For President,
GROVER CLEVELAND,
of New York.

For Vice-President,
ADLAI E. STEVENSON,
of Illinois.

CALL FOR CONVENTION
OF
DEMOCRATIC CLUBS,

TEMPORARY HEADQUARTERS
THE DEMOCRATIC CLUB OF THE STATE OF GEORGIA,
ASHCRAFT HOUSE, ATLANTA, GA., July 6, 1892.

Pursuant to section 2 of the Constitution of the Democratic Society of New Jersey a convention of the Clubs composing the membership of that Society will be held at the city of

Camden, on Tuesday, Sept. 27, 1892,

Commencing at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of electing officers and considering how the interest of the two parties next ensuing may the timberiest, and for the transaction of such business as the good work of the Society which might be presented.

All organizations which are now or may hereafter be in the State Society and entitled to representation at this convention are requested to comply with the following:

OBJECTS OF THE SOCIETY.

To favor the formation of permanent Democratic Societies and Clubs throughout the State, and thereby more effectively advance the principles of the Democratic party of government.

To preserve the Constitution of the United States, the autonomy of the states, local self-government and personal liberty.

To resist revolutionary changes and the centralization of power.

To oppose the imposition of taxes beyond the needful limit of economical administration of the government.

To promote economy in all branches of the public service.

To oppose unnecessary commercial restrictions for the benefit of the few at the expense of the many.

To oppose class legislation, which despoils labor and builds up monopoly.

To maintain in their purity the fundamental principles of Democracy—"Equality before the law," and

To co-operate with the regular organization of the Democratic party in support of Democratic men and Democratic measures.

DETAILS IN CONVENTION.

In connection the members of this Society shall be entitled to five delegates and one additional delegate for every fifty members over and above a membership of one hundred. But no delegate or fraction of a delegate shall be more than five delegates.

It is particularly desirable that every Democratic Club in the State become a member of this Society, and that the State Society at once send votes a full representation in the Democratic National Convention of next.

The Secretary of the State Society will furnish forms of "Applications for Membership" and for Credentials of Delegates to Organized Clubs.

The Democratic voters of every ward and township in the State are requested to meet at their usual places of voting, and notify the Secretaries of their Clubs immediately of the time and place of meeting, and the number of delegates to which each is entitled to at least one delegate.

ALLAN L. McDERMOTT,
Chairman Democratic State Committee.
WILLIAM C. FREE, Secretary.

Democratic State Convention.

The Democratic voters of New Jersey are requested to meet at such times and places as may be designated by their local committees, to elect delegates to a State convention, to be held at Trenton, on Wednesday, September 14, 1892, at 12 o'clock M., for the purpose of selecting a candidate for Governor and electors-at-large.

The basis of representation will be one delegate for each two hundred Democratic voters cast at the Governor's election held in 1889, and one delegate for the same over one hundred; but each ward and township shall be entitled to at least one delegate.

ALLAN L. McDERMOTT,
Chairman Democratic State Committee.
WILLIAM C. FREE, Secretary.

Democratic State Convention.

The Democratic voters of New Jersey are requested to meet at their respective wards and townships, on Saturday, September 3, 1892, at such places and between such hours as may be designated by the several City and Township Committees, to elect delegates to a State convention, to be held at Taylor's Opera House, in the City of Trenton,

On Wednesday, Sept. 14, 1892, at 12 o'clock, M., for the purpose of selecting a candidate for Governor and Electors-at-Large.

The basis of representation will be one delegate for each two hundred Democratic voters cast at the Governor's election held in 1889, and one delegate for the same over one hundred; but each ward and township shall be entitled to at least one delegate.

	Ward	Votes	Entitled to delegates
Elizabeth	1	800	3
"	2	1,000	5
"	3	1,000	5
"	4	728	3
"	5	603	3
"	6	1,000	5
"	7	127	1
"	8	127	1
"	9	127	1
"	10	127	1
"	11	127	1
Linden		127	1
Union		127	1
Springfield		127	1
Westfield		127	1
Rahway		127	1
"	1	127	1
"	2	127	1
"	3	127	1
Clark		127	1
Fanwood		127	1
Westfield		127	1
Plainfield		127	1
"	1	127	1
"	2	127	1
"	3	127	1
New Providence		127	1
Summit		127	1
			59

By order of the County Democratic Executive Committee.
CHAS. A. STAY, Secretary.
Dated September 4, 1892.

The Democratic voters in the City of Plainfield are requested to meet in their respective wards at the following places on Monday evening, Sept. 5, to elect delegates to the Gubernatorial Convention to be held at Trenton, Sept. 14, 1892.

First Ward—Office of T. M. Bacon, by North avenue and Somerset street.
Second Ward—Bryant School-house, delegates.
Third Ward—Office of Wm. Simmonds, Park avenue.
Fourth Ward—Office of Jacob Bergen, Front street.
The above Primaries will convene at 8 P. O'clock, p. m.
F. MARTINE, Pres't. Dem. Assn.
L. F. WADSWORTH, Sec.

MARTINE FOR CONGRESS.

The name of our respected fellow-citizen, James E. Martine, has been prominently mentioned in connection with the Congressional nomination in this newly formed 8 District, and most favorably received.

Mr. Martine would make a live Congressman. His honor and integrity stands unimpeached, and his ability to act well the part of a national legislator cannot be justly called in question. He is a man of the people, closely allied with their interest, thoroughly conversant with their rights, and bold enough to defend them against every species of opposition.

Let our next Congressman be James E. Martine, of Union County. He is a principle-swayed Democrat and comes squarely up to the sound Jeffersonian standard.

A New York merchant asks the following very proper question—"Why should our American citizens wear shoddy made from woolen rags free of duty by foreign paupers, while for the same money they might wear honest, healthy woolen clothes if wool was free instead of woolen rags?"

Shiloh's Cough Cure.

This is beyond question the most successful Cough Medicine we have ever sold; a few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Coughs, Croup or Bronchitis. Parties who have used it, or have children in the house, should never be without it. Sold by druggists at 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. If your lungs are sore, chest or back lame use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by A. Drumm, 46 North Avenue, opposite Depot.

THE VOICE OF DEMOCRACY.

Mr. Francis A. Hobart, of Massachusetts, hitherto a prominent and active Republican partisan, one who voted for Fremont in 1856, and for every Republican candidate for the Presidency since that time, has publicly withdrawn from the Harrison and Reid party.

Mr. Hobart gives at length his written reasons for such political action, and sums up on the following:

"I believe in the principle of protection so far, and so far only, as is necessary to promote the establishment of our industries and American labor—a tariff imposed upon the luxuries and not the necessaries of the people, but I am not in favor of the extreme and prohibitive features of the McKinley Bill, framed to increase the profits of favored individuals and sections at the expense of the rest of the country."

Any man holding substantially like these expressed by Mr. Hobart must be a Democrat, he cannot be anything else, because they voice the real doctrine and cherished aim of the Democratic party.

Tariff Reform is a prominent issue before the people in this Presidential campaign.

Neither necessary greed nor political artifice can shield it from view or lessen its vital importance.

The Democratic claim for popular support is honest and true and for the general public good. It means—

A tariff for revenue, which will necessarily afford ample protection to both capital and labor.

A tariff freeing, as far as possible, crude materials from taxation, in order that manufactures may be cultivated and the field of employment enlarged.

A tariff based upon practical intelligence and strict justice, and totally clear of the fraudulent device of making privileged classes rich and arrogant at the expense of the industrious masses.

A tariff that will equitably encourage and prosper all industrial pursuits, the mutual aid to each other, and will without partiality, Commerce, Agriculture, Manufactures and the Mechanic Arts.

Vote for
CLEVELAND AND STEVENSON.

WERTS FOR GOVERNOR.

The general expression of popular approval for the nomination of Judge Werts as the next Governor of New Jersey is a most honorable verdict in his behalf, and affords hope that the auspicious day may yet dawn, when all nominations for public office will seek incumbents distinguished alone for personal integrity and official ability.

Such an established system would herald a grand reform, lifting politics into a much purer atmosphere and make popular sovereignty a living reality.

Let the people rule!

SUPPLY AND DEMAND.

A favorable growing season last year gave the farmers of this country an abundant grain harvest, while contrary weather conditions throughout Europe cut short the customary crops there.

Consequently, bread-stuff exports from America were largely increased.

It was the natural result of supply and demand, and has created a big legitimate traffic, that and nothing else.

Yet the organs and orators of the Harrison and Reid party pinwise to place both genial home sunshine and abundant crops subsequent to the credit of McKinley tariffism.

They certainly must either take the United States to be a nation of idiots, or are driven to desperation in quest of partisan capital.

The American people are not simpletons, gentlemen.

They know about McKinleyism, feel its short distortions, and appreciated sunshine as one of the few untaxed blessings that escaped its iron hand.

So long as the Tribune asserts that "having sunshine" is proof positive of McKinley Act and drought is caused by Democratic agitation of free trade; that "ripening grain" is due to the tariff, and "frost-bitten blossoms" to the machinations of the Cobden Club; that every individual case of prosperity is the effect of tariff taxation, and "empty dinner-pails," wheels that stand still," and crying children are the results of free trade, the meagre exhibit of tariff reform—so long will rational human beings whose attention is called to this folly be moved to protest. We have not the slightest doubt that if we question the leaders, the Tribune will have it that it is due to President Harrison and protection, while if the cholera comes, it will be explained as connected with free trade. It is proper to enter into the state of mind which conceives these extraordinary puerilities," as Macaulay said, that any human being, after having thought of an argument of that character, could sit down, and copy it out, and transmit it to the printer, and correct the proof-sheets, and send it forth into the world, is enough to make us ashamed of our species." It is the most vivid picture of many Americans ashamed of the Republican party. It used to be a respectable thing to be connected with that organization, but now the fair way to be ridiculous.—Evening Post.

Otis Kaler, a Democratic "war-horse" who died in Indiana the other day, is chiefly remembered as the Representative who, after a storm in Augusta, when the city authorities had failed to clear the streets, introduced an order in the Legislature providing that the State furnish each member of the House with a snow shovel in order that that august body might make a path for itself the following day.

The Wilmington, Del., Every Evening tells Mr. Peck that when the workingmen find out that their wages have been raised without their knowledge they will apply to him to know what has become of the increase."

Base-Ball Notes.

Get ready for the great game Saturday.

Reserved seats for Saturday's game are on sale at Kenney's shoe store.

Manager Reed and umpire Sullivan had the hearty applause and heartfelt thanks of the spectators at Monday's afternoon game, for suppressing the disorder of noisy persons. Legitimate applause is all right, but rowdyism will not be tolerated. The best of order will be maintained at all games.

Manager Reed and umpire Sullivan had the hearty applause and heartfelt thanks of the spectators at Monday's afternoon game, for suppressing the disorder of noisy persons. Legitimate applause is all right, but rowdyism will not be tolerated. The best of order will be maintained at all games.

Last our next Congressman be James E. Martine, of Union County. He is a

New Residence of John G. Sawyer, Esq.

The residence of the late lamented John G. Sawyer, Esq., on Watchung avenue, corner of Sixth street, is being remodeled and beautified, which THE PRESS this week presents in picturing and describing for its readers, is now one of the handsomest that has just been completed for John G. Musgrave, on Warner avenue, corner of Sycamore. It is in the style commonly called Queen Anne, and for architectural effect is a fine one. The first story is of red brick laid in red mortar, and the second story is in shingles laid on in fancy designs. The roof is also covered with shingles which is of various shades, giving the roof the appearance of age, which effect is often produced with the stains now so frequently used on shingles. Across the entire front of the building is a spacious veranda which returns on one side to the dining-room bay window.

Passing through the main entrance you enter a spacious hall 16 feet wide, in which is a large mantel built of buff brick and trimmed with ornamental red brick cotta and which has a heavy oak top and mirror. This hall is fitted entirely in quartered oak, with a wainscot of four feet and a beam ceiling in the same material. The main stairway which is at the back of the hall and runs in back of the parlor, is finished in quartered oak. On the landing of the stairs is a large stained glass window, the design of which is graceful and the colorings soft and pleasing. The side walls of the hall are hung with heavy paper in the leather effects.

To the right of the hall as you enter is the parlor which is a room 15 by 16 feet and circular at one end. This room is finished in white and gold, the ceilings being a rich paneling in keeping with the style in which the room is finished. The ceiling is decorated in relief and the side walls in a heavy stamped paper of a light cream color with gold. The mantel is also tel in this room is quite elaborate, that portion of the mantel below the shelf being all of marble known as pink Tennessee, with a fine mirror on the O-shaped with two fluted columns which come down to the floor.

The library is the dining room which is 15 by 16 feet. The mantel is of the same character as the library, but is terra cotta coloring. The mantel is made of speckled brick and red terra cotta of ornamental pattern.

Adjoining the dining room is a spacious butler's pantry fitted up in oak with all the necessary closets, etc. Back of this is the kitchen and back hall which runs across the house. The kitchen fireplace is built of glazed brick with round corners which give a clean appearance to the fireplace, and the round corners prevent the dust from collecting.

On the second story are three large bedrooms on the front, another over the dining room and one over the kitchen, making five in all, besides the large bath room, toilet room, etc. Each room has a large closet. The entire floor is fitted in white pine finished in the natural wood and each room is prettily papered in colors to match the colors of the trimmings of the rooms.

The third floor has four good-sized rooms and bedden a large garret and hall. The basement contains besides the large cellar space, an airy laundry and three good sized rooms.

The building is heated in the most approved style with hot water heating apparatus.

Added from the work of architect Smith, no feature of the house is so beyond criticism as the wall paper effects produced by decorator Mr. John Orne, of Borge, of New York. His artists have no competitors in this country and probably no rivals in the world.

IS THE CITY LABLE?

HER'S AN INTERESTING AND IMPORTANT LEGAL POINT.

Farewood People Were Nearly Killed by Rahway's Recklessness, and Now the Unfaithful City Disclaims All Responsibility and Refuses Damages—The Supreme Court to Decide.

Mrs. Mary L. Carter and her husband, George F. Carter of Scotch Plains, through their attorneys, Jackson & Codington, of this city, on Dec. 8, 1891, brought suit in the New Jersey Supreme Court against the mayor and common council of the city of Rahway, for $5,000 damages, for injuries received by Mrs. Carter in an accident which occurred on the night of Sept. 9 in the same year.

City attorney G. R. Lindsey of Rahway has just filed a general demurrer admitting the facts as set forth in the complaint, but denying that the city can be held liable for damages.

The accident, a full account of which was published in THE PRESS at the time, occurred on Main street, Rahway, at about 9 in the morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter, Miss May B. Carter, sister of Mr. Carter, Louis E. Kennedy, Paul S. Tuso, and a party of ten young people, members of the Fanwood club of Fanwood, were in a tally-ho, and on their way to Sewaren. Louis Carter, brother of Mr. Carter, was driving.

In front of the Mellick House, on Main street, the city had made an excavation for a water pipe connection, four feet wide, twenty feet long, and five deep, leaving at right angles across the street. On the opposite side of the street, in a straight line with the excavation, was an electric light pole, which was out of place and is ned way over the street, towards the trench. As the tally-ho passed through the passage-way left for that purpose, the electric light pole struck the top of the vehicle, tipping it and its occupants completely off close to the seats.

Every person in the tally-ho was more or less injured. Mrs. Carter was thrown out upon the sidewalk. Her head was cut, and she was severely bruised and injured. For about two weeks her condition was extremely critical.

The question which has just been raised by the city attorney of Rahway as to the liability of the city for damages resulting from such accidents, a full of interest to every man, woman and child in the State of New Jersey.

Should the city of Rahway win the case, it will simply mean that no city in the State can be held liable for damages through the culpable negligence of any of its duly appointed officials.

The question will be argued at the next term of the New Jersey supreme court in November.

Low Rate Harvest Excursions.

The announcement that the North-Western line, comprising over 4,500 miles of thoroughly equipped railway, has arranged to run two low-rate harvest excursions during the months of August and September, will be gladly received by those who are interested in the development of the great West and Northwest, for by these excursions the desire to see this wonderfully productive region at a season of the year when exact demonstration can be made of the merits and advantages, is brought to home-seekers and those in search of safe and profitable investments.

These excursions will leave Chicago on August 30 and Sept. 27, and tickets can be purchased at the very low rate of one fare for the round trip to points in Iowa, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho, and Montana. They will be strictly first-class in every particular and will be good for return passage on any regular train within twenty days from date of purchase. Full information concerning rates and arrangements for these excursions can be obtained upon application to any coupon ticket agent, or to W. A. Thrall, G. P. T. A., Chicago & Northwestern Railway, Chicago. 8 11 2t

The annual meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held as an all-day meeting in Lyon's room, Sept. 13. There will be a picnic dinner at noon. Each member is cordially invited for the occasion. Mrs. Jane Trenchard, to be present and report her experience in carving or saving an entire suit of woolen rags?

NOW FOR THE FINAL BATTLE.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE TO MEET IN BITTER CONTEST.

The League game between Plainfield and Westfield, at Drake park, Bigley ville, last Saturday, was a great pitching match for the spectators. The score was 2 to 1 in favor of Plainfield, and one hour it was to-one out. Sanden pitched for Plainfield, but was in very bad shape, and his errors gave Westfield the game. Shearer for Westfield put up a game even better than the previous work, and three hits scattered him over all the Crescents could squeeze out. Sanden pitched for Plainfield, and had errors of their opponents; the other two they earned by hard work.

Four before the game Sanden said: "I'm going to let 'em hit a bit," and after Shearer, McIsaac and O'Neil had each gone out through Bonser's sharp fielding of their several hits, in Jones, he stepped confidently to the plate. Shearer got two strikes on the little Brownie man, right away, and it began to look like Enoch Cole's prophesies were not to be fulfilled. He waited for a nice one, however, then spanked it on the nose, and easily reached first. Tom Warner let the ball go by him, and by Murphy from third, and Daisy hit the ball into shortstop's territory. While the ball was in play in an endeavor to retire Jones, he was kept off from scoring. Daisy reached his base in safety, stealing second later. Leidy made a nice hit, bringing in Turner from third, and got safely to first, and by a wild throw Hedford out at the plate while Turner got to first. Turner went to second because Warner was afraid of the throw and left by Murphy at

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

J. A. DEMAREST - - City Editor.

—Marksmen are enraged relaying the Sagtikos walk under the Liberty street bridge.

—City Judge Codington collected $202 in fines the past three months. He dispensed of his prisoners.

—Orchard is to be known as East Sixth street and Hillside avenue were accepted on final passage Tuesday night.

—Isidore de Castro has accepted Walter Hunt's challenge for a shooting match to start from he city Press works for $5 a side.

—Sigmund Frucht, who was fined $10 by Judge Codington for selling goods seven days in the week, has appealed his case.

—The ordinance to change the name of North Richmond street to Rosedale avenue was adopted on final passage Monday night.

—Capt. Boynton says Plainfield's grocers' excursion Monday was the biggest in Captain's history. 1,200 attended, and many were left.

—In the case of Griffin vs. Benedict, before Justice Nash, judgment by default was entered Saturday against the defendant for $50 and costs.

—A four-way hydrant has for a time time occupied the gutter at the corner of Central avenue and Front street. It's time was either erected or moved away.

—The Pawwood township Democratic primary meeting will be held at the engine-house, Scotch Plains, next Monday evening at 8; to elect delegates to the State convention.

—A dead horse was left lying in front of the Potter Press works on South Second street, Monday evening. The people of the neighborhood objected, and it was taken away yesterday morning.

—The petit jurors just drawn at Elizabeth, include James Morrison, Morgan Bird, John McIntyre and John Rose of this city, and M. W. S. Clark, Joseph Moffett and W. Pierson of Westfield.

—THE PRESS is glad to note that its good advice has again been heeded and that the foul-smelling sewer-hole at the corner of Front street and Park avenue has been flushed out by a flood of water from the adjacent fire-hydrant.

—J. Fred MacDonald says: "Did you ever notice how island will grow right up on a street as far as a church and then stop or branch off in another direction?" He cites the First Baptist and Methodist churches as examples.

—Messrs. Chas. Hand and John Runyon, two of Plainfield's prominent capitalists, have purchased eighteen lots at Lavonia, on the south side of the Central railroad, opposite the station, and will immediately begin the erection of a number of fine houses.

—Charles F. Nightingale was so interested in the new city judge Codington and colonel Moore play whist, Saturday night, that he let his bicycle lantern burn up all its oil. When he started home he was arrested for having no light, and the city judge fined him $1.

—A woman who gave her name as Mrs. E. S. Jones, and her residence as Plainfield, was severely injured in a runaway accident at Millburn Saturday night. Her young son with her escaped harm. Mrs. Lyons had her right leg severely lacerated, and was otherwise injured internally.

—It is reported that the Union Water company of Plainfield is to place several hydrants in the village of Roselle. This is a long-felt necessity, as in case of fires little water can be had. Now it is said it can be obtained without such hydrants, and it is hoped that this beneficial movement will meet with success.—Elizabeth Journal.

—An electric-light "converter" burned up on the corner of Park avenue and East Front street, and set fire to the adjoining cornice, Monday night. An alarm of fire was sent in from box 12. The flames were promptly suppressed. Chief Hoos says that the "converters" if indoors are apt to set fire to a building at any time, and that their presence is apt to lose one's insurance.

—A ladies' reception room is the latest feature of Huisted's music store at 74 West Front street. This is a section of the main floor, finely furnished, and provided with easy chairs, writing-desk, stationery, books and periodicals, where the women of Plainfield will be welcome to rest while waiting for shopping or if desirous of writing letters. The place is very cosy and attractive, and as a waiting room and letter-writing corner it bids fair to become very popular among the softer sex.

—The Courier is fast making for itself an unenviable reputation for shiphead carelessness and unreliability. It now insists in calling the new school superintendent Wm. M Maxson, when if it took the trouble to read its own advertising columns it would know that his name is Henry M.; and the other night in a much garbled account of the death of the Rev. George H. Utter it stated that the editor of the Morrisonnet Weekly, was the denominational organ of the Seventh-day Baptists, when all Plainfield knows that the Sabbath Recorder is their paper. These are only two of many such cases.

—Clerk of the board of freeholders A. B. Cook has made a very commendable new departure by having the proceedings prepared in slip form and sent to the city and newspapers as soon as possible after the meetings. Heretofore the proceedings would be published in one of the papers, often after much delay, and the publishers of the other papers were expected to watch for them to copy from; in that way they would be frequently overlooked or neglected until the next three weeks after the meetings, in some cases. Now it is to that the weekly papers can all have them for the week succeeding the meetings.

REPUBLICAN LEADERS DISAGREE.

Mayor Gilbert Talks Some with Committeeman Norris, at the Plainfield Banner Raising.

The Republicans of this city flung a handsome banner across East Front street Tuesday night on a wire cable stretched from the City National bank building to the building occupied by Garrett & Co. This standard is composed of fine silk and work and bears very handsome portraits of Harrison and Reid. At 8:30 the thoroughfare from Somerset street to the Republican headquarters at corner was densely packed with people who found interest in watching the folds of the banner as they slowly floated on the breeze and the Republican candidates. There were many cheers and some hisses as the banner was drawn taut and fastened. Up in the Republican headquarters the enthusiasm for Republicanism was more pronounced. The campaign glee club, under the able leadership of William B. MacGlynnt, the popular organist of the First Baptist church, gave with much spirit and in all harmony campaign songs tuned to patriotic airs.

Speeches were delivered by councilmen Francis E. Marsh, James L. Anthony, and Mayor Alexander Gilbert. In the course of his remarks, Mr. Marsh said he believed the Republicans would carry New Jersey this fall. Mayor Gilbert took exception to this belief, and heavily labored the point as one entirely out of the question. He said that the Democratic victory was not so easy or telling off a log.

PERSONALIA.

City clerk Runyon has lost his mustache.

Dr. J. B. Carman has returned from Concord, N. Y.

Ex-councilman Seymour G. Smith has gone to Scranton.

Miss A. T. Bushby is home again from Bloomdale, N. Y.

C. G. Hodges and family have returned from Asbury Park.

A. J. Everitt and a party from Madison spend Labor Day in this city.

Edwin H. Ladd, jr., is enjoying the bracing sea air at Avon Inn.

Miss Katie Geary, of South Plainfield, is visiting friends in Jersey City.

Rev. Charles E. Tebay is home again from the Adirondacks, greatly improved in health.

Miss Maude Waldyo, of Brooklyn, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Will Cadmus, of Door street.

Miss Maggie Creed, of Albany, is visiting her friend, Miss Julia Heenan, at South Plainfield.

E. E. Anthony of Orange street has gone to Johnsville, Duchess county, N. Y., for a week's rest.

Miss M. E. Dorgan and Miss K. J. Sweeney are visiting their friend, Mrs. Joe Ling, of Cypress Hill.

Charles I. Ames of Crescent avenue will soon by build himself a residence on Park View Heights this property.

The marriage will take place on Oct. 5, of Miss Nettie Homan, of this city, and Samuel T. Clark, jr., of New York.

Miss Katie Bliem, of 19 Somerset street, has returned home after a two weeks' visit to friends in New York.

John A. Briant is rapidly recovering from his severe fall from a crab-apple tree, and will be out again in a few days.

Mrs. Harry Taylor (nee Miss Emma Whitsell), of Newark, and Baby Helen, spent Wednesday with Mrs. Force of Door street.

Mrs. J. E. Danielson of Brooklyn, accompanied by her charming daughter Lillian, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Force.

The engagement is announced of Miss Rena V Downing, of Philadelphia, to J. Elston Woodland, of Newark, formerly of this city.

Henry B. Newhall and family have returned to their Seventh street home after enjoying summer pleasures at Lake Pleasd. N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Ross, of East Sixth street, are entertaining a little Miss Ross who arrived a few days ago to make them a life-long visit.

Fred. S. Green and family are home after a month's camping at Cold Spring Harbor. Counselor John H. Jackson's family were of the party.

Mrs. Wm. H. Hoyt, of Bridgeport, Conn., and daughter Flattering her sister, Mrs. J. T. Vegiard of 49 North avenue, left for home Wednesday.

Miss C. E. Clarke, of East Front street, who has been spending the summer at Cornwall, Litchfield county, Conn., returned to Plainfield Friday afternoon.

—Charles F. Nightingale was so interested in the new city judge Codington and colonel Moore play whist, Saturday night, that he let his bicycle lantern burn up all its oil. When he started home he was arrested for having no light, and the city judge fined him $1.

—A woman who gave her name as Mrs. E. S. Jones, and her residence as Plainfield, was severely injured in a runaway accident at Millburn Saturday night. Her young son with her escaped harm. Mrs. Lyons had her right leg severely lacerated, and was otherwise injured internally.

—It is reported that the Union Water company of Plainfield is to place several hydrants in the village of Roselle. This is a long-felt necessity, as in case of fires little water can be had. Now it is said it can be obtained without such hydrants, and it is hoped that this beneficial movement will meet with success.—Elizabeth Journal.

—An electric-light "converter" burned up on the corner of Park avenue and East Front street, and set fire to the adjoining cornice, Monday night. An alarm of fire was sent in from box 12. The flames were promptly suppressed. Chief Hoos says that the "converters" if indoors are apt to set fire to a building at any time, and that their presence is apt to lose one's insurance.

—A ladies' reception room is the latest feature of Huisted's music store at 74 West Front street. This is a section of the main floor, finely furnished, and provided with easy chairs, writing-desk, stationery, books and periodicals, where the women of Plainfield will be welcome to rest while waiting for shopping or if desirous of writing letters. The place is very cosy and attractive, and as a waiting room and letter-writing corner it bids fair to become very popular among the softer sex.

—The Courier is fast making for itself an unenviable reputation for shiphead carelessness and unreliability. It now insists in calling the new school superintendent Wm. M Maxson, when if it took the trouble to read its own advertising columns it would know that his name is Henry M.; and the other night in a much garbled account of the death of the Rev. George H. Utter it stated that the editor of the Morrisonnet Weekly, was the denominational organ of the Seventh-day Baptists, when all Plainfield knows that the Sabbath Recorder is their paper. These are only two of many such cases.

—Clerk of the board of freeholders A. B. Cook has made a very commendable new departure by having the proceedings prepared in slip form and sent to the city and newspapers as soon as possible after the meetings. Heretofore the proceedings would be published in one of the papers, often after much delay, and the publishers of the other papers were expected to watch for them to copy from; in that way they would be frequently overlooked or neglected until the next three weeks after the meetings, in some cases. Now it is so that the weekly papers can all have them for the week succeeding the meetings.

REPUBLICAN LEADERS DISAGREE.

Mayor Gilbert Talks Some with Committeeman Norris, at the Plainfield Banner Raising.

The Republicans of this city flung a handsome banner across East Front street Tuesday night on a wire cable stretched from the City National bank building to the building occupied by Garrett & Co. This standard is composed of fine silk and work and bears very handsome portraits of Harrison and Reid. At 8:30 the thoroughfare from Somerset street to the Republican headquarters at corner was densely packed with people who found interest in watching the folds of the banner as they slowly floated on the breeze and the Republican candidates. There were many cheers and some hisses as the banner was drawn taut and fastened. Up in the Republican headquarters the enthusiasm for Republicanism was more pronounced. The campaign glee club, under the able leadership of William B. MacGlynnt, the popular organist of the First Baptist church, gave with much spirit and in all harmony campaign songs tuned to patriotic airs.

Speeches were delivered by councilmen Francis E. Marsh, James L. Anthony, and Mayor Alexander Gilbert. In the course of his remarks, Mr. Marsh said he believed the Republicans would carry New Jersey this fall. Mayor Gilbert took exception to this belief, and heavily labored the point as one entirely out of the question. He said that the Democratic victory was not so easy or telling off a log.

GRIST OF THE CITY COURT.

LABOR DAY CELEBRANTS GIVE THE JUDGE LOTS O' WORK.

Early Tenths and Extreme Old Age Before the Bar — Pitiful Contrast—Burglary Lynch, Lamm Has Both—A Young Man's Irreverence of What Was to the Pagan He Did n't Read, Costs Him Dear—Five Persons Bilked the Court Room and Subsequent Punishment for Bodily Fortune.

From The Press of September 6

Sergeant Lynch did n't sleep a wink last night, for he had charge of D. Gorman to entertain. Mr. Gorman is not George the talented, but a gentleman of leisure and the back yard. Gorner, and refused to Plainfield from Kansas, yesterday, selling stationery. He is of a convivial nature, and by nightfall he was so logfor-ward acquainted with the police that to gather him in, Gorman held private theatricals in his cell till 4 a. m., and secretary Lynch was an unwilling listener to his repertoire.

Gorman is 73 years of age, graybeard and graybearded. His chief garment as he stood before judge Codington this morning for examination in lunacy was a pair of tan shoes and he wore a bit of knotted and soiled white cord for a watch-chain. He was in a condition of mental derangement of his wore-out shoes. His deep bass voice was tremulous with pathos as he gave the court a military salute, struck a stage attitude, and pleaded with the court "for God's sake, and for the memory of his departed wife", to spare him the shame of further imprisonment, and him free, and to cause no trouble Plainfield again. Judge Codington gave him half an hour to get out of town, warning him, on second thought, never to see his face again. The old man blustered away as fast as his quavering legs could carry him.

Thomas Flynn was half a century younger than the itinerant peddler, but had already served time for intoxication. He was charged this morning with drunkenness, disorderly conduct and using profane and indecent language; also with striking policeman Flanagan when the officer arrested him. The court held the charges to be an aggravated one, and sternly sentenced the trembling young fellow to jail for 40 days. Flynn broke down completely, and sobbed and moaned piteously. "Oh, Judge"—he pleaded—"oh, I beg of you to give me a fine instead! I want to be good! I'll try to do right! Oh, don't send me to jail!"

But the law was inexorable; the weeping youth was led away to his confinement to reflect upon the hard lesson of bitter experience.

There two scenes were quite affecting to all in the room. Even the hardened heart of the police constables muttered "I-say, cully, dat's tough!"

C. P. Morgan left his home in a hurry Saturday night to get a box of candy. He neglected to tell his wife where he was going, the police requested his presence in court. The young man said he did n't know of the new law, 'cause they did n't take the papers at his home. He was therefore cost him a $2 fine. Now is the time to subscribe.

Robert Stinner and Michael McCarthy celebrated Labor Day by imbibing much rum and giving an advance imitation of the Sullivan-Corbett encounter on the street at night. Stinner had McCarthy face down in the gutter and was pounding both under their wing. McCarthy's face was bunged up and his puffed lips could hardly say "Guilty" in answering the charge. Stinner was put under $100 bail for trial Thursday morning at 10. McCarthy was released on his own recognizance till the same hour.

Abe Freeman and wife Annie complained that Gus Angleman and wife had assaulted them. The case was set down for Tuesday morning, and all the men folk'd be on hand for trial "if he lived" The court responded "If you're dead we don't want you". All the persons are colored.

Hackmen Dennis Kilbride and Cornelius Guinee fought over the question whose fare was the first to Grant's Corner. Kilbride was drunk and got badly whipped. The court fined Kilbride $10 and Guinee $25. Kilbride paid, and Guinee appealed. Prosecutor Joseph Marsh scathingly denounced Guinee's cowardly brutality for kicking Kilbride after he got him down, and said the higher court would prosecute him for his atrocious assault.

In this connection it may be stated that Kilbride is reputed to be one of the foulest-tongued of hackmen, and always ring up strife at the station. The police ought to investigate the charge that he is frequently intoxicated while on his hack, and a dangerous lunatic to be permitted to drive when in that condition. He should lose his license if all the complaints made by passengers are true.

The case of the City vs. Sutterden and Nolan, for fighting in a wagon on the street, was adjourned for two weeks.

James Johnson was still imprisoned when waiting about the court room to be sentenced for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. He asked lawyer George Demarest to act as his counsel, and the consultate legal luminary declined the case he slunk despondently out of the room and back to his cell.

Plainfield Raises Will Contest the Burial Ceremonies.

John W. Sandren, formerly of this vicinity, died Monday morning at 5, at his home, 193 Cumberland street, Brooklyn, after a short illness of pneumonia. He was his twenty-seventh year, and deserved much credit for working his way up from errand-boy in the old Bulletin office. By his death an unprovident wife and child are lost a faithful and industrious employe. Edward will be greatly missed.

Mr. and Mrs. Beely Edsall and J. Linn Edsall have returned home from a two weeks' vacation. Their trip, which they report was a most delightful and enjoyable one, included short visits at Lake Simcoe, Toronto, Kingston, Yorgo, St. Lawrence River, and Thousand Islands, Montreal, Alburgh Springs, St. Albans, and Burlington, Vt., Ausable Chasm, Lake Champlain, Lake George and Saratoga.

L. J. Tuttle, a respected and thrifty citizen of Fourth street, is with his wife and two daughters, has been visiting at the home of his wife's sister, Mrs. Thomas Hale. This is his first visit to New Jersey, and he is greatly pleased with the State, especially with the delightful Plainfield section. Mr. Tuttle ranks high in the Pawpassaney of his State, and is favorably known as a lecturer on Masonic topics.

James H. Force, brother of the proprietors of this paper, and himself proprietor of the Mansion House, Bound Brook, Thursday morning passed a very successful surgical operation, the removal of a cancerous growth on the lip. Ether was used, and the growth was so skillfully removed that to-day the patient is up and around the house. The attending physicians were Dr. Fisher of Bound Brook and a specialist from Philadelphia.

Father Stafford, assistant rector of St. Mary's, will leave Plainfield this week, having been elevated by his bishop to aid the rector in charge of the large St. Mary's parish in Jersey City. Last Sunday he bade the Plainfield congregation adieu, and thanked them warmly for their hearty co-operation in his work among them the past four years and a half. Father Stafford will be greatly missed in Plainfield, where he is held in high esteem among all the people.

KILLED BY THE WRECK.

A Well Known Young Man Instantly Killed by a Broken Axle.

Just east of Bound Brook, Saturday afternoon, occurred one of the worst wrecks that has come to Jersey Central's many years. One man was lost. A good many were injured by the track, and there was an entire loss of nearly one hundred tons of soft coal. At 2:30, locomotive No. 260 was pulling the Bound Brook express, with a train composed of large Bissch Creek cars, heavily loaded with coal. Each car held about thirty tons. When a half mile east of Bound Brook, near what is known as Possum Town crossing, the axle on one of the large cars broke, allowing the broken end to fall down on the track. The front wheels jumped the track, and went back under the other cars. The broken axle caught in the ties, dug up the track for a distance of forty-one feet, and left the car which had the broken axle jumped the track, and five others piled themselves on top of it. The track was torn up for a long distance. The tracks were completely blocked for nearly twenty hours, all trains being obliged to use the two west-bound tracks. Among the cars jumped with the first wreck train went at once to the scene and worked hard to clear the line for traffic. All the evening trains were delayed from half to four hours, and the end of the day's work was reached.

The cars were loaded to a total load, and filled with dirt and sand, and can not be picked up. The two rear trucks of the car having the broken axle were completely buried out of sight. At 10 Sunday afternoon the tracks were cleared.

Lauderbach's remains are in charge of undertaker Casey. The young man was on his way back to his home in Brooklyn. His money gave out, and he was forced to take to coal train transit. He was well dressed, and of a good family. The other young man was led by charitable Plainfield women, and sent to friends in New York.

Not Changed in Essential Elements.

In the circular issued from the office of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, President Max Wj announces that the company has "Transferred into the possession of its rail-roads and other property heretofore denoted to the said the Port Reading Railroad company" under the control of the several officers named. The new director is reported to have said that this action would make no difference in coal or freight rates, and that the General as a separate and distinct corporation will "act in harmony with" instead of "subordinate to the Reading company. That's all". In other words, the injunction, it may be said, will simply change the form of the railroad agreement but not its essential elements.

Free Expectorant Went Frosted.

The North Plainfield Democratic association held a stirring meeting Thursday night, and enthroughly enthusiastic and interested were all those present, that it was decided to hold the meetings regularly every Thursday. There were a number of Republicans present last evening.

President E. C. Morse of the association made an appropriate and stirring speech on the Force bill, and James E. Martine also addressed the audience on the issues of the day.

South Plainfield's Petit Jurors.

Somerset county's petit jurors were drawn by sheriff Codington in the presence of prosecutor Joseph Marsh and clerk Ryon, on Tuesday. The list includes the following from South Plainfield: George Dessler, jr., Robert Love, Lewis Hart, George W. Morrison, Lewis Holmes, Jacob M. Higgins, Elmer GeNun, Randolph W. Vail.

Grateful to THE PRESS, and Bitter against Others' Misrepresentations.

George O. Strayer, the young man whose secret wedding to Bessie Bimm was recorded in these columns some days ago, writes from Brooklyn warmly thanking THE PRESS for the kindly way in which it treated the affair. He says that the date of their marriage was April 6, that the ceremony took place in Elizabeth. He also has the false stories of the News, concerning the affair, denied, and says that its statement is without foundation that Miss Bimm took her personnes to a place on Second street.

Commencing the Tariff Reform Club of 1892.

The meeting called for the purpose of reorganizing the Tariff Reform club of 1888, was held at 67 North avenue, Monday evening. A. W. Hand was chosen temporary chairman and L. G. Timpson secretary.

A committee on constitution and bylaws was appointed, consisting of Joseph Edwards, Edward W. Gostlin and J. A. De narest. James Clark and Eugene A. Gross were selected a committee on permanent organization. The meeting then adjourned until next Saturday evening.

Thanksgiving for Plainfield Water.

(Elizabeth Journal.)

A great many good things come from Plainfield. This morning Elizabeth saw a load that they occupy the time of the News, concerning the affair, denied, and says that its statement is without foundation that Miss Bimm took her personnes to a place on Second street.

Commencing the Tariff Reform Club of 1892.

The meeting called for the purpose of reorganizing the Tariff Reform club of 1888, was held at 67 North avenue, Monday evening. A. W. Hand was chosen temporary chairman and L. G. Timpson secretary.

A committee on constitution and bylaws was appointed, consisting of Joseph Edwards, Edward W. Gostlin and J. A. De narest. James Clark and Eugene A. Gross were selected a committee on permanent organization. The meeting then adjourned until next Saturday evening.

Plainfield Raises Will Contest the Burial Ceremonies.

John W. Sandren, formerly of this vicinity, died Monday morning at 5, at his home, 193 Cumberland street, Brooklyn, after a short illness of pneumonia. He was his twenty-seventh year, and deserved much credit for working his way up from errand-boy in the old Bulletin office. By his death an unprovident wife and child are lost a faithful and industrious employe. Edward will be greatly missed.

Mr. and Mrs. Beely Edsall and J. Linn Edsall have returned home from a two weeks' vacation. Their trip, which they report was a most delightful and enjoyable one, included short visits at Lake Simcoe, Toronto, Kingston, Yorgo, St. Lawrence River, and Thousand Islands, Montreal, Alburgh Springs, St. Albans, and Burlington, Vt., Ausable Chasm, Lake Champlain, Lake George and Saratoga.

L. J. Tuttle, a respected and thrifty citizen of Fourth street, is with his wife and two daughters, has been visiting at the home of his wife's sister, Mrs. Thomas Hale. This is his first visit to New Jersey, and he is greatly pleased with the State, especially with the delightful Plainfield section. Mr. Tuttle ranks high in the Pawpassaney of his State, and is favorably known as a lecturer on Masonic topics.

James H. Force, brother of the proprietors of this paper, and himself proprietor of the Mansion House, Bound Brook, Thursday morning passed a very successful surgical operation, the removal of a cancerous growth on the lip. Ether was used, and the growth was so skillfully removed that to-day the patient is up and around the house. The attending physicians were Dr. Fisher of Bound Brook and a specialist from Philadelphia.

Father Stafford, assistant rector of St. Mary's, will leave Plainfield this week, having been elevated by his bishop to aid the rector in charge of the large St. Mary's parish in Jersey City. Last Sunday he bade the Plainfield congregation adieu, and thanked them warmly for their hearty co-operation in his work among them the past four years and a half. Father Stafford will be greatly missed in Plainfield, where he is held in high esteem among all the people.

Speeches were delivered by councilmen Francis E. Marsh, James L. Anthony, and Mayor Alexander Gilbert. In the course of his remarks, Mr. Marsh said he believed the Republicans would carry New Jersey this fall. Mayor Gilbert took exception to this belief, and heavily labored the point as one entirely out of the question. He said that the Democratic victory was not so easy or telling off a log.

ABUSE OF HORSES.

How Animals Attached Are Maltreated by Ignorant and Careless Employes.

One of those smart coachmen who do n't know how to handle a horse was driving at a rapid gait through Park avenue, Monday afternoon, when he suddenly reined the horse in to one side. The animal was unaccustomed, and the roadway was a hilly one. The horse fell, and rolled down the hill, floundered and fell. Then the ignorant and vulgar coachman began heaping abuse on the poor beast, and when it got to its feet, and fell again, he gave it an unmerciful lashing all the way down the street. This was clearly adding insult to injury, for the fall was caused entirely by the driver's carelessness, and in his heavy fall the horse sustained a serious jar. All of which goes to show that some autocratic people don't know how to their faithful animals are treated.

Another case of abuse was noticeable a few weeks ago. The coachman of a prominent banker left the carriage of the family unattended, and nearly every day would be seen reckless-ly driving the team of ponies about the streets. The ponies were constantly over-worked, and were probably permanently injured by their treatment.

President Harriott Assumes Control.

President J. p. Maxwell of the Central Railroad of New Jersey issued the following general notice Wednesday:

In pursuance of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, I have assumed and entered this day upon the duties and responsibilities of the receivership of the property and franchises of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad company, and that from this date it will run and operate all its railroads and all their appurtenances.

J. R. MAXWELL, President.

The following are the officers of the reorganization:

EXECUTIVE.

President—J. R. Maxwell.
First Vice-president—Geo. F. Baker.
Second Vice-president and Controller—S. M. Williams.
Treasurer—J. W. Watson.
Secretary—Samuel Kunz.

OPERATING.

General Superintendent—J. H. Ohausen.
Superintendent N. J. Central Division—W. F. Podde.
Superintendent N. J. S. & F. & A. R. Div.—W. V. Clark.
Superintendent Pennsylvania Division—G. W. Twining.
Engineer of Construction—J. H. Thompson.
Supt. of Motive Power and Equipment—C. A. Thompson.
Superintendent of Ferries—F. F. Gregory.
Superintendent of Telegraph—Robert Stewart.
General Car Agent—F. S. Hibbie.

TRAFFIC.

General Freight Agent—J. H. Wyckoff.
Freight Agent, L. & S. Division—T. B. Koons.
Freight Agent, N. J. R. Division—W. F. True.
Freight Agent, Pennsylvania Division—
General Baggage Agent—F. B. Gronewall.

ACCOUNTING AND FINANCE.

Auditor Receipts and Disbursements—G. O. Wasserman.
Auditor Passenger Traffic—George Weir.
Auditor Freight Traffic—F. S. Mines.
Coal Traffic Accountant—M. A. Koons.
Assistant Treasurer—J. P. Pittenard.
Paymaster—George F. Rose.

THE NEW SUPPLY FROM NETHERWOOD.

One and a Quarter Million Gallons of Water Daily, to Quench Elizabeth's Thirst.

THE PRESS Thursday published the news that a stream of water was allowed to run from the tower at Netherwood to the Chilton street reservoir in Elizabeth.

Frank Bergen, the president of the Plainfield Water Supply company, and Elias Cox of the Plainfield Union Water Company, said that Wednesday's operation was but a test, and that it would probably be a few days before a steady flow would be allowed to run into the city. But Elizabeth is to be favored sooner than was at first intended. After the test Wednesday afternoon, the water was turned on again, and since has run continually from Netherwood to the reservoir on Chilton street, Elizabeth, at the rate of about one million gallons per day, or about one-third of the quantity theirs used in the city.

This quantity will continue to run for a few days, until the pumping machinery and in the meantime arrangements are being completed for a larger quantity sufficient to supply the entire needs of the city for the present.

Art Study Made Easy.

Those who desire to learn to paint, or who have friends who desire to be, and a teacher, are advised to make the acquaintance of The Art Amateur, a thoroughly practical art magazine, which is daily instructions for the art student and art teacher. In order to introduce this really sumptuous publication where it is not already known, the publisher offers to any one who will mention the Journal and send $1 directly to him, four well-executed numbers of the Art Amateur (including 32 large pages supplementary studies) and 17 handsome color plates (for copying or framing), including several which show in the simplest manner the proper stages in painting landscapes, flowers, portraits, animals, etc., in oil and in water-colors, as practised by the best artists in Europe and in this country. The publisher is Montague Marks, 33 Union Square, New York city. In writing, state your preference for landscape, flowers and fruit, figures or animals—or if you are simply interested in china painting then in oil or water-color painting.

New Jersey Democrats Getting to Work.

The Executive committee of the Democratic Society of New Jersey held a conference in Taylor's Hotel, Jersey City, Wednesday afternoon, with the Attorney-General, Hon. John P. Stockton, present. Those present from Plainfield were Gen. William S. Stryker, Mayor William L. Lawrence and J. A. Demarest. Encouraging reports were received from all parts of the State. It was decided to hold a mass-meeting in Camden on Sept. 28, the day prior to the convention of Republican clubs. There will be a parade of Democratic clubs after the convention. Grover Cleveland will be invited to attend the mass-meeting. It was decided to hold conference to begin the circulation of campaign literature at once and not wait for the Democratic State committee to act. Another conference will be held on September 13.

Sunday Picnickers Under Ban.

The Plainfield township board of excise has met Saturday morning and appointed the following members of the board of Registry and election for North Plainfield: Thomas S. Sutphen, Republican; John Rodine, George Demler, Lewis A. Barkalow, Albert Vail, Albert Clawson, Edgar C. Schlaet.

Coal Lower Along the Reading Road.

There is a lot of foolish talk still going about in the shape of complaints over the price of coal. The price of anthracite coal is governed entirely by the law of supply and demand, and is not controlled by any one agency. The Reading Coal and Iron company has no more to do with the price of coal than the Pennsylvania railroad or the Delaware canal, is proven by the fact that the Reading company has not a single branch trade as well as canals, and has to sell its coal through the agents that bring the Reading.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—Latest U. S. Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall St., N. Y.

WATER FROM NETHERWOOD'S WELL S.

Thirsty Elizabeth Citizens Now Expect to Have a Pure Supply.

Water flowed from artesian wells at Netherwood Wednesday to Elizabeth through the big main recently constructed by the Union Water company. It ran into the reservoir on the Elizabethtown Water company for an hour. The test was satisfactory. Henceforth Elizabeth, particularly the southern part, will get the greater part of the water supply from this source.

The Union Water company owns the twenty wells at Netherwood, and the pumping-station there has a daily capacity of 5,000,000 gallons. The company is supplying water of excellent quality to Plainfield, North Plainfield and Fanwood. The wells seem inexhaustible.

There have been many complaints in Elizabeth recently about the water furnished by the Elizabethtown company the past season. The supply comes from Lake Dufino, in Union township. The Elizabeth company has been in the habit of putting the Netherwood water to avoid any more complaints.

Ex-Congressman John Kean, jr., is largely interested in the Union Water company and the Elizabethtown company, and through his exertions and those of president Bergen, of the Plainfield supply company, the main from Netherwood to Elizabeth has been laid.

Lake Unimi water does not seem to give satisfaction, and the supply has been not tested to a chemical analyzer and no marked impurities have been found in it.

Wednesday's test was made by letting a stream of water run from the tower at Netherwood into the Chilton street reservoir under a pressure of eighty-five pounds to the square inch.

At 10 o'clock in the morning the gate was opened at the reservoir and the water poured in with great force, and was allowed to run for about an hour. The main was found to be in perfect order and free from leaks.

Mr. Bergen, president of the Plainfield Water Supply company and a director of the Union company, said that the companies were not prepared to do anything more for the present than to test the flow of the main. In a few days they expected to send down a steady stream, probably not equal to the full supply required by the city, but sufficient to show the exact facts that nothing but actual experience can determine. Mr. Bergen added that the Elizabeth company were determined to procure a better supply of water, for the summer months, and if the present effort did not promise to be successful other steps would be taken without delay.

OLD SOLDIERS' REUNION.

Five-Score Veterans Have a Pleasant Time Chatting over War-Time Days.

About 100 of the veterans of the 30th N. J. Vols enjoyed a reunion at Reformation Hall Friday. The regiment originally numbered more than 1,000 men, and old 1d'ers were met at the North avenue station soon after 10 o'clock, by a three corps an; members of the local G. A. R. and marched around Grand and Front streets to the hall. Col. A. B. TenEyck of Somerville presided as chairman over the meeting. Capt. J. B. Bowne of North Branch acted as secretary. The comrades listened to reports of last year's officers, and a pleasant day of reviving old memories. There was an abundance of refreshments, provision having been made for 350 and all ate heartily and with much appetite. This afternoon Judge Dilrich delivered a stirring address, and this evening the visitors will return home. The town was well decorated in honor of their coming.

THE PL CE STREE! PROJECT.

Citizens Tell of Their Damages, and Building Chances are Talked of.

Commissioners W. C. Ayre, E. C. Mulford and Jeremiah Manning met in the common council chamber Tuesday night to hear citizens interested in the Front street project. Only three persons presented themselves. Robinson Pound spoke for the Friends' society. He said the Friends would not oppose the widening of the street, provided they were not assessed for it. They did not wish to put their property in the market, and therefore did not consider that the widening would be of any pecuniary benefit to them. The only change they purposed was to move their meeting-house to the north side of the lot, as far as possible from the railroad.

J. Fred MacDonald estimated the damages to the property owners at $200 per front foot for the 10 feet proposed to be taken off Front street, $1 a front foot for the frontage on Pease street for resetting the curb line, erecting fences, building walls and other street improvements, and $800 for setting the house back. The commissioners argued that this $800 charge was hardly fair because it would be a benefit and extended Mr. MacDonald will probably remove the dwelling and put up the new buildings of brick.

Robert A. Meeker, for the estate of Robert Anderson, claimed $200 a front foot for Front street frontage taken, and $100 for re-moving, etc.

After waiting for others to appear, the commissioners adjourned. They will meet for consultation at Mr Mulford's to-day.

During the conversation of the evening it was said that as soon as North Plainfield is opened Chatham street will be filled with a row of cheap stores and tenements by Hebrews.

Mr. Ayres had not seen the new council chambers before. He admired them so much that he had never been out so late as 5 o'clock before in seven years. Hailpe-4 8 was his bedtime.

Obashed—Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup cures Coughs, Colds, Consumption. Its prompt use has often taken the sting out of Pneumonia. Sold by druggists in all parts of the world. Trial bottles 10 cents. Regular size 25 cents and 50 cents.

Purify your blood with Hood's Sarsaparilla. It will give you an appetite, and tone up your whole system. If you suffer from that tired feeling, or from any disease caused by impure blood, be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is the best in fact the One True Blood Purifier. Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

—THIS IS NO TUXEDO!"

MAYOR SAUNDERS FITLY REBUKES THE SELFISHNESS OF WEALTH, AND CHAMPIONS THE PEOPLE'S CAUSE.

Steps Taken to Secure Extension of the Plainfield Electric Railway into the Borough—The Ultimate Desire to Connect Scotch Plains, Westfield, Newark and Orange With the Crowded City.

From The Press of September 7

The council of North Plainfield last night took decisive steps towards securing rapid transit for the borough, and it may safely be promised that are long the line of the Plainfield Street Railway company will be extended out Somerset street as far as the entrance to Johnston's drive at the foot of the mountain.

The matter of street railways was first brought before the session of the council by a communication from the Plainfield Street Railway company, in which it was proposed to extend the road from the present terminus at the corner of Somerset street and Park avenue, through Somerset street to Johnston's drive at the foot of the mountain.

The letter and its writer came in for a severe scoring from mayor Saunders, who, in the evening, rose from the floor to argue in favor of street railways in general and the Plainfield electric company in particular.

Mr. Saunders held that a man holding such ideas was an enemy to the best interests of the place. Such sentiments were a direct injury to the growth, wealth and prosperity. He was glad that Mr. Howland was so privileged as to have a beautiful place, good horses, and costly equipages, but the thousands and tens of the classes were to be considered, the wishes of the majority were to be granted. This was on Tuesday, nor say other kind of a public spirit; it was a populous, thrifty, progressive borough, and he hoped to see it made a big city. It should be built up, and provided with good streets and good means of rapid transit. Any and all such prizes were demanded by the public.

The following majority report of the committee on streets and public health was presented.

To the Honorable the Mayor and Council.

GENTLEMEN:—Your committee on streets and public health beg leave to report that after careful consideration of the subject of rapid transit for the borough, they are of the opinion that it is desirable, especially in all respects to your honorable body can be effected with the Plainfield & Front street company's franchise in accordance with such contract should be granted the said company to operate a line of street railway from the present terminus in connection with the said company's lines now established, and when so constructed, be established, within the city of Plainfield. In making this recommendation your committee have considered that the same is for the benefit of the residents along the line of Somerset street, and as well as the majority of our citizens generally.

With regard to the application of the North Plainfield & Dunellen Railway company, your committee would state that, while they believe that the people living in the vicinity would be glad of ample satisfactory service such as the borough's, no constructive evidence has been submitted to your committee that the said company is able to insure to residents of the borough from the terminus of the line in the city of Plainfield and for a single fare. And while, other things being equal, your committee would be pleased to favorably recommend favorable consideration to a company which would extend its lines where stockholders would

THE COMING FIGHT.

"The Roof of the World" and Those Who Live Upon It.

A Brief Review of the Dispute Between England and Russia. The Wazirite Misunderstanding at Afghanistan—Russia's Next Move.

[COPYRIGHT, 1892.]

"Seething is a condition of general unrest," would mean a war between England and the czar—a struggle for the retention of that vast and splendid Oriental empire over which British rule has held uninterrupted sway for nearly one hundred and fifty years—since five raised his victorious standard on the plains of Plassy. When empires are at stake the world is interested in the issues and therefore the condition that confronts us to-day in Afghanistan and the adjoining provinces of Russia commands our immediate attention.

This territory is a very extensive and important one. Afghanistan is in the northwest of India, and forms the final barrier between that country and Turkestan, now under the control of Russia. In Afghanistan British influence is supposed to predominate, and hence any movement on the part of Russia toward that country is viewed with natural suspicion by the Indian government. Up to ten years ago Russia's intrigues, so far as the meaning of that word is understood in the diplomatic line. So the matter rested, but Russia, ever alert to grasp an advantage, has recently acted herself of the present circumstance. The boundary commission of 1884 neglected to delimitate the line in a sufficient manner, and this omission left open an important section of border territory touching British India upon the Cashmere frontier. This section is known as the Pamir or "roof of the world." It occupies a peculiar position, being bordered on its several sides by Russian British Afghanistan and Chinese soil, an almost inaccessible plateau traversed by mountainous rocky chains. The Pamir is occupied by fierce warlike tribesmen, hostile to all intruders. But the fact of its neutrality as compared to Russia its possibilities as an entering wedge for designs upon India, and by means of this route she has since the boundary delimitation of 1884, been endeavoring to advance her claims.

GHOLAM HYDER THE AMEER'S GENERAL.

England, meanwhile, was not asleep, for she began to construct a railway from Sevigur to Gilgit on the Cashmere frontier. The tribesmen of Hunza, which lies between Gilgit and the Pamir, were called upon to submit to the operations of Russia, constantly sending out prospecting and surveying parties, preparatory to that action, for the annexing of her going still further in the way of "surveying" seemed a very strong one to the English. They would have to beware of the Russian bear and his predatory prowlings. The English commander-in-chief read thoughtfully ten months ago, and were soon attacked by the tribesmen. This had been anticipated, and it was conjectured that the influence of Russia was responsible for the disobedience of the outbreak. The garrison at Gilgit was increased, and as it was plain that the workmen could not proceed as they commenced opposed to attack, a military expedition was fitted out under the command of the British agent, Col. Durand. The Fort of Nilt was captured by the English, and the foe retreated, only, however, to retreat and keep up a guerrilla warfare, which became so annoying that Col. Durand was again forced to take the field, driving the tribesmen back to the Hunza valley with losses upon both sides. The warlike disposition of these mountaineers is no revelation to the British, for they experienced it before in 1891, when they had to send a force of six thousand troops to aid the maharajah of Cashmere in his fight against them.

While England was thus forging forward Russia was engaged in the same task, having sent a scientific party on escort in charge of an exploration party in the direction of the Afghan and Chinese borders of the Pamir. An English officer named Younghusband, while en route to Chinese Turkestan, heard of this and undertook to follow the Russian movements. The party was commanded by a Col. Yanoff, who had been given prominence again in connection with the present disturbances. Younghusband came up with the party at a place called Bazai Gumbaz; the meeting was a friendly one, but Yanoff told him that Russia claimed the country in question as the vicinity. This was, indeed, news to British ears, and the English officer sent word to Col. Wright. The following day Capt. Younghusband was surrounded in his tent by the Russian party under Yanoff and was astonished to learn that it was the duty of the party to escort him on to Chinese territory. A special train was, however, indicated, with the accompanying intimation that in case he should agree to follow it to would be permitted to proceed unmolested. Younghusband, being without any force of his own, yielded under duress. The amusing part of the thing was that the Russians in flying the English officer's route, spoke of their "recent annexation" of certain lands, which must not be trespassed upon.

Another English officer had meantime been sent to the Chinese side of the Pamir to take notes of the happenings there. This was Lieut. Davison, and he also fell foul of the ubiquitous Col. Yanoff, who, in spite of the objections of the local Chinese official, took charge of the latter and forwarded him to Margilan, where he was released on the representation of an attaché of the British embassy at St. Petersburg who happened to be traveling in the district. The Russian officials at Chaus two English officers and their accounter with the Russian aforesaid formed the subject of diplomatic correspondence. The object of Yanoff's impudence was to officials close to the territory stretching southward from a demarkation line agreed upon in 1873, but which, as in the case of the definitation of 1880, left the Pamir region and its boundary an undecided question.

COMRADE OF COL. YANDOFF'S ESCORT.

It will be observed that the conflicting interests of England and Russia have been coming to very close quarters of late, and the present state of the territories forming the buffer grounds—as the bloodless occupation by the two governments for securing evidence of the several proceedings of soldiers of the several proceedings of soldiers of fortune, and the daily indignant that a large number of microphones, that have been sent from an electrical firm in Berlin by the government authorities in St. Petersburg, are intended for use in the Pamir. So he tells us, and no one, so that anything spoken by the prisoner in any part of the room can be either heard by the officers of the prison or automatically recorded.—N. Y. Advertiser.

Mother (impressively)—The paper says that two full, wicked boys, who were robbing birds' nests, were struck by lightning.

Small Boy—Yes'm. Trees is awful unsafe ions storm.—Good News.

Tu Cu the Grecian Knot.

Jinks—Didn't snickey be more cat and unlucky to kill a cat, and they keep right on coming, what's a fellow going to do?

Filkins—You might move yourself.—N. Y. Truth.

HOW MAUDE CHANGED CARS.

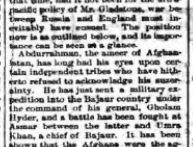
Fielding Sketches an Average Woman Traveler.

She Does Not Arrive at Her Destination, But a Small Portion of Her Clothing Goes Through on the First Train.

[COPYRIGHT, 1892.]

This story isn't worth a cent unless you believe it. I can prove it by nineteen witnesses. Two are lawyers, one is a reporter, another is the advertising agent of a summer hotel, and the remainder are women. After mature reflection I have decided to ask the reader to just simply take my word for it.

Of course, it would be easy enough for me to sit here and tell how I might have been complimented on my inventive powers by a great many people, including one of our leading tailors, for



HAZARA TRIBESMEN.

Chaghai, in Beloochistan, which borders Afghanistan on the south, has been made by the ameer—or at least at his instigation. He would hardly have come from Cabul. The viceroy of India has formally notified Abdurrhaman that he will take no part in the boundary dispute, and that he must not again enter the Bajaur country, previously declared to be beyond the sphere of his rights in Again, says the Indian government, he must do it on soil outside of Bajaur, and not on that which endures from Asmar. He has agreed to this proposition, but claims that the trouble was forced on him by Umra Khan. This is known to be a subterfuge, for the ameer is really interested in both the Indian government, and he has shown this by hitherto declining invitations to meet the viceroy in conference at Simla or Rawal Pindee, and by his continued attempts to influence declined. While ambition is thus betraying him to a policy of aggression and extension of his power, the ameer is menaced in another direction. This is from the people of Afghanistan, whose bellicose activity in central Afghanistan is assuming formidable dimensions. This is the opposition to the Hindoo Kush range, which extends from east to west in the middle of the country. It is only clan which has not revolted is that of the Sheik Alla. The most serious interest to the ameer confronts the ameer, and is hampering him badly in his schemes of aggrandizement.

In point of arms and discipline the ameer's troops have the advantage over the tribesmen, but they are not of his own ground, brave to recklessness and animated by a great hatred of the Afghans. They have, however, scored a great success in capturing a convoy of arms and ammunition coming from Cabul. The Khanar Hazaras were also prompted to the act of revolt, it is believed, by the Russian's gold, and their abortive until they were joined by the Ghorghan Hazaras. Russia's object in thus inciting these tribes was to create mischievillian policy, for, though she was coquetting with the ameer, it was still to her interest to cause a general disturbance in his dominions. Large bodies of troops are now engaged in putting down the warlike disposition of these mountaineers is no revelation to the British, for they experienced it before in 1891, when they had to send a force of six thousand troops to aid the maharajah of Cashmere in his fight against them.

While England was thus forging forward Russia was engaged in the same task, having sent a scientific party on escort in charge of an exploration party in the direction of the Afghan and Chinese borders of the Pamir. An English officer named Younghusband, while en route to Chinese Turkestan, heard of this and undertook to follow the Russian movements. The party was commanded by a Col. Yanoff, who had been given prominence again in connection with the present disturbances. Younghusband came up with the party at a place called Bazai Gumbaz; the meeting was a friendly one, but Yanoff told him that Russia claimed the country in question as the vicinity. This was, indeed, news to British ears, and the English officer sent word to Col. Wright. The following day Capt. Younghusband was surrounded in his tent by the Russian party under Yanoff and was astonished to learn that it was the duty of the party to escort him on to Chinese territory. A special train was, however, indicated, with the accompanying intimation that in case he should agree to follow it to would be permitted to proceed unmolested. Younghusband, being without any force of his own, yielded under duress. The amusing part of the thing was that the Russians in flying the English officer's route, spoke of their "recent annexation" of certain lands, which must not be trespassed upon.

Another English officer had meantime been sent to the Chinese side of the Pamir to take notes of the happenings there. This was Lieut. Davison, and he also fell foul of the ubiquitous Col. Yanoff, who, in spite of the objections of the local Chinese official, took charge of the latter and forwarded him to Margilan, where he was released on the representation of an attaché of the British embassy at St. Petersburg who happened to be traveling in the district. The Russian officials at Chaus two English officers and their accounter with the Russian aforesaid formed the subject of diplomatic correspondence. The object of Yanoff's im-

COMRADE OF COL. YANDOFF'S ESCORT.

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.
E. L. FORCE & A. L. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors.
AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.
TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXV. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1892. No 37.

"Support the Constitution, which is the cement of the Union, as well as its limitations as to its authorities."—Madison.

Rates of Advertising

	—WEEK—			—MONTH—
Space	1	2	3	1	2	3
1 in.	1.00	1.50	2.00	3.00	4.00	5.00
2 in.	2.00	3.00	4.00	5.00	7.00	9.00
3 in.	3.00	4.50	6.00	7.00	10.00	13.00
4 in.	4.00	6.00	8.00	9.00	13.00	17.00
5 in.	5.00	7.50	10.00	11.00	16.00	21.00
6 in.	6.00	9.00	12.00	13.00	19.00	25.00
7 in.	7.00	10.50	14.00	15.00	22.00	29.00
8 in.	8.00	12.00	16.00	17.00	25.00	33.00
9 in.	9.00	13.50	18.00	19.00	28.00	37.00
10 in.	10.00	15.00	20.00	21.00	31.00	41.00
11 in.	11.00	16.50	22.00	23.00	34.00	45.00
12 in.	12.00	18.00	24.00	25.00	37.00	49.00

All Electro's must be solid metal.
Double cols. 3c per in. allowance of above rates.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & UNDERWOOD.
Counsellors-at-Law,
Solicitors in Equity, Notaries Public, &c.
Office: Corner of Second and Park Place, over the Post Office,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

GEORGE W. DAY,
General Auctioneer,
Notary of Promises, Attorney-in-fact, U. S. Pat. Office Solicitor, &c., &c.
Office: Rooms 1 and 2, Arcade Building, 128 East Front Street, Plainfield, N. J.

DR. CHARLES R. THEIS,
Dentist,
No. 9 West Front Street, A new local anesthetic administered for extracting teeth without pain. Call and test it. Office hours—8 A. M. to 5 P. M.

BUSINESS CARDS.

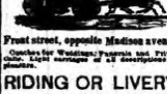
P. P. VanArsdale,
PIANO TUNER.
Instructions in Harmony, Counterpoint, Vocal and Instrumental Composition, Piano and Organ. Orders may be left at Mr. Force's office, 9 E. Front street, or at 1 Madison avenue, Plainfield, N. J. P. O. Box 366, or left at Wilson's store, Somerville, N. J., will receive prompt attention. Terms moderate. Satisfaction guaranteed. Reference, Rev. J. Ogden Murray, Plainfield, N. J.

T. S. CHILDS,
Auctioneer & Real Estate Agent.
A LARGE OR SMALL LOT OF HOUSEHOLD GOODS, FURNITURE, &c., BOUGHT OR SOLD ON COMMISSION. Orders left at my residence, No. 7 Fifth avenue, Plainfield, N. J., will receive prompt attention. Sales conducted in any part of the country on reasonable terms. Satisfaction guaranteed.

John Chandler,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence and shop No. 20 East Third street.
Jobbing promptly attended to. apl9

WILLIAM B. RANDOLPH,
Successor to E. B. Maynard,
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 26 PARK AVENUE.
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their residence. Shaving, Shampooing, etc., satisfactorily performed. 3-18-tf

CARNEY BROTHERS, Agents,
7 West Front St.
NEW YORK.
TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS.
PARLOR STOVES,
COOK STOVES,
HEATERS.

A. M. SEGUINE,
(Successor to John W. Laing.)
Laing's Hotel Stables


Front street, opposite Madison avenue.
Carriages for Weddings, Parties and Funerals always in readiness. Elegant carriages of all descriptions for hire.

RIDING OR LIVERY.
Careful, safe drivers for excursion calls or pleasure parties. Special attention given to business men. Orders by telephone or postal promptly attended to.
TELEPHONE CALL NO. 24.

RICKERT'S
ACCOMMODATION EXPRESS.
OFFICE—Vanderbeek's Dining Room, Will attend to The Constitutionalist Express. Will attend to the collection and delivery of packages, delivering goods or baggage to and from any part of the city, or place in the country.
Moving of Furniture, Pianos, etc., with care and safety.

INSURANCE.
WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.

Fresh Garden Seeds
AND FERTILIZERS,
Lawn Mowers Refrigerators,
Ice Cream Freezers
Genuine Stoves, Hardware, Tools, etc.
J. J. HEIDELOFF,
No. 19 Somerset St. 1-30-tf

GEORGE A. MOORE,
(Of the late firm of Moore Bros.)
Is now the sole proprietor of the old established
NO. 44 NORTH AVENUE,
Where he will continue to supply patrons with the finest grades of
Fresh and Salt Meats,
Made of all kinds, Oysters, Game in season, and all the Luxuries of the Market.
Anything and everything kept in stock. Satisfaction always guaranteed. Orders promptly attended to.

SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc., Etc.
I am prepared to do all of the above work in the most satisfactory manner, and at reasonable prices. Estimates furnished. Prompt attention given to all orders. Shop, 112 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J.
D. W. LITTELL,
No. 9 North Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

FOR MALARIA,
GENERAL DEBILITY
AND
ALL STOMACH TROUBLES
COLES'
PERUVIAN BARK
AND
WILD CHERRY BITTERS
ARE THE BEST.
A Vegetable Substitute for Quinine.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
Price, 50 cents and $1.00 per Bottle.
D. F. COLES DRUG AND MFG. CO.
Somerset, N. J. 6-21-7

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS,
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS,
BEST IN THE WORLD.
ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

PAINTERS & PAINTERS SUPPLIES
Paints, Varnishes, Glass,
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALL PAPERS!
PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY.
A. SWALM,
No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.
L. D. WOOLSTON, A. P. BUCKLE
Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS,
Wall Papers,
PAINTERS' SUPPLIES. 38 NORTH AVENUE

ESTABLISHED 18 6.
C.E. & J.W. RROWN,
321 Canal Street,
NEW YORK.
English Tiles, Adaptable Hand, Leather Stamped Floor Papers, &c. Designs for Wagon Manufacturers of Window Shades. 3-13-52

WALL PAPER.
Dealers in Foreign and Domestic Cigars, Tobacco and Smokers' Articles. Sole Agents for the celebrated "Old Judge" Smoking Tobacco, Cigarettes and Cut Plug. Also Agents for the celebrated "Old Judge" Cigarettes.

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.
H. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of the Celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR.
The smooth, mild and delicate flavor of this cigar will please every smoker. Sold by dealers throughout the State, and made under the personal supervision of the manufacturer.
CUBAN HAVANA BRIARS A SPECIALTY
Agent for the celebrated Cigars: Standard, Foreign and Domestic Cigars. Cigarettes and Smokers' Articles in Great Variety.

C. M. FINE,
DEALER IN HAVANA & DOMESTIC
SEGARS!
15 PARK AVE., NEXT DOOR TO POST OFFICE.
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Tobacco and Smoker's Materials, Wholesale and Retail.

ALL ALONG THE LINE.
DEMOCRACY FORCING THE FIGHT BOTH EAST AND WEST.
Cleveland and Stevenson Closely Have the Solid It—Republicans Afraid of Losing Their Western Strongholds—The North Dakota Situation—Notes of the Campaign.
[Special Correspondence.]
NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—There are busy days at the Democratic national headquarters, 129 Fifth avenue. Chairman Harrity and the other officials of the organization are at their desks early and late, and the members of the campaign committee are there more than one-half of their time to the work in hand. The organization is now complete. All the preliminaries have been arranged, and the machine is in perfect running order, ready to perform the serious work of the campaign smoothly and effectively. An enormous mail from all parts of the country comes in every day, and scores of visitors from many states are daily seen in the rooms of the committee in consultation with the managers, and the report which reaches the committee as to the outlook in the doubtful states are of the most encouraging nature.

Every one familiar with the history of national campaigns and the work of the headquarters in this city has remarked the air of confidence which pervades; at 129 Fifth avenue. The men there who know most about what is going on are pretty sure that Cleveland will be elected. They believe he will carry New York by a large majority, and that he will be elected with or without Niles' help. Every one has noticed, too, the vast difference between this and former campaigns. Heretofore the battle had been largely confined to the last four states. As a rule New York, Indiana and Connecticut have been the scene of the great struggle. This year there are but two or three sure Republican states and a score of doubtful ones. Even at the Republican headquarters, about a mile farther up Fifth avenue, they do not claim to have a sure thing in any of the states in the north or the southern states—a surprising change from four years ago, when Harrison had to be carried into New York and the safe Republican states to give him the victory. Now the Republicans think they are sure of Maine, Vermont, Rhode Island, Pennsylvania and Oregon and Washington, and the Democrats are disposed to concede this much to them. But that is all. About all the remaining electoral votes in the north more or less doubtful are claimed by the Democrats, which is conceded to Cleveland and Stevenson.

Instead of assured assets in the shape of nearly one-half the electoral college from reliably Republican northern and western states, the Harrison managers find that they must fight in a score of commonwealths for that which they have been sure of in the past. Besides New York, Indiana and Connecticut are always somewhat doubtful, but the Democrats deeply grieved in the last year the odds are with them, and that they are pretty sure of three. In addition to the struggle for these three doubtful states the Republicans are disconcerted to find that they must work hard if they hope to retain New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, the two Dakotas, Kansas and Nebraska, with Colorado, Nevada and California, the latter three certain to swing away from their Republican moorings. It is easily to see that in a situation of that kind, and when almost all the leading points of danger to the Democrats' one, and that the odds therefore are all in favor of Cleveland and Stevenson.

The managers of the Republican campaign, realizing the great danger there is in all these states, and knowing that in the west and northwest, have made almost frantic efforts to convince the country that the reports of their strength gains in the south. They have talked of carrying North Carolina, Virginia, Alabama, Tennessee and Georgia for Harrison. During the last week or ten days a large number of prominent citizens of these states have been in New York, and when asked as to the outlook in their section they have invariably replied that the tendency was in favor of the Democratic ticket. In those states where the third party movement is giving the greatest trouble—Kansas, as to local offices and members of congress.

In no state is the electoral ticket nominated by the Democrats in danger of defeat. If anything were needed to bring out the reserve strength of the Democratic party in the south and to insure large majorities for Cleveland and Stevenson it is at present the attitude of the force bill, with which the Republican party menaces the south. The people of that section fear that if the Republicans gain possession of all branches of the government they will become practically helpless in their state and national platforms and enact something such as that which was proposed in the last session and defeated only by a narrow margin and by most skillful parliamentary tactics.

All the prominent southern Democrats who have been recently in New York give it as their conviction that the force bill issue will be the means of solidifying every southern electoral vote. Among the Democrats who have expressed this opinion are Governor Gordon, of South Carolina, Hunton of Virginia, Gray of Delaware and Gibson of Louisiana. Senator Gray of Delaware has been in the service force in every state which the Democracy could command whenever any great principle was involved, and that such a danger was now presented and such a principle at issue was plainly to be seen whether the people of the south were to be permitted to carry on their government and control the elections, or whether these functions were to be delegated to centralized executive power at Washington.

Senator Gibson said that wherever the people of his part of the south are appealed to in favor of local self-government they respond with a hearty voice, and that there was no danger whatever of Republican success in Louisiana or Texas. Senator Faulkner reported that the force bill issue was serving the Democratic cause in Virginia as well as in every effort, and though one of Fred Douglass' colored brethren in the Old Dominion had undertaken to nationally embarrass the party by a speech for his chief by methods characteristic of his political career and of the party which he serves, Wm. Mahone, "the unscrupulous" will by a larger majority than four or eight years ago for Cleveland. Senator Gorman reported that if the Republicans were seriously proposing to repeal the conditions for any reasonably fair election in the southern states they were deluding themselves and their followers. This is the general opinion in New York among men of both parties. It is also understood that the talk of carrying southern states indulged in by Republican managers is mainly for the purpose of cover their efforts to save the day in the west, where their defeat would be heavy enough to end them.

Chairman Harrity and the officers corps of assistants spent the greater part of last week at Saratoga on the general theory that Cleveland can be elected without New York, and that he can also be elected without Indiana, Connecticut or any prize in the west. The meaning of this is that they are simply making a bold all alone the line campaign, and are bows and indulging in no bluff as to what they are going to do, but improving every opportunity to win a doubtful state, wherever and however it is found. It would surprise no one who is carefully watching things here if there should be a landslide for Cleveland and Stevenson. But the Democratic managers are not counting on anything of the sort. They are simply making an organization, giving assistance and distributing documents in all parts of the country. They are preparing to meet every move of the ground, and certainly are not making the mistake of indulging in overconfidence or in any false security by the opinion of impartial observers as to the probable outcome of the campaign. Establishment of campaign headquarters at Chicago for auxiliary work in the west does not mean by any means that the west is not looked after by

The Constitutionalist.
W.L. FORCE, A. L. FORCE
Editors and Proprietors.

Democratic Nominations.

For President,
GROVER CLEVELAND.
of New York.
For Vice-President.
ADLAI E. STEVENSON,
of Illinois.
For Governor,
GEORGE T. WERTS.

CALL FOR CONVENTION
OF
DEMOCRATIC CLUBS.

TEMPORARY HEADQUARTERS
THE DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY OF NEW JERSEY,
TRENTON, N. J., August 15, 1892.

Pursuant to article 8 of the Constitution of the Democratic Society of New Jersey, a majority of the Clubs composing the membership of this Society will be held at the

Camden, on Tuesday, Sept. 27, 1892,

Commencing at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of electing delegates to the Convention for the term of three years next ensuing, and the transaction of such other business as may properly to said work of the Society which might be presented.

All organizations of the party are requested to join this Society and send in delegates to the Convention, as the basis of representation in the Convention is the following:

OBJECTS OF THE SOCIETY

To foster the formation of permanent Democratic Societies and Clubs throughout the State, and organize the Democratic party in different Townships Fellowships Corporations and Counties.

To secure the election of Democratic Governor, Senator, Members of the Legislature, and all State officers.

To maintain the supremacy of the Democratic party in the government and free institutions.

To maintain the Democratic State and the constitutional rights of power.

To oppose the imposition of taxes beyond the necessities of government; economically administered.

To promote economy in all branches of the public service.

To oppose unnecessary commercial restraint in the exchange of the products of the country.

To favor class legislation, which deposits labor and capital in unequal conditions.

To maintain inviolate the fundamental principle of local self-government before the law.

To co-operate with the regular organization of the Democratic party in support of Democratic State and National candidates.

DELEGATES TO CONVENTION.

In accordance the members of this Society shall be entitled to two delegates and one additional delegate for every fifty members in good standing in excess of one hundred. But in no City or Township shall be entitled to more than ten (10) delegates.

It is particularly desirable that every Democratic organization in the State shall secure members of the State Society at once and have a full representation at the Convention.

The Secretary of the State Society will furnish forms of certificates for Membership and for Credentials for delegates to the 27th inst.

The Committee hopes that every town and township are urged to organize one or more Clubs in their respective localities, and report at this fact at any without delay, for it is intended by all that Club organizations shall be formed to secure a grand victory for both State and National tickets in 1892.

The permanent headquarters of the Society are at the Democratic Headquarters at Hotel, Trenton City, N. J.

E. A. STEVENS, President.
A. G. SPILLER, Treas. Ex. Com.
Attest:—W. S. BURAN, Secretary.

VOTE FOR CLEVELAND.

President Harrison no doubt thought he was performing a marvelous feat when he inflicted upon the country a long drawn and labored address and labeled it a "platform of principles" of the Republican Presidential nomination.

With all his acute knowledge, the President has evidently failed to comprehend the limitations of that "brevity is the soul of eloquence," and that other political aspirants in their frenzied endeavors to serve self have overshot the mark and keenly felt the shock of a sticking game.

If Mr. Harrison had been on the stump, his prepared speech, with all its unfounded insinuations against Democrats, and his glaring misrepresentations, assertions, might have passed muster as an appropriate exhibit of airy buncombe, but to call the effort a dignified letter of acceptance is to antagonize popular intelligence.

It was nothing of the kind.

His concluding phraseology was a specimen, both undignified and untrue. He thus wrote:

"The Democratic party offers a programme of demolition. The protective policy—to which all business, even that of the importer, is now adjusted—is the reciprocity policy, the new mercantile marine, are all to be demolished, not gradually, not taken down, but blown up."

By what truthful authority does Benjamin Harrison, the Republican candidate for President, dare charge the great time-honored Democratic party with an intent to destroy or even endanger public and private prosperity. A party that fought the aristocratic evildoers of Hamilton's federalism over a hundred years ago, and has to the present day been found fearlessly defending the rights, interests and security of the people.

The accusation is a base calumny and the people know it to be such.

Grover Cleveland was the immediate predecessor of Benjamin Harrison in the Presidency, and gave the country a clean, safe, honest and honorable administration of public affairs.

That fact the people are also fully cognizant of.

The spirit of the times now point to the election of Grover Cleveland as the successor of Benjamin Harrison, then good government will be re-inaugurated, and the equitable and permanent welfare of all sections, all classes, and all industrial pursuits be secured.

Vote for
GROVER CLEVELAND.

A CONTRAST.

Public men differ in both mind and methods. Some condense expressed thought, while others blindly grope through a labyrinth of verbose words.

Five days after Mr. Lincoln was first nominated for President he acknowledged acceptance in the following brief, but all sufficient letter:

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., MAY 23, 1860.
Hon. George Ashman, President of the Republican National Committee:

SIR:—I accept the nomination tendered me by the Convention over which you presided, and of which I am informally notified in the letter of yourself and others, acting as a committee of the Convention for that purpose.

The declaration of principles and sentiments which accompanies your letter meets my approval; and I shall do my care not to violate or disregard it in any part.

Imploring the assistance of Divine Providence, and with due regard to the views and feelings of all who were represented in the Convention, to the rights of all the States and Territories and people of the nation, to the inviolability of the Constitution, and to personal unity, harmony, and prosperity of all, I shall be happy to cooperate for the practical success of the principles declared by the Convention.

Your obliged friend and humble servant,
ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

Three months following the last nomination of Mr. Harrison, in a communication vying with the Constitutionalist of the United States in length, he says:

Mr. Lincoln occupied only eighteen lines of print and therein said more to the point than Mr. Harrison did through six newspaper columns.

The contrast is striking.

VERMONT.

Vermont is a Republican State and always has been, but this Presidential year partisan Republicans are not shouting over its recent State election.

What's the matter?

They heard something drop out and do not like the overwhelming sound.

It means national defeat.

They sent a detachment of stump orators into Vermont to enthuse the stumbled and hold the wavering, but Napoleon McKinley was there to portray the blessings of war tariff taxation, and Senator Proctor, President Harrison's late Secretary of War, vehemently urged the necessity of party loyalty after this fashion:

"I wish to impress upon you the importance of the coming September election. It is not a State election, but a national one. The vote cast for the State ticket next month is really your vote for President and the expression of your choice between the principles of the two great parties. The main question to be settled is not settled by any State issues. If the Republican party maintains its average majority, it will be because of the tariff issue. If the Democrats reduce the majority, it will be because of the free trade issue and omen of Democratic success in the nation."

The election was held and the result shows a majority of only about 30,000, or 9,000 less than in 1888.

The Republicans failed to maintain their average majority and are far from being satisfied.

Some of them see the handwriting on the wall.

In 1876 the Democrats reduced the Republican majority to 23,736 and Tilden was legally elected President, but counted out by a partisan returning Board.

In 1884 the Republican majority went down to 22,704 and Cleveland was that year counted in the victor.

In 1892 it goes even lower and the probability is that Grover Cleveland will again be the President-elect.

The convincing power of Democratic truth is evidently forcing itself into the dark recesses of the Green Mountains.

McKinley and his subsidized host are marshaling onward to Waterloo.

GOVERNOR WERTS.

The delegates to the Democratic Gubernatorial Convention did themselves credit at Trenton, last Wednesday, in nominating Hon. Geo. T. Werts for Governor. Mr. Werts is the people's choice, and represents the requisites we have always advocated—honesty and ability. We predict his election by a handsome majority. Unlike his opponent, John Kean, Jr., he does not represent corporations.

MORE BUSINESS CHANGES.

Quite a Little Revolution in Plainfield's Mercantile World.

Following closely the announcement of the dissolution of the firm of Doane & VanArsdale and the organization of the new firm of Doane & Bedell comes the dissolution of VanBenburgh & White's dissolution, which took effect yesterday.

Messrs. White and VanBenburgh have been in partnership for five years, and their house has had the high esteem and liberal patronage of the entire community. Mr. White will take to Morris Van-Arsdale as partner, under the style of White & VanArsdale, and this new firm are energetic and enterprising young business will continue in business at the old stand, with enlarged quarters. An addition 22x52 feet will be built adjoining the present store, on the lower or north side, with large archways connecting the two. This enlargement will be for the purpose of increasing the millinery and ready-to-wear clothing stock.

Mr. VanBenburgh, who is held in the utmost respect as a sound and reliable business man, will now enter partnership with his son Fred. M., who for 14 years has been with the well-known house of Spellman Bros., 8 years as their buyer. He has a great deal of push, and the new house and new stand of VanBenburgh & Son is bound to be a great success.

WOLFE'S QUEER DEFENCE.

He Signed a Contract, Then Refused to Pay, Claiming He Was Over-charged.

The case of Hon. F. M. Bissell Piow company, of South Bend, Indiana, against John F. Wolfe, of North Plainfield, an agent of the concern, came up before Justice Hall, of Somerville, Thomas R. Crosley, at 1:30 Tuesday afternoon.

Bissell sued Wolfe for a balance of $125.75, which he claimed was due him on a quantity of farming implements which Wolfe had sold for him as agent.

The defendant claimed that he was entitled to a rebate, and asserted that when he had been over-charged for several plows. He also claimed that the terms were more favorable to him than was given to other agents of the Bissell company in this vicinity.

Harry C. Runyon, for the plaintiff, produced the original contract between the parties, the existence of which the defendant pretended he knew nothing about.

Mr. Runyon, in summing up, took the ground that even admitting that the defendant had been charged more than the regular price alleged, he was in no way not entitled to any allowance, from the fact that he had signed a contract in writing agreeing to pay the prices named therein, and that a failure to do so was the alleged over-charge the defendant had ordered goods to the amount of $40 on the same terms.

Justice Crosley rendered judgment in favor of Bissell for the full amount of his claim, with interest and costs.

READY TO BUILD.

Just as Soon as Fence Street Is Settled, Up Goes T. B. C. A. Hall.

A meeting of the building committee of the Plainfield Y.M.C.A. was held Tuesday evening, when plans for the proposed building were approved. Estimates were received, but the committee found these estimates absolutely unable to locate the building until the matter in connection with the extension of Fence street is definitely settled. A. D. C. March, the architect, submitted plans which had been prepared to suit the ideas of the committee.

A Valuable Remedy.

Hon. Ernest L. Pratt, the late president of the New York State Senate, writes:

"STATE OF N. Y., SENATE CHAMBER,
ALBANY, March 15, 1886.

I have used ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTER in my family for many years, and have found them very valuable. My wife and children are readily and promptly relieved from pain by their use. I have also used them myself with very great benefit. I have frequently recommended them to friends who have invariably obtained similar results and they have become the favorite remedy in my household.

MR. CLEVELAND HIMSELF SAYS SO.

TO THE PRESS AND TO PLAINFIELD BELONGS THE HONOR AND GLORY OF FIRST SUGGESTING HIS CANDIDACY.

The Ex-President Writes That There is no Entire Absence of Any Claim, Frame And Ambition.

Other Reasons, Which Establishes a Prior Right.

(From The Plainfield Press of June 30.)

Only because the varied claims from many people, of many States and by many means, started the rise and progress of a desire as to who by and whom Grover Cleveland was first nominated for president in 1892, does THE PRESS put aside its natural and customary modesty to set at rest the question.

The honor belongs to THE PRESS and the glory to Plainfield! On March 6, 1889 —3 years, 3 months, and 21 days ago—it

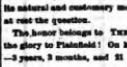
August 4, 1892

Grover A. Cleveland, Esq.,

My dear sir:

I have received your letter enclosing a story with reference to a claim you may have to the suggestion of my candidacy for the Presidency in the present campaign. An examination of the evidence you present leads me to concur with you that there is no entire absence of any claim from any other source which seems to establish a prior right.

Very truly yours,



gloriously announced him. His appreciation of THE PRESS'S ardent and admiration, he expressed as follows:

J. A. Demarest, Esq.,

Dear Sir:—Your letter has been forwarded to me here, but the paper to which you refer has not reached me. I suppose it is at my office in New York.

Though my early political concern is to see the Democratic party true to the Democratic faith and honest in its professed adherence to the cause of the people, I am not insensible to the evidence your note furnishes of friendship to me personally.

Yours Very Truly,
GROVER CLEVELAND.

"THE GREAT DEMOCRAT CLINCHES THE CLAIM."

(From The New York Evening Post.)

The Daily Press, of Plainfield, N. J., claims the honor of having first boomed Grover Cleveland for the present campaign for the presidency. It recently published an article reciting the fact of its making that re-nomination, and Managing Editor Demarest sent a copy to Mr. Cleveland for corroboration. The great Democrat clinches the Press's claim to the honor, in the following letter:

GRAY GABLES, BUZZARDS BAY, Mass., August 4, 1892.

JAMES A. DEMAREST, Esq.,

MY DEAR SIR:—I have received your letter enclosing a story with reference to a claim you make touching the suggestion of my candidacy for the presidency in the present campaign. An examination of the evidence you present leads me to concur with you that there is an entire absence of any claim from any other source which seems to establish a prior right.

Very truly yours,
GROVER CLEVELAND.

ACTUALLY RESERVED SEATS

Numbered Coupon Tickets Sold, by the Adam Forepaugh Shows.

The reserved seats which will be introduced here by the Adam Forepaugh shows will be an agreeable novelty in themselves. They are said to be all numbered and on a reserved plan. The seats to be had in a first-class theater. They are reserved by coupon tickets, numbered on a corresponding set of numbers upon the seats. No one need occupy one of those seats without holding the ticket which is issued for it at each performance. If any one has a ticket with, therefore, find his seat awaiting him when he reaches the shows—no matter how late he may be in his arrival. The seats are really actually reserved seats well worth the reasonable trifling amount asked for them. With this sort of seats a tender that are waterproofed and made absolutely and entirely impervious to rain it will be seen that every effort possible to secure for the patrons of the Adam Forepaugh shows the same degree of comfort that the finest of theater affords. The compulsory correct deportment of all the attendants and the absolute banishment of all to the use of liquor in all component parts the Adam Forepaugh shows are a high-class, gilt-edged combination throughout. As they will here Friday, the 23rd inst., everything pertaining to them is of more or less interest just at present as it seems that everybody is bent upon seeing them. There is no doubt about their being well worth the seeing, and there will be a general disappointment if they do not prove to be very much the best and largest shows that will have ever visited this city. Wherever they have been so far this year the newspapers declare unqualifiedly that they are, and seem a unanimity of favorable opinion would not be expressed if it was not merited.

The Seats at the Scene Were Rushed Askew.

Harry Campbell has just completed a deal for the famous Forrest orange grove. It is located at Forrest Grove. Forrest was washed on the shores of the Halifax river from a shipwrecked vessel, thirty-three years ago; and since the orange industry had become popular in Florida the trees have been budded, thus making one of the finest groves in the State. The fruit from this grove took first prize at Ocala in 1891, and at Sanford and as Mesers. Kelly & Campbell market it each year they expect their first shipment about Nov. 10.

Another Refutation of the Slander Sheet's Falsehoods.

Now it is the North Plainfield Board of Health that is the scene of the row against the Somerset street slander sheet. That journal said on Friday that there was a meeting of the board of health and that Dr. Thorlton THE PRESS to deny utterly the story, and state that there is no such meeting of the board of health. The Board of Health of North Plainfield is composed of Dr. Thorlton, Dr. Wm. Johnson, Mayor Lee, Councilmen Ayres and Dr. Wm. Johnson, Mayor Lee, Councilmen Ayres and Pearl Street, and that is all. Dr. Pearl Street, and that is all. Dr. Pearl Street, and that is all. Dr.

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THIS COUNTY OF UNION.

J. A. DEMAREST - - City Editor.

"Compass Station," reads a North avenue sign.

—Some day next week the Plainfield Democrats will have their banner raising.

—Guttman's band will give another free open-air concert at the City Hotel next Friday night.

—Policeman Gloss is again on duty, guarding the case of scarlet fever quarantined at the rear of French's mill.

—The next annual reunion of the New Jersey association of Union ex-prisoners of war will be held in Plainfield, Thursday, Oct. 13.

—A most foul-smelling hole in the sewer-basin at Peace and Second sts. streets. Especially after nightfall are its noxious vapors offensive.

—Just now when cholera is knocking at the door, only wagons are permitted to drive through Plainfield's streets with the barrels uncovered.

—That North avenue sewer outlet in Green Brook is very foul. The board of health is seeking to remedy the nuisance. Oh, for a good sewerage system!

—The Newark Bee Hive will be closed Thursday, Sept. 22, all day and Saturday, Oct. 1, until 6 p. m., owing to holiday.

—Once more has the advice of THE PRESS been heeded. The borough Reading now gives its daily best-blow at the decent hour of 9 p. m., instead of the unearthly hour of 9.

—The religious observance of Columbus Day by St. Mary's church will be Oct. 13, just in the middle of the week, as the Young Men's Lyceum will take place on the legal holiday, Oct. 21.

—Flitcheth Whitehack of Dunellen, aged 97, has just taken unto himself her a new set of teeth with which she was able to bite a bread the first time she used them. By Charles R. Thrasher, was the bride.

—Again THE PRESS, the people's paper, proved its enterprise Tuesday by giving first news of the nomination of Keen, in its regular issue. The Democratic organs followed with meagre "special" issue.

—The Courier seems to delight in gloating over anything that pertains of the morgue. If a man developes a liking for handling such morbid things as corpses, he is bound to manifest itself from time to time.

—In the play in which Corbett will appear at Music Hall, Oct. 4, his part is that of a detective who, like Sherlock, and the plot is said to follow closely events in the young champion's life, culminating in the muscular-man mixing with the villain.

—The Cleveland and Stevenson campaign club held its regular meeting Monday evening and adopted a constitution and by-laws. A committee consisting of L. G. Thompson, Chas. Sandiford and R. Van Buren, was appointed to arrange for the formation of a marching club.

—A party of Plainfielders have already secured two prosecution boxes at Music Hall for the evening of October 4, the sole purpose of hearing their opponents on the manly charms of Gentl-man Jim Corbett, the fistic clerk who whipped the great John L.

—In response to the indignant protest of THE PRESS against the foul water of French's mill-race being used to sprinkle the streets of Park Row, has decided to obtain the water for their cart hereafter from the city hydrants. THE PRESS is the people's paper.

—Somerville team Saturday cost $150, outside of its expenses. Sharrott alone was paid $20 in advance and $15 additional after the game. Mr. Mack is counting on Plainfield making up the deficit to him next Saturday. Stay home, Crescents, and make him pay it out of his own pocket.

—The preacher who drives French's watering cart ought to be taught a lesson in manners by the police. He seems to take a gleeful delight in wetting people whom he can get within range of his hose. Only he trenched the skirts of three women, and then turned and laughed at them. He should be hauled up before the court.

—The streets ought not to be sprinkled except with pure city water. The water used by French's mill from the mill-race is very foul and offensive. It's odor is positively rotten, and the liquid must be full of disease germs. It leaves a permanent stain in the streets. It is time the health has power to abolish the nuisance. Let it act!

—The new curbing on East Fourth and Fifth streets and Madison avenue is a great improvement; and one that is even more appreciated by the public is the regrading and relaying of the Broadway sidewalk from East Fourth to East Sixth streets. That sidewalk has for a long time been the crookedest and most uneven series of stumbling-blocks in town.

—The physicians are highly incensed at the News and Courier for publishing such sensational and outrageous articles attacking Plainfield's healthfulness. One doctor said: "We've got it printed at the News, but we did think the Courier editor had some sense. He's lived here long enough to know better than to publish such scandalous things."

—One of the engines now running on the Royal Blue Line trains through this city was frequently noticed by tourists shortly after midnight last night. Its number is 615, and it was built at the Lehigh Valley's South Easton, Pa., shops previous to the Reading consolidation. The locomotive is No. 615 is one that it has an unusually large fire-box and heating surface and burns anthracite coal.

—John Phillip Sousa announces that he has already engaged for his new Marine Band three cornet soloists of rare merit, as follows: Arthur Smith, the Queen's soloist from the Royal Scots Guards, London; Frederick Petit, known all over America, formerly with Gilmore's band; and Vincent Bacigalupo, Philadelphia's foremost player. The effort is being made to secure them for Plainfield.

—The councilmanic committee on fire and buildings, consisting of Messrs. Atkinson, Marsh and Bird, accompanied by the chief of the fire department, committee, and chiefs Doane and Martin and foremen Vroom and Bail, visited Jersey City, Friday, and examined a fine fire-house established. The house was of the famous Hayes pattern, and such an one will doubtless be purchased by Plainfield.

—After the game Saturday, the Westfield and Elizabeth players and backers present crowded around the Somervillites and hearsily congratulated them on the result of the conspiracy between the three towns to rob Plainfield. Manager Mack thereupon invited them all to "Come up next Saturday to Somerville, boys! we're going to have a live feast and I should be very happy to have you join us". And Mack is wealthy. Plainfield money and back to pay for it all. Will be put in it!

—E. S. Lyons, manager and part owner of the Roberts Every stable on North avenue, has long been dissatisfied with the service his patrons were getting. He proposed that they should have his best attention in the land, yet feared his employes were careless and neglectful. A close watch and inquiry developed the fact that his suspicions were correct, so he has made a clean sweep in the establishment, discharging every one in his employ and engaging a full force of men. There was gambling among the men and Saturday he found four gallons of whiskey stored away for Sunday use.

PERSONALIA.

The Misses Tuomey are on a visit to Mrs. Andrew Wilson.

Mrs. J. E. West is at the VanOrder House, Lake Hopatcong.

C. D. Wadsworth and family have returned from Washington, Conn.

Miss Ogden of Brooklyn is visiting her friend Mrs. Harrison Godfrey.

Mrs. A. C. Vail of West 9th street, is home from the White Mountains.

Miss Bert Stokes of Philadelphia spent Sunday with the family of George Force.

The engagement is announced of Miss Minnie Conway to John Gill, both of this city.

Mrs. L. W. Cole, of 78 Door street, is home from a two weeks' rest at Asbury Park.

Mrs. George E. Evans of Rockview avenue is home again from Greenwood Lake.

County attorney W. K. McClure of Crescent avenue returned home Friday from Canada.

Mrs. Richard Trewin and sister have returned home from Newton, Sussex county.

Manager T. S. Armstrong of Reynolds's photography is home again from the wilds of Maine.

Mrs. Frederick Weighal of Liberty street and Mrs. W. R Clark have left for Newport.

The Hon. James Martine will speak at Frankfort, Somerset county, Saturday evening.

Miss Lou Roediker, of Grove street, has resumed her studies at the Basketteltown Institute.

Clarence Rice of the borough left town Monday to resume his studies at Pennington seminary.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fleming of 190 Park avenue returned on Thursday from their summer trip.

The family of Frederick Moon, of 61 East Sixth street, are home again from Pike county, Penn.

Mrs. and Miss Massett, and Mrs. De Mestina arrived from Europe on the Bethlehem, Saturday evening.

Miss Anna M Taylor of New York has returned home after a pleasant visit to friends at Richland Farm

Mrs. Seymour G. Smith and Master Seymour F. returned Tuesday from Hartwick, Otsego county, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Brooky of Brooklyn are visiting their daughter, Mrs. George Wilson, on Somerset street.

Mrs James H. Searing, of Medina avenue, is visiting at the home of ex-freeholder Geo. W. Doty at Union.

Mrs. C. M. Fine, of 120 West Front street, has returned from a two months' summer's rest at Neshanic and Somerville.

James T. Closson and Mrs. Edgerton returned from Elberon to this city, Saturday, after a short visit at their home.

Wm. Springsteen, of North Plainfield, has two Democratic campaign songs in the New York World's $500 prize contest.

F. S. Cutter, with his mother and Mrs. Lucy Cutter, left Tuesday for a few days at River View House, Delaware Water Gap.

James Clark has generously given the use of his fire-proof council rooms for central headquarters of the Democrats of this city.

Miss Emma Philpott and Miss Julia Opon, of Brooklyn, are the guests of Miss Carrie Wilcox, returned to Plainfield Thursday afternoon after an absence of three months.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Johnson, of New York, spent Sunday with their cousins, Mrs Grace Johnson and Miss Sarah Randolph, of Dunellen.

The Rev. Robert Hunt, of Fawling, N. Y., has purchased the Hunt property at Dunellen, and will remove there with his family in the spring.

Mrs. Sarah A. Laing of West Fourth street, mother of Nathan J. Laing of the Courier, left last night for Denver where she will visit her daughter.

Mrs. Avis Mosher Laing, of Broadway and Fourth street, left town Wednesday for Chicopaqua, O., to visit her brother, Waite Stevens, who is very ill.

The engagement is announced of Miss Josie Compton, youngest daughter of Halsted Compton of West Front street, to Mr. Edmund Jones of Bridgeport, Conn.

The wedding of Miss Lizzie Sutphen to Corra Ryno of THE DAILY PRESS will take place Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 28, at 4, at the home of the bride, 157 Door street.

Mr. and Mrs. Cudlip, of East Ninth street, returned Monday from a five weeks' sojourn at Saratoga. They have been at the Pavilion House, New Brighton.

David K Vail died yesterday at his home, 61 West Ninth street, at the age of 53. Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2, at the house, with interment at Bound Brook.

W. B. Cain, having recently sold his residence on Grandview avenue, North Plainfield, will return on Oct. 1 to his former home, Summit, where with his elder son he will engage in the hardware business.

The Hon. Robert Porter, superintendent of the U. S. Census, and editor of the New York Press are in Plainfield to-day. He made a call at Dr. Carroll's bureau of religious statistics, and dined at The Albion.

There was great rejoicing on Tuesday at the Junction hotel in South Plainfield, as a bouncing baby girl arrived and tipped the scales at 16 pounds. Of course, it being the first, Mr. Hogan was very generous and invited in the passersby.

The Rev. R. H. Travis, presiding elder of the M. E. church, Poughkeepsie District, and the Rev. Robert Hunt, of Fawling, N. Y., exchanged pulpits for his afternoon and Mrs. J. E. Townsend, of 39 Prospect place, North Plainfield.

The christening of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jones's child took place Sunday afternoon at St. Mary's church, the Rev. P. E. Stoyh officiating. The child was christened Albert Jeremiah. Miss May Day, of this city, was godmother, and Dunstin Tracy, of Elizabeth, was godfather.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Runyon have issued invitations to the wedding of their daughter, Jennie D., to the Rev. Marcus L. Boring, at their residence, 4 Lafayette place, Plainfield, Thursday evening of this week at 7:30. The groom is pastor of an important church at Dallas, Texas.

The Lions' Play at Music Hall.

Charles F. Rice, who is engaged as stage director for George Peck's production of "Under the Lion's Paw", was asked about the play yesterday and said:

"When I read the play I was pleased with it, but when we commenced the rehearsals I was delighted. I consider the play one of the strongest I ever had anything to do with. The story is one that appeals to the heart, is full of good, crisp English, and carries with it scenes of the funniest comedy ever produced. The play is now, nearly complete, and I speak highly pleasing from the fact that it has not been written to fit any one person, but every person, even to the smallest in the cast, has a chance to show his capabilities which he can do. The company Mr. Peck has engaged is a very strong one and I am satisfied we can give a perfect performance. Mr. Peck has spared no pains to get together a strong company and a perfect production. Every bit of wardrobe used in the play is new, made for this production, and some of the dresses are grand. Everybody will be pleased with the play when they see it. The theatre will be a number of New York actors, managers and newspaper men in the audience."

PLAINFIELD SENDS WERTS TO THE SECOND WARD PRIMARY.

The Second Ward Primary Puts Itself on Record Against Ring Tricks and Combines.

The result of the Democratic primaries held in this city Monday night for the election of delegates to the gubernatorial convention at Trenton yesterday, was the choosing of men in favor of George T. Werts as New Jersey's next governor. Similar reports from other places make it seem probable that he will be nominated in spite of his declination and against his desire. The most of Plainfield's delegates were instructed. In the Second ward the following was adopted as a "request":

Resolved, That the delegates elected by this primary be requested not to vote for any man who has been affiliated with any ring or trick legislation, real combine or any other monopoly contrary to the interests of the people.

The First ward primary was held at 67 North avenue. Justice Louis F. Wadsworth assumed control of the primary without any nomination for the office. Mayor W. L. Force had appointed John J. Kenney for secretary and James Merritt for judge of election, nominations were made for delegates to the State convention. John Rafferty received a vote for W. L. Force 15. Charles B. VanWinkle was selected as alternate, Mr. Force declining. Resolutions in favor of Governor Abbett were carried and Mrs. W. R Clark have left for Newport.

The Hon. James Martine will speak at Frankfort, Somerset county, Saturday evening.

Miss Lou Roediker, of Grove street, has resumed her studies at the Basketteltown Institute.

Clarence Rice of the borough left town Monday to resume his studies at Pennington seminary.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fleming of 190 Park avenue returned on Thursday from their summer trip.

The family of Frederick Moon, of 61 East Sixth street, are home again from Pike county, Penn.

Mrs. and Miss Massett, and Mrs. De Mestina arrived from Europe on the Bethlehem, Saturday evening.

Miss Anna M Taylor of New York has returned home after a pleasant visit to friends at Richland Farm

Mrs. Seymour G. Smith and Master Seymour F. returned Tuesday from Hartwick, Otsego county, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Brooky of Brooklyn are visiting their daughter, Mrs. George Wilson, on Somerset street.

Mrs James H. Searing, of Medina avenue, is visiting at the home of ex-freeholder Geo. W. Doty at Union.

Mrs. C. M. Fine, of 120 West Front street, has returned from a two months' summer's rest at Neshanic and Somerville.

James T. Closson and Mrs. Edgerton returned from Elberon to this city, Saturday, after a short visit at their home.

Wm. Springsteen, of North Plainfield, has two Democratic campaign songs in the New York World's $500 prize contest.

F. S. Cutter, with his mother and Mrs. Lucy Cutter, left Tuesday for a few days at River View House, Delaware Water Gap.

James Clark has generously given the use of his fire-proof council rooms for central headquarters of the Democrats of this city.

Miss Emma Philpott and Miss Julia Opon, of Brooklyn, are the guests of Miss Carrie Wilcox, returned to Plainfield Thursday afternoon after an absence of three months.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Johnson, of New York, spent Sunday with their cousins, Mrs Grace Johnson and Miss Sarah Randolph, of Dunellen.

The Rev. Robert Hunt, of Fawling, N. Y., has purchased the Hunt property at Dunellen, and will remove there with his family in the spring.

Mrs. Sarah A. Laing of West Fourth street, mother of Nathan J. Laing of the Courier, left last night for Denver where she will visit her daughter.

Mrs. Avis Mosher Laing, of Broadway and Fourth street, left town Wednesday for Chicopaqua, O., to visit her brother, Waite Stevens, who is very ill.

The engagement is announced of Miss Josie Compton, youngest daughter of Halsted Compton of West Front street, to Mr. Edmund Jones of Bridgeport, Conn.

The wedding of Miss Lizzie Sutphen to Corra Ryno of THE DAILY PRESS will take place Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 28, at 4, at the home of the bride, 157 Door street.

Mr. and Mrs. Cudlip, of East Ninth street, returned Monday from a five weeks' sojourn at Saratoga. They have been at the Pavilion House, New Brighton.

David K Vail died yesterday at his home, 61 West Ninth street, at the age of 53. Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2, at the house, with interment at Bound Brook.

W. B. Cain, having recently sold his residence on Grandview avenue, North Plainfield, will return on Oct. 1 to his former home, Summit, where with his elder son he will engage in the hardware business.

The Hon. Robert Porter, superintendent of the U. S. Census, and editor of the New York Press are in Plainfield to-day. He made a call at Dr. Carroll's bureau of religious statistics, and dined at The Albion.

There was great rejoicing on Tuesday at the Junction hotel in South Plainfield, as a bouncing baby girl arrived and tipped the scales at 16 pounds. Of course, it being the first, Mr. Hogan was very generous and invited in the passersby.

The Rev. R. H. Travis, presiding elder of the M. E. church, Poughkeepsie District, and the Rev. Robert Hunt, of Fawling, N. Y., exchanged pulpits for his afternoon Tuesday of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Townsend, of 39 Prospect place, North Plainfield.

The christening of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jones's child took place Sunday afternoon at St. Mary's church, the Rev. P. E. Stoyh officiating. The child was christened Albert Jeremiah. Miss May Day, of this city, was godmother, and Dunstin Tracy, of Elizabeth, was godfather.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Runyon have issued invitations to the wedding of their daughter, Jennie D., to the Rev. Marcus L. Boring, at their residence, 4 Lafayette place, Plainfield, Thursday evening of this week at 7:30. The groom is pastor of an important church at Dallas, Texas.

The Lions' Play at Music Hall.

Charles F. Rice, who is engaged as stage director for George Peck's production of "Under the Lion's Paw", was asked about the play yesterday and said:

"When I read the play I was pleased with it, but when we commenced the rehearsals I was delighted. I consider the play one of the strongest I ever had anything to do with. The story is one that appeals to the heart, is full of good, crisp English, and carries with it scenes of the funniest comedy ever produced. The play is now, nearly complete, and I speak highly pleasing from the fact that it has not been written to fit any one person, but every person, even to the smallest in the cast, has a chance to show his capabilities which he can do. The company Mr. Peck has engaged is a very strong one and I am satisfied we can give a perfect performance. Mr. Peck has spared no pains to get together a strong company and a perfect production. Every bit of wardrobe used in the play is new, made for this production, and some of the dresses are grand. Everybody will be pleased with the play when they see it. The theatre will be a number of New York actors, managers and newspaper men in the audience."

MRS. GARFIELD TO TAKE PART.

The Garfield President's Widow Will Name the Pinehurst Cottage on Monday.

The plain and sensible congregation of the First Church of Christ have at last nearly completed their new chapel on Grove street near Green Brook, and they hope to open it for worship on Sunday. It is the worship of God the first Sunday in October.

The good brethren of this new and progressive denomination have secured themselves worthy disciples of the Master by putting their hands as well as their hearts into the erection of the new building. By the low cost they free the cellar; by the sweat of their own brow they made solid the foundations; by their own skill and ingenuity they reared and fashioned the shapely edifice that now stands a credit to their enterprise and a credit to their workmanship.

The interior is a plain and simple one, but attractive and commodious. The interior is finished in the natural wood, glossy with varnish, and very pleasing to the eye. No attempt at ornate decoration has been made, but the stiffness and severity often seen in the architecture of a large, square meeting-place have been relieved and dispelled by a neat design formed of mouldings, and ornamenting walls and ceiling. The plans of the building, and also of the carpentry work itself, were done by Andrew Jackson Sperr, the faithful treasurer of the board of trustees, and one of the principal mainstays of the church.

The edifice is well-lighted during the day by the abundance of windows, and at night by electric lamps. Comfortable chairs will be used in the main body. The pulpit is broad, and the desk easily seen from every part of the house. Behind the pulpit is a well-built tank for baptismal purposes, with steps leading down from the pulpit. Adjoining the tank are convenient dressing-rooms for candidates.

At the dedication of the new house of worship the Rev. J. B. Clemer, founder of the church, will of course be present and take prominent part, as will also the Rev. Dr. Tyler, pastor of the Church of the Disciples, New York. Mrs. James A. Garfield has also been invited to participate, and has promised if possible to join in blessing the new structure.

The church is now officered as follows:

Treasurer—John Steele.
Secretary—Harry VanMiddlesworth.
Trustees—S. W. Hand, president; A. J. Stewart, treasurer; Wm. H. Warner, secretary; S. P. Hoffman, A. J. Nicholson, Hiram Allen.
Elders—S. W. Hand, A. J. Stewart, Joseph Nicholson.
Deacons—H. A. Moore, John Ackerman, John Dayton, David Bush, David Smith.
Sunday-school Superintendent—Benj. Hand.
The congregation has no regular pastor, but elder Hand preaches very acceptably, with occasional substitutes

ENTERPRISING BUSINESS MOVE.

Morris VanArsdale Withdraws from the Store House at Which John H. Doane and Newly Edsall Assume Control.

Newly Edsall hasagain given proof of his enterprise as a progressive business man by decision to add to his already great business. He has also purchased Morris VanArsdale's interest in the firm of Doane & VanArsdale, and the business will be continued under the firm name of Doane & Edsall.

An archway will be cut through the wall of the two adjoining stores, and the two buildings will be used as one. Besides a shoe department, Edsall's will be complete in every particular, and the business will be a great credit to the community.

MELON THIEVES PUNISHED.

They Utterly Destroyed Mr. Wilson's Fine Patch, and the Law Took Them in Hand.

James Wilson, who resides at New Market, had a fine lot of melons that he took a great deal of pride in showing to his friends; but when his attention was called to the fact that his melons were stolen and what the thieves could not take they had broken, his patience ceased to be a virtue. He has suffered the loss of his melons for two years. He took pains to find out the names of about ten boys and young men who were among those who destroyed his melons. He went to the squire, and swore out a search warrant for them for petit larceny. They were tried and adjudged guilty, and were fined $4.50 apiece; and were warned if ever they were caught at such tricks again they would be charged with malicious mischief and sent to jail.

What Plainfield Goods is Sommer Time.

Miss Emma L. Adams, public librarian, reports as follows for the month of August:

Volumes on accession-book, July 31.....11,407
Volumes added by purchase.....
" gift.....
Volumes now in the library.....11,409
Number of periodicals and papers rec'd.....
Number of card-holders.....2,468
Cash from fines.....$11.30
" non-resident subscriptions.....
Total.....$20.30
Home Circulation.
Fiction.....1,000
Juvenile.....320
Biography, correspondence, etc.....74
Travels, voyages, etc.....
Religion, mythology, etc.....18
History, chronology, etc.....
Sociology, political economy, gov. law, etc.....
Philology.....
Natural Science.....
Useful arts, including medicine.....
Fine arts.....
Literature.....
Poetry.....
Gen. works, periodicals, etc.....
Total.....1,500
Visitors to the building.....2,324

Gone Mr. Harrison His Due.

As the circumstances of the occasion are now rounded by those connected with the long-expected event, Harrison's remains will be cattled to a very large slice of the credit for first proposing the Hon. Grover Cleveland for president in 1892. He is the only Democrat possessed of any time without the Democratic committee, Friday evening, first vice-president John Rodine presided. The committee on banner reported a preference for a flag, and the meeting voted the authority to purchase one.

Yet 1892 is Better Than Harrison's.

Democrats in Washington are confident that Mr. Cleveland will produce a letter "that will make it clear to even the most prejudiced Republican that Benjamin Harrison has not said everything in his long political address, now announced supported on the tariff, in his speeches, which, as a matter of fact, he never uttered."

Another Democratic Paper Starts.

The editor of THE PRESS received the following warning by mail from Somerville Tuesday morning:

Don't you come to Somerville to start a Democratic paper. If you do we'll run you out of town. We'll get you before you get the chance! It was cruel! Warned three times!

A YEAR OF GOOD WORK.

Report of the Treasurer of Grace Church Sunday School Association.

Before the annual meeting of the Needlework Guild, Plainfield Branch, which takes place in October, the officers of the Branch desire to call the attention of the public to the following report of the first year of the organization of this branch, showing the number of garments received and how they were distributed.

The Guild was organized in October of one of the first year, and hope not only that all who contributed will continue to do so, but that it will also interest others in the join in the charitable work. The report:

THE PLAINFIELD BRANCH.

President—Mrs. VanNest Talmage.
Vice-president—Mrs. H. L. Goddard.
Secretary and Treasurer—Mrs. J. Parker Mann.

DIRECTORS.

	Garments received.
Mrs. VanNest Talmage	31
" J. Parker Mann	20
" H. L. Goddard	22
" S. B. VanWinkle	22
" C. B. Cowin	22
" C. P. Dodge	22
" R. L. Sedden	22
" C. B. Gross	22
" Thomas Stillman	22
" Horace Kimball	22
" H. Lewis	22
" C. C. Hall	22
" Charles Lawson	22
" H. S. Dodge	22
" R. A. Page	22
" C. E. Ryder	22
" A. M. Bee	22
" R. J. Stewart	22
" S. S. Dunham	22
" J. Evarts Tracy	22
" R. J. Stewart	22
" J. T. Baker	22
Miss Florence Tuomey	22
" E. V. Goddard	22

From directions reporting less than 22 each.....
Total.....
Garments received from Mrs. Hill, Orange Memorial Hospital, 12; the Boys' Club, 8; the Crescent Avenue church missionary box, 10; Mrs. Hall, Newark, 10; Mrs. Hall, Rahway, 10; Mrs. Dorland's school, N. C., 10; Bernalum House, 5; St. Christ's Nursery and Hospital, New York, 25; Home for Incurables, Glen Island, N. Y., 10; Holy Cross church missionary box, 8; total, 108. Grand total, 2,323.
ANNIE A. W. MANN,
Secretary.

BEAT HIS FELLOW-PASTOR.

Dr. Richards Scores Against Rev. Newell, at the Opening of a New Reading Alley—A Fund for Home Chapel People.

A goodly company gathered at Hope chapel Friday night to attend the formal opening of the reading-room and bowling alley that is to be used by both young and old in connection with the chapel. After singing and prayer, short speeches were delivered by the Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards, the Rev. G. K. Newell, H. C. Squires, Amos Andrews and others. The speakers emphasized the value of the social element in church work. Dr. Richards spoke of the criticism made against many of the churches that they offered no place of amusement but the saloon. He saw that the criticism not no longer be made about the Fourth ward. The reading-room and alley would be open to all who behaved themselves like gentlemen. After the speeches Mr. Squires announced that the Scientific Americans, Frank Leslie's, Harper's Weekly, Youths' Companion, THE PLAINFIELD PRESS, Evening News and Courier would be found regularly on the tables of the reading-room.

The first game on the new bowling alley resulted in a victory for Dr. Richards over the chapel's pastor. While the bowling was going on, ice-cream was served to those who could not get into the alley.

GREAT LOSS TO FARMERS.

Their Prize Fruit Stolen by Whitmanic, or Heathenly Retired.

The farmers in the vicinity of Washington-ville are incensed over the series of daring thievery that has taken place lately.

Daniel Asher has a fine lot of sweet corn which he expected to bring a good sum for. But when he went into the corn patch he found some one had taken advantage of the light moonlight and the fact that he had gone to sleep to rob about five hundred choice ears.

On learning of this, his neighbor, Robert Clark, visited his patch, when he found it similarly robbed of his corn.

Augustus Wilson has a fine peach orchard, and when he went to it the other day he expected to pick about 20 baskets of choice fruit, but found none ripe to be picked then through the night. Sundry breaking limbs loaded with fruit, they took off a great many green ones which will be a total loss.

Melon patches have been invaded with impunity, and the melons broken off the vines in the largest quantities, and found unripe were smashed on the ground.

Some one will be caught; and the pleasure of being entertained at the expense of the county, or the privileges of paying for the damage, will be accorded them.

Low Rate Harvest Excursions.

The announcement that the North-Western line, comprising over 8,000 miles of thoroughly equipped railway, has arranged to run two low-rate harvest excursions during the months of August and September, will be gladly received by it as who are interested in the development of the great West and Northwest, as well as by those who desire to visit this wonderfully productive region at a season of the year when exact demonstration of the truth of the many claims and advantages it offers to home-seekers and those in search of safe and profitable investments.

The excursions will leave Chicago on August 30 and Sept. 27, and tickets can be purchased at the very low rate of one fare for the round trip to points in Iowa, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho, and Montana. They will be strictly first-class in every particular and will be good for thirty days from date of purchase. Full information concerning rates and arrangements for these excursions can be obtained upon application to any coupon ticket agent, or to W. A. Thrall, G. P. T. A., Chicago & North-western Railway, Chicago. 8 11 3t.

The Champion to Appear at Music Hall.

Manager Demarest, after much effort and expense, succeeded in making a contract last week for the appearance of James J. Corbett at Music Hall, Tuesday evening, Oct. 4. This will give the people of Plainfield and vicinity an opportunity to look upon the perfection of manly beauty, the embodiment of courage, and the sense of athletic skill and power.

Clenched fist of the champion. Note the muscles of the forearm. Also the muscles of the upper arm. Also the muscles of the shoulder. Also the muscles of the chest. Also the muscles of the abdomen. Also the muscles of the thigh. Also the muscles of the calf. Also the muscles of the ankle. Also the muscles of the foot. Also the muscles of the toes. Also the muscles of the nose. Also the muscles of the ears. Also the muscles of the eyes. Also the muscles of the mouth. Also the muscles of the chin. Also the muscles of the neck. Also the muscles of the back. Also the muscles of the buttocks. Also the muscles of the thighs. Also the muscles of the calves. Also the muscles of the ankles. Also the muscles of the feet. Also the muscles of the toes.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.
A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength. Latest U. S. Government Food Report.
ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall St., N. Y.

PETER EMMONS STRUCK OUT.

Slow Profits and Congested Spirits at a Democratic Banquet.

A merry party made a delightful call on Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark at their lovely home at Washingtonville, near the chapel, Friday evening. There were Mr. and Mrs. J. S. VanWinkle, Mr. and Mrs. A. Swain, Mr and Mrs. P. A. Emmons, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Woodruff, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Bullwell, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Force, Mrs. Garret VanWinkle, Mrs. C. F. Leggett, Mrs. G. L. VanEmburgh, Miss Jennie VanWinkle, Miss Lillie A. Force and Master J. R. VanWinkle, jr., all members of Mr. Sobenck's Trinity church flock. They enjoyed very much the fine ride and the charming evening. Ex-street commissioner George Conover of the party piloted them in his big stage. The visit was a happy surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark, and they were given a hearty welcome, and were liberally entertained with choice refreshments by host and hostess. College songs were sung by Mr. and Mrs. Clark and their son, Robert, and Edward. Games were played, and many a hearty laugh was rolled over the frolic. Peter Emmons was the source of special amusement. He bowled, but he never got left, but elder Dolliver and counselor VanWinkle struck him out with their bowling, and he was retired to the foot of the class.

Every one was heartily sorry when the time for departure came.

THE GIFT OF A HANDSOME BANNER.

Franklin Council Has a Pleasant Evening With Its Feminine Friends.

At the entertainment and reception given under the auspices of the social and welfare committee of Franklin council, 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., in their rooms on West Second street, Thursday night, to the members and their feminine friends, a handsome blue silk banner was presented to the council by the ladies. On the banner, in gilt letters, is the following inscription: Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., organized Oct. 6, 1887, Plainfield, N. J."

The banner was presented in behalf of the ladies by Past State counselor George C. McFarland in a speech dwelling principally on the objects of the order, and was received in behalf of the council by the councilor John F. Reed in a few well chosen words.

The entertainment, a relating of rural and sentimental music, recitations and addresses, was highly appreciated by all present. The talent consisted of the following brothers, Joseph C. Martin, of Somerville, Alfred S. Thrasher, of Franklin, 41, and George Leslie, of Franklin, 41, one of the smallest members of the order. George Rogers presided at the organ. Among the gentlemen who made addresses were: State council secretary William H. Miers, of Trenton, State council deputy counselor George C. Farland, of Trenton, National vice-councilor H. A. Ribbe, of New Brunswick, and others. After the entertainment a beautiful repast was served by the committee in the banquet rooms. The committee were: J. V. Beekman, chairman, G. L. Martin, secretary, F. A. Long, treasurer, C. L. Young, H. S. Thatcher.

A PECULIAR FATALITY.

Death of a Bright Young Plainfield Lawyer from Addison's Disease.

David E. Hodge, of the law firm of Hodge & Hance, whose office is in THE PRESS building, died at his home in Somerville, Wednesday afternoon. He had been confined to his home only a few days, but had been suffering from Addison's disease of the liver for a considerable time. This is rare and peculiar fatality, and has caused the patient's death to turn a deep bronze.

Mr. Hodge was 31 years of age, and unmarried. He was a brother of Peter Hodge, the popular young druggist formerly in the employ of pharmacist J. G. Miller. He was a young man of great ability and was very popular in social and legal circles. Mr. Hance feels keenly the loss of his partner.

Mr. Hodge was for two terms private secretary to ex-Speaker Hedges of the House of Assembly at Trenton.

Labored for the Young Men's Benefit.

The following has been unanimously adopted by the Catholic Young Men's Lyceum over the departure of Father Mallard from this city, and a copy thereof which is three columns was authorized by the lyceum:

WHEREAS, We learn that our beloved spiritual director, Rev. J. J. Mallard, has been called to a higher field of activity, and is about to leave this city and this parish.

Be Young Men's Lyceum of Plainfield, N. J.,

WHEREAS, This information causes a feeling of deep regret to the members of this association.

Resolved, That we appreciate the great change his removal will make and we acknowledge the great loss that the C. Y. M. L. will sustain. We hereby express our sincere regret for the sudden and unexpected news of his departure, and we place one light of value upon his invaluable services. Every act and purpose that the association has made is due to his untiring energy and labor. We will have learned and with a single motive, the moral advancement of the young men of Plainfield. How well his labors have been crowned is attested by the stability and growth that the association has attained. We feel justly proud in his pride, its furnishment, its complete appointments, are a monument to his indefatigable labors. His entire for the result will always call pleasant memories to the members of this association.

Resolved, That we assure him that our prayers and best wishes will follow him to his new field of labor.

Resolved, That an engrossed copy of these resolutions be sent to Father Mallard, and that they be placed upon the minutes of this association, and also printed in the papers of this city.

S. S. DOLLIVER,
M. J. CASEY,
J. C. TRACY,
Committee.

TIRED OF WRETCHED HORSE CARS.

New Brunswick Wants Plainfield's Trolley. [From Brunswick Home News.]

During the first three weeks of the running of the new electric railway in Plainfield the number of passengers carried was 27,565. Plainfield has only about 10,000 population. It used a road emitted to 2,756 people in a city of that population in double that of Plainfield, the number of passengers carried would probably be 75,000. Speed the coming of an electric road that won't make only to the city reporter.

A Contract Impossible to Consummate.

At a special meeting of the Children's Home association held on Friday, Sept. 9, the following preambles and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, It has pleased Heavenly Father to remove suddenly from a long and useful life our friend and associate, Mrs. Helen M. Runyon, therefore Resolved, As an association we bow our humble submission to the will of our Heavenly Father. Her loving heart and interest in the children entered her often for beyond her years.

Resolved, That we will cherish her memory as one of the most devoted friends and earnest workers on our work for the little ones.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved family, and that they be spread on the minutes of the association and published in the city papers.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

20 PER CENT. DISCOUNT
ON
Refrigerators, Lawn Mowers, and Ice Cream Freezers.
—AGENTS FOR—
Welcome Globe Stoves, Masury's Paint, Buckeye Mowers, Hartman Steel Wire Fence, at
ZIMMERMAN & RUMPF'S,
Successors to Pierson Hardware Co., 711 & 42 West Front Street.

ADAM FOREPAUGH SHOWS.
20th Year.
J. T. McCADDON, Manager.
Presenting all their Time-Eat-blished Standard Features, Greatly Augmented and Improved, to which has been added a Wild Animal Circus Company, Caravan and Camp, and at the enormous cost of $250,000 to the Historical Bible Spectacle,
THE FALL OF NINEVEH,
Rettig, Author. Designer and Painter. Realistic and Vivid Reflection of the Scenes, Actions and Life in Earth's First Great Metropolis as Civilization, First Capital, will exhibit at PLAINFIELD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 23
bushiness or rain all perfermances are given the same, beneath the canopies of the specially prepared WATER-PROOF TENTS

Colossal Combination and Glorious Unification of Circus, Menagerie, Aviary, Museum, Horse Fair, Hippodrome and Spectacle.
All for one ticket of admission and forming the Oldest, Largest, Richest and Best Exhibition in the World; $3,000 00 in newest and daily expenses $5,000; 200 Arabic Champions in the Arena including the World Famous Arab Sisters, Aerl Queens, Superb

TWO GREAT JURISTS.

David Dudley Field and the Bust of Selborne.

The American Bar Association Will Present to Each of Them a Gold Medal of Exquisite Design and Fine Workmanship.

Two handsome gold medals, containing $100 worth of pure gold each, have just been struck at the mint in this city, says the Philadelphia Press. They were designed by Charles E. Barber, chief engraver at the mint, upon an order from the American Bar Association, and will be presented to two of the most eminent jurists and law reformers of the century—Hon. David Dudley Field, of New York, and the earl of Selborne, of the English bar—for distinguished services in advancing the science of jurisprudence.

The obverse side of the medal bears a striking figure of Justice, sword in right and scales in her left, in bold relief. Encircling the figure are the words in raised letters: "American Bar Association. Founded A. D., 1878." On the reverse, surrounded by a laurel wreath, is the motto, in oak leaves, in the inscription, the blank being left for the name of the recipient and the date of presentation. "Awarded to ——— for distinguished services in advancing the science of jurisprudence."

Hon. David Dudley Field is one of the foremost jurists in America and a member of a noted family. He is a son of Rev. Dr. David Dudley Field and was born in Haddam, Conn., in 1805. He graduated from Williams college in 1825 and was admitted to the bar in 1828. He went to New York city immediately after, and there has been prominent at the New York bar for more than half a century. In his busy life the subject has given much time to the reform of the law, and has contributed numerous articles to reviews and issued numerous pamphlets showing the necessity of reconstructing the modes of legal procedure. In 1847 he was appointed commissioner on practice and pleadings by the legislature of New York, to merge law and equity so that the rules of litigation under each might be decided in a single action. The system of code pleading first used for New York has been adopted in many other states in the union and has been substantially followed by Great Britain and many of her dependencies. The Field code of criminal procedure has been adopted in several states.

THE MEDAL.

A penal, political and civil code was also formulated by Mr. Field's commission. In 1873 he was elected president of an association for the reform and codification of the law of nations, which was formed at Brussels during that year. He is also an ex-president of the American Social science.

The earl of Selbourne is probably better known to the American bar as Sir Roundell Palmer. Besides his elevation to the peerage he was long known not only as a leader of the chancery bar of England, but also as a successful leader in the house of commons of important measures for law reform, and as a distinguished member of the commissioners on the condition of the law of real property. He was counsel in the German arbitration between Great Britain and the United States in 1871, and was the author of the house of commons as proposed, though unsuccessfully, a plan for the establishment of a university for instruction in jurisprudence.

During the latter part of office as lord high chancellor he brought forward and carried through the judicature act of 1873, by which Great Britain consolidated that system of pleading and procedure which had been the growth of 4 thousand years, and substituted in its stead substantially those methods which has been previously codified by Hon. David Dudley Field, and adopted by so many of the states in the union.

Lizard Cattle.

For perhaps one hundred years the sandy islands, rich in salt grass, skirting the Atlantic coast has been used as breeding ground for a hardy race of wild cattle. They are small creatures, but as it costs nothing to feed them, and as their welfare is looked after by owners, they are profitable. The islands that fringe the Maryland coast have long been used in this fashion and also for the raising of wild hogs, long-legged animals of the razor-back variety, common among the pine forests of the eastern shore. Even as far south as the coast of Florida are these cattle raised, and on the mainland of the peninsula single owners sometimes possess herds a number thousands. These cattle seldom attain a weight of more than five hundred pounds, and many of them have been less than one hundred and fifty pounds. They are exported to Cuba in large numbers, where they fetch a fair price.

Successful Women Essayists.

That women are going ahead, and in many cases outstripping their brethren, is apparent to anyone who reads the newspapers carefully. A recent illustration was afforded in Boston, where three of the four prizes offered to graduates of high schools for historical essays were won by women.

American on Guard.

Workmen are not allowed to work on the streets of New Bedford unless they have been naturalized.

STRANGE FRIENDSHIP.

The Rhinoceros Bird and Its Strange Mission in Life.

The rhinoceros is neither a very safe nor pleasant companion for man or beast. When provoked or charging with terrible fury upon anything that happens to be in his way, trampling it underfoot and goring it with his powerful curved horn. The natives, however, who live in the country where he is found, hunt him for his flesh, which they eat, and his horns, which they form into drinking cups and various other articles, and for his hide, which is of the most serviceable that nothing can be found of which to make shields that will so well protect the body from the bullets of arrows and spears of their enemies.

He has, however, one friend—a lovely little brown bird, that, instead of living in trees, as other birds do, selects the back of the rhinoceros for her home, and except to build her nest—which no one has ever succeeded in finding—and while rearing her young seldom quits it.

A strange pair of friends, indeed. But the great, ugly beast has no need of his little companion, but allows her to ride upon his back wherever he goes and even to peck at his hide and lick his heavy skin; and when he lies down he will turn on one side, rather than on the other, to enable the bird to search for the insect that troubles him.

To return for this reason—that the little creature keeps a faithful watch over her huge friend—the rhinoceros cannot see very well with his small and deepset eyes, partly on account of their position in his strangely shaped head, and partly because the great horn is in the way, it is not difficult to approach him. But the bird's quick sight is very keen, and if a stranger is the first approach of danger, she awakens the rhinoceros with an attention by a shrill cry of warning.

If the rhinoceros happens to be asleep when the hunter comes near, the faithful little creature pulls at the ear of her unwieldy friend and shrieks into it until the sleeper shakes his head and rubbing his ears at the disappearing bird.—N. Y. World.

AN EDUCATED ROBIN.

Taught by a Mechanic to Imitate All Kinds of Sounds.

A most remarkable instance of a young pupil's not only learning but far surpassing his tutor is related by an Englishman, a mechanic, in the employ of a large factory, and who has at his home a robin which he has taught to whistle and sing. He says: "I had a robin that I found in the factory, and I thought I would try to see what I could do with it. I would whistle to it, and it would whistle back to me. I would whistle a tune, and it would whistle it over and over again. I would whistle a half dozen tunes, and it would whistle them all. Then I would whistle a tune and sing the words, and it would whistle it. Then I would sing a song without whistling, and it would whistle it. I have taught it to whistle and sing over 100 songs, and it will whistle any tune that I whistle or sing to it. I have had it about a year, and it is now whistling better than when I got it. I have taught it to whistle 'Yankee Doodle' in a half hour. I have taught it to whistle 'Auld Lang Syne' in a half hour. I have taught it to whistle 'Hail Columbia' in a half hour. I have taught it to whistle 'Marseillaise' in a half hour. I have taught it to whistle 'Rule Britannia' in a half hour. I have taught it to whistle 'Nearer, My God, to Thee' in a half hour. I have taught it to whistle 'Home, Sweet Home' in a half hour. I have taught it to whistle 'Old Hundred' in a half hour

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.
H. L. FRACE & L. L. FRACE, Editors and Proprietors.
AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.
TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXV. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1892. No 38.

"Support the Constitution, which is the cement of the Union, as well in its limitations as in its authorities."—Madison.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODINGTON.
Counsellors-at-Law,
Commissioners of Deeds, Masters-in-Chancery,
Notaries Public. Office corner of Park avenue and Second street.

GEORGE W. DAY,
General Auctioneer,
Sales of Personal Property solicited. P. O. Box 194, Dunellen, N. J., or address in care of the CONSTITUTIONALIST. Terms reasonable.

DR. CHARLES E. TERRY,
Dentist,
32 West Front street. A new local anesthetic especially suitable for extracting teeth without pain. Child attending a specialty. 9-15-y

BUSINESS CARDS.

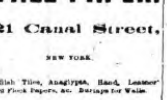
P. P. Van Arsdale,
PIANO TUNER.
Instruments put in thorough order. Terms reasonable. Pianos and Organs for sale and to let. Address by postal, P. O. Box 186, or left at Willett's store above. No. 8 Park avenue, will receive prompt attention. Residence 91 S. Front street, corner Elm street. 9-1-y

T. J. GILLIES,
Actioneer & Real Estate Agent.
SALESROOM—SOUTHWEST CORNER FRONT & MADISON AVENUES.
Quadrennial sales on consignment.

John Chandler,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER.
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence and shop No. 36 East Third street.
Jobbing promptly attended to. 8-27

WILLIAM B. RANDOLPH,
Successor to E. B. Maynard,
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 26 PARK AVENUE.
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their Residences. Shaving, Shampooing, etc., scientifically performed.

CARNEY BROTHERS, Agents,
7 West Front St.
TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS.
PARLOR STOVES,
COOK STOVES,
HEATERS.
A. M. SEGUINE,
(Successor to John W. Laing.)
Laing's Hotel Stables



Front street, opposite Madison avenue.
Coaches for Weddings, Parties and Private Calls. Light carriages of all descriptions for pleasure.
RIDING OR LIVERY.
Carefully safe drivers for shopping calls or pleasure drives. Special attention given to boarding horses by the day, week or month.
TELEPHONE CALL, No. 36.

RICKERT'S
ACCOMMODATION EXPRESS.
OFFICE—Vanderbeek's Music Store, Park avenue. The "Accommodation Express" will attend to the careful carrying business of the city, delivering goods or baggage to and from the depot, or from place to place.
Moving of Furniture, Pianos, etc., with care and safety.

INSURANCE
WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.

Beautiful Assortment!
Furniture!
Largest Assortment!
Best Goods!
Lowest Prices!
Ever Offered in Plainfield!
23, 25 and 27 PARK AVE.

Parlor Stoves,
Furnaces, Ranges,
Water Piping, Plumbing,
Heater Work, Tinning,
Hardware.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 8. 11 11-42

Fresh Garden Seeds
AND FERTILIZERS,
Farm and Garden Implements,
Lawn Mowers Refrigerators,
Ice Cream Freezers
Gasoline Stoves,
Hardware, Tools, etc.
J. J. HEIDELOFF,
No. 12 SOMERSET ST. 9-10-y

GEORGE A. MOORE,
(Of the late firm of Moore Bros.)
Is now the sole proprietor of the old established market at
No. 14 NORTH AVENUE,
Where he will continue to supply patrons with the finest grades of
Fresh and Salt Meats,
Fish of all kinds, Oysters, Clams, Game in season, at the Lowest Market Prices.
Anything not usually kept in stock, furnished at short notice. 6mo w

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE
Hugo Weigman,
33 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Address

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON,
(Successor to T. J. Corey.)
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—34 W. FRONT ST.
Large Covered Vans or Trucks for Furniture delivered in Plainfield, Dunellen, Bound Brook, Chimney Rock, Somerville, N. Y. & N. J. Depot, Bridgewater, N. J. 9-15-y

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.

H. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of the celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR.
For sale by dealers in the State, and made in all numbers and styles to order.
SOLE AGENT FOR THE CELEBRATED
SUKAS HAVANA SMOKING SPECIALTY.
Smokers Articles in Great Variety.
9-15-y

C. H. FINE,
Dealer in Segars & Tobacco
—IS THE—CIGAR STORE
—OF—
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer and Dealer in Segars and Smokers' Articles.
Agent for celebrated Jersey Smoking Tobacco, which retains its strength and quality. 9-15-y

PAINTERS & PAINTERS SUPPLIES

Paints, Varnishes, Glass.
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALL PAPERS!
PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY.
A. SWALM,
No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.
9-15

C. E. & J. W. BROWN,
(Successors to C. F. & C. E. Brown & Co.)
Importers, Wholesale and Retail Dealers in
WALL PAPER.
ENGLISH, AMERICAN AND FRENCH
Window Shades, Fixtures, Lambrequins, Etc.
Manufacturers of Window Shades.
9-15-y

LIVERY.

A. WOLFF,
Manufacturer of
CIGARS,
And Dealer in All Kinds of Smoking and Chewing Tobacco, and Smokers' Articles. Store removed from No. 6 Front street, to 31 West Front, one door west of Madison avenue, and solicits the patronage of his friends and the public generally. 9-15-y

Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS.
ARTISTS' SUPPLIES. 18 NORTH AVENUE
9-15-y

Wall Papers,
LATEST STYLES. LOWEST PRICES.
G. Dickinson
Optician
13 Park Ave. N. J.
Plainfield

LABOR NOT DECEIVED

PECK'S FIGURES REJECTED BY WORKINGMEN.

Republican Reputations Doomed to Disappointment—Workingmen Know Their Meaning—Has Not Helped Them—What They Read About Power's Figures.

Evidence is multiplying that Commissioner Peck's report is falling of effect in precisely the quarter where the Republican party has looked for its chief strongthen their cause most. Republican editors hailed the publication of Peck's figures with the most indecent haste for announcing the arrival of the millennium and framed to catch the eye of the workingmen. But the workingmen were far too well informed as to their own condition to be imposed upon by figures given under the auspices of the protected manufacturers. Workingmen do not need to wade through pages of statistics to find out whether their wages have been increased.

We are beginning to hear from workingmen in this matter. They utterly reject Peck's figures and particularly his conclusions in favor of the McKinley tariff. They point to their pay and shoot from worker of New York, says: "What strikes me as very peculiar is the fact that Peck finds that iron worker in the city, to my knowledge, and I know them nearly all, has yet used a sheet of iron since the old McKinley bill was passed we had considerable work on the roofs. In many cases green iron had to be used in competition with us, but since the higher duty on tin was implied in every case where sheet iron has to be utilized it stands in the place of tin, and there is less work for us. We have been injured by the tariff and our fellows have been injured, but the other trades are not so affected, and I believe they have been individual sufferers."

George Warner, of the Housesmiths' union and the Central Labor union, says: "You can make figures prove anything you like. I am looking for the men of sound trade who will show me that their wages have been raised by the tariff. If any trade has increased its pay you can rely upon its being on account of organization. Look at my trade! We work on the buildings and are not affected by the tariff, but the men who manufacture the iron and steel are highly protected. During the past four years the men who have been protected have been reduced in wages and we have been obtaining an increase. Mr. Peck's returns scarcely seem confident. He gives increase in the value and production in building brick, tile and sewer pipe, but in cement, lime and plaster declines. As the business of one is totally dependent on the other, and one could not be brisk without the other, figures certainly need some explanation."

James P. Archibald, a prominent leader in the Central Labor union, says: "His statistics of the trade I am most interested in—the paper hanging trade—have no value. Inference, for it is not a thinking man in the labor circles in this city today, particularly in the building and painting line, who cannot refute, so far as his own particular trade is concerned, the statements of Mr. Peck. I do not own knowingly that in the most skilled branch of the trade of manufacturers of wall paper, which is 'color' and 'style,' and not very highly protected, the men who formerly earned twenty-one to twenty-four dollars per week are now, and since 1889 have been, working at considerably less than twenty dollars. The McKinley bill has had a deleterious rather than a beneficial effect on the wages in this branch of the trade."

The Young Men's Movement.

The campaign of 1894, which resulted in the election of Cleveland and Stevenson as the presidency, was remarkable among other things for its movement of young men in support of the Democratic candidate.

The present campaign bids fair to surpass that of 1892 in the matter of youthful enthusiasm generated among the young Democracy, many of whom will participate in the polls for the first time. Nor is it merely a party exultation. The party of Cleveland is the party of reform, and in it the courageous spirits of the young men of the country are strongly attracted. The organization of young men's Democratic clubs goes on at a marvelous rate. Young men are coming to the front in a greater degree than before as local leaders, orators and campaigners.

It is surely a healthy and hopeful sign of the times and it indicates more than that the political salvation of this country will be wrought out by its young men.

New Points for McKinley's Speech.

The Iron Age contains two announcements which Major McKinley will not be apt to make in the next delivery of his campaign speech. One of these is a statement from Pittsburg that the "employers of a class of workmen in the iron mills have decided to accept the reduction of 10 per cent. in their wages against which they have long contended." The other is that the plant of the Owensboro (Ky.) Wheel company has been offered for sale by the American Wheel trust. This does Republican tariff promote the interests of workingmen.

ALDRICH AND PECK.

The Latter's Figures at Variance with Those of the Aldrich Committee.

The New York Times says, in speaking of Peck's figures: "It happens that they agree so well with all that is known of the general condition of manufacturing, especially in states where foreign competition was most severely felt two years ago, that they are likely to strengthen strongly to accept the official statements.

"They agree so well with all that is known!" But were you not only a short time ago trying to compel everybody to abide by the results of the Aldrich committee's report? That report tells a tale far different from Peck's so called statistics. But the Senator Aldrich report could claim was that there had been an increase of 75-100 of 1 per cent. in wages in the four industries investigated by the committee, but Senator Carlisle showed that the only increases in wages was in three monopolized industries, while in fifteen highly protected industries there was an actual reduction of 38-100 of 1 per cent. in wages. The same thing was shown from the figures presented to the reflets by the Aldrich committee itself, which showed a reduction in nine different cities, covered 678 separate quotations and were taken from the books of the manufacturers themselves and other employers of labor.

Yet The Tribune is now anxious to have the country take Peck's statistics for it the figures of Mr. Peck, which were collected by letter and have no guaranty of their accuracy or honesty.

But as for the figures agree with all that is known" by the workingmen themselves. The vital number of cases of wages reduced during the last two years greatly overbalance the few cases where wages were raised. The organ of the Home Market Protective Tariff league could discover after a diligent search but twenty-eight cases of increase in the last eight and of these have subsequently turned out to be bogus. On the other hand, more than 500 cases of reduction, strikes or lockouts have been reported since the McKinley law went into operation.

The Coal Duty.

The duty on bituminous coal, semi-bituminous coal, slack, culm and lignite is worse than folly. The Republican collector of the port of Boston says the amount collected does not pay for the expense of collection. The hardship brought by our placing soft coal on the dutiable list is that Canada is forced to retaliate and has, in consequence, for years charged sixty cents a ton for all Pennsylvania coal. The duty on bituminous coal is of benefit to the manufacturers in Canada increases in price by sixty cents the value of all coal mined on the river or any other portion of the border. According to McKinley's theory, the Pennsylvania coal kings would pay the Canadian duties, but the consumers in that country find differently, for their cost price for coal is increased per ton by sixty cents.

The Canadian government stands ready to strike off this sixty cents duty on soft coal coming from the United States if we will remove our duty of seventy-five cents a ton on Nova Scotia coal coming into New England. Such eminent high protectionist Republicans as the Hon. Galusha A. Grow have repeatedly asked the congress to place bituminous coal on the free list, where anthracite coal has always been.—Buffalo Times.

Depew's Postvacation Contract.

Mr. Chauncey M. Depew has done Hamlet with the Prince of Wales and other notabilities and kept himself as conspicuously in evidence on the European continent as he usually does in this admiring nation. He is now home again, returning to the hardest work of his life, the second campaign of Benjamin Harrison.

Not much public sympathy will go out to Mr. Depew as it cannot be forgotten that he is mainly responsible for the successful issue of Benjamin Harrison's renomination convention. Mr. Depew's influence could have been eliminated from the Minneapolis convention, it is probable that the Republican party would not now be handicapped in one of the most important electoral contests in its history with a candidate who has disappointed the nation at large and showed irremovable dissension in his own political following.

For the present the low estate of the Republican hope its joyous Mr. Depew is permitted to mumble, and the great public, for once out of sympathy with the facile and facetious gentleman, will merely wish that he worry through with it as best he may.

And Now a Rabbit Trust.

The usual effects of government protection of an industry are observable in the case of the California rabbit trade. A very liberal protective duty encouraged the growers to develop the industry on a large scale, apparently on the theory that the evil of overproduction is being felt the growers have set about forming a trust to control and even raise prices. The scheme has progressed with these rates: Cleaners, 82 per box; 8-crown London layers, $1.40, and 6-crown, $1.45. Several packers who refuse to join the combination are threatened with a boycott.—New York Merchants' Review.

The Republican orators are again about to take "position" on the tariff under Washington" as a justification of McKinleyism. The Washington-Jefferson tariff was a law of 1789, was repealed and contained but 200 or 300 articles. The McKinley tariff, with "infant industries" that have been grown to maturity under the protection of the tariff, and covers more than a thousand articles. The one was made to protect, the other to monopolize.

"Illinois can certainly be made Democratic," says Chairman Harrity. Yes, and other western states will be cut out of the Republican column.

The time is fixed by the fulfillment of Governor Tilden's prediction—that the west would become the fighting ground of the parties.

The Trusts' Tariff Trust.

When the McKinley bill was under discussion two years ago the pottery manufacturers were protected at the behest of congress, and their representative said:

"It is for you, gentlemen, to say whether this struggling industry shall be destroyed for the benefit of foreign manufacturers."

And so the McKinley bill increased the tariff protection on pottery. But now we have a new story told us by these same gentlemen. They have formed a trust composed of five companies which, they declare:

"These five companies manufacture and sell about 75 per cent. of the entire output of the famous sanitary goods ware made in this country. Some of them also manufacture fine toilet and bath wares."

In order to induce investors to buy stock in the new trust the proprietors of the concern declare:

"The books of the companies have been examined by Messrs. Barrow, Wade, Guthrie & Co., chartered accountants, who find that the average net profits for the past three years (1889, 1890 and 1891) have been $514,373.33, and that for the last of these three years—viz., 1891—the net profits were $401,000. The average earnings will pay 8 per cent. on the preferred stock and over 11 per cent. on the common stock. The earnings for 1891 will pay the dividends on the preferred stock and over 16 per cent on the common stock, after providing for the expenses of management."

Such profits do not greatly appeal to public sympathy. They hardly indicate "struggling industry." But if profits in the trust have been big, what will they be under the new tariff protected trust?—Omaha World-Herald.

Mr. Cleveland's Strength.

The fact that Cleveland is stronger before the people today than he was four years ago, no one at all acquainted with present political conditions will venture to dispute. Beyond question, he is now the most trusted and popular, as he is the broadest and wisest, of our public men. There is nothing flamboyant in Mr. Cleveland's rise and eminence. He has been steady, logical, invincible. Since his memorable administration of the highest office under the constitution, he has grown in favor with the "plain people," who appreciate above all things the simple and absolute integrity which he commands in them. Among our twenty-three presidents men who would stand higher in the regard of the people and their every interest is expected in the representants of moral and intellectual stability involved in the administration of the government.—Boston Herald.

It is the just and extraordinary claim of Mr. Cleveland's friends most by these facts he has been unanimously nominated by the greatest man who ever filled the office since Lincoln.

No More Billion Congresses!

In his recent speech at Waverly, Ills., Senator Allison was particularly unhappy in attempting to explain away the iniquity of the billion dollar congress. Among other things the senator said:

"I know of no department of the government where any considerable saving can be made. I know of no law on our statute book now requiring appropriations that is likely to be repealed; and I know of no one in public life in any of the great parties of the country that purposes or suggests the repeal of any statute now involving any considerable appropriation of public money. But those who come after us will not be able, under any probable condition of affairs, to reduce the aggregate of appropriations."

Heaven and the Democracy forbid! It is to be hoped, however, that the Republican senator to declare, in the face of the universal repudiation of the billion dollar congress, that the appropriations will never be revived in our national administration. The people will reject the man, republican or democrat, even as it has been already rejected and refuted by the Democratic majority in the present house of representatives. And the verdict of the people will mean the triumph of the Democratic idea of honest government economically administered. Mark the prediction!

False Reports Run Down.

To break the force of facts gathered by the New York Weekly Bulletin of strikes, lockouts and reductions of wages in protected industries, The American Economist, the high tariff organ, published a list of twenty-eight protected industries in which wages were said to have been increased under the McKinley law. The list of twenty-eight alleged increases of wages has been investigated by Mr. John De Witt Warner and found to be fallacious.

Two of the establishments named in The Economist's list have gone out of business. One employed two men, and the wages of one of the two had been increased five-twenty cents a day to fifty cents a day. The other man's wages had been stationary at $2.25. In seventeen of the twenty-eight establishments the employes reported that there had been any increase of wages since the McKinley act was passed. In several there had been reductions of wages. When these were taken into consideration a pack of cards. An hour's study of this paper by any citizen of ordinary mental capacity will reveal that its figures cannot run out welcome facts.—Baltimore Sun.

The cause of the Democracy in this campaign is the cause of organized labor. Will the Knight of Labor or the trades unionist range himself under the banner of that party which has for one of its standard bearers Whitelaw Reid, the consistent, lifelong enemy of union labor?

THE HOME MARKET.

HOW MUCH WHEAT OUR PROTECTED CLASSES EAT.

Miserable Failure of Protection to Build Up a Home Market—Our Protected Classes Consume Only One-fortieth of Our Wheat.

One of the much vaunted objects of the tariff was to provide a home market for our farm products. Let us impose a high duty on all foreign goods, say the protectionists, and then *our people in manufactures here, will give em*ployment to a large number of laborers, and then a great home market will be built up and our farmers will sell all their produce at home. On this basis was built up the great protective system now existing on the farmers, claiming that the advantage of this home market more than repays the taxes for any increased cost of manufactured goods.

This attempt at building up a home market has now been going on for seven years, and it is time for the farmers to demand of the protectionists what progress they have made in the great undertaking. Fortunately that progress can be measured pretty accurately.

The population of our protected classes is grouped in protected industries can be stated at about 5 per cent.—a result reached by averaging the census returns made by three distinguished officials of the government during President Cleveland's administration, viz., Carroll D. Wright, chief of the bureau of statistics of the state department; Professor Simon N. Patten, superintendent of "The National Almanac," navy department, and E. B. Elliott, the United States government statistician.

These three authorities reached slightly different results. According to Ford, the number of persons subject to foreign competition is 4.70 per cent.; according to Elliott, 4.75 per cent., and according to Newcomb, 5.30 per cent. For our purposes here let us take 5 per cent. as the average. The population of the United States during the year 1891 may be stated at 65,000,000, 5 per cent. of which would give 3,250,000 as the number of persons dependent upon protected industries.

Taking now the single article of wheat and determining the position of last year's crop consumed by protected classes, we can arrive at a fairly correct basis for the value of the farmers' home market. The agricultural department at Washington estimates that the average annual consumption of wheat is 4½ bushels. At this rate of consumption our protected classes took only 15,-187,500 bushels of last year's crop of 1891. But that crop amounted to 612,-000,000 bushels. The entire home demand was as follows:

Protected classes	15,187,500
Protected home market	15,187,500
Free trade classes	582,812,500
Total	597,812,500

Our exports amounted to 225,000,000, leaving a surplus of about 24,000,000 to go over into this year's supply.

From the above figures the success of the protectionists in building up a home market is seen to be pitiably small—2½ per cent. We exported during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1892, fourteen times as much wheat as our protected home market consumed. In order to carry out their cherished idea of consuming our agricultural products at home, protectionists ought to have increased our protected home market to over 80,000,000 bushels instead of the 8,250,000 which we now have.

Our farmers must see how small a factor the protected home market is in determining the price of their wheat. The 15,906,000 bushels consumed by that market was only one-fortieth of our last year's crop. If even this market were entirely wiped out—which nobody proposes—the difference in the price of wheat would hardly be noticed.

And what are the people paying for this market? It was shown by Senator Carlisle that on the single item of woolen goods we paid duties for the first nine months of the McKinley law amounting to $18,190,398. This sum was more than the value of all the wheat consumed last year by the protected classes. Even when this takes no account of the increased cost of domestic woolens by reason of the tariff.

These figures are sufficient to show what an absurdly high price our farmers are asked to pay for their home market. They show, too, what a miserable fraud upon the farmer Republican protection is.

Republican Cant About Wages.

Hon. Mark D. Wilbur, of Brooklyn, who has recently been speaking at Middletown, N. Y., tells of the following case to show the insincerity of the Republican talk about wages. Four years ago in Middletown the saw factory was run under the control of high protectionists, who were paying their men in envelopes which contained an indirect threat that unless the men voted for protection they must seek protection in some other establishment; that if Cleveland was elected wages would be cut and mills closed. Now, thirty days after Harrison's election their wages were cut. The same thing happened in a last factory in Middletown, and many of their skilled workmen were compelled to leave. That is itself has been a sufficient argument to guide them as to their future actions."

Steel Rail Bonus.

According to The Iron and Steel Bulletin, the production of Bessemer steel rails in the first half of this year was 580,000 tons. At the present prices this means that the profits of the ten or twelve mills producing them must be approximately about $3,000,000, or $10,000,000 a year. If the rails had been admitted absolutely free the profit would have been $1,000,000, or at the rate of $2,000,000 a year. These figures, taken from a protective source, do not show that the duty on steel rails cannot be lightened. On the contrary, it is apparent that the manufacturers can afford to forego a considerable benefit of railroads.—New York Herald.

AFRAID OF PECK'S BOOMERANG.

A Prominent Republican Journal Is Not Deceived by His Figures.

The cagerness with which the report of Commissioner Peck has been seized upon as a campaign document by the Republican papers has one exception in the Hon. Whitelaw Reid's Tribune. The Republican journal scores Peck's performance in the following words:

If Commissioner Peck's report came from a different source it would be entitled to general public respect. Unfortunately, however, it is a matter of history that this particular bureau of labor, so called, has more than once attracted attention by its sensational performances, putting forth documents that would not bear the light of honest examination. In this case Mr. Peck has given to the American people a paper the reception of which is fully illustrates by the history of the past. As the case stands, this report has already become a powerful boomerang. At the first fire of criticism it goes to pieces like a house of cards. An hour's study of this paper *by any citizen of ordinary mental ca*pacity will reveal that its figures cannot run out welcome facts.—Baltimore Sun.

The report pretends to give the result of inquiries addressed to some 6,000 employers in the state of New York, and shows in effect an apparent net increase of production in 8441 seven groups of industries of $31,000,000 for the year just, the year following the passage of the McKinley law, over that of 1890, with a net increase in the amount of wages paid of $6,900,000, the average being nearly three dollars a year or about fifty cents a week for each employee. Upon examination it is discovered that the grouping of these industries is a most remarkable performance. For instance, under the head of "Clothing" are found 236 different trades, including the making of oil suits of wearing apparel, buckskin gloves, mittens and silk, blankets, woolens, worsteds, woolens, ribbons, hats, sleigh robes, trimmings, tasquits, buttons, laces and embroideries, fans, feathers, dusters, millinery ornaments, flower materials, Masonic and society goods, etc.

Under the head of "Metals" are found nearly 200 different branches of industry, from the making of bells to that of wire fence. Then there is no separation whatever of protected from unprotected industries. The building trades include employers in every line, the undertakers' business, gas-fitting, electric appliances, and many other things which have no relation whatever to the tariff. The whole thing is embedded up with the manifest purpose of simply making a grand total to accord with a preconceived object. It cannot be told whether there has been any actual increase in the rate of wages paid or not, but in view of the well known fact that there was a general paralysis of trade in many branches during 1890, the inference fairly is that the increased earnings and the increased product are the result simply of more hours of labor, with the same wages, by means of new machinery and general methods of production constantly noted. Finally, these tables include as workers men, women and children, and do not show the average amount earned by the entire nearly 300,000 persons.

The fact is, no pretended investigation upon the subject of tariff and wages has been presented from any source in many years' past of less merit in any respect than this paper of Labor Commissioner Peck. The presumption against which it is manifestly directed can riddle it. There is absolutely nothing left of it. Not a single item can be told whether there has been any actual increase in the rate of wages paid or not, but in view of the well known fact that there was a general paralysis of trade in many branches during 1890, the inference fairly is that the increased earnings and the increased product are the result simply of more hours of labor, with the same wages, by means of new machinery and general methods of production constantly noted. Finally, these tables include as workers men, women and children, and do not show the average amount earned by the entire nearly 300,000 persons.

The fact is, no pretended investigation upon the subject of tariff and wages has been presented from any source in many years' past of less merit in any respect than this paper of Labor Commissioner Peck. The presumption against which it is manifestly directed can riddle it. There is absolutely nothing left of it. Not a single item can be told whether there has been any actual increase in the rate of wages paid or not, but in view of the well known fact that there was a general paralysis of trade in many branches during 1890, the inference fairly is that the increased earnings and the increased product are the result simply of more hours of labor, with the same wages, by means of new machinery and general methods of production constantly noted. Finally, these tables include as workers men, women and children, and do not show the average amount earned by the entire nearly 300,000 persons.

A Fallacious Metaphor.

The following vehement protest against high duties was made four years before the McKinley bill was passed, but in an era of unnecessarily high taxation:

"We want reduction of the tariff. We are taxed on every interest. Blood is not more sacred from the lancet of the surgeon to the body politic but it is bound hand and foot and covered all over with gallipots, and the whole is allowed to suck blood from every vein."

These are the words of General John A. Logan before the Republican national convention for the vice presidency in the year 1884. That metaphor of the gallipots and the sucking leeches was one that was the appointment which Dr. Milburn received for the ensuing year. Rejecting this trip he addressed the house of representatives, and it was on account of a frank and fearless criticism of the McKinley bill and the attitude of the lawmakers that he won their admiration and was afterward made chaplain.

A Long-Haired Democrat.

Rich Valley, Virginia, has a veritable difference-maker in the person of the 30-year-old daughter of Nathan Harris. Although little Miss Harris is not old enough to augment their county taxes, the drawbacks of an old maid's existence, she is not as large as the average child of her years. She is seventh birthday she measured but 35 inches in height and weighed 35½ pounds. She is not a stunted beauty, though, as are a great majority of the so-called dwarfs, but is a perfect Venus in miniature. Long and luxuriant is her hair, and with a beautiful head of hair sweeping down a brown across the carpet when she cares to let it down for the admiration of her many admirers. She is the greatest of four children, all the others being of regulation size. Her parents as well as hereditable from every point of view, declares that she would not go before the public for all the world, and that she expects to live and die in the beautiful Virginia valley that has always been her home.

A Self-Denyer.

Missionary—I would like you to join our sunday school.

Wang Lee—Not muchee. Me already gottee one wifee longside China—one wifee allee same like calling.

Missionary—Indeed! Me no wantee no mo' wifee.—Puck.

Very Scarce.

Old McFadd—Do you collect "anything" now?

Charlie Smart—I collect my thoughts occasionally.

Old McFadd—Ah, I suppose you get some rare specimens!—Puck.

Very Much to the Way.

Trump—Madam, have you got anything in the way of a pair of trousers that your husband don't want?

Lady of the House—Yes. There's a load of wood out there.—Detroit Free Press.

Professional Jealousy.

Clapperton—Did you ever go to sweetrends your girl?

Weggie—No; her father's dog isn't superstitious. He wants to do all the howling himself.—Judge.

When Time He Looks.

A dear mouse may be wiser than we'd ever suppose,
For he's lots of information at his little finger's nose.
—Truth.

Legitimate Robbery.

Customer—Isn't two dollars a bottle rather high for cod liver oil?

Druggist—Certainly, yes; but you forget, sir, that you get this by prescription.—Life.

Very Probable.

"They say De Bigcost lives by his wits."

"I shouldn't be surprised. Some people live on so little you know."—Chicago News.

Pertinent.

When Johnny broke his reading lesson
In hasty words his mother spoke,
But Johnny answered back and frowned:
"What good's a home without any books?"
—Judge.

Rates of Advertising

—WEEKS—				—MONTHS—
Space	1	2	3	6	12
1 in.	$1.00	$1.50	$2.00	$3.00	$5.00
2 in.	1.50	2.00	2.50	4.00	6.00
3 in.	2.00	2.50	3.00	5.00	8.00
¼ col.	3.00	4.00	5.00	8.00	12.00
½ col.	5.00	7.00	9.00	14.00	20.00
1 col.	9.00	12.00	15.00	25.00	40.00

All Electros must be solid metal.
Double rate on yr no approval of above rates.

THE BLIND CHAPLAIN.

Remarkable Career of Rev. William Henry Milburn.

His Vast Acquaintance With Public Men—Story of a Life Which Reads Like a Romance—As a Talker He Has No Equal.

The man who has the distinction of being the youngest person ever selected to speak in the house is Dr. William Henry Milburn, who came to Washington when he was but twenty-two years old, as chaplain, in December, 1845. By the suddenness of his thought, his beautifully selected words and his musical voice, Dr. Milburn has won the name of "The Blind Man Eloquent," and by that name is known to all society in America, but in Europe also, for he has traveled extensively abroad and has charmed audiences in foreign lands as well as in his own country.

Dr. Milburn was born in Philadelphia, September 26, 1826, so that he now reached almost the age of three score and ten, but his vigorous constitution indicates that he will far outlive the days allotted to man. Dr. Milburn lost the sight of one eye early in life and the other partially when a mere child. He was determined, however, to obtain a career, and although he was afflicted by his strong will to overcome all obstacles. He says that there was a time when he could not be a writer with that flashing glance which instantly transfers a word, a line, a sentence from the page to the mind.

It was the Twenty-ninth congress, the first of Mr. Polk's administration, to which Dr. Milburn was first elected chaplain. John Wesley Adams was speaker during this congress, and prominent among the members were those who were John Quincy Adams, who had been president of the United States; George C. Mason, who was the first stenographer in the life of Webster; Robert C. Winthrop, the orator; Hannibal Hamlin, Stephen A. Douglas and Alexander H. Stephens.

While traveling in Europe Mr. Milburn gathered facts for a number of lectures which he has delivered in America. The one on "Queen Victoria" he has entitled: "What a Blind Man Saw in England" and "What a Blind Man Saw in Paris." His lectures have, however, been principally biographical. Those by which he has made his fame are entitled "Thomas Carlyle," "Aaron Burr," "John Randolph, of Roanoke," and "Margaret Smith's Journal."

WILLIAM HENRY MILBURN.

Dr. Milburn spends an hour in the house almost every day in conversation with the members. He generally devotes a portion of the afternoon to calls, and it is safe to say that he makes more calls than any other man in Washington, for during each session he goes through the form of every senator and representative, the justices of the supreme court, the cabinet officers and all persons prominent in the government service.

Rev. Milburn's ordination took place at Springfield, Ill., in 1845. At the conference at which he was ordained it was decided to build a female seminary, and a large sum was subscribed for the purpose by establish it. It was then customary for the west to call upon the east for aid in the erection of new churches. After soliciting a site for the proposed seminary and making out an estimate of the sum necessary to put it in operation, the committee to ask aid selected was the selection of some man to act as an agent to lay before the east the educational needs of the west, and that was the appointment which Dr. Milburn received for the ensuing year. Before the year he addressed the house of representatives, and it was on account of a frank and fearless criticism of the McKinley bill and the attitude of the lawmakers that he won their admiration and was afterward made chaplain.

A Long-Haired Democrat.

Rich Valley, Virginia, has a veritable difference-maker in the person of the 30-year-old daughter of Nathan Harris. Although little Miss Harris is not old enough to augment their county taxes, the drawbacks of an old maid's existence, she is not as large as the average child of her years. She is seventh birthday she measured but 35 inches in height and weighed 35½ pounds. She is not a stunted beauty, though, as are a great majority of the so-called dwarfs, but is a perfect Venus in miniature. Long and luxuriant is her hair, and with a beautiful head of hair sweeping down a brown across the carpet when she cares to let it down for the admiration of her many admirers. She is the greatest of four children, all the others being of regulation size. Her parents as well as hereditable from every point of view, declares that she would not go before the public for all the world, and that she expects to live and die in the beautiful Virginia valley that has always been her home.

A Self-Denyer.

Missionary—I would like you to join our sunday school.

Wang Lee—Not muchee. Me already gottee one wifee longside China—one wifee allee same like calling.

Missionary—Indeed! Me no wantee no mo' wifee.—Puck.

Very Scarce.

Old McFadd—Do you collect "anything" now?

Charlie Smart—I collect my thoughts occasionally.

Old McFadd—Ah, I suppose you get some rare specimens!—Puck.

Very Much to the Way.

Trump—Madam, have you got anything in the way of a pair of trousers that your husband don't want?

Lady of the House—Yes. There's a load of wood out there.—Detroit Free Press.

Professional Jealousy.

Clapperton—Did you ever go to sweetrends your girl?

Weggie—No; her father's dog isn't superstitious. He wants to do all the howling himself.—Judge.

When Time He Looks.

A dear mouse may be wiser than we'd ever suppose,
For he's lots of information at his little finger's nose.
—Truth.

Legitimate Robbery.

Customer—Isn't two dollars a bottle rather high for cod liver oil?

Druggist—Certainly, yes; but you forget, sir, that you get this by prescription.—Life.

Very Probable.

"They say De Bigcost lives by his wits."

"I shouldn't be surprised. Some people live on so little you know."—Chicago News.

Pertinent.

When Johnny broke his reading lesson
In hasty words his mother spoke,
But Johnny answered back and frowned:
"What good's a home without any books?"
—Judge.

The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors. A. L. FORCE

Democratic Nominations.

For President,

ROVER CLEVELAND.

of New York.

For Vice-President,

ADLAI E. STEVENSON,

of Illinois.

For Governor,

GEORGE T. WERTS.

ELECTORS-AT-LARGE.

MILLARD F. ROBB, of Middlesex.
PHILIP F. BAKER, of Cumberland.

DISTRICT ELECTORS.

First District—CHARLES MANN.
Second District—THOS. H. FRICKETT.
Third District—JAMES DEMPSEY.
Fourth District—THEO. SIMONSON.
Fifth District—JAMES G. MORGAN.
Sixth District—EDWARD BALBACH.
Seventh District—RUDOLPH STEVENS.
Eighth District—MARTIN E. COOK.

CONGRESSIONAL NOMINATIONS.

Fourth District—JOHNSON CORNELL.

CALL FOR CONVENTION OF DEMOCRATIC CLUBS.

TEMPORARY HEADQUARTERS
THE DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY OF NEW JERSEY,
TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 4, 1892.

Pursuant to article 1 of the Constitution of the Democratic Society of New Jersey a convention of the Democratic clubs of the membership of this Society will be held at the city of

Camden, on Tuesday, Sept. 27, 1892,

Commencing at 10:00 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of electing delegates and alternates thereto for the term of three years next ensuing, and the transaction of such other business as may come before the meeting of the Society which might be presented. All existing clubs are entitled to be represented in the State Society and each is to be represented from the following basis, as provided by article 2 of the following:

OBJECTS OF THE SOCIETY.

To foster the formation of permanent Democratic Societies and Clubs throughout the State, and to aid the same in maintaining those fundamental Jeffersonian principles of government.

To encourage the Democracy of the State to organize the autonomy of the national local self government, and to oppose all undue centralization.

To resist revolutionary changes and the consequent waste of public money.

To encourage the formation and organization of the Democratic party in support of Democratic men and Democratic measures.

DELEGATES TO CONVENTION.

In convention the members of this Society shall be entitled to five delegates and one additional delegate for every fifty Democratic votes or majority cast for Governor at the last election. But no delegate shall be entitled to more than ten votes in the convention.

It is particularly desirable that every Democratic organization in the State should avail themselves of the State Society at once and have a full representation of delegates at the convention on the 27 next.

The Secretary of the State Society will furnish forms of "Applications for Membership" and for "Credentials of Delegates" to any club.

The Democratic voters of every ward and township in the State are urged to organize clubs at once and send a full list of the names and addresses of the Society without delay, for it is intended by all such clubs to perfect a thorough organization of every ward, a general victory for both State and National tickets in the November next.

The permanent headquarters of the State Society will be established at Taylor's Hotel, Jersey City, early in September.

By order of the President.
W. H. WILSON, Ch'm. Ex. Com.
Attest—W. S. SCRAN, Secretary.

WHAT DID IT.

The result of the September election in Maine and Vermont Republican expectations as keenly as did that of Vermont.

Maine, too, fell back several thousand votes from the usual Republican majority, and notwithstanding the most herculean exertions of McKinley, Reed & Company to bolster up coveted figures.

Those zealous partisans failed in their efforts, and the reasons assigned for such a lamentable and unexpected mishap are ludicrous enough to almost make a plough horse laugh.

Our reduced majorities, about partisan editors in chorus, merely beat the Republicans, not understanding the newly adopted Australian secret ballot system of voting, and being sensitive about showing their ignorance, absented themselves from the polls.

"Sensitive."

That is a good word when not yoked to adversity.

But, accepting their sensitive argument as truth, what credit is thereby unintentionally conferred upon Democratic manliness?

Then for example Vermont, where the Republican vote in 1888 footed 48,-522and in 1892 only 39,190.

Consistently, the number of Republican voters who the present year were so sensitive about personal ignorance as to stay at home on election day was 9,332.

While of the 19,597 Democrats who voted in 1888, all possessed nerve and intelligence sufficient to go to the polls except ONE!

Such a fabricated excuse for Republican laxness as sensitiveness is as flimsy as McKinley shoddy cloth. It won't wear.

But there does exist a real cause for the decline of political Republicanism in Vermont and Maine. It is plainly discernible and can be readily stated. Thousands of right minded and independent Republicans this Presidential year refused to vote as of yore, not because of new election laws, not from sensitiveness or timidity, but because of their sensible dissatisfaction with the record of Harrisonian McKinleyism.

That did it.

REPUBLICAN TESTIMONY.

William Dudley Foulke, of Indiana, is a gentleman of acknowledged talents and unblemished personal character. He is not and never was an office seeker, and although a political Republican, belongs to that class of citizens who are loyal to consistent action, the sanctity of pledges and what they honestly believe to be sound governmental policy.

Mr. Foulke is an active and consistent Civil Service Reformer, and replying upon the approving words of Mr. Harrison in that connection four years ago then voted for him as President, but will not do so again.

Why?

In a lengthy address delivered before the Reform Club of Boston during the present month, Mr. Foulke declared why. He therein critically reviewed and pointedly condemned the administration of President Harrison, not through harsh invective, but by the aid of undeniable facts. He cited instance after instance, giving names and full details, wherein the Republican had not only laid waste professed civil service reformation, but conferred appointments upon men notoriously unworthy of official or moral confidence of any kind.

Such is the voluntary and outspoken testimony of a truth-respecting Republican, one, who like legions of others swayed by a similar regard for duty, will this vote for

CLEVELAND AND REFORM.

Hang banners on the outer wall,
The cry is still they come.

Read This, Mr. Farmer.

Farmers are altogether too extravagant. This is why they get in debt, why they are mortgaged. Again, they do not work like business men, but they ought to attend to their business strictly.—New York Prices.

Go to, test a fool killer should come your way I beside.

Too extravagant, and yet you have a house on your farm in Westchester county that cost $150,000, and the furniture as much more.

Too extravagant, and yet your house in New York is a palace and it costs you $60,000 a year to maintain it.

Ought to attend to their business and work harder.

You Pluto! you who married the profits of other men's labor you want the farmers to work harder and attend to their business do you?

Say, in all kindness, they propose to look after their business, and to see to it that will not vote for you to be a silent partner in the White House.

What a pair, Whitelaw the trotter and Little Benny for a running mate. He who said that a laboring man had no need for more than one dollar per day.

Nice men those to tell you to tend to your business better and that a dollar a day is enough. You will hear something "drap" about the 8th of November. Keep your ears to the ground.—Bunkerdon Democrat Advertiser.

O CHANGE THE ENGINE'S QU RTERS.

Mr. Babcock Will Buy the Present No. 2 Site, and the City Will Purchase a Second Street Site.

The city common council held a short and sweet special session Tuesday night, at which all members were present. The session were absent. Councilman Marsh presided. The assessor's tax duplicate as delivered to the collector was approved. The matter of the engine-house transacted related to the engine-house transfer. The council-agreed to sell No. 2 engine-house property to Geo. H. Babcock for $8,000, and decided to purchase as a new engine-house site the land at 29 and 31 East Second street. J. F. MacDonald is the present owner. The land has a frontage of 75 feet, and a depth of 150. It is situated just west of Peace street. The price to be paid is $3,500. The lot having a frontage and a depth of 50 feet.

Mayor Gilbert delivered a short speech which displayed his thorough familiarity with the banking business. He showed that the increase of money deposited in the United States banks was several times that of the banks of the United Kingdom, during the last ten years. His argument to the effect that the condition of the common here was thus proved to be better. His supposition that all this money in America belonged to the "poor workingman" still be disputed by many.

Charles Emory Smith, editor of the Republican Philadelphia Press, and ex-minister to Russia, was named as the principal speaker of the evening. As an orator Mr. Smith aroused intense enthusiasm at times among the audience. His compliments and many remarks about Harrison's beauty as a city swelled the pride of his hearers at the start, and his subsequent burst of political eloquence were therefore well received. His speech lasted considerably over an hour, and the pine benches became too hard for many to continue sitting upon long before he finished.

Mr. Kean's remarks were as usual, telling and humorous.

The singing of the glee club under the directorship of Mr. MacClymont was excellent. The singers already give evidence of improvement in voice culture. The band was a general nuisance.

The vice-presidents of the meeting were: William V. Stout, Dr. J. B. Frohock, Thomas Lockwood, Dr. J. S. Perkins, William Northrup, John Brooks, J. K. Myers, Isaac Giles, C. M. Ulrich, F. W. Reinhart, B. B. Gray, Charles Potter, A. C. Schultze, Filey Cox, Dr. William Thompson, E. R. Page, I. W. Sorrell, F. S. Runyon, E. B. Clark, Benj. F. Millington, John Thompson, Hon. Charles Place, Dr. Joseph Parry, Jr., George Dupree, Charles W. McCutchen, L. H. Bigelow, jr.

The secretaries E. E. Anthony, V. W. Nash, Fred F. Murray, Alexander Thewarth, H. N. Spencer.

A NEW COAL DEAL PROPOSED.

It Is Said That the Central Rap Lease the Reading, Lehigh Valley and Port Reading.

The railroad people are said to have a new project in contemplation, and although it is important at present, it contain accurate information concerning it, it is said that under the new scheme the Reading company will be enabled to carry out the combination without infringing any of the State laws. The suit against the Port Reading to annul its charter has resulted in abandonment of the old scheme.

The new scheme will embrace the same roads, the difference being merely in the management. In the new deal, the Central Railroad of New Jersey will lease the Philadelphia and Reading, the Lehigh Valley and the Port Reading Railroad, and although the entire system will be run by the Central, it will be under the control of the people who were at the head of the coal combine.

There are several reasons for the change. In the first place, there is no law prohibiting a domestic railroad corporation from leasing a foreign railroad. The law of 1885 prohibits foreign companies coming into the State and obtaining control of domestic railroad corporations. The recent decision of Judge McGill's decision declaring the lease void was mainly based on the law.

Another reason for the proposed arrangement is, that the Vail estate of Morristown, which has twice brought suit to annul leases made by the Central to other companies, can have no objection to the Central railroad leasing other companies.

Another reason is that the roads will be run separately, and a combination made among the coal companies, which will give the Reading control of the anthracite coal trade. The combination, however, is not at hand, it seems certain that a new deal is in contemplation.

Mr. Sheppard of Westfield leaves the U. S. F.

Among recent additions to the roll of the New York Board of Underwriters are the horrible disease, Consumption. Let yourselves if you can afford for the sake of a few dollars to run the risk of nothing for it. We assure you consumption kills people. Cure will not be enough. It never fails. This explains why people who have had consumption and the past year. It relieves coughs and whooping cough at once. Robbers, Sore Throat, Asthma, and all Throat and Lung troubles. Regular size 50c. and $1.00. At druggists. Large size is the most economical. (2)

WE'RE AGIN THE TROLLEY!

No wonder there's such lots o' ad
A boom in the price of hay,
For we, what's lives in the Park,
Do it's think it will be jolly
To ride hippin'ty' quick on a hoss
A sendin' out blue blazes,
A thunderin', roarin' till our heads
Is all in a dizzy maze.

Now hevin' bought some property,
An' livin' on it quiet,
We really 'pected we'd have a right
To enjoy the wire goin' by it.

It is an awful dangerous—
So age not life and quality—
An' how we'll like to see some folks
A stoden on it silently!

Some on 'em we no hevvigne
Yer ride to late for darkness,
We waits ter keep dyspepsy off
An' nervous prostrations,

An' when we looks up to the sky
Ter calculate the weather,
We notice our feet we're in a cage
Of wires strung together.

The Boss begins ter feel the air
A pitten blue around him,
But he'd consider right and wrong
If them agin it drowned him.

He says he is a dismissal
As wants this road don't agree with him
In party silly sense!

The reason in this case is—Price—
I'spose we all are sonie—
In these an course seems the best
To keep the wolf from the door.

Though lackin' learnin' out o' books
They knows we all is equal;
An' patriot this matter sees
Taint hard to guess the sequel.

Washington G. Park.

JOHN KEAN SHOWS HIMSELF.

Plainfield Republicans Turn Out to Greet Their Candidate.

From The Press of September 2.

HOSE Plainfield Republicans who complained two days ago that the "Harrison Hurrah" was devoid of enthusiasm had no such cause for railing against Uncle Sam's Republican demonstration. The Consecrank has been leased by the local Republican managers for the campaign, and from now until December, this hall will be a sort of headquarters for the party's Plainfield clubs.

Last night's affair gave evidence of careful preparation and management. There was music in abundance, both vocal and instrumental, red fire spluttered, bombs bursting in air, considerable oratory for protection, etc., and last, but by no means the least of all the attractions, the presence of Hon. John Kean, jr., the Gubernatorial nominee of the Republican party in New Jersey.

The Hon. John Ulrich came up from his summer home at Avon on Monday in order to open the meeting last night. He nominated his honor Mayor Gilbert as chairman of the gathering of perhaps 600 Republicans, and declared himself tremously elected by the voice of those present. The choice was a fitting one.

The Hon. Edward Balbach, the John Kean upon the platform was the signal for applause as nearly as it was prolonged. He took a seat where he could see and be seen to the greatest advantage.

Mayor Gilbert delivered a short speech which displayed his thorough familiarity with the banking business. He showed that the increase of money deposited in the United States banks was several times that of the banks of the United Kingdom, during the last ten years. His argument to the effect that the condition of the common here was thus proved to be better. His supposition that all this money in America belonged to the "poor workingman" still be disputed by many.

Charles Emory Smith, editor of the Republican Philadelphia Press, and ex-minister to Russia, was named as the principal speaker of the evening. As an orator Mr. Smith aroused intense enthusiasm at times among the audience. His compliments and many remarks about Harrison's beauty as a city swelled the pride of his hearers at the start, and his subsequent burst of political eloquence were therefore well received. His speech lasted considerably over an hour, and the pine benches became too hard for many to continue sitting upon long before he finished.

Mr. Kean's remarks were as usual, telling and humorous.

The singing of the glee club under the directorship of Mr. MacClymont was excellent. The singers already give evidence of improvement in voice culture. The band was a general nuisance.

The vice-presidents of the meeting were: William V. Stout, Dr. J. B. Frohock, Thomas Lockwood, Dr. J. S. Perkins, William Northrup, John Brooks, J. K. Myers, Isaac Giles, C. M. Ulrich, F. W. Reinhart, B. B. Gray, Charles Potter, A. C. Schultze, Filey Cox, Dr. William Thompson, E. R. Page, I. W. Sorrell, F. S. Runyon, E. B. Clark, Benj. F. Millington, John Thompson, Hon. Charles Place, Dr. Joseph Parry, jr., George Dupree, Charles W. McCutchen, L. H. Bigelow, jr.

The secretaries E. E. Anthony, V. W. Nash, Fred F. Murray, Alexander Thewarth, H. N. Spencer.

A NEW COAL DEAL PROPOSED.

It Is Said That the Central Rap Lease the Reading, Lehigh Valley and Port Reading.

The railroad people are said to have a new project in contemplation, and although it is important at present, it contain accurate information concerning it, it is said that under the new scheme the Reading company will be enabled to carry out the combination without infringing any of the State laws. The suit against the Port Reading to annul its charter has resulted in abandonment of the old scheme.

The new scheme will embrace the same roads, the difference being merely in the management. In the new deal, the Central Railroad of New Jersey will lease the Philadelphia and Reading, the Lehigh Valley and the Port Reading Railroad, and although the entire system will be run by the Central, it will be under the control of the people who were at the head of the coal combine.

There are several reasons for the change. In the first place, there is no law prohibiting a domestic railroad corporation from leasing a foreign railroad. The law of 1885 prohibits foreign companies coming into the State and obtaining control of domestic railroad corporations. The recent decision of Judge McGill's decision declaring the lease void was mainly based on the law.

Another reason for the proposed arrangement is, that the Vail estate of Morristown, which has twice brought suit to annul leases made by the Central to other companies, can have no objection to the Central railroad leasing other companies.

Another reason is that the roads will be run separately, and a combination made among the coal companies, which will give the Reading control of the anthracite coal trade. The combination, however, is not at hand, it seems certain that a new deal is in contemplation.

Mr. Sheppard of Westfield leaves the U. S. F.

Among recent additions to the roll of the New York Board of Underwriters are the horrible disease, Consumption. Let yourselves if you can afford for the sake of a few dollars to run the risk of nothing for it. We assure you consumption kills people. Cure will not be enough. It never fails. This explains why people who have had consumption and the past year. It relieves coughs and whooping cough at once. Robbers, Sore Throat, Asthma, and all Throat and Lung troubles. Regular size 50c. and $1.00. At druggists. Large size is the most economical. (2)

Oh. What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal symptoms of the many victims of that more horrible disease, Consumption. Let yourselves if you can afford for the sake of a few dollars to run the risk of nothing for it. We assure you consumption kills people. Cure will not be enough. It never fails. This explains why people who have had consumption and the past year. It relieves coughs and whooping cough at once. Robbers, Sore Throat, Asthma, and all Throat and Lung troubles. Regular size 50c. and $1.00. At druggists. Large size is the most economical. (2)

A MATCHLESS BAND.

Some Is Going Best With the Baseball Team of Arlton, to Play Plainfield Athletics Saturday.

Marcella Lloth, who possesses one of the finest voices in the world, is the guest of the Congregation, with Sig. Galassi who has been admired and applauded by every devotee of music in this city, are to appear at the next Monday evening at Music Hall, when Plainfield is to be favored by the first appearance in public of Sousa's band.

Recognizing the wonders which John Philip Sousa, the late leader of the United States Marine band, accomplished with an organization of 50 musicians, a number of his admiring friends in Chicago and New York, some time since determined, if possible, to secure his resignation from the Government and induce him to place him at the head of a body of musicians which should do for the military music of this country what the Theodosa and Boston symphony orchestras have done for the strings. After the reluctant consent of the President and Secretary of the Navy had been had, Mr. Sousa withdrew from the United States Marine band, and he has been placed at the head of the finest body of superlative musicians which the world could be gathered together from Europe and America. Under the magic baton of Mr. Sousa the band has already done all and more than was expected of it. It marks a new departure among military band in this country, just as the Theodore Orchestra, when it was first organized marked a new departure among orchestras.

The concerts of this band will prove a surprise and a delight to music lovers throughout the country. They will amount to an absolute revelation in military band music. They will show a progression in music, a refinement in interpretation an artistic repose in serious music, and a dash, a swing, a "ctke", and a "go" in popular music, which have never before been attempted in the country, because such accomplishments have never before been thought possible to military instruments. The clarinets of this band will rival the violins of the orchestra in their sotteese, and the brasses will express all the tenderness and sentiment of the violoncello; and the reed band of flutes and oboes the variations of feeling and tone—in fine, the whole gamut of soulful expression, as embodied in musical composition, will be produced by this marvellous band in a way to charm his hearers as they have never been charmed before.

These are not idle words. They are actual accomplishments realized from high ideals. The merits of this matchless band have already been recognized by Theodore Thomas, Patrick Gilmore, director of the great Columbian Exposition, has given them the engagement at the opening of the World's Fair in Chicago. The concert to be given in this city will be enjoyed beyond anticipation, and they who fail to hear it will have cause to regret a serious mistake.

BURGLARS AT BASE-BALL.

While the Pendrillon Were Playing, Some One Rake Off With Their Cash.

A very pleasant and interesting game of ball was played on the Crescents' grounds on Saturday afternoon, the nine from Potter's press works and the Foodville Juniors. The Potters' nine were the victors by the score of 19 to 17. The game was close and full of life, and in the Juniors favor; then Babcock, of the Potters was taken out of the box and Burns was put in his place. After that the Juniors could do as they pleased. The feature of the game was the batting done by the Juniors. That old reliable Kane is coming home-run player, although not smashed just now, he will be a good cog in the future. Hickey pitched an elegant game for the Juniors, and Burns and Kane although suffering from illness, put up a good game behind the bat. Saturday's was the first game he has caught this season. During the game some sneak thief who had a key to the dressing-room went in and ransacked the players' pockets. A considerable amount of money and other valuables was taken. The ball players have their eye on one or two whom they suspect.

A HOTEL'S LICENSE REVOKED.

Lamont's Resort on South Avenue to be Closed.

Monday night the Township committee of Fanwood tried the matter of the complaint against August D. Lamont for keeping a disorderly house in his hotel on South avenue, near the Park road. The evidence on the part of the complainant showed that the defendant habitually sold intoxicating liquor on Sunday. That gambling and all of chicken thieves and the most disreputable characters, quarrels and fights were of frequent occurrence, and the peace and quiet of the neighborhood was greatly disturbed.

A very feeble effort at defense was made by Lamont, the effect of which was to corroborate the testimony of complainant's witnesses by showing his entire inability to preserve order in his hotel.

Under the evidences the township committee unanimously voted him guilty of the charges preferred and revoked his hotel license. His hotel is said to have been one of the worst resorts in the county.

Counselor Jackson, of the firm of Jackson & Codington, the township attorneys, represented the complainants in the case.

Can't Wit Every Time.

The Newark Cricket club, champions of the Metropolitan district league, wiped out a former defeat at the hands of the Plainfield club, Saturday, by the Plainfield club's own ballwick. The score:

PLAINFIELD CLUB.

H. Hendry, b. Stratford	6
Hackett, b. Hackwell	2
F. Wharton, st. White, b. Stratford	2
Chadwick, c. Hackwell, b. Stratford	0
O. Anders, b. Moore	1
H. Turner, b. Moore	2
J. Hendry, b. Stratford	0
Hackwell, b. Stratford	0
K. Byers, b. Stratford	1
Wilson, b. Stratford	0
C. Jolley, b. Moore	2
S. Penny, not out	0
Extras	1
Total	20

NEWARK CLUB.

A. H. Stratford, b. Hendry	8
E. Copley, run out	2
J. Stansfield, b. Hendry	0
C. Stratford, c. Wharton, b. Hackwell	4
E. McWhood, b. Hendry	1
T. Gilbert, run out	1
G. Jaques, b. Hendry	0
H. Wright, c. Chadwick, b. Wharton	3
A. Moore, b. Hendry	0
T. L. White, not out	3
W. Stevenson, b. Higham	0
Extras	1
Total	23

RUNS AT FALL OF EACH WICKET.

Plainfield	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
Newark	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10

BOWLING ANALYSIS.

Plainfield Innings.

Bowlers.	Balls.	Runs.	Maidens.	Wickets.
Stratford	67	32	3	4
C. Moore	63	13	3	5

John Kean's Book-Puzzle.

(Plainfield Standard.)

The dark ponds which the Union Water company has left in Westfield's streets are but the beginning of the afflictions in store for that town. Already there is a prospect of the unpopularity that pay will bring to the head of the water corporation.

ECONOMICAL MANAGEMENT.

How Much Money is Spent on Each of the Crescent Nine Each Year.

Below is given the figures in full of the financial amount and condition of the Crescent League base-ball team of 1892. The company, it will be noted, is managed by a lack of judgment and not by extravagance in hiring players:

Paid players	$1,000.00
Umpires	200.00
Grounds	300.00
Suits, hats, shoes, etc	250.00
Interest rent of grounds	75.00
Carriages, hacks, etc	175.00
Telegraphing, postage, etc	50.00
Printing	50.00
Advertisements, cuts and all other expenses	50.00
Traveling expenses	75.00
Total disbursements	$2,225.00
Total Gate Receipts	$1,750.00
Sale Season Tickets	60.00
Subscription for Balls	65.00
	$1,875.00
Cash shortage	$350.00
Bills put in by, rent of grounds and other bills	200.00
Total deficit	$ 550.00

Games Played—

At home	25
Away	25
Prevented by rain, etc	3
Won	25
Lost	11
Total paid players	$2,225.00
Average paid to each player	88.90
Average per man per game (26 men)	3.20

AN IMPORTANT INVENTION.

A New Process for Making Canvas Impervious to Water.

The invention most valuable to strom managers ever developed is a process of actually water-proofing toe canvas which is used in the mammoth tents which cover, protect and shelter. The invention announced an entire success after a year of trial, which included several weeks on the Pacific coast, during the rainy season. The invention is controlled and used exclusively by the Adam Forepaugh shows and the Barnum and Bailey shows.

The process of water-proofing is an expensive one, but it pays for itself many times over as soon as the public discovers that it is really in efficacious to prevening Theodore Thomas' big tents from leaking, and they find an added pleasure in attending a circus performance in the rain, with the absolute certainty of being dry and comfortable, as they were seated beneath a more substantial roof. This water-proof canvas is also fire and burglar proof, and the gorgeous costumes of the richest silks, satins, velvets and metallic armor which are worn in the sublime Biblical spectacle, The Fall of Babylon, which is given as an addition to all the great array of superexcellent features of the programme of the great shows as soon upon its last battle here, which will be given on Friday next. If, perchance, the weather should be wet it need make no difference to far as seeing the great shows goes, because the performance will be given complete and entire, and can be witnessed without dodging raindrops or holding umbrellas, as many persons have been compelled to do before when ought in the rain at the circus. The invention is estimated as worth many thousands dollars in a season to the Adam Forepaugh shows.

Full Governor.

The elegant fall overcoats, which Geo. Watson & Co., of Newark, are offering to that portion of the public who always are well dressed and are in search of good goods and such as are gotten up in the very latest and noblest styles, are all the rage. Just think of it? One of these fall overcoats from Watson's, made of Cheviots, Clays and Cord Worsteds in great variety of new shades, can be bought from this old and reliable house for prices truly startling. The costs out from their elegant Black Cord Worster which they sell for $10 cannot be told from custom made and are nerves for beauty and as dressy as can be. There is no left over business about it either, even though some of their fall overcoats are sold as low as $6, felt is the material which pervades the establishment, which makes it possible. Geo. Watson & Co., 791 Broad and Market Street Clothiers.—The Newark Sun.

$126.50 To.

These magic figures mean pleasure and profit, to you. Don't puzzle over them too long; their meaning is simple enough when you know. They represent the rates of the greatest of eastern fairs.

The great Inter-State fair, at Trenton, N. J., promises to be better this year than ever before. For four years its management has made this boast, and every succeeding exhibition has fulfilled its promises.

Liberal expenditures in every department is the secret of its success. That's part of the secret. A judicious and liberal use of printers' ink is the real talisman. Anyone who has followed the short but successful history of this association, cannot fail to find the keynote to its prosperity in these words. Everybody is really intelligent system of advertising.

An Extraordinary Combination Coming.

The present-being the initial tour by Sousa's New Marine band it can hardly fail to rivet the attention of the entire musical element throughout the state on account that the public will naturally be curious over Sousa's ability to create a greater than his old Washington band. Sousa's band was composed of what is in the greatest body of high-class artists in his own town, in fact, and in saying it he gives his unlimited judgment as a musician. Add to this, body, directed by Sousa himself, two other distinguished artists, Madame Lloyd, operatic soprano, and Antonio Galassi, baritone, of Patti opera fame, and the combination does appear to be an extraordinary one. This unparalleled engagement will be given in a grand military concert at Music Hall, Monday, Sept. 26.

The Bicycle Carnival.

The Plainfield Bicycle club is planning for a great day Oct. 16, when their big bicycle carnival will be held. From 1 to 6 p. m. there will be a grand parade of all the wheelmen of the town, headed by the Plainfield citizens' band, and a host of the driving park, where races will be held for $1,000 worth of prizes. All of the crack riders will participate, including possibly the famous Zimmerman. There will be various of intense interest, open to Plainfield riders only. In the evening there will be a "smoker", with cigars and coffee in abundance, and a fine banquet. Altogether it will be a great day.

Always Getting Satisfaction.

BRADSTREET'S Prices have always been so reasonable that the demand for them has been so unbounded of them. This is about their 19th in the United States and Canada, and they are still growing. There is no doubt that they have satisfied their patrons, and that is the reason why they have been so successful. Bradstreet's Prices are always satisfactory, and the publishers are always satisfied to send a copy to any one who wishes to see them. Address Bradstreet's Prices, 279 Broadway, New York.

DRIVEN OUT BY THE TARIFF.

The Tea on Raw Materials Sends a Large Firm of Harness Goods to the West.

Another instance of the evil effect on manufacturing industries of the Republican policy of placing high tariff duties on imported raw materials is afforded by the contemplated removal to the west of a large hardware factory in New Haven. The concern is the largest manufactory in New Haven, and is owned by the mayor, J. B. Sargent. Some 1,000 hands are employed and all kinds of hardware are manufactured. But the McKinley act, with its high duties on raw materials, has had a bad effect on the business, and the contemplated removal to Milwaukee is now contemplated. In explanation of his reasons for such a change Mayor Sargent says:

"Under the present tariff laws we could obtain raw material at much cheaper rates in the west than we can here. If raw material of any description in the world, Cyrus—Well, my dear, you tell people that you have it? They would never find it out if you didn't mention it.—N. Y. Herald.

No Evidence.

Newsgrad—Do you know, I find that my university education does not seem to be of much assistance to me in the world.

Cynicus—Well, you may be right, but what you have it? They would never find it out if you didn't mention it.—N. Y. Herald.

One Mistaken.

Gus De Smith—I believe, Miss Sharpgirl, you think I am a stupid creature? Miss Sharpgirl—No, indeed. Nobody who can so accurately divine the thoughts of another can be stupid.—Texas Siftings.

Highly Appropriate.

Jinks (examining his prescription)—These doctors are awfully fond of Latin, aren't they?

Pilkins—Yes; it's a dead language, you know.—Truth.

Woodcocked.

Fortune, they say, 's a fickle jade,
Inconstant, fleeting, coy and staid,
And yet, in her disdain of me,
She is a part of constancy.

—Puck.

THE COMPARTMENT IDEA.

How Uncle Summerboard is making a fortune with the old farm wagon.—Puck.

A Rapid Improvement.

"Who is that ugly, wrinkled old man over there, Tom?"

"Where, Maud? Oh, that's Gilhooley, the rich old bachelor. They say he's looking for a wife."

"Then I don't wonder he's old! I don't think he looks old a bit."—Chicago News Record.

Loved Him Too Well.

"You said that girl, Harry Rateful, would never jilt you, Ned?"

"She never will."

"Then how's Carrie Brown."

"How do you know?"

"He asked her to be his wife and she refused."—N. Y. Press.

A Sad, Wicked Man.

Visitor—What became of that dog you used to have?

Little Girl—A bad, wicked man shot him.

"Dear me! What for?"

"For bitin' th' bad, wicked man's baby."—Good News.

Anti-Poverty Hen.

"Poor fellow, he died in poverty," said a man of a person lately deceased.

"Poverty? Is anything," asked a seedy bystander. "Dying in poverty is no hardship. It's living in poverty that puts the thumb-screws on a fellow."—Texas Siftings.

Made Her Look Well.

Clara—How well you looked on the street yesterday.

Maude (immensely flattered)—Do you really think so? I am awfully glad.

Clara—Yes, you had on such a becoming veil.—Cloak Review.

Reasonable Expectation.

Mrs. Dyer—I wonder what present husband will bring me to-night?

Mrs. Hicks—What makes you expect one? Is it your birthday?

Mrs. Dit—Now, don't be quarreled this morning.—N. Y. Herald.

Ah Used to It.

"Does Burrows quarrel with his wife as much as he did?"

"Oh, no. They stopped their rows a year ago."

"How did they come to do it?"

"She died."—Truth.

A Deceiver Gay.

She—He has deceived me shamefully. He has proposed to all the girls in town.

She—Boo-hoo—he let the decline him before he told anyone he was rich.—N. Y. Herald.

Juvenile Amenities.

Mamma—Aren't you good friends with that little girl any more?

Small Daughter—Yes'm.

"Then why didn't you bow to her?"

"'Cause I'm all dressed up."—Good News.

Profitable.

If I owned a trotter that would not trot
Or you mean I'm talking him? Well, I guess not
But if his gaits and—why then, of course
I'd bet the fellow on a horse.

—Life.

Wants to Be a Life Member.

Maid Marian—Does you young Willowboy belong to the Press club?

Maud Muller—He does—whenever he calls on me.—Truth.

Eligibility.

"But, my dear, what has that old man to recommend himself aside from his riches?"

"Heart disease."—Electric Spark.

THE PLAINFIELD

PACKING HOUSE!

25 West Front Street.

We will respectfully inform its patrons that it is not likely to be equal stock of Fresh, Salt and Smoked Goods,

It has added a full line of

Fresh Beef, Lamb,

Veal, Mutton & Poultry

Which it is prepared to sell at Reasonable Prices!

to all goods delivered free of charge.

C. M. ULRICH.

SEPARATE storage rooms with glass-fronted walls to let in Stillman block for the cleanest and best in the city. Also office rooms. Apply to Wm. M. Stillman on the premises. oct 15 4-10 tf

ADMINISTRATOR'S SETTLEMENT.—Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, administrator of Rebecca Perkins, late of the County of Middlesex, deceased, and reported for settlement to the Orphans Court of the County of Middlesex, the twenty-ninth day of September next. WALTER S. PERKINS.

Dated July 14, 1892. 7 21 10

1,000 YOUNG MEN & WOMEN WANTED

To fill positions as

BOOK-KEEPERS, STENOGRAPHERS, TYPE-WRITERS, TELEGRAPHERS, PENMEN, SALESMEN, MANAGERS, ACCOUNTANTS

Students assisted to positions after graduation. Send for catalogue.

TRENTON BUSINESS COLLEGE

TRENTON, N. J.

J. P. ALBERT, Principal. Trenton, N. J.

SAMUEL SLOAN.

A RAILROAD AUTOCRAT.

President of the Lackawanna at the Age of Seventy-Two.

Unique among railway monarchs stands Samuel Sloan, president of the Lackawanna. He writes his name simply "Sloan," and that he wishes to be familiar with himself, but it is safe to say Mr. Sloan's habit is abundant and white as snow. His eyes are as bright as diamonds and his huge jaws bespeak the tenacity that he has. He employs no writers—male, female add mechanical—and writes all his own letters in auto graph with a big gold pen. No wonder that some of his epistles are short and curt.

His remarkable secretary handles some of the routine correspondence of the company, but his chief duties are confined to opening and arranging the mail and entertaining distinguished visitors who turned over to him. For the trunk line association, which assumes to maintain rates and regulate schedule, Mr. Sloan is a heavy cross to bear. The old gentleman is proverbially fiery, and, while agreeing to all forms of reasonable rules, has little relish for fulfillment. When he is taken to task he feigns astonishment and threatens dire vengeance upon his subordinates, who, he explains, have not carried out his instructions.

"When we get Sloan on the gridiron," said a trunk line president to a Kansas City Journal man, "and apply the inquisition in a manner that would make Depew, King and Roberts sweat blood, what do you suppose the old man does? He leans back in his chair, by Jupiter, and goes to sleep."

Mr. Sloan rules the Lackawanna with a rod of iron. It is emphatically a one-man institution and Mr. Sloan is the one man. The old gentleman has a warm spot in his heart for the clergy, and the Lackawanna issues annual half-fare permits for the ministry, all of which bear Mr. Sloan's personal signature, and, in accordance with one of his many peculiar orders, are filled out personally by General Passenger Agent Dorsett with a gold pen.

While an autocratic ruler, Mr. Sloan is noted for his fatherly watchfulness over his employes, and when any of the employes, to whom he extends all sorts of delicate kindnesses, usually disguised under the cloak of business, are in serious or trifling distress, as if the old patriarch were ashamed to show that there is any tenderness in his nature.

AGAINST MACHINERY.

Barnes Which Smash Implements for Protect Their Own Labor.

A queer story comes from Circleville, O. The horses have declared war on bicycles. Miss Mabel Valentine was wheeling on the Columbus pike. When she met a gray horse whose indignation was aroused by the bicycle, and he gave chase. Miss Valentine was thrown to the ground, and the animal's actions and did her best to get away from the brute, but to no purpose. He stuck to the task with bulldog determination, and when she increased her speed he also let out a link.

Realizing the chase was becoming more desperate and that she was soon cumbing to the severe efforts to keep away from her tormentor, she abandoned the machine and ran across the climb a fence. She succeeded, but fell and was badly bruised.

SMASHING THE BICYCLE.

Then the horse jumped on the bicycle and was rapidly pawing it to pieces, when some farmers arrived and drove him away. And this, says the local reporter, is the third horse in that county to attack the bicycle. Is it possible there is some jealousy of the new method of riding?

A Feminine Barometer.

Bellefonte (Pa.) Republicans are reported to be puzzled over a barometrical sort of young lady of that place, who is, as they say, a reliable guide to the general disposition in clear, sunny weather, but who gets ugly and morose when there is rain, and, worse still, when a fog storm that she has to be restrained. The weather bureau might with advantage establish a special wire to Bellefonte.

Why So Much Bread?

A fishing party in Texas took the following with them. Six fishing rods, a loaf of bread, three cans of sardines, a bottle of pickles, one bar of soap, thirteen bottles and two jugs.

Tapping the Keys.

There are thirty-seven thousand women employed as telegraphers in the United States, and the number is constantly growing.

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

J. A. DEMAREST - - City Editor.

—The Nottingwood post-office is now a money-order office.

—The Manhattan bicycle club will enjoy a run to Plainfield Sunday, Sept. 25.

—Let's have nothing more to do with the Somerville manager and his ball players!

—Thursday evening of next week, Scotch Plains will have a Democratic banner raising.

—"Will Harrison be elected P" Read his name backward and get your answer —"No, sirrah."

—A Democratic banner will be raised across North avenue from THE PRESS office, Saturday evening. There will be addresses by prominent speakers.

—The two new hose wagons just completed to Trenton for the Plainfield fire department, will be sold to the Independents over built. They will be put on exhibition at the Inter-State fair next week.

—Don't forget the Democratic banner raising to-night at the Somerville Democratic office next Saturday night. Prominent speakers will address the meeting and a band of music and fireworks will enliven the occasion.

—The Park Place chapel was newly and nicely carpeted, Saturday, and Sunday a song service was given by a splendid full choir of choice singers. The meetings there are well attended, and there is able preaching.

—D. H. Terry has invited a large number of sportsmen to attend a target and pigeon shooting match at his residence at Short Hills, next Monday, beginning at 1 p. m. There will be five blue-rock and five live-pigeon events.

—Along Sandy Ground street opposite the Potter Press works there is a sand-pit where men are engaged every day taking away sand. The pit is left unguarded every night, and is a very dangerous one for pedestrians who have to pass that way.

—The permission to make your own terms of payment is something rarely granted by merchants, but the big house of Mullin's & Co., 218 Market street, Newark, will sell you all you want of carpets and furniture, on credit as long as you want.

—The borough Republicans are doing things up in style. They are having electric wires arranged with colored lamps so that the new banner to be unfurled will be handsomely illuminated all night long with a gay border of red, white and blue lights.

—Managers Reed and Keller could not resist taking the Crescent ball team to Somerville Saturday to "get hunk" with the West Ends. Now that that desire has been satisfied, they should follow THE PRESS's advice and drop Mr. Mack and his players.

—The annual convention of the Y. M. C. A. of the Fourth District of New Jersey will be held at Perth Amboy, Sept. 30 to Oct. 2 inclusive. W. F. Murray and other Plainfielders are on the programme. Full information will be given to those interested at the Y. M. C. A. rooms.

—Ex-councilman Andrew Love, of 44 Duer street, lost a valuable sorrel horse, Monday morning. Sunday afternoon the animal got out of the stall and helped itself to an open bag of oats. Mr. Love and a veterinary surgeon worked all night trying to save the life of the animal.

—One of the health authorities of New York has suggested to ex-mayor Hewitt fellow of Plainfield's health board, that the Water Supply question of the city should be compelled to boil the water it furnishes its patrons. President Bergen will therefore at once order a fire built under the big standpipe.

THE TIE TO BE BROKEN.

Plainfield and Somerville Will Play a Deciding Game Next Saturday for the Central New Jersey Championship.

It was decided Tuesday at a meeting of the Central New Jersey Base-Ball league, that the Plainfield and Somerville base-ball teams should play off the tie for the pennant, in this place next Saturday.

There were present at the meeting, Messrs. Reed, Lyman and Leggett of this city, the two Macks of Somerville, Mr. Whalen of Elizabeth and Mr. Codling of Westfield. The Elizabeth and Westfield representatives declined to cast any voice in the matter, and left Plainfield and Somerville to settle it among themselves.

Manager Reed was inclined—for a minute or two, at least—to carry out the desires of the majority of the Crescent league members and most of Plainfield's people.

But his conservatism prevailed so much for another game of his hired National leaguers against Plainfield's semi-professionals, that Manager Mack was offered to play on any day, on any grounds and to give the entire gate receipts to Plainfield.

Such an offer, of course, Mr. Reed would not accept; but it was eventually agreed that a game to decide the championship should be played on the Crescents' grounds next Saturday, and that the receipts should be divided among the players of both teams. Manager Reed is satisfied that that is the best he could do. The season is too late, practically, for three games and a players' benefit besides. Only the regular prices will be charged Saturday, but the free list will be suspended and members' tickets will not be received.

Columbus Day in the Schools.

The vice-principals met Supt. Mahon this week to consider the question of Columbus Day in the schools. It seemed to be the general opinion that it is not wise to take up too much of the pupils' time at the very opening of the year, to prepare an elaborate celebration. It was therefore decided that each principal should assemble his school in the chapel on the morning of Oct. 21, and have exercises in honor of Columbus, such as an outdoor birthdays, using the official programme as a foundation, but dropping some features and adding others as seemed advisable for each school.

No Road Will Be Built Where the People Want It.

The wealthy people of the borough who ride in chaises are circulating a petition against the introduction of street cars into North Plainfield. They need have no fear that any of their rights will be trespassed on. The railroad is proposed only for streets where a majority of the property-owners want and demand it. The line through Rose street, the building of a road shall proceed, and the North Plainfield railway will be established just as law and justice require. The streets of the North Plainfield dickers will not be disturbed.

Be Thinks Anything's Good Enough For Poor Folks.

There is a borough ordinance requiring every property-owner to put a sidewalk in front of his house. W. H. Rowland, of Rockview avenue, who sent a petition to the borough council against a street railroad on Somerset street, saying that he did not believe in street railroads, factories and all so-called improvements, has nothing but a gravel walk for the people to use who go after milk to the borough creek, and he thinks that the plank he has laid a few cobblestone walk which he uses daily to reach his carriage.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

PERSONALIA.

J. F. MacDonald is convalescent from a severe attack of liver complaint.

The bowling alley added to Hope chapel is the gift of John W. Murray and Isaac Rushmore.

Dr. B. M. Rodman and family are now at home at 14 LaGrande avenue, the new Green church rectory.

Captain and Mrs. A. D. Holmes have returned from a visit to their daughter, Mrs. John Faxon, at Fitchburg, Mass.

C. I. Ames and family and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Brooks have returned home from Maplewood Cottage, Maplewood, N. H.

The reception after the marriage of Miss Howard and Mr. Rogers, next month, will be held, it is said, in the Casino.

On Sunday at the home of the bride's parents in Fanwood, Justice V. W. Nash of this city united in marriage Margaret Nell and Antone Marienbahl.

Capt. Deane, of LaGrande avenue, and Dr. D. C. Adams, of Grove street, left Plainfield Tuesday for a hunting trip in the Adirondack mountains, New York State.

Cards were issued to-day for the wedding of Miss Mabel Carpenter of Princeton to W. E. Hinkson of the Central pharmacy. The ceremony will take place at Princeton Oct. 5

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Rogers, of the corner of Park and Second streets, now has a little pigmate, George E., jr., whose birthday anniversary will come Sept. 30.

The reports published in other papers concerning the death of Mrs. Cortlandt DeLacy Evans, at Carlsbad, of cholera, are false. Remember if you do n't see it in THE PRESS it is n't so.

An informal reception will be given at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Lord, corner of Broadway and Woodland avenue, Saturday evening, from 8 to 13. The music will be by Carpenter.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Pendelton Rogers are at home once more in their pretty Sandford avenue house. They have been promenaded in the gayeties of Long Branch during the season just closing.

The Westfield Standard says: "Frank Vossler and Alice Fitzgerald, both of Plainfield, were married by the Rev. Wesley Martin, of the Methodist church, September 6. William Sullivan and Sadie Connors acted as witnesses."

The Hon. John Ulrich, State organizer of the New Jersey Republican league, arrived in Plainfield with his family, Monday afternoon. During the summer months Mr. Ulrich has been pleasantly situated in a cosy cottage at Avon-by-the-Sea.

At the marriage of Miss Mary Macy of West Seventeenth street, and Hugo Sphenkmaker, which will take place in this city within a few weeks, the Rev. Drs. Richards and Kittridge will officiate, and the Rev. G. Kennedy Newell will act as best man.

After the marriage of Miss Nettie B. Homan and Samuel Wakeman Clark, in the M. E. church, Tuesday evening, Oct. 4 at 7, there will be a reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James P. Homan, 6 West Fifth street, from 7:30 to 9:30.

The wedding of Miss Grace Howard and G. Harry Squires will take place at Grace church, Wednesday evening, Oct. 5, at 7. Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Howard, the bride's parents, will give a reception at the Casino immediately after the ceremony, followed by dancing at 10.

Charles Potter, president, and Arthur L. Titsworth, secretary, representing the American Sabbath Trust society, have been working successfully against the proposition to open the World's Fair Sunday, and have prepared a very complete memorial against National Sunday legislation.

F. L. Schoonmaker, of Putnam avenue, addressed Republican meetings at Jamestown, Alfred Centre, Bath and Owego, in the State of New York, last week, after the close of the campaign in Maine. He will make all speaking in Connecticut, beginning this evening at Ansonia.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. H. Pollion have been most hospitable entertainers this summer at their beautiful seashore home in Spring Lake. Many people prominent in Plainfield society have engaged in the pleasures which Mrs. Pollion has planned during the last two months. Mr. and Mrs. Pollion are expected home daily.

"Mart" Shrope, of the notorious Philipsburg Telegram, appears to be at his wits' end for something to fill his paper. He says: Matilda Metz, of Easton, has had a warrant issued for the arrest of M. D. Shrope, representative of the Hackettstown Press, on a charge of criminal libel. The proprietors of the paper will also be arrested."

The many Plainfield friends of Miss Nellie Snydam of Parkville, L. I., will be grieved to hear of the sad accident which has befallen her. While rusticating on the banks of the Delaware with a party of friends, she had the misfortune to fracture an ankle, which will disable her from visiting Plainfield again for some time. She has the sympathy of those far and near.

Miss Virginia Fitz Randolph will open a class of instruction in drawing from the antiques and painting from still life at her studio, 143 East 23d street, New York, on the 26th inst. Miss Randolph's talent, accomplishments and ability to teach, are unquestioned. Her work is certain to attract a large class of pupils. Miss Randolph is a niece of Plainfield's oldest and best-known residents. She was a fine spirite Sunday, and enjoyed a gathering of her children and grandchildren at her home. She was seated at a cup of beef tea, drank it, and went upstairs to change her garments. Suddenly she became unconscious, and before a physician arrived she had breathed her last. Death was attributed to heart failure resulting from indigestion.

Funeral services over the remains of the late Edgar F. Randolph took place at Trinity church Tuesday. The Rev. Cornelius Bellamy preached a sermon dwelling on the life and character of the deceased. Interment was private.

Mrs. Catherine Bedford Pearce, wife of Rev. Dr. Pearce, of Philadelphia, died at her home in that city, Monday morning, after a long illness. Mrs. Pearce was a sister of Mrs. Dr. Corneliius Bellamy, of this city, and was well known in Plainfield, where she had many friends. Mrs. Pearce was a woman of rare intellectual attainments, and was a leader in literary circles in the Quaker City. She was a member of the Contemporary club, and was also prominent in the Women's Christian Association. She was a daughter of Dr. Bedford, who was a well-known physician in Philadelphia. Mrs. Pearce was a sister of Mrs. Dr. Bellamy, of this city, and was well known in Plainfield, where she had many friends. Mrs. Pearce was a woman of rare intellectual attainments, and was a leader in literary circles in the Quaker City. She was a member of the Contemporary club, and was also prominent in the Women's Christian Association. She was a daughter of Dr. Bedford, who was a well-known physician in Philadelphia.

SOMERVILLE SHUT OUT.

NINE RUNS FOR PLAINFIELD AND TWO FOR NEW YORK.

The Crescent Team Knocks Sharrott Out of the Box and Thrashes the West Ends Unmercifully in the Inning, the Longest on Record.

There were two equine events last Saturday in Somerville. In the morning the fair people finished the races of the day before, and in the afternoon the West End Park baseball fiddlers pitted his star Mascotte against the spavined nags of West End fame before about 400 people, with a result that was unexpected. At the same time manager Mack gave a stereopticon exhibit of the hard luck that sometimes besets the West Enders.

The game that began just the Saturday before, shut again, with Somerville supposed to be stronger as Sharrott, the "Wonder", was down on the slats to Plainfield Park and by a batting average statement in itself was sufficient to take the heart out of almost any semi-professional player arrayed against him. Sharrott's ability was also very much overestimated by manager Mack, as putting him in the box was the game for the Crescents without half trying. Eight runs in one inning on two bases on balls, five safe hits, and a couple of errors by the old leaguers is demoralizing enough, without giving a base waiter, as Geo. Gore says, "difficult to reduce".

The first two innings were enough for Sharrott, and seeing enough for Mr. Mack, as with the beginning of the third Anderson was put in to pitch, Sharrott placed at short and Murray retired to centerfield. But the harm was done! The game was lost and all "Pete" could do was to smile quietly, keep the team bits down, and sandwich in a strike-out now and then.

The Somerville people are up in arms over the way the game was played. They say with Kennedy and Anderson as the pitching couple they would have won, and the pennant brought to Somerville, and they are greatly exercised over putting Freddy Crejo (who was in no condition to play as shown by the score) and Sharrott in the points. Some people even say that the game was sold out in order to play off the tie and make big money. Anyone who saw the game, and understands it, can dispute this as the Crescents won by hard smashing of the ball, lively base running, and great team play. It may have been hard luck with the West Ends, but it seemed more like hard muffing and hard hitting by the other fellows, that threw Somerville into the depths of the West End Park. The latter labored hard, perspired profusely, grunted and groaned and played their long innings in a trying batting. Two runs in the first inning, and after that eight big round goose eggs.

After the Plainfield hids got really into the game, Mack's men were never in scarcer than peaches in January. As for "Chic" Hofford and his sizable band of ball-chasers, it was a picnic, leaving out the cold chicken, spoiled eggs and hot sides, a few shade trees, nine or ten gallows girls, and some red ants to run up their trousers' legs. The little fellow was in clover, and he says he will not be beamed upon the scattering few from Plainfield with a refulgence of countenance which led many to mistake it for a mixture of sunburn and sarsaparilla. There was reason for "Chic" to be in a good humor, after all the talk of the week that the Crescents were outclassed by men like Goss, Sharrott and Fields; and "Chic" won some money, too!

If there is a man on the Crescent team who is the "father of the fence" after the game they put up Saturday, there's no such thing as gratitude in Plainfield, that's all! The West Ends champion(?) name only), on the other hand, went all to pieces after making two runs to the good. Their fielding at times was brilliantly bad, and their batting after the opening was light and untimely. Their battery work in the first part of the game was poor and they did no base running to speak of. They need a "brace" badly and quickly.

A smooth-faced, lanky-built fellow with a swing like the driving-rod of a blue line motor, occupied the pitcher's square for the Crescents. His name is Sneden and his arm is a terror. Mr. Sneden made the "recognized" West Ends wonder whether they were still able to see the ball as it came across the plate or not. He did n't do anything but chew tobacco with his right. Sash his cherry-colored countenance lorded the game and chuckle at the sad distress of the hired gang. "Pete" Anderson pitched a good game too, after the manager put him in, but he was the only man that the West Ends did n't win. The Crescents could do nothing with his speedy ball. A little smooth talk between the pitcher and a little more "hustle" infused into some of his backers, would have helped him win a victory. It was wise Anderson was put in when he was, for with the score 10 to nothing to the scores would have stood 64 to 2 at the end of the ninth.

The base runners of the West End crowd did not run base enough when they should not have run them. Take, for instance, in the fourth inning, with the Crescents six runs ahead, Gutman reached first on balls with one out. He started to steal after Anderson and Carby had been retired and with Sharrott at the bat. Of course he was thrown out by a mile. Kennedy did the same thing in the eighth, at which the old leaguer in right swore vigorously.

Sharrott was advertised to catch and he did so for six innings, during which time he showed up lame in both arms and back, to say nothing of his forgetfulness in the matter of backing up Anderson's opposite nerve. Twice he threw the ball thirty feet to the side of the base he was aiming at, and once, when Sneden came home with a run in the eighth, he did not think it worth while to put the ball on him. Sneden walked back and stepped on the rubber with "Jocky" three feet from him. The run scored. It was the ninth and last in the game.

After that Fields was sent to the dressing quarters to put on his every day garments, and Kennedy was called into the game. How "Doc" grinned. He, the old "back number", called upon at last to do something! Fields' exit was a joke, for "Doc" buckled on the "protector" a look of calm contentment spread over his face, which grew until it reached way round to the back of his head. As he walked towards the backstop a round of applause greeted him, and "Doc's" head swelled two inches in a moment. He now wears the cap with the top in the rear, as it is larger than the other ten and fits him better.

What queered the whole business for the West Enders was that the Crescents went after the big batting west the West End water hog. Manager Mack put the great amount of silver into the home club fund, but did not suppose this would brace up the other fellows, but it did! Next week each young must take their own medicine.

Tallahoma Count Lady" was the game for the Crescents, and afterwards George was the happiest man in two hemispheres. Lady can make more noise trying to crank a rusty motor around the house than a New Jersey farmer uses in ploughing a stoney meadow. Yet nobody but the lady herself objects to Lady's screaming during the past two seasons! all smiles in declaring that he confines all his notes to stage whispers, and never breaks through the high notes. Lady, you're a good fellow—you get there with the—er—er—Eli—er—Yet by keeping on—er—Eli—er—Yet by keeping on you will be the—er—er—er—er—er—er—

SOMERVILLE.	AB	R	BH	SH	LB	SO	PO	A	E
Holford, 2b	4	1	1	0	1	0	1	0	0
Mellenson, ss	4	1	1	0	1	0	0	0	0
Murphy, W. M., 1b	4	1	1	0	1	0	0	0	0
Turner, rf	4	0	1	0	1	0	0	0	0
Sharrott, 3b, ss	4	0	1	0	1	0	1	1	0
Lacy, cf	4	1	2	0	1	0	1	0	0
Fields, c	4	0	2	0	1	0	1	0	0
Farrell, 3b	4	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Bonner, lf	4	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Cadman, 2b	3	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Anderson, p	3	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Murray, c	3	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
	37	5	9	0	6	0	3	1	0

PLAINFIELD.	AB	R	BH	SH	LB	SO	PO	A	E
Carbonell, cf	4	1	1	0	1	0	1	0	0
Sharrott, p, 3b	4	1	1	0	1	0	0	1	0
Gutman, 1b	4	1	1	0	1	0	11	0	0
Gore, rf	4	1	1	0	1	0	0	0	0
Carby, ss	4	0	1	0	1	0	1	2	0
Fields, c	3	0	1	0	1	0	5	0	0
Farrell, 3b	4	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Bonner, lf	4	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Jones, 2b	4	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Sneden, p	4	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
	35	4	6	0	6	0	27	3	0

"Turner" declared out for running out of base line.

SCORE BY INNINGS.

Plainfield	0	1	0	1	0	0	0	0	1—3
Base hits	1	2	1	1	0	0	0	0	1—6
Somerville	2	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0—2
Base hits	3	2	1	0	0	0	0	0	0—6

Earned runs—West Ends, 1. Two-base hits—Murray, Farrell, Brady, Bonner, Jones, Sharrott, Gutman, Carby, Fields, Sneden. Double play—Mellenson to Jones, Brady (unassisted) to Jones, Brady to Jones. Bases on balls—Off Sneden, 1; off Sharrott, 3; off Anderson, 3. First base on errors—Somerville, 3; West Ends, 1. Left on bases—Somerville, 14; by West Ends, 4. Wild pitch—Sneden. Time of game—2.25. Umpires—Sullivan and Hopkins.

ALREADY RESORTING TO FALSEHOOD.

Candidate Kean's Organ Seeking to Secure Room for Attorney Kean in the Reserve, by Resorting to His Weak Complaint.

The Courier is seeking to build up for candidate Kean a reputation for deeds of charity that he doesn't deserve. The paper claims that Mr. Kean "was a passenger on the train, which met with an accident on Tuesday afternoon near New Brunswick and which resulted in the killing of a track-walker John Bonner and the injury of brakeman Leaming, of Philadelphia, who died yesterday. Immediately after the accident"—concludes the Courier—"Mr. Kean took up a subscription among the passengers for the benefit of Reeder's family, and secured $210."

This is all false. Mr. Kean had nothing whatever to do with the idea of giving a thank-offering purse to Reeder's beneficiary. The generous impulse came from the senior Keasbey of Newark prompted the generous subscription which the passengers of the wrecked cars gave, and counting the crisp bills gathered together the funds, which flowed freely in response to Mr. Keasby's own eloquent words. Candidate Kean did n't by word or act contribute to the success of the subscription. If he was on the train at all, he was comfortably seated in a parlor car in the unwrecked section of the train, and he was n't jarred and did n't leave his chair.

The Courier story is very pretty—for campaign purposes—but it is mistaken in the matter of setting a fake of the regular Courier stamp.

THEY BOW TO "THE PRESS".

Great Democratic Everywhere Rejoiced that Plainfield Remained Greene.

(From Democratic Daily Press.)

A good deal of discussion is going on in the papers in regard to who nominated Grover Cleveland. First the New York Republicans did it, then the Democratic papers say the same thing, and New Jersey says "we did", and rightly, too. The honor belongs to The Daily Press of Plainfield. Last night a large delegation had a large banner inscribed "Cleveland in 1892" in front of the Central Railroad depot at that place on March 8, 1892, and as Cleveland's train passed through the city taking him from Washington to New York, he saw the banner, turned and bowed to the crowd at the depot, then answering The Press. Later Mr. Cleveland wrote The Daily Press in reply to a letter received and thanked them for their courtesy, which letter The Press now has. We bow to The Press.

Bound to Create a Scare.

Some of the residents of Pearl street still insist that the recent death of a child on that street was caused by what is not a less contagious disorder. They hold that the board of health has sought to smooth down over and hush up a report of the cause of death. They are so bitter about the matter—these good kind neighbors—that out of spite they refused to let the necessary disinfectants into the poor, bereaved and needy mother's to wear to the funeral. THE PRESS is disposed to accept the judgment of the board of health in the premises, that body having made a thorough investigation. The people should be grateful to escape pestilence, and not develop anger because the health authorities have used care and discretion.

Somerset Freeholders Accept a Borough Bridge.

The Somerset county freeholders met in the court-house Tuesday and did their usual monthly business. The various committees appointed to confer with the Union county freeholders in regard to accepting the private bridge at North Plainfield reported favorably on the matter, ing the bridge, and the report was adopted.

County collector Allen was authorized to borrow $10,000 in anticipation of taxes. Bills aggregating $4,036 35 were ordered paid.

Grand Trial of Longhorn's Plates.

Four society bodies of Dunellen monopolized much of the time of a Plainfield photographer Wednesday.

Low Rate Harvest Excursions.

The announcement that the North-Western line, comprising over 8,000 miles of railroad between Chicago and St. Paul, has ranged to run two low-rate harvest excursions during the months of August and September, will be gladly received by all who are interested in the development of the great West and Northwest, as well as by those who desire to visit this wonderfully productive region at a season of the year when exact dissemination can be made of the merits and advantages it offers to home-seekers and those in search of safe and profitable investments.

These excursions will leave Chicago on August 30 and Sept. 27, and tickets can be purchased at the very low rate of one fare for the round trip to points in Iowa, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho, and Montana. They will be strictly first-class in every particular and will be good for return passage at any time within twenty days from date of purchase. Full and complete information and arrangements for these excursions can be obtained upon application to any coupon ticket agent, or to P. Tindall, G. P. A. Chicago, Milwaukee & North-western Railway, Chicago.

Before them stretched a vista of fifteen miles of the finest farming country in the world, dotted with prosperous towns and villages, and the whole bathed in the golden glow of the setting sun.

Oh, Reader, Where Are You? Every month, ADAMS KING CHAMBERLAIN, JR., appears in the pulpit of THE NEW YORK HERALD:

A TALE OF THE ORIENT.

Remarkable Story of the Fez Riot, With a Startling Local Application.

An Eastern story, as I'm told,
Concerning an ivory stove,
That were the inhabitants cold
Were allowed to rise and move
Their beds of love for discussion,
And I just as soon their vote
That stoves to be their accessories,
A man with pads on his coat.

He rubbed his hands in horror,
At the sinfulness all around,
The Turks, muttered wops
That had straightway fled the ground.
He told the people they were fools
To always wait for a fire
Where all the mischief in the world
Was just a trolley-car.

The people (supposing the word)
Were classified with great delight,
But certain wise old fogy sniffs
Were taken in with fright.
That many learned dopers were
Called in for consultation,
And for about three weeks, I'm told,
To work roundabout!

Then one old, all-important sheik
Arose with dignity and care
Swore by his wool'rous growth of beard,
And by the winds that blow—
That, though he'd lived for many years,
The other folks should walk,
And, though he'd ridden on camels
Were strong as Samson Bock.

"Were shame!"—he said—"to mitigate
My sacred dignity,
To ride with bright Arcadia
Of its simplicity;
To barter off the wilderness
Of this ambrosia spot!
I've got a team of camels! Hang
The man who says he's not!"

And he writ a screed that called upon
The head men of the place
To stamp his name and signet
Who protested their disgrace;
And signed and signed the screed
With unanimity,
Inflamed by the greatness of
Their independency.

And here is where the story stops—
The rest is on the wire;
But you can bet there's a rising-up
Of that pneumatic tire
Foreboden a "puncture" just as sure,
As you know you're not a liar,
And with the drop of selfishness
Will come the tumble-er.

Now all this oriental yarn
Is just a little bluff—
You'll fit it to the Borough's woes
If you are up to snuff!

T.

HONORS COME FAST AND THICK.

Two Interesting Events Recorded in the Annals of the Haffner Family.

(From The Dunellen Weekly Call.)

Mr and Mrs. F. P. Haffner were presented with a bright baby girl one morning last week.

At the last meeting of the Middlesex Bowling club Mr. Schepflin's green, Frank P. Haffner won the medal for the champion-hip of the club. Only nine members of the club were present at the contest to compete in the contest. They were as follows: Messrs. C. Schepflin, F. P. Haffner, J. B. Botts, Dr. Wagoner, Dr. W. E. Lindsley, J. A. Richter, John J. Wills, Sheriff Frick, and H. Brewster Willis, who held the medal last year. Mr. Haffner won by the score of 25 to 16. The medal is a very handsome one, and the winner is proud of it.

GOVERNOR ABBETT PROPHESIES.

Hudson County Will Give Werts 6,000 Majority.

It is estimated that fully fifteen thousand people entered the gates of the Hudson county fair grounds during the day and all other available space was taken up by vehicles, from the much used, farmer's wagon to the handsome Kensington driven by R. V. Lindsbury's coachman and occupied by Mrs. Palmer stillman and her daughter, Mrs. Clarke. Dr. R. T. Purdy exhibited his grey to the admiring game of a countless multitude and senator Keys with baroucha and span of blacks, whose cleaning silver mountings were the wonder of every man, governor Abbett, state treasurer Gray, Otto Kelley and Col. Kusar, up and down the track. The display of the senator's turnout was probably the most talked of with great applause. The governor told a Press reporter in the judge's stand that Werts would have 9,000 majority in Hudson county alone; that the party would unite solidly for him and all would be well.

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM.

Plainfield's Health Authorities Can Be Trusted to Conduct Sanitary Affairs, Without Front street Interference.

The Courier is still trying to run sanitary matters in this town. Now it is fearfully excited because, according to its statement, it should break out in Plainfield, the cases could not be handled. It seeks to work up a scare by the argument that because a few cases of cholera have been imported in New York, and because commuters travel daily between Plainfield and the metropolis, therefore the germs of cholera may be brought to this city. THE PRESS is confident that Plainfield's health authorities are fully competent to handle all cases of disease and contagion that they may arise; and in spite of the Courier's excitement and terror the public may feel assured that in any possible emergency the physicians can be trusted to look after the public's sanitary interests in every particular. Besides, why should the Courier concern itself? There is an old proverb to the effect that an ill-wind that blows nobody no good.

HYMENEAL.

Wedding Bells.

A very pretty home wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Lockwood, 4 Ludington place, Tuesday night when their daughter, Miss Jennie D., was married to the Rev. Marcus W. Smalley. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Dr. Reed Dillon, the pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church.

The bride was attended by two very pretty little maids of honor, the Misses Smalley.

The groom is a successful pastor at Houston, Texas, where he has charge of a large and flourishing congregation, and engaged to run two low-rate harvest excursions during the months of August and September, will be gladly received by all who are interested in the development of the great West and Northwest, as well as by those who desire to visit this wonderfully productive region at a season of the year when exact dissemination can be made of the merits and advantages it offers to home-seekers and those in search of safe and profitable investments.

These excursions will leave Chicago on August 30 and Sept. 27, and tickets can be purchased at the very low rate of one fare for the round trip to points in Iowa, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho, and Montana. They will be strictly first-class in every particular and will be good for return passage at any time within twenty days from date of purchase. Full and complete information and arrangements for these excursions can be obtained upon application to any coupon ticket agent, or to P. Tindall, G. P. A. Chicago, Milwaukee & North-western Railway, Chicago.

Before them stretched a vista of fifteen miles of the finest farming country in the world, dotted with prosperous towns and villages, and the whole bathed in the golden glow of the setting sun.

Oh, Reader, Where Are You? Every month, ADAMS KING CHAMBERLAIN, JR., appears in the pulpit of THE NEW YORK HERALD:

A TALE OF THE ORIENT.

Remarkable Story of the Fez Riot, With a Startling Local Application.

An Eastern story, as I'm told,
Concerning an ivory stove,
That were the inhabitants cold
Were allowed to rise and move
Their beds of love for discussion,
And I just as soon their vote
That stoves to be their accessories,
A man with pads on his coat.

He rubbed his hands in horror,
At the sinfulness all around,
The Turks, muttered wops
That had straightway fled the ground.
He told the people they were fools
To always wait for a fire
Where all the mischief in the world
Was just a trolley-car.

The people (supposing the word)
Were classified with great delight,
But certain wise old fogy sniffs
Were taken in with fright.
That many learned dopers were
Called in for consultation,
And for about three weeks, I'm told,
To work roundabout!

Then one old, all-important sheik
Arose with dignity and care
Swore by his wool'rous growth of beard,
And by the winds that blow—
That, though he'd lived for many years,
The other folks should walk,
And, though he'd ridden on camels
Were strong as Samson Bock.

"Were shame!"—he said—"to mitigate
My sacred dignity,
To ride with bright Arcadia
Of its simplicity;
To barter off the wilderness
Of this ambrosia spot!
I've got a team of camels! Hang
The man who says he's not!"

And he writ a screed that called upon
The head men of the place
To stamp his name and signet
Who protested their disgrace;
And signed and signed the screed
With unanimity,
Inflamed by the greatness of
Their independency.

And here is where the story stops—
The rest is on the wire;
But you can bet there's a rising-up
Of that pneumatic tire
Foreboden a "puncture" just as sure,
As you know you're not a liar,
And with the drop of selfishness
Will come the tumble-er.

Now all this oriental yarn
Is just a little bluff—
You'll fit it to the Borough's woes
If you are up to snuff!

T.

HONORS COME FAST AND THICK.

Two Interesting Events Recorded in the Annals of the Haffner Family.

(From The Dunellen Weekly Call.)

Mr and Mrs. F. P. Haffner were presented with a bright baby girl one morning last week.

At the last meeting of the Middlesex Bowling club Mr. Schepflin's green, Frank P. Haffner won the medal for the champion-hip of the club. Only nine members of the club were present at the contest to compete in the contest. They were as follows: Messrs. C. Schepflin, F. P. Haffner, J. B. Botts, Dr. Wagoner, Dr. W. E. Lindsley, J. A. Richter, John J. Wills, Sheriff Frick, and H. Brewster Willis, who held the medal last year. Mr. Haffner won by the score of 25 to 16. The medal is a very handsome one, and the winner is proud of it.

GOVERNOR ABBETT PROPHESIES.

Hudson County Will Give Werts 6,000 Majority.

It is estimated that fully fifteen thousand people entered the gates of the Hudson county fair grounds during the day and all other available space was taken up by vehicles, from the much used, farmer's wagon to the handsome Kensington driven by R. V. Lindsbury's coachman and occupied by Mrs. Palmer stillman and her daughter, Mrs. Clarke. Dr. R. T. Purdy exhibited his grey to the admiring game of a countless multitude and senator Keys with baroucha and span of blacks, whose cleaning silver mountings were the wonder of every man, governor Abbett, state treasurer Gray, Otto Kelley and Col. Kusar, up and down the track. The display of the senator's turnout was probably the most talked of with great applause. The governor told a Press reporter in the judge's stand that Werts would have 9,000 majority in Hudson county alone; that the party would unite solidly for him and all would be well.

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM.

Plainfield's Health Authorities Can Be Trusted to Conduct Sanitary Affairs, Without Front street Interference.

The Courier is still trying to run sanitary matters in this town. Now it is fearfully excited because, according to its statement, it should break out in Plainfield, the cases could not be handled. It seeks to work up a scare by the argument that because a few cases of cholera have been imported in New York, and because commuters travel daily between Plainfield and the metropolis, therefore the germs of cholera may be brought to this city. THE PRESS is confident that Plainfield's health authorities are fully competent to handle all cases of disease and contagion that they may arise; and in spite of the Courier's excitement and terror the public may feel assured that in any possible emergency the physicians can be trusted to look after the public's sanitary interests in every particular. Besides, why should the Courier concern itself? There is an old proverb to the effect that an ill-wind that blows nobody no good.

HYMENEAL.

Wedding Bells.

A very pretty home wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Lockwood, 4 Ludington place, Tuesday night when their daughter, Miss Jennie D., was married to the Rev. Marcus W. Smalley. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Dr. Reed Dillon, the pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church.

The bride was attended by two very pretty little maids of honor, the Misses Smalley.

The groom is a successful pastor at Houston, Texas, where he has charge of a large and flourishing congregation, and

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength. Latest U. S. Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall St., N. Y.

THE PRESIDENT ACCEPTED IT.

Credits and Honor to Dr. Charles Bellman, for His Valuable Contribution to Official Literature.

Charles Bellman, the well-known mining engineer of this city, has just published, through the Scientific Publishing company of New York, a complete translation of the mining laws of the Republic of Columbia. This work, which is the outcome of over 25 years spent in superintending mining operations in South America, is very valuable, inasmuch as the laws have not only never been translated into English, but are not otherwise obtainable in book form even in Spanish. The translation has been made from various official editions of the laws and from official Government papers. Mr. Bullman has had the benefit of the opinions of prominent lawyers in Columbia in regard to various doubtful interpretations, and has included in the volume an interesting history of the laws of the republic and a list of the necessary forms and precedents to be observed by the miner in making the various applications to the legal authorities. The book is thorough and complete in every respect, and reflects credit on Mr. Bullman. By special permission the book has been dedicated to His Excellency Rafael Nunez, President of the Republic.

New Jersey's Game and Fish Laws.

Below will be found the "open season" for game and fish in New Jersey. No changes were made in the game laws by the last legislature, excepting the enactment of a law prohibiting the killing of European grouse or partridge for three years:

BIRDS.	Open Season.	Penalty for Killing Out of Season.
Ruffed Grouse, qu

POLICE COURT SCENES.

A Peculiar Phase of Low Life at the Nation's Capital.

Concerning Lawyers Appointed, Our Correspondent Draws Vivid Pictures of the Washington Police Court—Strange Persons and Things.

[Special Washington Letter.]

Upon every face in the police court is written the pathetic plea: "Listen to my tale of woe." There never was such a court in any community. It is a racial kaleidoscope. The national capital is populated with cosmopolites, and this fact is capable of demonstration any morning by a visit to our hall of routine. This hall is no picture in the figure of a blindfolded lady with a pair of scales in one hand and a great big Mosman sword in the other. Oh, no! There are big policemen from Ireland, bailiffs from Africa, a judge of English descent and lawyers of all classes, from the shyster to the prince of criminal practice.

The Black Maria dumps her loads of unfortunates before the old courthouse and they are hurried into the cage, where they remain until the others summon them before the bar, which is in such contrast with the bar they patronized the night before that they think at first they cannot sing: "Oh! what a difference in the morning!"

Usually Monday is a busy day in the police court and often Monday sessions do not close until five or six o'clock in the afternoon. The number of prisoners brought in on Mondays is usually larger than on other days on account of there being no session of the court Sunday. The first sign of business about the court in the morning is generally the appearance of persons who carry their living defending prisoners who are only able to employ a lawyer by pleading as counsel. Some of the "shysters" appear even before the janitor has had an opportunity to finish the morning mop and dusting. In warm weather they and the "cappers" sit about on the rail that protects the bench, and in the winter time like crows sitting on a country fence. When the weather is cold they gather about the stove, and as the janitor goes his rounds with one of the officers appears at the door and announces the arrival on the "Main Line" of the prisoners, and the lawyers and "cappers" make a rush for the cells in the basement. It is useless for anyone to solicit business while the prisoners are marching across the pavement from the "Maria" to the court "pen."

This "pen," or, as it is sometimes called, "the black hole," is located in the basement of the building. There is no ventilation, and little to add to the comfort of the miserable quarters provided for the poor people who are unable to produce a few dollars "solidarial," that would enable them to their freedom pending the hearing of their cases. In hot weather, when these small dungeons are crowded with poor sinners, some of them almost smother to death. There is one cell for males and another for females, but when the usual Monday crowd arrives the males are in sufficient numbers to overflow all the both the cells, and the females are seated on benches along the narrow corridor. The dock where the prisoners stand when arraigned is just at the head of a stairway leading up from "the black hole." It is a small pen, built inside the court room, divided off from the rest of the room by a railing. There is a door that opens from the outside for the prisoners come in turn as their cases are called. Every time the door is opened several feet of females can be seen, each trying to get a look into the courtroom. Policeman Harbin is in charge of the prisoners and has been in the position for a number of years. He is familiar with the faces of most of those who are regular visitors.

Those who defend the prisoners are not permitted to enter the dock, because if they were, the first man would have a monopoly of the business. A lawyer has to get the judge's permission to see a prisoner, and then the latter has to be called up by name.

The "shysters" present a considerable difficulty in learning the names of prisoners when they are not actually employed, and it sometimes happens that even after being called up the prisoners will decline to accept the proffered services of the counselor.

GUILTY OR NOT GUILTY?

Before the court convenes Bailiff Kendig is kept busy calling up the prisoners to be interviewed. Sometimes two or three lawyers claim the same client, angry words are heard, and the most come to blows.

Judge Miller seldom appears on the bench later than a few minutes past nine o'clock, and the murmur and hustle that is manifested in court before that time dies away when Bailiff Hoos looks over his spectacles and calls: "Oyez! oyez! all persons having business before the honorable judge of the police court of the District of Columbia will draw nigh and give their attention, for the court is now in session." Then the prisoners are called to the dock, and one by one they are called up to see whether they are "guilty" or "not guilty," for those are the only questions that interest the court.

Hour after hour the judge sits on the bench and listens to the tales of woe of distressed wives, mothers and children, and hears the evidence of policemen and others against the disorderly characters in the dock. All who appear as defendants are not common criminals by any means. The judge is often called upon to settle family troubles between husbands and wives, or between parents and children. Many are arrested for playing ball in the street, or playing "handy" or some other game, and others for violations of the various violations of the police regulations.

There was a little Italian girl in the dock this morning who made complaint of brutal treatment on the part of her father. She said that the night before he father knocked her down, kicked her while she was prostrate, and then compelled her mother to the floor with his fist when she remonstrated with him. The judge sent for the father, who testified that her daughter was incorrigible, and that her father was obliged to punish her, but that he always admonished the child's faults with moderation. The judge warned him not to use there the instrument of the mother, were the little girl cried out: "Don't blame mamma. Papa don't say nothing else. Father would kill her if she told the truth." Whereupon Judge Miller sent for neighbors as additional witnesses. Through them was procured the information that the child was the victim of the most brutal sort. The girl begged piteously to be sent to the reformatory, saying that she would be safe there, but rather than to let him go she was given into the care of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

WASHINGTON POLICE COURT TYPES.

The most pathetic sights in the police court. They make the room as black as black can be. If there were thousands of crows perched upon the rail they could make no more noise in the shades. These negroes, if not interested in relatives and friends before the court, are making up like birds in the trees in the jungles. The majority of the prisoners are black as the ace of spades, but there are scores of all grades, from the Nubian to the freckled Afrikoo. There are mulattoes, quadroons, octoroons, and the starting racial mixtures of negroes with whites, and combinations with scarcely any complexions indescribable either with pen or brush are the result. When negro families bring their cases before the court it is growing more and more observable that the whiter the women of the enfranchised race the blacker the men of their choices. This indicates more plainly here than anywhere else that the tendency of the African race is downward rather than upward. In making this statement I assume that it is conceded that the Anglo-Saxon race is recognized in America, as it is all over the world, as the dominant race, a race of robbers, freebooters, plunderers, it is true, yet the dominant race of all the world, a race which first learns to worship Thor, the god of battles and of plunder, and afterward takes time to study the outlines of the religion of Nazareth and Gethsemane, the religion of love.

The murderers of the District of Columbia are of two classes, as seen in the police court. They are the open-and-above board murderers, who shoot their victims in broad daylight—the white criminals. Then there are the fellows who scurry from the dark alleys to slug a passing victim with club, or stone or knife in order to rob him of his pocketbook—the type of the black criminals. One thing is particularly commendable of the colored murderer, and that is he never feigns insanity for his dark deeds.

Congress has never passed a law, applicable only to this locality, a law, and a rigid one, against carrying concealed weapons. The legislation is directed particularly against the most deadly weapon of the negro criminal, the razor. Every one of the lower class of negroes carries a razor in his bootleg or somewhere about his person. The police authorities and lease tenants tell me that this new statute will enable them to reduce the number of homicides one-half per cent, and at the same time minimize the work of the judge in the police court. They are now hoping that the enactment of a law which will reduce the number of drinking saloons, those fruitful sources of crime.

HARRY D. FIE.

BUSINESS WOMAN'S CONTENTMENT.

A Man's Curiosity Despised Till the Reason for It Was Learned.

A certain business woman often takes letters and packages to the post office to be weighed. As often as she had occasion to do so she noticed angry words with the weak and trivial curiosity of the male mind, for every time she handed in a package to be weighed the busy man in charge stopped to turn it over and read the address.

"And they talk of the curiosity of women," she scornfully thought.

A few days ago she repeated this experience—up to a certain point. The variation began when the examining male said cheerfully:

"It would be a good idea, wouldn't it, for you to put on here the town these papers are going to? Yes, certainly; I'll write it for you. Now the sixty hundred ladies' letters from being lost in the last three weeks by looking to see if they were directed all right. I don't bother about the men, but I always look at the ladies' letters."

And the crushed business woman walked away with all the zeal and dignity she could muster.—Boston Globe.

Only as to Business.

"I hope you don't associate with that man I saw you speak to on the street just now," said she.

"Associate with him? What do you take me for? That man, sir, is one of the most notorious, unscrupulous, unprincipled, underhanded, low-down, villainous and depraved scoundrels that ever managed to keep out of jail."

"I know it. But why are you on speaking terms with him at all?"

"Why, I'm—er—his lawyer."—Chicago Tribune.

Force of Habit.

The waiter was a little nervous, and dropped the guest's steak upon the floor. Then he grabbed it, gave it a wipe with his apron, and placed it on the plate.

"Do you expect me to eat that?" asked the victim.

"O! Excuse me. I forgot. You see, continued the servitor, "I used to be a cook."—Indianapolis Journal.

Musical Item.

Mrs. A.—I saw your husband on the street yesterday.

Mrs. B.—Did he seem to be in good humor?

"I never saw him in such high spirits."

"That's the way he always is when you happen to run out of funds just I can't play on it."—Texas Siftings.

Near Too Soon.

Adlet in Chicago clerk)—Mr. Lakup, that watch we sent to mopnow. I was to get married.

Laker—Didn't I let you off one day last week for that purpose?

Adlet—No, sir; it was the week before.

Laker—Is it that long ago? All right, then—Jury.

A Coldness Between Friends.

"Yes, Kilow is a good fellow, but he treats me coldly."

"What is the matter?"

"I can't understand it myself. I have always treated him well, and only this month when he got married I sent him an accident insurance policy in a weddding present."—Chicago Tribune.

Rose to Earth.

She—No, Pa forbids me to marry you.

He—Why?

She—He objects to your family.

He—Isn't it old enough?

She—I don't know. Superintendent Byrnes didn't learn the age of your wife and children.—Life.

Not to Be Trifled With.

"Ethel, dear, you are looking pale and ill this morning."

"Yes, mamma, I went in bathing yesterday and got my feet wet."

"Oh, careless girl, and spoiled your bathing suit, no doubt. Never let that happen again."—Texas Siftings.

His Double.

College Friend—Why don't you draw a right straight on your opponent? Are you afraid of killing the goose that lays the golden egg?

Specialist—No, Student—Not exactly—but I don't think he'd shell out.—Chicago Tribune.

Of Course He Didn't.

Stranger—Say, that was a terrible free fights down town last night. Did you see them?

Policeman—Naw! I'm a policeman, and they was all on me beat!—Boston News.

Stood by Him.

Eddieback—Willie, did your sister say anything about the suit I had on yesterday?

Willie—Yes. She told me that clothes didn't always make the man.—N. Y. Sun.

Rather Afraid.

Mother—I am afraid that new governess is going to be of no use to you.

Father—Why so?

Mother—Johnny seems to like her.—Good News.

AN INTERRUPTED LIE.

Mamma—Willie, you know you mustn't tell a lie.

Willie—Yes, I know it, but I was just going to tell one when you interrupted me.

Copyright, 1892, by Press Publishing Co. (The New York World). Rights in the United States and Great Britain reserved.

THE BORROWED COAT.

A Funny Story with a Moral for Husbands and Wives.

Strange Complications Arising from a Tailor's Negligence—A Modern Damon and Pythias—Wedlock Has and Its Annoying Results.

[Special New York Letter.]

NEVER was in such a hideous fix before," said Ralston Palmer, one of the leading young men of Harlem. The speaker was certainly in a bad fix. He was to be married at a quarter past twelve o'clock that day. At twelve o'clock precisely he was expected at the home of the fair bride. It was now half past eleven. The carriage that was to convey him to the house of the bride's parents had been standing before his door for an hour, the horses impatiently champing their bits. He was waiting for the tailor to bring his wedding coat. He was otherwise completely dressed for the occasion. He even had his hair curled and his boots shined.

"Put on your old coat," said Tompson Hyde, who was to officiate as his best man.

"Never!" said Palmer. "It is shabby, it is out of fashion and the sleeves are shiny. People will think that I am a reporter. I tell you, Tompson, if Louise refuses to give me up on account of this I will refuse to marry me. Oh, if I could only lay my hands on that tailor for ten minutes!" And the despairing bridegroom gritted his teeth.

"It is a quarter of twelve," remarked his best man. "The affair must be really serious. When did that cursed tailor say he would have that coat here?"

"He promised by all that was good and holy to have that coat here at half past ten o'clock, and he has not come back on me. I wonder if some rival is not trying to prevent the marriage from taking place?"

"Suppose you send for the coat?"

"It is too late," exclaimed Palmer, with a groan. "Before I could get one I should be hauled out of the window and thrown into the street. That is the cursed sort of a manner, notwithstanding the fact that he knew three old maids, connected by blood the parents of the bride, were watching him. He was also aware that Mrs. Randolph Peterson, a lady who lives in the house further on, was flattening her nose against the pane of glass. She was a gadabout, and knew the history of every family of the appearance of the bride and groom. There was also a small group of picket pins in front of the house that gathered around the door, waiting impatiently to see the bridegroom enter the carriage.

"It is stupid of you to put off everything to the last minute," said Hyde, impatiently. "I'll go and get you a coat."

"I know it does," replied the despairing man, "but it is too late to argue that question now. A coat! a coat! My kingdom for a coat!"

"I'd have had my toggery ready for a week," said Hyde, looking down at his immaculate habiliments. "A man should never take such risks."

As Ides seemed to have struck Ralston Palmer dumb, Hyde left the room. A friend very much like that which a cannibal casts upon his victim.

"Now, Tompson Hyde, you are just about my size and build."

"I'm not about," was the response.

Seizing the latter by the arm the would-be husband exclaimed: "Lend me your coat!"

"Don't talk foolishness," responded Hyde, recoiling a step at the very idea.

"Prove that you are a friend, and lend me your coat. Don't you see that you will notice that you are not dressed in the height of fashion, or that your elbows shine."

"PONY, OLD BOY, LEND ME YOUR COAT."

"O, yes, they will," said Hyde, with a sickly smile, "but you are in a despairing humor I will swap places with you, and be the bridegroom, eh?"

"Don't be a fool, Tompson, of things," exclaimed Palmer, almost with tears in his eyes. "If you have got any real friendship for me, don't leave me in this horrible scrape. I never afterwards could have any confidence in you if you did. Why should you be so unkind to me? Come, now, that's a good fellow."

There was so much misery depicted in the face of Ralston Palmer that Hyde surrendered. Perhaps it was the other inducement that caused him to yield a moment later exchanged hats, coats, and the carriage rolled off amid the shouts of the assembled crowd.

There were the usual congratulations and ceremonies; everything went off smoothly, and the bride's mother shed tears. Everybody seemed full of happiness, except Tompson Hyde, who was satisfied from the eyes of the ushers that were riveted on his bad-fitting coat and the shiny elbows. The bridal couple took the train for Niagara Falls.

Young Mrs. Palmer managed, however, to get rid of some of her superfluous modesty on the train, and by the time they were in the palace car she leaned her head on her husband's shoulder, or rather the breast of Tompson Hyde's coat.

"Because, do you ever smoke?" she asked, confidingly.

"No, darling, never—that is, not often. Have you ever seen me with a cigar?"

"What is the next thing in the breast-pocket of your coat?"

"That my handkerchief, dearest?" he asked, tenderly.

He looks very much as if you were trying to steal it," she exclaimed, before he could object she had reached in the breast-pocket of the coat and drawn out a letter, which was addressed to Tompson Hyde. "It's my darling!"

Mrs. Palmer looked triumphantly at the letter, then at her husband, and then at the dark object in the breast-pocket of the coat.

"Tompson Hyde, you villain!" she exclaimed, "you have been making love to my husband before his face!"

"Why, Ralston, I—I—I—" said Palmer, trying to collect his thoughts.

"It is no use to deny it," said Mrs. Palmer, angrily, closing her fingers tightly on a letter, which, together with a fine gold watch, she had taken from his vest-pocket, unseen by him.

Five minutes after the train stopped at a railroad station and Palmer got out of the car to get his wife some refreshments. It was a very hot day. She utilized the opportunity to open the letter. It was written in a small hand, and was a love letter to her loving American.

To say that Mrs. Palmer was exasperated would be inadequate language. She was a perfect rage. The husband, when he returned with the lemonade, was astonished at the ferocity of her glances.

"WHAT DOES THIS MEAN, TELLA?"

"Here is some nice lemonade. We will not arrive at our destination for several hours yet."

"I am very much obliged to you," said the young wife, with great dignity. "I am going to stroll right here."

"You are going to get off? The train is going to go off in a minute." What do you mean? We will be left."

"You will be left, for I am going right back to my mother, where I spent the happy days of my childhood," and she burst into tears.

"Louise!" exclaimed her husband, disagreeably surprised.

"You are a devil, a sneaky, deceived I will never have anything more to do with you! Oh, you vile, vile wretch!"

"Calm yourself, dear."

"I am not your dear. You can go to your dear Amelia if you want to," she said, with withering sarcasm.

"Who the deuce is she?"

"What does this mean, villain!" said Mrs. Palmer, producing the ominous document from her pocket and shaking it under her husband's nose.

Mr. Palmer looked at the letter and seemed to lose very much confidence.

"Louise," he said, "I suppose I should have told you about it before, but it is not too late now."

"O, I know what it is. I always suspected it. You have got another wife! Why didn't I die before?"

"Not quite," answered Mr. Palmer, "but this would-be-gifted girl belongs to Tompson Hyde, and that wretched idiot did not have sense enough to take his things out of his pockets," and he explained all the details of how the miserable tailor had gone back on him, how he had begged Hyde all sorts of things to get him to wrap him up.

Louise laughed and cried at the same time, and begged his forgiveness. She even kissed him a few times over.

"That will do," she said, "that a man should have no secrets from his wife."

"No doubt it does, but it also shows another thing—that a wife should not go through her husband's pockets."

"I will never do it again," she said, and she has kept her word, perhaps, as she received safely at Niagara Falls without the young husband being called on to make any more explanations.

ALEX E. SWEET.

An Unlucky Tautology.

Several men were talking of superstitions so common among all classes of people. As a matter of course, one of the party touched upon the 13th, and finally called number thirteen. An old white-haired man, who had been wearing distance full moved forward:

"I want to tell you gentlemen not to have the thirteen business. It is all a superstition, but I tell you don't you eat at no table what day's thirteen.

"Why, mamma, I've been trying for nearly every one of the days it proved dead and buried."

The horses expressed sympathy at his remarkable statement and asked for particulars.

"Some years of them got killed, and one thing or another, and some just nacherly died. But boy is pretty nearly all gone now."

"How long ago did this thirteen-table-eating fad exist?"

"Been about fifty years since the war, ain't it? Well, I guess it must be supposed two years before that when Isaac Jones, he died. He died about an hour as enough it was only yesterday."—Chicago Times.

JURIST AND SCHOLAR.

William Edgar Simonds, Noted States Supreme Court Lawyer.

William Edgar Simonds, the present distinguished patents, was born in Collinsville, Conn., November 24, 1847. He was educated at the common and high schools of that village and then at the Connecticut state normal school. He taught school for a year or two, in August, 1865, he enlisted as a private in the Twenty-fifth Connecticut infantry, his brother and his stepfather, the only other male members of the family, have already enlisted for three years. He was soon made sergeant major of the regiment, and at the battle of Irish Bend in Louisiana, on the 14th day of April, 1863, he was promoted to be 2d lieutenant. He was soon after detailed for service with his regiment in August, 1863.

WILLIAM EDGAR SIMONDS.

He graduated from the Yale law school in 1865, and since that time has practiced law in Hartford, Conn. In 1885 he was chairman of the committee on railroads in the Connecticut house of representatives. In 1886 he was elected speaker of the house, and in 1887 was speaker of the Connecticut house of representatives. In 1888 he was elected to the state senate, and was chairman of the committee on judiciary, which body he served. While a member of the fifty-first congress, he introduced copyright bills, which were reported by the judiciary committee, debated for two days, and passed the house by a negative majority of about forty. Mr. Simonds then reintroduced the bills, adding the necessary modifications, and procured its favorable report to the house. On the third day of the short session, after a vigorous fight through the house, after a vigorous fight, by a majority of about forty. By reason of a misunderstanding in the senate, it had to pass the house in one shape or another, and finally, each time after a night session, by a majority of about twenty-five. Mr. Simonds's bill was signed by the president on which congress adjourned. With this service in connection with Simonds, the copyright law of 1891 was passed. Congress conferred upon the honorary of the Legion of Honor. He has filled the position of president of the Yale law school since 1891. Yale university also conferred upon him the honorary degree of master of arts. Dartmouth college conferred upon him the honorary degree of doctor of laws.

THE ITALIAN ARMY.

What It Costs to Maintain the Immense Establishment.

A Burden Which May Cause the Downfall of the House of Savoy Any Day—The Peace Footing of the Army Are the Berseglieri.

The average annual cost of the Italian army is 190,000,000 lire. Service is compulsory upon all Italian subjects between the ages of twenty and thirty-nine, with the exception of convicted criminals. The annual number of conscripts who are actually available for service is about 250,000. These divided into three categories. The first and second, says Leslie's Monthly, join the permanent army for eight years, the mobile militia four years and for the remaining period the territorial militia. The army comprises men with the colors and those on unlimited furlough. The mobile militia is liable to be called out in time of war, or for training, or for the preservation of the civil peace. A number of the territorial militia must attend for instruction at least thirty days, spread over a period of three years. The third category of the first class, of men who have served the nineteen years of service in the territorial militia.

About 6,000 volunteers are annually accepted, who serve for three years or for the special term. The nominal strength of the army is 790,000; mobile militia, 230,000, and territorial militia, 600,000. But of these about one-half are entirely untrained. For actual service the regular forces would probably be more than 450,000 men. There are 12 territorial commands, 24 territorial divisions and 87 districts for recruiting purposes. Each infantry company contains about 90 men.

Alpine regiments are distinct in character, and are recruited from the border districts.

Volunteers pay for their service in the active corps, and receive no pay while on for service in the infantry. Under these conditions a volunteer's service is made more than three years, and for longer years on furlough, four years in mobile and seven years in territorial militia.

The peace footing of the Italian army is: The general staff, the staff corps, the artillery and engineers, infantry, cavalry, medical carabiniers, corps of invalids, sanitary corps, commissariat corps, corps of paymasters and the veterinary corps.

The artillery contains 12 regiments of field artillery, 5 of fortress and 3 battalions of horse artillery, with 5 companies of artillery artificers and 1 company of veterans. The officers number 1,434.

ITALIAN BERSAGLIERI.

The engineers consist of 10 battalions, with an additional one of pontoniers.

There are 96 regiments of infantry of the line and 12 battalions of bersaglieri, a total of 900. The famed Bersaglieri comprise 12 regiments, each of 3 battalions of 4 companies each, and 3 battalions of Alpine regiments are 6 in number, each of which have 30 battalions, or 72 companies.

The cavalry makes a total of 22 regiments, each of 4 squadrons each, and depot.

The royal carabiniers are composed of 11 territorial legions and 1 legion of mobilized carabiniers. This latter is a police force similar to the French gendarmerie.

The corps of invalids and veterans has a staff and 4 companies. The sanitary corps contains 742 medical officers, who look after the health and arrangements of the army and the hospital service. The commissariat corps looks after subsistence and the quarters. It numbers 346 officers. The corps of paymasters keeps the accounts and pays the troops. The veterinary corps numbers 135 officers.

To obtain the rank of commissioned officer the candidate must be eighteen years old and have served two years as an enlisted soldier, or one year as a volunteer, or pass direct as lieutenant from a military institute.

The Italian army is formerly recruited in northern Italy almost exclusively, but of recent years the tendency has been to draw from the south, so as to destroy the feeling of sectionalism, and the result is that now men from all sections of the kingdom are found in the Bersaglieri. The latter troops, with their green plumes of feathers, soiling, are the favorites in the army, and their use of their limbs and arms, are soldiers of whom any country might be vain.

Ice Water Without Ice.

Here is a way to make—how to get ice-cold water in places where there is no ice. Wrap a jug—a porous jug—one of those common earthenware things—in flannel — and keep it always wet. Put it all around, leaving no place exposed to the air place it, filled with water—or with anything else, which is some degree of coldness—in an open window, exposed to all the air there is. Keep the flannel wet, and in an hour the contents of the jug will be almost as cool as if they had been iced. This is a tropical trick which tricks the tropics.

Too Much Thickening.

Mrs. Winks—I see the question of omitting the word "obey" from the marriage service is up again.

Mrs. Minks—Yes, it's perfectly absurd to think any woman would marry the marriage service. They'll be leaving out "love and honor" next, and bring the beautiful sacrament down to a common-place civil contract. Well, I must be going. I want to take this bundle home to my husband. He is at work up. It is some of my husband's duds which he told me to mend, but I think I'll wash myself. Good-by, dear.—N. Y. Weekly.

He Liste Way.

"It's very queer how Butterman's pounds never seem as large as yours, mamma," said Willie, watching his careful mother at the breakfast table.

"Don't they?" asked mamma, busy carving flour.

"No, indeed. If I go to him for a pound of butter, it isn't near as big as the pound you give Bridget. And I've found out why, occasionally.

"Why is it, Willie?"

"Why"—with a twinkle of his eyes—"it's just one of Butterman's little weighs!"—Harper's Young People.

Surrendering as Discretion.

"Tommy, how did you get the back of your coat all torn and muddy?"

"Pullin' weeds in the garden."

"Then your hair is all wet, my son."

"That's prop'ration."

"Your vest is on wrong side out, too."

"Why it on that way is superpose."

"And how does it happen, Tommy dear, that you have got Jakey Da Bois' breasses on?"

(After a long pause). "Mother, I cannot tell a lie. I've been a-swimmin'."—Chicago Tribune.

THE OLDEST BUILDING.

Erected in New York One Hundred and Fifty Ago.

Valentine, in his history of old New York, gives a map showing the few buildings that dotted Manhattan island in the very earliest period of its existence. Over the oldest building of those days he has placed an arrow, and in similarity had two eagles, and the next down eagles. The first of these was the old Stadt Huys, which stood on the corner of Monroe street. It has gone now, and the place which knew eagles is still standing, and is now No. 400 Water street.

OLDEST BUILDING IN NEW YORK.

The present authority for stating therefore, that this is the oldest building in New York. It dates back over a century and a half, and, strange to say, has been occupied all this time by the same family. It is a ship joiner shop now as it was when it was first built, and even the joiners employed there may be said to have inherited their jobs. The same hands have been here for years, and his father was formerly in the same business. The vigorous shop whose fathers were there before them.

Her Sympathy.

Little Dorothy takes a trip alone to the backwoods every morning, and the constituents turn on her way to the kindergarten. On her return at noon she tells the story to her mother of what she has seen on her journey.

"What did you see to-day, dear?" the morning Dorothy?" asked her mamma at dinner one day.

"Why, mamma," said sweet-tempered Dorothy, reverentially, "I saw a man and a woman sitting side by side quarrelling. So I went and sat between them, for I felt so sorry for that poor man, mamma!"

Not Exactly the Same.

Mrs. Hilltop (to Mrs. Uppercrust)—I am surprised to see you looking so thin, Mr. Uppercrust. My son Gordon says that you are other people are quite rounded.

Mrs. Uppercrust—Oh, Gordon's quite right. What George said was that Mr. Jessup told him he was looking pretty rocky.—Chicago Tribune.

A Good Subscribe.

Jerome Asylum Superintendent to those in charge: And don't forget, this year to have a few more subscribe for the Not to-day.

Nurse—What's that for?

"Oh, No. 467 is a fellow who was driven insane by smoking cigarettes, and we are trying to see if we can't somehow make him think it's smoke from the paper things."—Boston News.

All the Symptoms.

Little Ike—I don't think it goin' to marry Lou—I don't see her grown up.

Newton—You do? Why?

Little Ike—Because I think it gets into my mind that he knows tell me things. I don't know what I think, but I think like every time I see him.—Detroit News.

A Succinct Speech.

"I feel for you, my boy," said Crimsby to his incident one, "I feel for you sincere. I am compelled to publish you."

"You find me, too," replied the boy, as he ran the point of his pencil portion of an anchor.—Boy's Own Life.

A Static Function.

Mrs. Darby (displaying her purchases) —I have bought three suspenders for Harry's birthday present.

Darby—Why, you are much too fine for a man to hide under his vest.

Mrs. Darby—That's what I think, so I am going to wear them myself.—Brooklyn Life.

Going Her One Better.

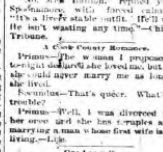
Dabberly—Do you think your receptions are as much of a success as Miss Van Winkle's?

Mrs. Dabberly—Oh dear, yes! Why, she had only five detectives at hers, and there are six here.—Judge.

The Source of Deepest Woe.

No action took, no blunder done
Can cause a woman so much distress
As three gray hairs.—Chicago News.

"A SWELL TENDOT."



—Life.

Spoiled the Sentiment.

In the honeymoon carriage.

"We keep step perfectly," murmured Washleigh.

"Yes, with a sigh.

"Well, darling—may I call you so—I want to ask you to walk with me through life."

"Thank you, but I've already accepted an invitation to ride."—Chicago News.

Need Not Fit All Night.

Mrs. Peck—Mr. Peck, I'm surprised at you coming home in such a condition. You ought to be ashamed of yourself.

Mr. Peck—I am, my dear, but I can't help it. I've got to wear them myself.—Boston Courier.

Good as Gold.

City Child—What is that queer thing in that field? Looks like a man, only it isn't?

Country Child—That's a scarecrow, Father put it there, after planting the field, to frighten the crows away, but I don't think it does any good, for they has a idea it is to let them know dinner is ready.—Good News.

Two True.

"I've got an axiom for you."

"What is it, Jack?"

"Many a rich horse that's handsome ends up by being a han-som horse."—Elder and Dyspepsia.

Top Kicks of Children.

There are two kinds of children—those who feed little thrifters, and the badly behaved, wilderness. Hittie does mens one by at see people.—Jury.

How Was It Done?

Wiffles—Well, sir, Bigler is a finished actor, let me tell you.

Taddles—You don't say? Did the audience kill him?—Judge.

MAKING THE MOST OF IT.

A Unique City.

The only city in the world on the line of the equator is Quito, and there the sun rises and sets at the same hour all the year round—at o'clock.

The Consolations Friend.

Gus De Smith—You have not congratulated me on my approaching marriage, Col. Yerger—You see, I can't conscientiously extend any congratulation to you, since I am not acquainted with the young lady you are about to marry. On the other hand, knowing you intimately, I cannot help but sympathize with your future wife.—Texas Siftings.

Rather Thin.

The silkworm's web is only the 3,800th part of an inch in thickness, and some of the silkworms spin a web a minute that it would take 50,000 of them to form a rope an inch in diameter.

Years experience in the business.

TWENTY

SECOND STREET, 3 doors above Pennsylvania

ALBERT HEDDEN,

Livery and Boarding Stables

FOURTH STREET,

Between Park Avenue and Back Street.

First-Class Horses and Carriages always on hand for Weddings, Parties and Funerals.

Orders left at Hedden's Hotel, Park Avenue, will receive prompt attention.

Telephone Call, No. 11.

TELEPHONE COMPANY!

SPEAKING CONNECTIONS WITH OVER 10,000 STATIONS. PHILADELPHIA AND NEW YORK AND INTERMEDIATE POINTS.

Central Office—9 North Avenue.

Subscribers' Names. Address.

Adams, Express Co. Park and Front, 4
Adams, Express Co. 32 Cornell ave.
Ayer Rose Co., No. 1 Madison ave.
Ayer Rose Co., No. 2 Madison ave.
Adams, Jr D C 46 Grove st
Bennett, Thomas P Depot
Bennett, Thomas P Somerset st
Bonnell, Geo H 302 and Union sts.
Bonnell, J. Frank 25 Park ave.
Bates, W. C. M. D. Cor. Front & Central Av.
Bagwell, John Central ave. and 8th st.
Bagwell, Mrs. Jane 8th st. and Central av.
Bennett, John B 25 Park av
Bennett, Jr H Mansion—6th st. and Park av.
Beers, S H 48 Madison ave
Bell Telephone Co. 8 Liberty, 5th & Monroe
Clark, S R Maplewood place
Children's Home Jackson ave.
Coleman, James Somerset and Front sts.
Continental Law Office 3 North ave.
Cook, A D & Bro. Park ave and 8th.
Cooley, Dr J H Hamilton and Watchung ave.
Cox, Howland Seventh st.
Chapman, Mrs. F. A. 2 Third Place
Chapman, Mrs. F. A. 138 Somerset st.
Coleman, J H, M D 69 Somerset st
Cochran, P F M Somerset st.
Central Pharmacy, J. S. Logan, Mgr. Park ave and Front st.
Daily Press 3 North ave.
Dalgow, Mrs. E. S 15 Crescent ave.
Dey, Frank 31 W. Fourth st.
Dorn, Jr T S Cor 6th st. & Park Av
Day, S. B Receiving ave
Dunham, W. H Front st.
Dunham, John B. 25 Fifth st
Dickson, Peter—Station Watchung Ave., 2 F
Debrart, James 12 S Second st
Dohme, F. O.—Grind P F D 40 W 6th st
Dohme, A. & Co. Somerset st
Davis & Stevens, coal and wood—Office W Front
Dunnell, Jr Jas. F. Pier No. 1 and 2 E. R.
Evening Journal, The T. Morrison, Editor 3 North st.
Engine No 1 West 1st st.
Engine No 2 Somerset st.
Engine No 3 Somerset st.
Evans, Geo C. 37 Washington ave
Evans, Chas. 37 Washington ave
Fayerweather, Jay Station Plainfield Station
Fleming, R & Sons Somerset st.
Fleming, R & Sons Somerset st.
Fisher, J. D. Jr Park ave.
Fisher, J. D. Jr Front st.
Fitch, Fred 30 Somerset st.
Fitch, Fred W. Front st.
Fitch, O. Frank 30 Somerset st.
Gardner, Wm. H. Jr 11 Liberty Place.
Gardner, M. D., W. F. 345 and New sts.
Gilbert, A. Cor Courtney st & 5th st
Gilbert, A. Manufacturing Somerset st.
Gilbert, A. 82 & 84 Somerset street.
Gilbert, A. 107 Somerset st.
Gilpin, Geo. 12 Scott st.
Gilpin, Geo. 12 Front st.
Gilpin, Geo. 12 Somerset st.
Higgins, M. A. 76 Rear 6th st.—20 North st.
Halsted, Jos. B. 202 South st.—21 Park st.
Hardcastle, Francis Hamilton ave.
Hedden, Albert Madison ave.
Hedden, Albert Boulevard
Hedden, Albert Livery Stables 20 Somerset st.
Hedden, Albert 20 Somerset st.
Hedden, Albert 12 Somerset st.
Hedden, Albert 12 Remington Pl.
Hilliard, Jr C. 30 Somerset st.
Hilliard, Jr C. 30 W. 7th st.
Hall, Wm. Rockwell Madison ave and 6th st.
Hall, Wm. Somerset st.
Hall, Wm. A. Somerset st.
Hall, Wm. A. Boulevard
Hall, Wm. A. Somerset st.
Hall, Wm. A. Somerset st.
Hall, Wm. A. Somerset st.

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.
M. L. FORCE & A. L. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors.
AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.
TERMS.—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXV. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1892. No 39.

"Support the Constitution, which is the cement of the Union, as set out in its limitations as to its authorities."—Madison.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODDINGTON,
Counsellors-at-Law,
Commissioners of Deeds, Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public. Offices corner of Park avenue and Seventh street.

GEORGE W. DAY,
General Auctioneer,
Sales of Personal Property solicited. P. O. Box 158, Dunellen, N. J., or address in care of Constitutionalist. Terms reasonable.

DR. CHARLES H. TRIBBY,
Dentist,
30 West Front street. A new local anesthetic applied to the extracting tooth without pain. Gold filling a specialty.—tf

Chiffon Cloths, 5 cents.

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VanArsdale,
PIANO TUNER.
Instruments put in thorough order. Terms reasonable. Pianos and Organs for sale and to let. Orders by postal, P. O. box 166, or at Willett's shoe store, No. 8 Park avenue, will receive prompt attention. Residence 91 E. Front street, corner Sim street. 31y1m

T. J. GILLIES,
Auctioneer & Real Estate Agent.
ALLENDALE—Maple and Apple Orchard Plots for sale cheap.
Goods received on consignment.

John Chandler,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence and shop No. 36 East Third street.
Jobbing promptly attended to. apr9

WILLIAM B. RANDOLPH,
Successor to E. P. Maynard,
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 26 PARK AVENUE.
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their residences, shaving, shampooing, etc., satisfactorily performed. 27y1

CARNEY BROTHERS, Agents,
7 West Front st.
NEW YORK.
TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS.
PARLOR STOVES,
COOK STOVES,
HEATERS.
A. M. SEGUINE,
(SUCCESSOR TO JOHN W. LAING.)
Laing's Hotel Stables
Coaches for Weddings, Funerals and Private Calls. Light carriages of all descriptions for pleasure.
RIDING OR LIVERY.
Careful, safe drivers for shopping calls or stormy drives. Horses and carriages for supreme users by the day, week or month—cheerfully!
TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 96.
RICKERT'S
ACCOMMODATION EXPRESS.
OFFICE—Vanderbeek's Music Store, Park avenue. The "Accommodation Express" will attend to proper carrying facilities of the city delivering goods or baggage to and from depot, or from house to house.
Moving of Furniture, Pianos, etc., with care and safety.

INSURANCE.
WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.
Beautiful Assortment!
Furniture!
Largest Assortment!
Best Goods!
Lowest Prices?
Ever Offered in Plainfield!
23, 25 and 27 PARK AVE.
Garret Q. Packer.
SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc. Etc.
I am prepared to do any of the above branches in a neat, first-class, and prompt and workmanlike manner.
Having associated myself with the Messrs. Force I am now better prepared than ever before to execute contracting in the above line, and solicit a call from my friends and customers. I all times, guarantee my work.
D. W. LITTELL,
No. 8 North Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

FOR MALARIA,
GENERAL DEBILITY
AND
ALL STOMACH TROUBLES
COLES'
PERUVIAN BARK
AND
WILD CHERRY BITTERS
ARE THE BEST.
A Vegetable Substitute for Quinine.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
Price, 50 cents and $1.00 per Bottle.
Manufactured only by
D. P. COLES DRUG AND MFG. CO.
RAHWAY, N. J.

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS,
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS;
SENT IN THE WORLD.
ALL GOODS DELIVERED PROMPTLY IN TOWN.

PAINTERS & PAINTERS' SUPPLIES
Paints, Varnishes, Glass,
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALL PAPERS!
PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY.
A. SWALM,
No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.
ESTABLISHED 18 6.
C. E. & J. W. BROWN,
(Successors to O. F. & C. E. Brown & Co.)
L. B. WOOLSTON, J. F. SUDDS
Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS,
Wall Papers,
ALTERN'S SUPPLIES. 36 NORTH AVENUE
WALL PAPER.
Manufacturers of Window Shades.
LIVERY.
Front street, opposite Madison avenue.
Coaches for Weddings, Funerals and Private Calls. Light carriages of all descriptions for pleasure.
RIDING OR LIVERY.
Careful, safe drivers for shopping calls or stormy drives. Horses and carriages for supreme users by the day, week or month—cheerfully!
TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 96.
RICKERT'S
ACCOMMODATION EXPRESS.
OFFICE—Vanderbeek's Music Store, Park avenue. The "Accommodation Express" will attend to proper carrying facilities of the city delivering goods or baggage to and from depot, or from house to house.
Moving of Furniture, Pianos, etc., with care and safety.
Fresh Garden Seeds
AND FERTILIZERS,
Farm and Garden Implements,
Lawn Mowers Refrigerators,
Ice Cream Freezers
Gasoline Stoves,
Hardware, Tools, etc.
J. J. HEIDELOFF,
No. 13 SOMERSET ST. 3-15-tf
GEORGE A. MOORE,
(Of the late firm of Moore Bros.)
is now the sole proprietor of the old established market at
No. 44 NORTH AVENUE,
Where he will continue to supply patrons with the finest grades of
Fresh and Salt Meats.
Fish of all kinds, Oysters, Clams, Game in season, at the Lowest Market Prices.
Anything not usually kept in stock, furnished on short notice. tf
CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE
Hugo Weigman,
30 EAST FRONTSTREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.
LEWIS B. CODDINGTON,
Successor to T. J. Oliver,
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—32 W. FRONT ST.
Leave orders at office or at residence, 6 Grove street, for Furniture, Pianos, Safes, Boilers, Machinery, Merchandise, Coal, Wood, Ice, Etc. P. O. Box 1.
H. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of the Celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR.
The best cigar in the line made and sold at the lowest prices in the United States.
UNION HAVANA SMOKE A SPECIALTY.
A large assortment of the Choicest Brands of Foreign and Domestic Cigars, Cigarettes and Tobacco always on hand.
Smokers Articles in Great Variety.
C. M. FINE,
Dealer in Retail & Domestic
SEGARS!
No. 39 PARK AVE., (Rear of Post Office) SECOND ST., PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Tobacco and Smoker's Articles.
The celebrated "Old Judge" 5c. cigar for sale.
A. WOLFF,
Manufacturer of
CIGARS,
And Dealer in All Kinds of Smoking and Chewing Tobacco, and Smokers' Articles. Always received from 10 to 12 Front street, 31 E. West Front, one door from Second street. Will solicit the patronage of his friends and the public generally. 3-5 ms
Sunday Articles in Great Variety.
Tobacco and Smoker's Articles.
Sunday Articles in Great Variety.

THE TWO CANDIDATES.

How the "Plain People" Regard Cleveland and Harrison.

Mr. Harrison, whatever may be his other qualities, clearly does not awaken enthusiasm. Even those who have a spice for his shrewdness, and who are profoundly convinced that his cause is the right one, do not feel any great confidence in him or any attachment at all to his personality.

The most confident Republicans confess that their cause might be in better hands, and regret that their candidate does not inspire the feeling of admiration and loyalty that is so potent a factor in popular elections. Mr. Cleveland, on the other hand, does inspire a very deep sentiment of personal trust and regard, and, what is very important, he inspires this sentiment most strongly among the plain people, the average citizens of the republic. These two remedy very simply that the man who has shown himself unselfish, sincere, manly, is the man to vote for." They are not undecided all his views. They may differ from some of them. But they feel that such a man will form them fairly, as he thinks the right requires, and will sustain them when formed.

It was this deeply seated feeling that forced the nomination of Mr. Cleveland upon his party. And curiously enough, now that he is nominated, it is this feeling that makes him intensely popular with the people. Mr. Cleveland, who before had been associated with those opposed to his nomination. All trustworthy representatives of the Democracy of New York city and Brooklyn are today among the firmest, the most eager and the most confident supporters of Mr. Cleveland. With a just cause and a leader who is the very embodiment of all that makes the Democratic party a fit agencyfor campaign. It could make no other, and it bids fair to win because it deserves to win.—New York Sun.

How Wanamaker Got There.

Republican organs are accustomed to treat lightly the charge made by the Democrats that the present postmaster-general was put in the cabinet as a reward for his services in raising money for election purposes four years ago. But the truth of this charge is clearly established by the admissions of the very men who helped Wanamaker to raise that $400,000 a few days before the election.

The big manufacturers of Philadelphia also now admit that most of the great corruption fund for Quay's use, are members of the Philadelphia Manufacturers' Association and its protectionists. The organ of the club is The Manufacturers' Sun after Wanamaker's appointment as postmaster-general this journal said:

"It is to the men that give the cash that a friend of the Administration looks for success to come. We make the assertion that the money contributed by this club last year helped to elect Harrison as a result of the national election than all the skill, the ingenuity, the labor and the strong plotting of all the professional politicians in Philadelphia. We believe this proposition to be capable of positive proof. If, therefore, interested patronage is rightly the reward of victorious effort, the right of this club to name the federal officers of Philadelphia rests upon solid ground."

They accepted Wanamaker's appointment as the result of the fat wheel as a fraud out of them, and did not hesitate to publish the fact. And the Republicans pay need to boast, now that it was the "party of high moral ideas!"

Old Hickory as a Protectionist.

The impudence of the Republicans in this campaign is far above par. They are even claiming Andrew Jackson as a protectionist! Their desperate attempt to extract a few grains of comfort from the words of the Vermont statesman in elections has shown them to have the capacity of being "contented wi' little," but what can they find to comfort in the following words from Old Hickory's farewell address? "The corporations and individuals who are already engaged in large manufacturing establishments desire a high tariff to increase their gains. They profit by the tariff, support it to conciliate their favor and to obtain the means of profuse expenditure for the benefit of those who dispense favors in other quarters. Do not allow yourselves, my fellow citizens, to be misled on this subject. The power to confer such favors does not belong to the general government. It cannot collect a surplus for such purposes without violating the principles of the constitution. The favors spring from the exercise of a power granted. It is, moreover, a system of injustice, and if persisted in will inevitably lead to corruption and must end in ruin."

What Tariff Reform Can Do.

Secretary Foster has returned from his vacation. Before he entered upon the speech-making tour which is said to have convinced Mr. Harrison that he is not discreet enough to be a campaign leader he directed Major Brock, of the bureau of statistics of foreign trade, to fix up a document for campaign circulation through which the McKinley bill has stimulated foreign trade during the past year.

This document, among other things, shows that we have netted a clear $10,000,000 annually (including the loss of trade), and have profited to the extent of the removal of former McKinley duties. Side by side with the report of our alleged gains goes the reiterated statement of how the late Republican congress increased the free list and lowered the rate of taxation.

The joke of Major Brock's showing is that it annihilates the McKinley tariff reform argument. We have profited in proportion as we have removed duties.—Boston Globe.

An Answer to Harrison.

Any man who says that the Democratic party has any other policy than that of limiting the revenues to the need of the government misrepresents the platform adopted at Chicago and seeks to achieve success by falsehood rather than by truth.—Bourke Cockran.

Charles Cotton on the Force Bill.

What is the main bill? Stripped of all its verbiage it is this: That the United States are to appoint in each state a general supervisor of elections; that the supervisor has complete control over congressional elections in every district of the state; that he may have as many deputies as he chooses. He can search the homes before election to see if there are any Democratic tickets concealed. But the real danger in this measure lies in the clause which provides that after each election these federal officers would certify the return of the members elected to the house of representatives. So it doesn't matter who gets the votes. It doesn't matter who has five or six or ten thousand majority. The federal supervisor fixes the identity of the individual; who attends before the speaker's desk to be sworn in on the day when congress organizes.

You see that perhaps the Republican party will be honest in the exercise of this power. Well, gentlemen, do not believe that these men just now have grown to any pass or act of sass to oppose the fullest citizenship in the country. Do not believe that the power has not been exercised, and if you give the Republican party power to perpetuate its own control in the house of representatives there is nothing in its history to show that it would exercise that power in a spirit of moderation. Look at the history of the Fifty-first congress to see what it could have done with that power would it exercised.

I am reminded of the experience of my friend Sunday Democrat. He was in a first class compartment and had with him a fine Havana cigar. The English gentleman inquired what they were for, and he said the registers gave a list of the voters, and when he got home he had lots. He also had a large bag with him, and on being interrogated as to what it was for he replied, "Oh, that is the majority."

That is the force bill in brief, just as it would be if it were passed. Its purpose would be the emasculation of representative government it would be the destruction of representative government.

The State Bank Tax.

The project of repealing the present prohibitory tax of ten per cent. on the bills of state banks is the latest hopeful movement in favor of a most welcome change in the financial condition of the country. There need be no fear of any toleration of a depreciated bank note circulation. The present laws are ample to prevent that. But a state bank currency would have the facilities for collection are now so great that it would be created out of all danger of depreciation. The national statutes would be preserved in new and legislation, and the natural law of supply and demand would be observed with the least needed restrictions.

The tax which it is proposed to repeal was at first experimentally levied. It was levied for revenue, but for prohibition, and the fundamental law nowhere gives to the federal government the right to repress by its action the issue of the state banks. There would follow from its repeal the immediate establishment of numerous purposes the world has ever known. Flexible in its character, redeemable at all times, and par everywhere, it would be at par throughout every portion of the country, and meeting the needs of the time by its answer to every legitimate demand, it would prevent pressures and stringency in the money markets, and instead of being, as now, the most unmanageable thing in the world, it would be a currency which has cost per cent in a financial crisis.—David M. Stone, Editor of the New York Journal of Commerce, in Forum.

More Republican Misinformation.

Ex-Congressman William E. Mason, of Chicago, now stumping the country under the auspices of the Republican national committee, says in one of his speeches:

"Before the McKinley bill became a law we had four factories making nascent. Now there are over twenty." But Bradstreet's, also of Chicago, made the following statement before McKinley's ways and means committee in 1890:

"There are some fifty-eight factories in this country, located at New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Boston, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Louis, Pittsburg, Hartford, New Orleans, Baltimore, San Jose, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Oakland."

As Beaman presented this "prayer and petition" these fifty-eight manufacturers, he must be right. Mason ought to be coached or called in.

Labor Not Handicapped.

The Knights of Labor in Brooklyn have not been content to find out protection to labor. A local union in that city has sent the following circular to other assemblies in that city and in New York:

DEAR SIR—Translation of your communication dated the 24th inst. to hand. Our present political basis ever presented to American voters. Our platform: Equal rights to all; assembly 7,222, Knights of Labor, holds that a man who does not work for his bread should not eat the bread that is honest wages and deserving men; that all men are free and equal before the law, and should be so regarded in labor.

This assembly will pay each price of twenty-five dollars to any Knight of Labor or trade union that will put a candidate in the field against a conference with your organization to be held in Brooklyn, E. D., on the programme proposition.

JAMES B. CODWELL, Master Workman.

During the fifteen years of the low tariff—from 1873 to 1888—there were but seventy-four strikes reported in an official way. During the fifteen years of high tariffs there have been over 6,000 strikes, involving a very large proportion of the entire body of workingmen in the United States.—Albany Argus.

The farmer, as Senator Allison has said, "has practically no protection at all." And that is the best reason why the farmer should not vote for protectionists' ticket.—Harrisburg Patriot.

The Force Bill and a Dictatorship.

Republican special pleaders seek in vain to minimize the force bill issue, knowing how it has aroused an irresistible mass of patriotic sentiment in the north as well as in the south. Never has then one is found to declare frankly the real attitude of the party as sufficiently expressed in the recent encampment speech as the Lodge bill. A few days ago the Hon. Frederick Douglass made this remarkable statement:

"I believe that this is to be ultimately a composite nation. There is nothing else in sight for us. It is almost certain to come. I am inclined to think that there will eventually come in this country a dictatorship. There is a powerful demand for a strong government that will be able to protect all its citizens—rich and poor, black and white—in their rights."

The distinguished negro politician here evinces a candor which is warmly commended by the Republican special pleader or spellbinder who is in accord with his party on the subject. It is indeed certain that a dictatorship would be the natural and logical issue of the force bill if the patriotic people of this country were not to resist the initial attempt at coercing their political action and strangling the liberties of every sovereign state.

Happily there is little fear that such a contingency will be brought about. Republican party is doomed. The people have been most thoroughly advised of their peril by an honest and courageous Democratic press, and they not be doubted that they will in November return a verdict against the party which menaces their very existence on both of intelligence in the southern states of the Union and eventually establishing a dictatorship at Washington.

McKinley Gives Himself Away.

The foolishness of the Republicans and insincerity of the Republicanism of the present day is to be found in the person of its chief apostle, Major McKinley. The champion of high protection goes about the country repeating the stale blunder that "foreigners pay the high tariff tax." Yet the champion is evidently able to convince anybody that he believes his own words, for the moment he says blurts out some fatal admission which shows that he has not deceived himself in the least.

Thus, in speaking at Woodside Island park, Ohio, he gave the following description of three of the leading planks of the recent convention of confusion:

"One was to put wool on the free list, which gives the people the sheep's back, but tariff when it goes on the people's backs; another was hoop iron free for cotton planters, but hoop iron tariffed for all those of manufacturers of cotton bagging free for cotton stolen, but tariff for the masses of the people."

But if "other foreigners pay the tax" how can the tariff on woolen goods be a "tariff on the people's backs?" And when is the "people's backs" ever the cotton bagging, and that is that the American people ever wear cotton bags?

And if the foreigner has been paying the tax on cotton bagging, does not the removal of the duty on it relieve the foreigner instead of the American people?

Major McKinley is inventive as an orator, "though too fatified for all the requirements if the foreigner is going to pay the duty in any case!"

McKinley does not believe his own words.

Hayard on Harrison's Letter.

In a criticism of President Harrison's letter of acceptance on Secretary Thomas F. Bayard says:

There is not a burdensome tax upon any article of necessity which he desires to lighten, nor the weight of which he desires to see more equally distributed. There is no discovery or ingenuity in such cases that distress and embarrass importers and puzzle courts and counsel, for which he proposes a remedy. To the amount of tax that reaches the public treasury he seems wholly indifferent, but the advantages that pass as protection to its special beneficiaries by dilutes upon with rapture and propositions their passage he commends to the national elections, and reminds him that "the principle of it was most offensively stated in congress and before the country in the so called force bill, which congress wisely defeated, and the defeat of which the country rejoiced in."

Every man who has a dishonest claim against the government is for "protection and protecting." Likewise every man who wants to get rich through the support of his fellow citizens.—Wheeling Register.

DRIVEN OUT BY THE TARIFF.

The Tax on Raw Materials Sends a Large Mass of Capital Abroad.

Another instance of the evil effects on the manufacturing interests of the protection policy of placing high tariff duties on imported raw materials is afforded by the contemplated removal to the continent of Milwaukee's most extensive manufacturing plant, a change which the Chicago Mail Gargent says:

"Under the present tariff laws we cannot compete in the world's trade with cheaper rates in the west than we can here. If raw material were admitted free of duty we could from all over the world would be unloading their cargoes of such material in New York, so that the iron and the kings of Pennsylvania would be obliged to meet the New York prices. In that case New York would be the center of raw material, and New Haven would be a far better place for such a plant as ours than any city in the west.

"What is the case at present? On account of the existing tariff the dealers in raw materials are not put up their prices as high as the price of foreign raw material which comes into New York because of a heavy import duty. The load all falls on the manufacturer. We must pay $8.75 a ton for iron and about $4.10 a ton for lead and so on. In the west the cost of raw material is cheaper because there is less freight to pay and to a year this extra freight amounts to considerable."

Mayor Sargent's statements carry much moral. Let the high protectionist draw conclusions from them favorable to his favorite policy if he can. But let him not ignore the facts stated. The statements, moreover, of the Republican press that the American consumer does not pay the tax on raw materials, but only the tax on manufactured articles.

The Starch Duty.

The duties on starch are levied for private revenue only. As we import very little starch because of the prohibitory tariff on it, all this tax upon cleanliness goes to the starch trust and hardly any to the government. The tariff of two cents a pound is a tax which the foreigner does not pay, and unfortunately it is a tariff which does not lower the price of starch. This was confessed by the starchmakers themselves in a confessional way when they explained at the treasury department that starch was being sold in the American market for less than the price fixed by the syndicate, conclusive proof, they said, that it was being smuggled into the country.

Treasury detectives went to work, and they found that cargoes of starch had been smuggled in under accurate names and had wickedly lowered the price of starch. The unlawful importation being stopped the price of starch went up again, and every housekeeper in the land was condemned to pay to private citizens a fine of two cents a pound for every pound of starch she was reckless enough to buy. The moral of this example will be apparent to other and more unfortunate sufferers from starch only in the size of the tax levied upon them and the share of the proceeds given to the government.—M. M. Trumbull.

Peck's Averages.

In showing up the untrustworthiness of Commissioner Peck's "average account" of the effect of the tariff on wages, Bulletin, a nonpartisan trade journal, says: "As to the value of such averages as these Mr. Peck gave an opinion in his report in 1888 as follows: 'In the preparation of wage tables the greatest care is needed to get actual facts. The statement of averages has been purposely omitted as tending only to mislead.' Yet in 1892 he does not average separately the wages of blacksmiths, carpenters or bricklayers according to whose interest it was to lowering, and yet in his report for 1891 he averages the wages of all the skilled and unskilled men, women, boys and girls employed upon the greatest diversity of work, and attempts to use these averages as showing whether the tariff was favorably or unfavorably affected wages. The utter worthlessness of this report is too apparent to need further consideration."

The Ice Cast and the Candidate.

Candidate Whitelaw Reid says: "The ice cast at Bridge White House does not disappear in like manner from their campaign literature when they discover that it quite suits a case for the display of intelligent and self respecting freemen to have a president who does not hesitate to call a spade a spade and a demagogue, does not pretend to be the honest friend of every man he meets."

Which gives occasion to remark that the ice cast did not originate in Democratic literature, but is a happy witticism of big Tom Reed.

But is not the candidate's description of Harrison a cruel attack at Blaine?

Two Specimen Prosecutions.

The two following incidents throw a curious light upon McKinleyism as a corrupting force in our political life, and the first that they have been systematically exploited by Republican newspapers as campaign material is a still more curious thing.

A Philadelphia firm, which seems to be the only concern in this country manufacturing phosphorus, writes a letter to Governor McKinley to say that they "are doing a prosperous business" as the result of the higher protection which he gave them. The letter closes with "trusting that the country at large will see that the ultimate interests of the prosperity of the whole country and that protective tariff principles shall triumph at the coming election."

The milk in the cocoanut for this firm is that McKinley raised the duty on phosphorus from 4 cents a pound to 6 cents. Of course they will thus vote for Republican protection and present that "the prosperity of the whole country" demands that all the match manufacturers and match burners in the United States should be taxed for the benefit of this one Philadelphia firm.

The second incident is the "conversion" of one J. H. Clark, a silk manufacturer of Cuttenkill, N. Y. This man is represented by the protectionist organs as changing his politics for the purpose of getting protection for him. The New York Tribune represents him as saying: "It is protection pure and simple that I had availed me to find this silk mill. Protection is a great thing. It has made my factory." And the mill in this case is a duty of 50 to 60 per cent. on silk goods.

It is not strange that these two manufacturers should confess, in effect, that McKinley has so used the taxing power of the government as to buy their votes. Nor is it strange that Republican organs should parade such confessions before the public without shame.

The peculiar thing is that they expect to win votes in this way. But they are mistaken. Facts like these can but serve to fix in the public mind the corruption that lurks in protection. The Republican papers are simply proving that McKinleyism is a new name for the old scheme carried on at public expense.

The Questions at Issue.

The instant that natural conditions, lawful purposes and just limitations of taxation are violated, the instant that the state takes property from its citizens that is not needed or takes inequitably that which is needed, that instant the exercise of the power becomes a matter of wits and not of rights and of law and, right. The greatest evils that characterize free and popular governments of today are evils that result from the abuse of taxation, that tax-making is nothing else. The increase are so great as to make the boast of the American freedom on the part of citizens in respect to the free and lawful questions at issue at the present time, and the corrupt political parties of this country, and the political exemplifies some the lesson of history. It is probable that Chairman Quay and Governor McKinley regard Pennsylvania as safe politically, and therefore they are made unspeakable merry at securing discussion of the tariff law, but they should not forget that the McKinley bill levied enormous taxes upon the necessaries of business that employes tens of thousands of wageworkers to labor. Labor has proved to be a necessary and a lie, and that there are today in this city thousands of wageworkers who are hesitating about confirming their support of a tariff that protects only monopoly and oppresses the industrial people of the land. The McKinley tariff needs defense in Philadelphia, as both Chairman Carter and Governor McKinley must know before election day.—Philadelphia Times.

For the President to Answer.

President Harrison says in his letter of acceptance: "No intelligent advocate of a protective tariff claims that it is also of itself, to maintain a uniform rate of wages without regard to fluctuations in the supply of and demand for the products of labor. But it is confidently claimed that protective duties strongly tend to keep up wages, and are the only barrier against a reduction to a European scale."

A sufficient answer to which is the following comparison between the weekly wages of England and of Germany:

	From Trade Returns.
	England.	Germany.
Blacksmiths	$ 7.30	$ 4.86
Carpenters	9.73	4.74
Bricklayers	9.73	4.86
Painters	8.76	4.86
Masons	9.73	4.86
Shoemakers	4.86	2.43
Tailors	7.30	3.65

Governor Russell, of Massachusetts, has the happy faculty of stating things tersely and completely. His indictment of the Republican party cannot be improved upon, and we call attention to it as fitting and exact. He said: "The principal source of supply of the Republican party is colored labor. The party will be from special interests, which demand at its hands favorable legislation in payment for their contributions. I believe this is a dishonest and immoral bargain between a party and its bound, and its agents, and the people. The people's expense. It is a purchase of political power under obligations to use the power of the United States for the benefit of the few to the detriment of the public interest."

A Republican Senator on the Force Bill.

I have read that bill with care and attention more than twenty times. I have read it in the light of calm consideration. And I repeat it—it were presented to me now with the alternative of party support or party defeat, I should vote to defeat it. A more infamous bill, in my judgment, never passed the threshold of the Senate. It is a bill, avowedly in the interest of good government, it was instigated, in my judgment, by men whose interest it was to prevent a free expression of the will of voters at the polls.—Hon. Henry M. Teller in Chicago Interview.

According to Bradstreet's there were fifty-four strikes in August, with 41,147 workmen on strike against reduced wages and 1,000 locked out for Commissioner Peck to look against.

Made Her Look Well.

Clara—How well you looked on the street yesterday.

Jessie—(genuinely flattered)—Do you really think so? I am awfully glad.

Clara—Yes, you had on such a becoming veil.—Boston Courier.

Reasonable Expectation.

Mrs. Dix—I wonder what present husband will bring me to-night?

Mrs. Nix—What makes you expect one?

Mrs. Dix—No-ci we quarreled this morning.—N. Y. Herald.

It Had to Be It.

"Does Burrows quarrel with his wife as much as he did?"

"Oh, no. They stopped their rows a year ago."

"How did they come to do it?"

"She died."—Truth.

A Friend in Need.

Jess—I don't believe Chappie knows enough to pound sand.

Bess—What makes you think so?

Jess—Every day he asks me to go and sit on the bench and help him.—Truth.

Enough for Two.

Mother—Didn't you skunk when you got in the water and met the glue of all those men?

Daughter—Well—my bathing suit did.—N. Y. World.

Nothing to Worry About.

Professor—Wait, wait. You are playing that part too loud. Don't bang so.

Maiden—Oh, don't worry about that, professor. The piano is a rented one.—Good News.

Wanted Symptoms.

She—I see symptoms that wish you. I was married once myself.

He—But you weren't married to a woman.—Puck.

Notes of Advertising

Space	1	2	3	4	5	6
	WEEKS.			MONTHS.
Space	1	2	3	6	9	12

All Electro's must be solid metal.
Double cols. 30 per ct. advance of above rates.

A RAILROAD AUTOCRAT.

President of the Lackawanna at the Age of Seventy-Two.

Unique among railway monarchs stands Samuel Sloan, president of the Lackawanna. He writes his name simply "Sam," not that he wishes to be familiar with himself, but it saves time. Mr. Sloan's hair is abundant and white as snow, his eyes are as bright as diamonds and his huge jaws bespeak the bulldog that he is. He hates typewriters—male, female and mechanical—and writes all his own letters in acute graph with a big gold pen. No wonder that some of his epistles are short and curt.

PRESIDENT SLOAN.

His venerable secretary handles some of the routine correspondence of the executive office, but his chief duties are confined to opening and arranging the mail and supervising the distinguished horses who are turned over to him. For the rest, the president of a Kansas City Journal man, "Sam" apply the injunction in a manner that would make Lord Chesterfield turn green with envy. For is it strange that Republican organs should parade such confessions before the public without shame.

The peculiar thing is that they expect to win votes in this way. But they are mistaken. Facts like these can but serve to fix in the public mind the corruption that lurks in protection. The Republican papers are simply proving that McKinleyism is a new name for the old scheme carried on at public expense.

The Questions at Issue.

The instant that natural conditions, lawful purposes and just limitations of taxation are violated, the instant that the state takes property from its citizens that is not needed or takes inequitably that which is needed, that instant the exercise of the power becomes a matter of wits and not of rights and of law and, right. The greatest evils that characterize free and popular governments of today are evils that result from the abuse of taxation, that tax-making is nothing else. The increase are so great as to make the boast of the American freedom on the part of citizens in respect to the free and lawful questions at issue at the present time, and the corrupt political parties of this country, and the political exemplifies some the lesson of history. It is probable that Chairman Quay and Governor McKinley regard Pennsylvania as safe politically, and therefore they are made unspeakable merry at securing discussion of the tariff law, but they should not forget that the McKinley bill levied enormous taxes upon the necessaries of business that employes tens of thousands of wageworkers to labor. Labor has proved to be a necessary and a lie, and that there are today in this city thousands of wageworkers who are hesitating about confirming their support of a tariff that protects only monopoly and oppresses the industrial people of the land. The McKinley tariff needs defense in Philadelphia, as both Chairman Carter and Governor McKinley must know before election day.—Philadelphia Times.

For the President to Answer.

President Harrison says in his letter of acceptance: "No intelligent advocate of a protective tariff claims that it is also of itself, to maintain a uniform rate of wages without regard to fluctuations in the supply of and demand for the products of labor. But it is confidently claimed that protective duties strongly tend to keep up wages, and are the only barrier against a reduction to a European scale."

A sufficient answer to which is the following comparison between the weekly wages of England and of Germany:

	From Trade Returns.
	England.	Germany.
Blacksmiths	$ 7.30	$ 4.86
Carpenters	9.73	4.74
Bricklayers	9.73	4.86
Painters	8.76	4.86
Masons	9.73	4.86
Shoemakers	4.86	2.43
Tailors	7.30	3.65

Governor Russell, of Massachusetts, has the happy faculty of stating things tersely and completely. His indictment of the Republican party cannot be improved upon, and we call attention to it as fitting and exact. He said: "The principal source of supply of the Republican party is colored labor. The party will be from special interests, which demand at its hands favorable legislation in payment for their contributions. I believe this is a dishonest and immoral bargain between a party and its bound, and its agents, and the people. The people's expense. It is a purchase of political power under obligations to use the power of the United States for the benefit of the few to the detriment of the public interest."

A Republican Senator on the Force Bill.

I have read that bill with care and attention more than twenty times. I have read it in the light of calm consideration. And I repeat it—it were presented to me now with the alternative of party support or party defeat, I should vote to defeat it. A more infamous bill, in my judgment, never passed the threshold of the Senate. It is a bill, avowedly in the interest of good government, it was instigated, in my judgment, by men whose interest it was to prevent a free expression of the will of voters at the polls.—Hon. Henry M. Teller in Chicago Interview.

According to Bradstreet's there were fifty-four strikes in August, with 41,147 workmen on strike against reduced wages and 1,000 locked out for Commissioner Peck to look against.

Made Her Look Well.

Clara—How well you looked on the street yesterday.

Jessie—(genuinely flattered)—Do you really think so? I am awfully glad.

Clara—Yes, you had on such a becoming veil.—Boston Courier.

Reasonable Expectation.

Mrs. Dix—I wonder what present husband will bring me to-night?

Mrs. Nix—What makes you expect one?

Mrs. Dix—No-ci we quarreled this morning.—N. Y. Herald.

It Had to Be It.

"Does Burrows quarrel with his wife as much as he did?"

"Oh, no. They stopped their rows a year ago."

"How did they come to do it?"

"She died."—Truth.

A Friend in Need.

Jess—I don't believe Chappie knows enough to pound sand.

Bess—What makes you think so?

Jess—Every day he asks me to go and sit on the bench and help him.—Truth.

Enough for Two.

Mother—Didn't you skunk when you got in the water and met the glue of all those men?

Daughter—Well—my bathing suit did.—N. Y. World.

Nothing to Worry About.

Professor—Wait, wait. You are playing that part too loud. Don't bang so.

Maiden—Oh, don't worry about that, professor. The piano is a rented one.—Good News.

Wanted Symptoms.

She—I see symptoms that wish you. I was married once myself.

He—But you weren't married to a woman.—Puck.

The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORCE, } A. L. FORCE
Editors and Proprietors.

Democratic Nominations.

For President,

GROVER CLEVELAND,
of New York.

For Vice-President,

ADLAI E. STEVENSON,
of Illinois.

For Governor,

GEORGE T. WERTS.
OF MORRIS.

ELECTORS-AT-LARGE.

MILLARD F. ROSS, of Middlesex.
PHILIP F. BAKER, of Cumberland.

DISTRICT ELECTORS.

First District—CHARLES MANN.
Second District—THOS. H. FRICKETT.
Third District—JAMES DEMILER.
Fourth District—THEO. SIMONSON.
Fifth District—JAMES G. MORGAN.
Sixth District—EDWARD HALBACH.
Seventh District—EDWD H. STEVENS.
Eighth District—MARTIN R. COOK.

CONGRESSIONAL NOMINATIONS.

Fourth District—JOHNSTON CORNISH.
Fifth Dist.—CORNELIUS B. CADMUS.
Sixth Dist—THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH.

THE BADGE OF HONOR.

It has been remarked, and the fact is obvious, that the present Presidential canvass is so far unusually quiet.

That is a favorable sign, because it credits the belief that intelligent thought and dignified bearing have, in a great measure, supplanted senseless noise and show.

This is an educational campaign, questions of vital importance are up for consideration and solution.

Let every voter deliberately investigate and form an opinion for himself.

Then let him go as a freeman to the polls and register his own individual judgment in the shape of a ballot, unfettered, uninfluenced and unintimidated by any human power. Thereby he will prove his worthiness to wear the honorable badge of American citizenship.

RIGHT ACTION.

The recent Democratic State Convention in nominating Judge George T. Werts for Governor of New Jersey nobly seconded the Chicago National Convention by bowing to the popular will.

Cleveland for President and Werts for Governor are both nominees of the honest Democratic masses.

That beautiful harmony and needed political reformation, proving as it does that the people are determined to take the management of partisan affairs in their own hands and select their own candidates for office.

Party organizations are all right when controlled by popular sovereignty, and not contaminated by personal ambitions or sordid interests.

A government of the people, by the people, and for the general public welfare is true Democracy.

Vote for
CLEVELAND AND STEVENSON,
and for
GEORGE T. WERTS.

A SPECIMEN.

One of the rankest specimens of a Pennsylvania political corruptionist has been delegated to counsel and assist the Republican National Committee in managing the Harrison and Reid machine.

The distinguished partisan holds a responsible Federal office in the city of Philadelphia conferred upon him by President Harrison, and that, too, in defiance of the protest of a prominent Philadelphia Republican couched in the following scathing language—"He is a disreputable rascal, and his appointment as Collector would be an insult to every respectable citizen of Pennsylvania."

No wonder honest Republican advocates of civil service reform, like Mr. Foulke, of Indiana, have resolved to vote for Grover Cleveland.

STILL THEY COME.

The cry is still they come.

Henry A. Meyer was one year ago the Republican candidate for Mayor of Brooklyn, New York.

He is a plain, practical business man, not a plotting politician, and has been giving impartial thought regarding the public questions now dividing the Democratic and Republican parties.

The result is that, after mature investigation, he openly renounces political Republicanism and declares his allegiance to the cause of Democracy.

We will give his own reasons why he has been politically converted. He says:

"REPUBLICANISM IS FOR THE CLASSES AND DEMOCRACY FOR THE MASSES."

That is a truth anchored declaration. Hear him further—

"The labor and business interests of the country require a change in the direction proposed by the Democracy.

"As a plain, every day citizen and business man my sympathies are naturally with people who have to work hard for a living, and I am hopeful IRELAND ALL DOUBT THAT THE REPUBLICAN TARIFF POLICY TENDS TO MAKE THE RICH RICHER AND THE POOR POORER."

"To the Democracy, as led and represented by Cleveland his tariff reform ideas, I feel that I can commit my interests as an American citizen who wants an equal share for all and nothing more."

"I intend to vote for CLEVELAND because I believe in the Democratic doctrine of tariff reform."

"I also think that many other Republicans will do the same on Election Day."

THE RESULT.

The organ of the Republican Vice-Presidential candidate says: "The level-headed voter is a man whose political action is based on results."

Just so.

The result of four years of Republican legislation and Republican administration are precisely what the level-headed voter does not like. Among those results are:

A squandered surplus of $100,000,000.
Billion dollar appropriations.
Revenues mortgaged by pension grants.
A worse than war tariff.
Increased taxes.
The multiplication of monopolies.
Looting of the public service as spoils.
The protection of Republican rascals.
Dangerous inflation with 65-cent dollars.
The menace of a Force bill.
State-stealing and seat-stealing.
Reconstruction by office-holders.

The level-headed voters, whose actions are based on results, condemned this record in 1890 and 1891. They are getting ready to repeat their verdict.—New York World.

JUMPING ON A PLAINFIELD YOUTH.

"Journalistic" Methods as Practiced by a "Courier" Graduate.

The New Brunswick Home News has the following to say of a youth who received his "journalistic" training in the Courier office:

A TRICK EXPOSED.

The Unscrupulous Act of a Times Reporter.

The verdancy of a pretty youth who has been left in charge of the news department of the Times for the last few days, in the absence of Judge Shann, is as remarkable as it is deplorable.

The fellow came to the Times from Plainfield, and is said to be another "Reporter" with ridiculous stories of his journalistic work. He had even the temerity to assert that he was sent to the Chicago and Minneapolis Conventions to report them for the New York Herald.

In that office, however, he is unknown. He was for a while the guest of Lovell Bragdon, but he was too much for him. His latest trick was explained to a reporter this morning by Supt. Robertson, of the Prudential Insurance agency.

Yesterday there appeared in the Times an article telling how a Prudential Insurance agent had swindled people in the city out of $250. The article was all a fake pure and no one was swindled. The item was taken almost verbatim from the Dunellen Call or a Plainfield paper, it appeared. On both, and he had to do it to change the locality and make the item a local one.

Supt. Robertson recognized the article as it had been shown him by Supt. Pepper of Plainfield before it appeared in the Times. He demanded a contradiction, which the brilliant journalistic prevaricating young newspaper writer said he would give this afternoon. The item is not even correct as referring to Dunellen, as the paper-carrying youth claims it was picked off on a newspaper there by an ex-agent with a grievance.

NEWS OF THE WHEELMEN.

A Handsome Silver Trophy that Plainfield's Club Should Try for.

Notes of the Pneumatic Horse.

The Riverside Athletic club of Newark, which recently held a wheeling tournament among its members, will have a bicycle meet at Waverly, Oct. 15. The prizes will consist of a suit of parlor furniture, sewing-machine, bicycle and silverware. A silver cup is to be placed for competition for a team race, to become the possession of any New Jersey bicycle club which shall win it three times at the annual meeting of the club. The distance will be three miles, and teams of three men will be entered by each club and others. The place is supplied with daily and weekly papers and other reading matter.

A regular meeting of the association will take place on Thursday evening at 8. The banner committee will make a final report as to the arrangements made by them.

TELL THEM COME.

New York Gets the Crescent's Kosler.

A despatch from Binghampton, yesterday, says:

"Manager Powers of the New York club has completed a deal for the release of third-baseman M. F. Kosler of the Binghamton club, formerly of the Crescents of Plainfield, and Kosler has signed with the New York club. A number of league clubs have had agents out for Kosler. He is a left-handed batsman and resembles Dahlen of the Chicago club both in build and style of play, and is considered as strong as the Long cabs by every reporter."

Kosler is also said to be a wonderful fielder, and by long odds the best batsman in the Eastern league."

Society Event to the Naval Districts.

J. Mitchell, 30 years of age, from Illinois, and Miss Catharine McTenis, 74 years of age, of Glen Gardner, Hunterdon county, were married Monday evening, September 17. The boys burned fire-barrels so that they illuminated the sky for miles around. The Clinton boys telegraphed that they would be on hand with the fire engine to celebrate the event, but they did n't show up. Miss Mary Mitchell is the bride's aunt and household furniture Saturday the 24th. The bride and groom went to their future home in Illinois, Monday the 26th.

DEN BOLT.

The Cross Bearers' Circle of the King's Daughters Have a Successful Festival.

Directress Mrs. A. J. Moore, and the Misses Cornelia M. Smith, Mamie Van Dyke, Mary VanFleet, Cora Huff, Cora Young, Addie Baxter, Kate Baxter, Gertie Tier, Florence Smalley and Hattie Wellman, assisted by the Misses Laura VanNess and Mabel Staats, made a successful success of the fair and ice-cream festival of the Cross Bearers' circle of the King's Daughters, Tuesday afternoon and evening in the W. C. T. U. rooms. The proceeds were for the purpose of adding to the church debt fund, which they did very materially.

Allow us to say a word to you about your Fall Suit or Overcoat. We have the largest and most complete stock of Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing ever shown in this city, and we are prepared to sell you at prices that will astonish you. Our Fall Suits and Overcoats are now ready for your inspection, and we would be pleased to have you call and examine our stock and prices before purchasing elsewhere. Our Merchant Tailoring Department is complete in every detail, and we guarantee satisfaction in every instance. Our prices are the lowest for the best goods. Call and see us.

WANAMAKER & BROWN,
OAK HALL,
SIXTH AND MARKET STS.,
PHILADELPHIA.

SOUSA CAPTURES PLAINFIELD.

The New Marine Band at the Rink Yesterday, John Philip Sousa, Conductor.

The New Marine Band at the Rink last evening in behalf of the Home Hall piano day sicht. The programme was varied and interesting and the encores, which were many, were all kindly responded to by Mr. Sousa and his band. Sousa was paid a higher compliment than he probably expected, for when has a Music Hall audience greeted the first number, a selection of gracious with overwhelming applause, and given an encore to the second number, which was the case last evening!

As soon as Sousa appeared with the marching by the band, all standing, of Gilmore's "Death's at the Door" as a tribute to the memory of that great leader.

The overture to Semiramide, the opening number, was exquisitely rendered. The soft effects were delightful and the climax was grand. With a wave of the leader's hand the tone would be brought from hardly a breath to a staple that filled every phase of power. Grieg's "Peat Gynt," a descriptive piece, was beautifully rendered, the movement entitled "Morning" being a little gem. An encore was given. "The approach and retreat of the Salvation Army", which the band was compelled to repeat. Janne's "Bal des Enfants" and Chaminade's "Dream after the Ball" were delightful bits, which also received a deserved encore which was responded to by "The Southern Patrol", which, as it introduced "Mirriam's Ride," was re-demanded.

Sousa's own descriptive piece, "Sheridan's Ride", was the only one to the exception that was given B. Frost. The bugle call through the roar of the cannon and musketry, the presence of events and the shouts of homeward "Here comes Sheridan," the coming of Sheridan, the history could be followed. Sousa's humoresque entitled "Good-bye", which little appears paraphrased, was immensely enjoyed. Included about every farewell song that tee could think of, beginning with "The Soldier's Farewell" and including "Good-bye Sweetheart", "Auld Lang Syne", "Home Sweet Home", "Going Home to Dixie", Tosti's "Good-bye", "Last Rose of Summer", "Comrades", "Good-bye My Lover, I'm Going" and many others. As each strain was concluded, the principal performers, with the most serious faces, left the stage. The audience was full of merriment, and the performance of almost the last measure of "Then You'll Remember Me" as a baroon solo, finished them. The last on the stage were the drum major with the others marched out to "The Gal I Left Behind Me". Mr. Sousa was left monarch of the empty chairs. One man came back and gravely bowed, and that was all. The concert

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THIS CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

J. A. DEMAREST - - City Editor.

—The regular rehearsals of the Melopoia will begin Oct. 4.

—The Westfield Leader says: "It was The Single Tree that first ornamented Cleveland for the second term."

—The Hillside Tennis club will hold a ladies' tournament on Saturday of this week. The exercises will close to-day.

—Mayor Saunders of New Brunswick will be the speaker at the next regular meeting of the Cleveland and Stevenson campaign club, Monday evening.

—The pulpit committee of the Park Avenue Baptist church deny the Courier's report that they have called the Rev. Mr. Richardson of Brooklyn to the pastorate.

—North Plainfield's popular mayor invites all citizens of the borough to attend the outdoor meetings of Oct. 7 and Nov. 4, to be heard on the street railway subject.

—The Twilight Social Club will give their fifth annual ball in the Crescent rink, Thanksgiving Eve. The music will be by Vose's First Regiment Band of Newark.

—The first rehearsal of the Mendelssohn Male Chorus will be in their rooms in the Manning building on West Front street, opposite Hulett's, Thursday evening at 8.

—The T. M. C. A. has been fortunate in securing the services of George B. Titsworth of the Potter Press Works as instructor of the advanced class in mechanical drawing.

—You'll find no better clothiers in the country than the old reliable house of Marshall & Ball, and you'll be amazed to see how cheap they can fit you out in their Broad street, Newark, store.

—That deservedly popular hostelry, Hotel Granada, was so crowded with guests the first part of last week that employees were compelled to put cots in the parlors to accommodate all who were booked.

—Manning & Sanford are grading, curbing and flagging Richmond street from Second to Third streets, and Mayor Draper does that there is to be no more walking on boards for his neighborhood now.

—Charles S. Cook, for more than twenty years a faithful employee of THE PRESS, is also in the clutches of that fell scourge, painful disability from running a rake-tooth into his foot and spraining his ankle.

—The New York Institute for Artist, Artisans, of which John Ward Stimson of Plainfield is superintendent, will exhibit summer sketches Saturday, Oct. 1, at 146 West 23d street, where visitors will be warmly welcomed.

—The great furniture house of Mullins & Co., 213-220 Market street, Newark, has been awarded a large number of first prizes at the Waverly State Fair, as announced in the large new advertisement in THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

—The workmen took the tin plate glass that had its corner cracked, out of the Dime Savings bank front window Friday morning, but instead of standing it up edge half it down flat. In consequence it all broke to pieces with its own weight.

—Jimmie Powers, an aged inmate alternately of the Plainfield poor-house and the county jail, won't be able to vote in Plainfield this fall, for Judge Codrington sent him to Elizabeth yesterday for 60 days for drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

—Mrs. R. Mattis and her three daughters, a cousin by Mrs. Shaw, a neighbor on Manson place, of calling her out of her name, had a trial before judge Codrington on Saturday. The Mattises were found guilty, but sentence was deferred until Oct. 1.

—The Plainfield Bicycle club has been compelled to abandon its proposed wheelmen's tournament planned for Sept. 15. The League of American Wheelmen would not sanction the event because it interfered with the other New Jersey races at Englewood.

—A. W. Brown, of Brown & Hill, the Hotel Grenada tonsorial artists, cut Foreman's fat boy's hair Friday morning. It was measured and weighed and the scales would hold the customer. The lad is 19 and weighs 635 pounds. He gave Mr. Brown 50 cents and told him to keep the change.

—The Cleveland and Stevenson Tariff Reform club of Fanwood township will have a banner raising at Scotch Plains this evening and will be followed by a speaking in Excelsior Hall by the Hon. Frederick C. Marsh, the Hon. John T. Dunn, T. F. McCormick and James E. Martine.

—The Courier is getting more and more mixed every day. Now it talks about "pastor Goodrich of the Crescent Avenue Congregational church", in two different parts of its last night's issue. The church people need not fear; their buildings have not been transposed. It's only some of the Courier's characteristic and inexcusable carelessness.

THAT GRAVEL-PIT AGAIN.

A Correspondent Adds His Protest to the Nuisance "in Our Midst".

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—Permit me through the columns of the people's paper to call the attention of the board of health to an unabating nuisance within our midst, viz., the gravel-pit. The gravel-pit issue has been before the Plainfield public for some time without much benefit having been obtained, but now that the city has turned it into a dumping-ground the matter becomes more serious than before, inasmuch as all kinds of garbage are daily being dumped, and decayed vegetables down to sewpool contents, and as the pits fill every spring with water to a depth of two or three feet, this decayed matter floating on the surface of the water will not have a very beneficial effect on the health of the community. Now the streets have been and are now being cleaned down in this vicinity, and the dirt carted and dumped on vacant lots which if dumped in the pits would in time raise the surface above the water line and this could be done at a very small expense to the city, and be a lasting benefit to this community.

SANITARY.

[THE PRESS has already directed attention to the seriousness of the gravel-pit nuisance. The authorities should attend to the matter speedily.

Recovered the Wheel, and Will Prosecute the Thief.

A bicycle stolen from ex-Mayor Place's son has been found at S. Frucht's junk-shop on East Front street by police captain Grant. An effort had been made to cut out the number. It was 20111, and the last two I's had been filed away. The number was found on examination of the returned bicycle. Frucht told the name of the lad he bought the stolen wheel from, and the thief will be prosecuted.

It Pays to Read the Papers.

Especially your county paper, for often through this medium business chances and opportunities are presented that might otherwise entirely escape your attention. For instance: B. F. Johnson & Co., Richmond, Va., have a manufacturing plant in the center of the tobacco belt of special interest and value to a large number of people hereabouts. Write to them for further particulars.

PERSONALIA.

Dr. J. A. Allis has returned from Washington.

Mrs. George Lissignolo and family returned to-day from Belmar.

Louise Leggett, of Florence, Kansas, is visiting his brother, Charles, of this city.

Miss Miss Ammerman and Miss Lizzie Smalley are visiting relatives in Cranford.

Mrs. Frank Manchester has returned home from a week's visit to friends in Newark.

Mr. and Miss Schipper returned Sunday evening from Ocean, on the steamship Worra.

The Rev. S. C. Partridge of the China mission will preach at Grace church next Sunday.

Miss Laura Stout of Elizabeth is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Ira Sandwick, of West Second street, for a few days.

W. E. MacClyment will give the first of the season's series of free organ recital in the First Baptist church the middle of next month.

William Carter and wife, of Horseheads, N. Y., are visiting friends and relatives in this section for the first time in many years.

Mrs. and Miss George Wharton Edwards will return to Plainfield from their summer home "Onarock", Monhegan, Me., Oct. 1. They will spend the autumn at Hillside.

Hester S. Brooks, widow of the late James Brooks, died at her home on Rockview avenue Sunday in her ninety-sixth year. She was probably the oldest resident of her set in this locality.

Benjamin Starr, of Richmond, Indiana, and a member of the firm of James M. Starr & Co., plano manufacturers, was the guest of E. H. Holsted, Plainfield's millionaire.

The 14th anniversary of Oscar Smith's birthday, was made supremely joyful for him by the present of a fine piano in a handsome case, from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, 4 West Front street.

The Westervelt reunion home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lambert was the scene of much saintly Wednesday afternoon from 4 to 8, when a children's party was given to the little ones living in the neighborhood.

"Paganism Surviving Christianity," the new book from the pen of the Rev. Dr. Alexander Herbert Lewis, pastor of the Plainfield Seventh-day Baptist church, is being well received by the critics and the reading public.

Miss Fitzgerald and Frank Voeseller, both of this city, were married Sept. 15, by the Rev. Father McKernan, in St. Joseph's parsonage, North Plainfield. William Smith and Miss Sadie Connors were the witnesses.

Miss Edna Elsworth Garnin, of Monroe street, Brooklyn, has returned to her home, after spending the summer with relatives on Grove street. She will be greatly missed by her large circle of friends in this city.

A most enjoyable five-o'clock tea was given Monday by Miss Homan, to her friends, Miss Pangborn, Miss Bradshaw, Miss Florence Bradshaw, Miss Mary Fritts, Miss Mary Stewart, Miss Bonnegar, and Miss Emma Case.

The first special musical service for the coming season at the Church of the Holy Cross will be given one week from next Sunday, at the afternoon service. Master Seth Bingham, of Naugatuck, Conn., who has a marvelous contralto voice, will add the choir at this service.

After a service of three years in the United States army, Frank Vermeule, of this city, has received a furlough from E troop, 3d cavalry, stationed at San Antonio, Texas, and commanded by Capt. Quarantine at Galveston, Texas, he is expected home in a few days.

Sidney B. Wser and son, of East Hartford, Conn., are visiting their engineer friend, Mr. Wser, and visiting their engineer friend, Mr. Wser, and visiting their engineer friend, Mr. Wser, and

WOMAN OF FASHION.

Some Advice to the Brides That Are to Be.

First and Foremost, the Wedding Gown—Some Very Important Details—The Trousseau—Jewelry—Wedding Presents—Dresses for Lovely Women.

[COPYRIGHT, 1892.]

Margaret is going to be married; did you know? And, having ever been pleased through this experience before in her twenty summers, Margaret is a little worried about a number of some seemingly unimportant trifles, but which, she knows full well, will make or mar the coming day, and so she feels a little like Martha at present, "careful and troubled about many things." For, let me tell you, Margaret is not an ultra fashionable damsel, who has etiquette at her finger tips, and knows exactly what to do under any conceivable circumstances, and is always perfectly calm and self-contained, no matter what is happening or going to happen. Margaret is only a fair, sweet maiden anxious to have a pretty home wedding that shall not leave too large a vacuum in the paternal pocket.

THE FAIR BRIDE.

The first care and perplexity, of course, is the wedding gown. Brenda is expensive and too fashionable for this occasion. Soft silk she would dearly love to have, but silk, too, costs too much, for Margaret thinks she'll have handsome. It is, indeed, a pretty material, with a sheen to it not unlike silk, and as wide that it takes only a paratively few yards to make even the long train. There are ever so many other pretty white stuffs, but none, I think, prettier than lansdowne.

Shall make the gown in princess style, and the yoke shall be filled in high to the neck—for a bride may not expose her throat—with full diagonal folds of tulle. Around the throat a narrow edge of orange blossoms shall be laid, which are to be carried diagonally across the yoke; there will be a loose belt of the blossoms, too, pointed back and front. The sleeves will have a scarcely perceptible puff, and will be edged with orange blossoms also. They will be long, and only a short glove will be necessary. When royalty was married not long ago without gloves we were assured that the fashion then would be rigidly adhered to. But it has not been so. Such an ugly style has not found favor among American girls. But only one bride in a hundred has hands pretty enough to hang uncovered. The edge of the skirt shall be trimmed with a full ruche, as well as the magnificent Watteau back, that starts so narrow and unassuming at the neck, and broadens and lengthens out so impressively in its journey to the floor. Hanging to the veil shall be gathered closely together with a bunch of blossoms at the top of the head, falling to the edge of the train.

The prettiest flowers for the bridal bouquet, I was told yesterday by a leading florist, are lilies of the valley or white orchids. A bouquet may occasionally have a touch of pink, but that is rare. Orchids, when bridal veils will be more numerous, the finest varieties of white chrysanthemum will come into play, and nothing can be more beautiful than these. Bridal bouquets are from twelve to eighteen inches in diameter, although the former size is more popular at present.

THE COMBINATION CALLING AND EVENING GOWN.

What will you wear for a traveling costume, Margaret? Shall it be a pretty one? First, there's a blouse of silk in Scotch plaid of pretty warm colors; over this comes the skirt, of woman's color, a gray camel's hair, with a broad belt that covers a good part of the blouse. The back, however, is straight all around, not pointed like our summer ones. The sleeves are of the finest silk, with a full puff. The jaunty jacket that goes over has a high standing collar, with velvet buttons at each side, by which the wearer can close it or not. It fastens the cape is knotted together. The cape does not meet; it stands apart about three inches, displaying every desirable of the pretty blouse. The skirt has six narrow rows of gray braid; the gloves are gray also.

Trousseau gowns—it's a broad subject, and there's such a bewildering mass of materials to choose from, that one hardly knows what to get. So far the season has not settled itself. Instead of colors, novel and startling goods quietly sinking out of sight and leaving staid old standbys in possession on top, more and more fabrics are constantly appearing. And what with the velvet-striped cheviots, the crushed, the tucked goods, the dotted and palm-leafed Bedford cords, the new serges, the short goods, the corkscrews and all the rest, our minds have no very clear idea in them. So that if one put off buying for a few weeks, in the hope that style will come out of the fire of observation and criticism unharmed, one will probably fare much better than by purchasing now. But if this be impossible, there is some material that is safe to count upon. The new shaggy cheviots, for instance, will never be amiss, and a Bedford cord may be counted on to last for one season at any rate. Serges, too, are always in style, but the serge craze has been so intense all summer that it is a little tiresome now. Still, in new, old shades, serge will be worn again. Crepons? Yes, with the silk designs running over them, they make up very handsomely.

The empire is surely coming upon us. We see suggestions of it in the short, full waists, the high skirts coming up over, there are hanging sleeves, the Watteau folds and variations in our gowns. Some of the best of these designs are displayed by grand ones; even the belle are cut differently from what they were, having the bust cut to the belt, only a bias, bell-shaped piece. In the front the breadths are gored to fit the figure more closely than ever.

A pretty new combination suit has just come from Paris. It is a novelty, for it answers two purposes—being the afternoon visiting gown and of an exercising dress at once. For the velvet piece it bears and the embroidered sleeves it can be taken out at will, leaving a remarkably neat and serviceable dress. The material is soft wool or cashmere silk, and is trimmed, with much grace and delicate good taste, in a design of and the crop is laid by and she deserves a pension both from earth and Heaven. She never thought about managing me, but she has done it. It is well enough to talk about taming a shrew, but managing a woman—never. If there were a whole book written upon it it would go dead—stillborn—for a gentleman neglects it he could, and a tyrant couldn't if he would. There may be Petruchios, but there are no Kates.

MOW THE HOTTENTOT ALLAYS THE TEMPEST.

BELL AMY.

Opie Read—Chicago.

There are undoubtedly many ways to manage a wife, but failure is generally the result—that is if the wife should receive the intimation that the husband is trying to manage her. If a wife is managed at all it is better to suppose the performance in a manner so quiet and conducing as to keep it entirely hidden from her. Many a wife owes upon the wife as to whether or not she is to be managed. If she decides not to be managed, and this decision will soon manifest itself in some unexpected way. It were well for the husband to "dodge" the issue, and to accomplish his ends secretly. He should naturally suppose that a delicate little blue-eyed creature with a "won't you please love me?" expression in her eyes could be petted to death. Not so. Many a large-framed fellow, a heavy mass of muscle and bone, has fallen a victim to the blue-eyed creature, and has been managed, petted and petted to death. Many a man who has been managed by his wife has left in his will the statement of what he thought of her management. Many a man who has been managed by stealth has left in his will the statement of what he thought of such treachery. Many a man who has been managed by diplomacy has left in his will a condition which is not exempt by that of lampblackness, but which by slavery is almost as bad. But as to the result of being managed by stealth. Such a one has fallen him with her tears, and it is better to be ruled with an ostrich plant than with a flood of tears. Ah! but how should a wife be managed? By attention, by little respects and courtesies, by keeping romance alive in the house. A woman who does that is loved in honor as the child of romance. A rose given to her at evening is far more effective than a morning argument. Try at first to think as she does. Read in her line rather than ask her to read in yours, and the chances are that your literature will be heightened if not improved. Jump with these delightful gentleness that add spice and perfume to conversation; but through the suffs of pleasantry let not the truth of love shine. Reason with her. Yes, and reason earnestly, but remember that your court of reason is not the love instead of exact and unflinching justice.

The man who sets in with the determination to rule his wife may find certain sort of happiness, but he is not likely to communicate any of it to her. Happiness is contagious, but it is a particular condition of atmosphere.

Manage well yourself, and in that may lie the management of your wife.

OPIE READ.

FORTY MILLIONS FOR FUN.

That Is the Amount Invested in Chicago "Side Shows."

Three Great Spectacles Alberty's "Ameri-ca" at the Auditorium—Columbus' Discovery at Sullivan & Kraus' Spectacle—The Passion Play.

[COPYRIGHT, 1892.]

CONSERVATIVE estimates place the investment in amusement enterprises for Chicago during the fall at $40,000,000. Exhibitions of the Garden City fix the sum at $60,000,000. Add to this scheme to fill a rather wild epoch in the history of the country, and the capitalization of amusement projects at springtide alone has already mounted up into millions, and the end of money this will come from New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and Boston. Abroad, in search of Alberty's spectacle, at the Auditorium, Steele Mackaye's enterprise on the world's fair grounds, the Elitch-Gardens of Weehawken, the monster orchestra enterprise, the "Hippodromes," the Passion Play and Paints Panorama plan, all backed by eastern money, and lots of it.

"In fact," said Mr. Schoeffel to me, "it will be a great Coney Island of amusements big and little on all sides, with the greatest entertainments this country has ever seen and with probably more attractions outside than inside the fair.

Theatrical managers, east and west, have simply gone Chicago-mad. They are paying tremendous prices for privileges, big sum, for certainly limited property, and they seem to give no heed whatever to the fact that after August and September, the great months of the fair, are conducive to anything but indoor amusement. Klaw & Erlanger enterprises is a contract to transplant the Eldorado to Chicago. I am told that the negotiation is to mention the trifle of a million and a half, that the grounds have already been selected and that the buildings will be on the reproduction of those at Weehawken, castle, casino, fountain, flights, amphitheater and all.

"We will have a great deal of Chicago from May to October, and the first will be the spectacle 'America,' at the Auditorium, and that Mr. Alberty is Chicago. "The play there will be arranged by Imre Kiralfy, and has been carefully kept under cover. The Schaefer family of Vienna, to-day the most marvelous performers in the world, have been contracted to appear in the spectacle. Sandow, the strong man, and we are dealing constantly with all the vital performers in the capitals of Europe."

The Passion Play seems to be an assured thing. It will be under the incorporation of the company at Springfield late in June was followed almost immediately by the signing of contracts with all the great Oberammergau players. The syndicate is represented in Europe by the acting director of the imperial opera house at Vienna, and his first contract was with Joseph Myers, the personal representative of Barnum & Bailey. All the others have been signed on condition that $60,000 guaranteed them be placed in bank to the order of a third responsible party. This, too, has been done, and it is now the intention to have all the original costumes and scenery brought here, and an amphitheater will be constructed especially for the production. Given the hotel accommodations for the 235 Bavarian peasants who are to produce the play and you are done.

JOHN PHILIP SOUSA.

I had a chat with one of the New York gentlemen interested in the Chicago Hippodrome Company the other day, and he informed me that matters in connection with the enterprise were progressing splendidly. "We are investing $2,500,000 and will have a greater hippodrome than the largest and most famous of Europe. In fact, the star Paris performers are under contract with us and will be here during the formal opening next May."

There is still some talk of transferring the Paris hippodrome, intended to be "Libby Prison" grounds in Chicago, and it is possible that that enterprise will yet be undertaken effectively.

The First regiment armory is now having way in the Auditorium in immense new theater, and I understand that Dr. Ziegfeld has secured the Meininger orchestra as one of its prime attractions.

So much has been said of Steele Mackaye's great work on the world's fair ground that I can add but little of interest. Mr. Mackaye has not yet finished the plan which is to be produced there and simply announces that it will be on a grander scale than has ever been attempted in the world of amusements on either side of the Atlantic.

When John Philip Sousa, of the Marine band, left Washington to accept the leadership of the new Chicago orchestra, many admirers assumed that his popular music would not be lacking, and in this they are not disappointed. He will be a formidable rival to Theodore Thomas, whose orchestra is also to be grandly augmented. Mr. Sousa's engagement is for three years, but it is whispered that Gilmore will give up a season at Manhattan Beach and surrender his position with the summer manager. I heard also that the only Gilmore intended to take one hundred of New York musicians with him.

The Digby Bell opera company will furnish the chief style of light opera for Alberty's, and two new operettas are to be produced in it. Myron and Mrs. Bell will appear. Vincent and Dr. Wolf, Hopper ated in this sale of tears. I made this discovery early in life.

ONLY A FACE IN THE SMOKE.

There is nothing so much like matrimony as "chumming" with a fellow at college. My chum was full of faults. For instance, he was in love at all money at poker instead of buying fur allure for the room. This practice would have endangered our friendship, but I rose to the occasion.

In three months he was a steady winner and my room was carpet on the floor and pictures on the wall.

It is seldom-seen, perhaps, which leads a wise man to modify those views which he comes in contact in such a way that they will be more agreeable to him, but although that method may be credited by actions it makes I must recommend it. Perhaps it is the most delightful, but it is a secret which I shall presently divulge for the benefit of any bachelor who may be trembling on the brink of matrimony.

Most men fail to realize how important this unmarried state is to them. They do not fully realize the nature of a wife. Some seem think of a wife only as a person to whom one can go home to dinner and escape from from one one's mother. Others consider her property to be housed and fed. Others look upon her as a companion to whom they can go for sympathy. Others regard her as a housekeeper

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY,
R. L. FORCE & CLINTON SCUDDER,
AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.
TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST

VOL. XXV. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1892. No 40.

"Support the Constitution, which is the source of all weal to the Republic, so to its authorities."—Madison.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

J. Addison Cockefair,
Counsellor-at-Law,
Conveyancer of Deeds, Notary-at-Conductor and Special Master, Office—No. 2 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

GEORGE W. DAY,
General Auctioneer,
Sales of Personal Property solicited. P. O. Box 183, Dunellen, N. J. Residence, corner of Cornelia and Somerset streets. Terms reasonable.

DR. CHARLES H. VEDDER,
Dentist,
24 West Front street. A new local anesthetic applied for extracting teeth without pain. Gold filling a specialty.

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VanArsdale,
PIANO TUNER.
Instructions on the Organ, Melodeon and Cabinet Organ. Pupils and Organs can be made at the residence by postal. P. O. Box 156, or left at William's shoe store, No. 5 Park avenue, will receive prompt attention. Residence 21 E. Front street, corner Elm street. 3ly1mo

T. J. GILLIES,
Auctioneer & Real Estate Agent.
SALESROOM—MADISON AVENUE, 2d DOOR EAST OF PARK AVENUE.
Residence—Corner of Madison Avenue and Fifth street.

John Chandler,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence and shop No. 26 East Third street. Jobbing promptly attended to. apl2

WILLIAM B. RANDOLPH,
Successor to E. D. Maynard,
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 26 PARK AVENUE.
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their residence, if desired. Shampooing and manicuring performed. 11y1

GARNEY BROTHERS, Agents,
7 West Front St.

TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS.
PARLOR STOVES,
COOK STOVES,
HEATERS.

Furnaces, Ranges,
Water Piping, Plumbing.
Heater Work. Tinning,
Hardware.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
22 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 6. 11 13-tf

Beautiful Assortment!
Furniture!
Largest Assortment!
Best Goods!
Lowest Prices!
Ever Offered in Plainfield!
23, 25 and 27 PARK AVE.

Garret O. Packer.

SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc. Etc.
All orders promptly attended to. Shop on Front street, rear of Park avenue. Residence on Second street, between Madison and Watchung avenues. Estimates cheerfully given. Satisfaction guaranteed in every instance. Telephone connection. 1y1

C. W. LITTELL,
No. 2 North Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

FOR MALARIA,
GENERAL DEBILITY
AND
ALL STOMACH TROUBLES
COLES'
PERUVIAN BARK
AND
WILD CHERRY BITTERS
ARE THE BEST.
A Vegetable Substitute for Quinine.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
Price, 50 cents and $1.00 per Bottle.
PREPARED ONLY BY THE
D. F. COLES DRUG AND MFG. CO
BARNEY, N. J.

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS,
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS,
SENT IN THE WORLD.
ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE

John Chandler,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence and shop No. 26 East Third street. Jobbing promptly attended to. apl2

WILLIAM B. RANDOLPH,
Successor to E. D. Maynard,
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 26 PARK AVENUE.
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their residence, if desired. Shampooing and manicuring performed. 11y1

C.E. & J.W. RROWN,
(Successors to G. F. & C. E. Brown & Co.)
Importers, Wholesale and Retail Dealers in
WALL PAPER.
321 Canal Street,
NEW YORK.
Station Time, Accurate, Rapid, Isaacs' Solved Pinch Pencils, etc. Europe for Wales.
Manufacturers of Window Shades.
1-13-12

LIVERY.

A. M. SEGUINE,
(Successor to John W. Laing.)
Laing's Hotel Stables

Front street, opposite Madison avenue.
Coaches for Weddings, Funerals and Private Calls. Light carriages of all descriptions for hire reasonable.
RIDING OR LIVERY
Careful, safe drivers for shopping calls or pleasure drives. Special attention given to boarding horses by the day, week or month. 11-17-tf
TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 24.

RICKERT'S
ACCOMMODATION EXPRESS.
OFFICE—Parkhurst's Middle Store. Post office building. The Accommodation Express will attend to the general carrier's line in the city, delivering goods or baggage to and from the Depot, or to or from places in the city.
Moving of Furniture, Pianos, etc., with care and safety.

INSURANCE.

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.

Fresh Garden Seeds
AND FERTILIZERS,
Farm and Garden Implements,
Lawn Mowers Refrigerators,
Ice Cream Freezer.
Gasoline Stoves, Hardware, Tools, etc.
J. J. MEIDELOFF,
No. 13 SOMERSET ST. 9-15-tf

GEORGE A. MOORE,
(Of the late firm of Moore Bros.)
Is now the sole proprietor of the old established market at
NO. 14 NORTH AVENUE,
Where he will continue to supply patrons with the best grades of
Fresh and Salt Meats,
Put up in Links, Oysters, Clams, Game in season. Also the Largest Stock of Corned Beef in Plainfield.
Anything not usually kept in stock, furnished on short notice.

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE
Hugo Weigman,
20 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON,
(Successor to W. T. Corey.)
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—27 W. FRONT ST.
Residence—Corner Second street and Watchung avenue. P. O. Box 1

TOBACCOS, SEGARS, &c.

H. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of and Wholesale Dealer in
C. O. D. CIGAR,
"The best combination on the market and sold only to the trade." Also manufacturer of CLEAR HAVANA SEGARS A SPECIALTY.
Always in stock a full line of Choicest Brands of Imported and Domestic Cigars and Tobaccos.
Southern Articles in Great Variety.

C. M. FINE,
DEALER IN HAVANA & DOMESTIC
SEGARS!!
PARK AVE., (NEXT DOOR NORTH OF POST OFFICE.)
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Tobacco and Smoker's Materials,
Of every description.
The celebrated "Our Leader" 5c. cigar always on hand.

A. WOLFF,
Manufacturer of
CIGARS,
Ain't looker in all kinds of Smoking and Chew Tobaccos, and cigarettes' articles, has removed from No. 2, Front avenue, to No. 43 East Front st., one door east of Madison avenue, and solicits the patronage of his friends and the public generally. 1-7-tf

PAINTERS & PAINTERS' SUPPLIES.

Paints, Varnishes, Glass.
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALL PAPERS!
PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY.
A. SWALM,
No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.
1-29

S. D. VOORHEES. J. F. BOOREM
Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS,
Wall Papers,
GLASS & SUPPLIES. 20 NORTH AVENUE

Whatever forms of printed matter you require we can be of service to you; whether it be

Letter Headings,
Circulars,
Programmes Menus
Addresses,
Memorials,
By-Laws of Societies,
Prospectuses and Reports of Financial Associations, or any other matter for Publication or Private Circulation.
Everything,

WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST

DAILY PRESS

(Chautauqua Building).

PLAINFIELD N. J.

NEW YORK ALL RIGHT

CONGRESSMAN CUMMINGS ON THE OUTLOOK.

The Image of the Campaign Already Put Together—Harrison is Going to Fail Badly—The Prospects of Victory Were Never Brighter.

New York, Sept. 28.—"The political sky over the Democratic party is encouraging, to say no means cloudy. The sun shines as steadily as in the great campaign of 1884, and the prospects of victory are as bright. In New York the Democrats will do their duty. They are fully as enthusiastic as they were in the last three years ago.

Tammany Hall is thoroughly organized and will lead the fight in this state. The work of organization has been done slowly. The fight will not fairly begin until Mr. Cleveland's letter of acceptance is received, and local and congressional nominations are made. Then Mr. Croker will establish his permanent headquarters at Tammany hall and give all his attention to the campaign. Tammany itself will be responsible for the result, and therefore its safety are at stake, and it will strain every nerve to give Mr. Cleveland a larger majority than he received in this state in 1884, by last fall. Able lieutenants of Mr. Croker in the different city assembly districts will be appointed, and they will, in turn, out all along the line, give the Democratic presidential ticket 70,000 majority in the city.

In Brooklyn the organization is equally thorough. Hugh McLaughlin although not in active politics, can be no defection in his ranks this fall. The campaign in Brooklyn was inaugurated last night by a meeting to be held on Monday night with a speech by Senator David B. Hill. There was no uncertain sound in the speech. Hill is a Democrat, both in principle and training. He supports the ticket heartily and unreservedly. His voice will be heard and echoed in all parts of the state and will enthuse and enliven sections now inactive.

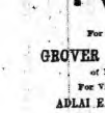
The cause of the disaffection in Kings in 1888 has been removed, and prominent men who left the party then have declared their ability to carry the city by from 15,000 to 20,000 majority. The Democracy will support with all the congressmen in those two cities.

Now for the state. The outlook is more encouraging than ever before. Governor Sheehan has established his headquarters in the city, and is acting heart and soul with the executive committee. Indeed he is the real state leader in the contest. He is young, active, energetic and untiring. The lack of a head has been

The Constitutionalist.

W. A. FORCE, } A. L. FORCE
Editors and Proprietors.

Democratic Nominations.



For President,

GROVER CLEVELAND,

of New York.

For Vice-President,

ADLAI E. STEVENSON,

of Illinois,

For Governor,

GEORGE T. WERTS,

OF MORRIS.

ELECTORS AT LARGE,

MILLARD F. [illegible]

PHILIP F. BAKE[illegible]

DISTRICT ELECTORS.

First District—CHARLES MANN.
Second District—THOS. H. PRICKETT.
Third District—JAMES DESHLER.
Fourth District—THEO. SIMONSON.
Fifth District—JAMES G MORGAN.
Sixth District—EDWARD BALBACH.
Seventh District—EDW'D H. STEVENS.
Eighth District—MARTIN R COOK.

CONGRESSIONAL NOMINATIONS.

First District—FRANK M. PORCH
Second District—GEO D. WORTHERILL.
Third District—JACOB A. GEISSENHAINER
Fourth District—JOHNSTON CORNISH.
Fifth Dist.—CORNELIUS H. CADMUS.
Sixth Dist.—THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH.
Seventh Dist.—EDWARD F McDONALD.

Eighth Congressional District Democratic Convention.

OFFICIAL CALL.

Under and by virtue of the power and authority vested in me, as Chairman of the Committee adopted at the last Democratic State Convention held in the city of Trenton on the 22nd day of September, eighteen hundred and ninety-two, we have fixed as the

Friday, October Fourteenth, 1892,

at 12 o'clock noon as the time and Library and Reading Room, in the city of Plainfield, in the County of Union, as the place for the election of a member of the Congressional Delegation of this State from the Eighth Congressional District of said State, for the election of a candidate to represent the said district in Congress.

The basis of representation fixed by the committee is that of one delegate to each 100 votes and for every one hundred (100) votes cast at the last Congressional election and one additional for every fraction over fifty.

The number of delegates to be selected from the various districts, wards and townships is as follows:

UNION COUNTY.

Elizabeth	First Ward	4 Delegates.
"	Second "	4 "
"	Third "	4 "
"	Fourth "	4 "
"	Fifth "	4 "
"	Sixth "	4 "
"	Seventh "	4 "
"	Eighth "	4 "
"	Ninth "	4 "
Rahway	First Ward	4 "
"	Second "	4 "
"	Third "	4 "
"	Fourth "	4 "
Plainfield	First Ward	4 "
"	Second "	4 "
"	Third "	4 "
"	Fourth "	4 "
Linden Township		4 "
Cranford		4 "
New Providence Township		4 "
Springfield		4 "
Fanwood		4 "
Union Township		4 "
Clark		4 "
Fanwood		4 "
Westfield		4 "

ESSEX COUNTY.

Orange	First Ward, First District	1 "
"	" " Second District	1 "
Orange	Second Ward	3 "
"	Third Ward, First District	1 "
"	" " Second "	2 "
"	Fourth Ward, First District	1 "
"	" " Second "	2 "
"	Fifth Ward	3 "
South Orange	First District	2 "
"	Second "	1 "
"	Third "	1 "
West Orange	Township	3 "
Milburn	Township	3 "
Clinton Township	First District	1 "
"	Second "	1 "

HUDSON COUNTY.

Bayonne City	First Ward	1 "
"	Second Ward, 1st District	1 "
"	" " 2d "	1 "
"	" " 3d "	1 "
"	Third Ward, 1st Dist.	1 "
"	" " 2d "	1 "
"	Fourth Ward	1 "
"	Fifth Ward	1 "

The Democratic voters in the above named wards, districts and townships are hereby requested to assemble at such places as shall be designated by the Democratic Executive Committees on Monday evening, October tenth 1892, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the aforesaid convention.

The polls will be open from seven to nine p. m. Primaries are to be conducted as nearly as may be in accordance with the provisions of the various acts of the Legislature of this State governing the primary meetings.

By order of the committee.

THOS. S. HUDD, Union county.
MICHAEL F. MORRISSEY, Essex County,
ED. O'FARRELL, Hudson county.

Fanwood Democratic Primary.

The Democratic voters of the township of Fanwood will meet at the Engine and Bucket House (Hick ross), Martine Station, Monday, October 3, at 8 p. m., to elect delegates to the Congressional convention to be held in Elizabeth on Friday, the 14th inst. By order of

JAMES SEYCHE,
Chairman of last primary.

Democratic Primaries.

Pursuant to the call of the Democratic State and Union county committees, the following are the times and places for the city of Plainfield will meet on the following dates, viz: Saturday, October 8th, for the purpose of electing delegates to the Eighth Congressional District Democratic Convention to be held in Elizabeth on Friday, the 14th day of October instant.

First Ward, Democratic Club room, office of North avenue.

Second Ward, 2 delegates—Bryant school house.

Third Ward, 1 delegate—Smith's store, Sixth street.

Fourth Ward, 3 delegates—Democratic Headquarters, corner of Front and Park.

By order of J. S. MARTINE,
Louis F. Wadsworth, Sec'y. Prest. Com. Association.

THE TRUE MAN.

Ex-Senator and ex-Secretary of State Thomas F. Bayard, of Delaware, before an immense assemblage in the Brooklyn Academy of Music a few evenings ago, delivered the following noble testimony on behalf of the Democratic standard bearer, President:

"Circumstances, as you well know, gave me special and full opportunities, constantly and daily, for observing him, and accurately to estimate the character, faculties and qualities of Grover Cleveland.

The duties of the office which I held under his administration for four years have brought me at all hours of the day and sometimes even of the night to his side.

I saw him under the pressure of anxieties and manifold labors when confronted with serious difficulties and embarrassed by partisan obstructions, or in the hours of friendly confidence and relaxation from business.

I have been near him at all these times and can only testify to you that I e is and always was the true man and faithful American citizen that his country knows him to be.

The people made no mistake in calling him again to be their candidate.

They simply gave another proof of their capacity to select wisely.

Mr. Cleveland has never misled them.

They have never been kept in the slightest doubt as to his opinions upon any public question.

He may at some time have displeased the party manager desiring spoils.

His word is accepted by every intelligent man in the United States.

No man is so foolish as to disbelieve him.

No one distrusts his courage or his fidelity.

You all know the causes of his present position.

You know the moral forces—the consciences of the country—that compelled his nomination.

And trusting that he may, as I most earnestly do, that he may be elected in 1892 will be repeated in stronger numbers, the true man will be the President of the United States in the month of March, 1893."

That grand tribute to the worth of Mr. Cleveland fell from the lips of one of the most distinguished and illustrious of American citizens. He spoke not from mere hearsay or political partiality, but from actual personal knowledge.

Vote for
GROVER CLEVELAND,
THE TRUE MAN.

WHAT A BEAUTIFUL INFANT.

Major McKinley, the great Napoleon of war tariff taxation, and Doctor Depew, the princely paid President of a Railroad Corporation that screws its hard worked employees down to the lowest possible wage limit, are on the stump for Harrison and Reid, and the vociferous champions of that wonderful infant industry fraudulently termed American tin.

The Major, at a recent meeting in Philadelphia, waved high aloft and eulogized loud and long sheets of the bogus native product, and created such a cyclone of cheering among his tariffite hearers that, doubtless, scores of them are still hoarse with inflamed throats. A harvest for the M. D's.

At a subsequent Republican meeting in New York, the Doctor took up a similar ring performance, and then smacking shoulders of the place of tin among the audience, caused the faithful to tumble heels over head in search of the coveted morsels as though each one was a glittering diamond.

Such a childish exhibit on the part of men professing intelligence would be exceedingly ludicrous, were it not masked in arrant partisan deception.

Colonel McClure, a Philadelphia Democrat, offered, at McKinley's in open debate on the tariff question, but that valiant political warrior refused to accept the invitation. The Colonel would be an opportune man to present his own arguments, and then before a large meeting of fellow citizens exposed the tin fraud of the Republicans after the following exhaustive style:

"And now for the circus part of McKinley's illustration of the magnificent success of the tin-plate-triplet industry that is so richly bottled up tariff taxes paid by the people. A tin banner was paraded upon the stage at a propitious moment to enthuse the multitude, bearing the noble inscription, 'American Tin, Nineteen Per Cent,' with the name of the Ardmore Republican Club on the other side. It was a magnificent spectacular display, and Gov. McKinley bowed time and again in response to the thunders of applause which drowned his voice. It was easy to spoil this beautiful pageant, but it was such a sublime, such a heroic fraud, that it is a pity to do so. The identical tin banner was manufactured by Mr. William H. Edwards, of the Tin-Plate Company, near Cardiff, Wales, who came over here with his Welsh superintendent, Mr. Richard Lewis, and later bought and repaired a mill at Norristown, imported his own plates from his foreign mill, and started his own tin from Wales, imported his own skilled workmen, and dipped the English plates in English tin, by English workmen, and McKinley points to it as a grand achievement in his tariff in producing American tin. There is one of the same tin plates (pointing to a tin plate on the platform), and I have the certificate of the man who made it. Here is the letter in the original:

"RICHARD LEWIS, Manager.
"Norristown Tinplate Works,
Norristown, Pa.,
"NORRISTOWN, Pa., Sept. 24, 1892.
"Messrs. W. F. Potts, Son & Co., Philadelphia:

"DEAR SIRS:—Replying to your inquiry, we beg to say our plates here is not what is known as a tin-plate works in Wales, but it is rather the tinning-house of the mill, and in this respect is exactly like the majority of the tin-plate works in America, except that we are working on a larger scale than the majority of plants at present running over here in America.

"Mr. Edwards, of the Tin Plate Company, continues to operate his tin-plate works in Wales, but the final operation of tinning the steel sheets is reached, the sheets are shipped to us here and finished up, using the same machine patent tinning-pots. Besides importing these steel sheets cut to size and ready for tinning, we also import the pig-iron and palm-oil used for tinning the sheets, as a matter of American products can be obtained.

We pay 1.65 cts. per pound duty on the steel sheets and 2.5 per cent. duty on the palm-oil. Our ten men are experienced hands formerly engaged in the industry in Wales. Respectfully yours,

"RICHARD LEWIS, Manager."

It would have been a shame to play such a fraud on Gov. McKinley, but for the fact that he has tolerated just such frauds in glorifying every tin plate establishment that he has erected sponsor for. He should have seen to it that an American plate was borrowed somewhere and dipped in American tin by an American boy to save his own reputation. Indeed, rather than have the national reputation caught in such a clownish circus trick, I would have dipped a plate for him myself.

Truly, as McKinley says, 'We can make American tin; we can make anything.' We can make anything from the cast iron, and we have taxed the American people already nearly $20,000,000 in the encouragement of this infant industry, and will have to pay millions more millions or scores of millions of taxes when the people seem to be of no moment whatever to the politicos and orators who rob the masses under color of the McKinley tariff. The fraud in American tin industry is the most impressive of all the many appalling object-lessons of the McKinley tariff as it is all fraud that is not robbery."

VOTE FOR WERTS.

Judge Werts is a man of the people and familiar with their wants and interests.

Although poor in pocket he is rich in brains and integrity.

He is a practical statesman and thoroughly acquainted with the public affairs of New Jersey.

He is honest, capable and of good report.

From the hills of Sussex to the sands of Cape May, and between the waters of the Hudson and Delaware, there is not a man more peculiarly fitted to discharge aright the responsible duties of Chief Magistrate than he.

Vote for
GEORGE T. WERTS.

A CONUNDRUM.

If Wanamaker had to raise $400,000 corruption funds to enable Quay and Hooks of Five Dudley to control the Presidential election in 1888, how much like money will that pious statesman have to furnish his distinguished Philadelphia colleagues, Messrs. Martin, in order to secure another four years lease of the Postmaster-Generalship?

PHARISEES.

Judge Gresham is a clear-headed and clean-handed Western Republican. He can detect the fountain source of corruption funds as readily as the famous debauchment by corrupt politicians.

It is he who in 1888 properly declared:

"It is the Pharisee who corrupt elections

[illegible]

CLEVELAND'S PERSONALITY.

MAYOR SAUNDERS TELLS OF IT, AND OTHERS ALSO TALK.

A Rousing Meeting of Democrats in the Campaign Club's Rooms—Mr. Syphax Prays the Arm of the Republican Party That Holds His Colored Race in Bondage, Will be Paralyzed.

Every seat was filled, every foot of standing room was occupied and there were crowds outside unable to get in to Monday night's meeting of the Cleveland and Stevenson campaign club in the Crossett rink building. Under the same roof a short distance away the Republicans shivered and tried to be enthusiastic over a meeting of the colored race they are trying to still hold in slavery, but in the meeting of the Democratic John R. Syphax, a colored speaker from Virginia, had a band of his own hue and the hundreds of whites present to a pitch of warmth and fervor that burst forth in cheers and applause that really shook the building.

The meeting was presided over by president Desmarest of the Cleveland and Stevenson Campaign club, and among those who sat on the platform were vice president Bodine of the North Plainfield Democratic association, Joseph W. Yates, Hilliard Smith, Mr. D. Brett, Mr. Charles Conklin, H. B. Ely and the speakers. Besides Mr. Syphax, who prayed that the result of the coming election would paralyze the hand of the Republican party that held his race in bondage for their votes, George L. Record of Jersey City, delivered one of the most telling speeches on the tariff, and Mayor William L. Saunders spoke in part as follows on the personality of Grover Cleveland:

Some philosopher has said that if we are to believe that any part of a politician is a saint we must let him tell his own story. I am not sure whether or no Mr. Desmarest had this in view when he asked me to preside at this meeting. He knows as editor of THE PRESS what a poor kind of a politician I am, and what tortuous ways I am apt to go when I try to speak. As I came out in the train the other afternoon I was greatly flattered by a gentleman who introduced himself to me as a member of this organization and said that he was coming to-night to hear me speak. I told him that he was very kind but that I feared he would be disappointed, for I was not much of a speaker. He replied that he had read some of my writings and—"O, Yes"—I said—"I can write"—"well"—said he, "I'm not expecting you to talk eloquently or interestingly or to stick closely to facts, but just talk the same as you write". [Laughter]. But, now that you have given me the chance I must take my say as I am, and one of the surest things that I am, is a Democrat: as much I can not but welcome the chance to speak to this Republican organization even though I do no more than tell you how much I sympathize with you who struggle against heat, mosquitoes and Republicanism, and to bid you move across the brook in North Plainfield where the land rolls in peace and plenty, where mosquitoes have been slain, and where under Democracy a mosquito is quite as unknown as a magnolioyx. [Laughter].

You have doubtless heard it said that this is not a personal campaign. Pardon me if I differ with that sentiment and say that the personality of Grover Cleveland [Loud and continued applause], stands out in remarkable like is prominence to guide the doubtful voter. Was, since Lincoln, has so endeared himself personally to the hearts of the people as he! Adored by his friends and respected by his enemies, defiant in his honest tenacity of purpose, and shaping the course of his party as he thinks it should go! What regard is there of a platform when Grover Cleveland is the candidate. [Applause]. He record on every public question is well-known, and what he has done and will do is platform enough for me. Some months before the Chicago convention a prominent Democrat just from New York City was given a public dinner in Denver, Col. Cleveland's anti-free silver letter had just been read in the Senate. In the dinner Democrats were naturally defiant; just at that dinner the name of Cleveland was loudly cheered and everybody acclaimed that he would not only but vote him even if he was against them on the silver question.

The honest old-time Republican said to me the other day: "I shall vote for Mr. Cleveland because his position on the tariff question is exactly what I have been preaching to my children for years and as much men as Sumner, Sherman and Garfield, and I simply cannot now repudiate all my early Republican teachings and associations to vote for the candidate of any party." This to my mind is an unanswerable argument because it is certainly true that the leaders of the Republican party have come to realize that the wisdom of a tariff sufficient only to meet the expenses of the government—a protection that secured only infant industries so long as they were in need of it—had led to the words of Garfield: "That protection which leads to ultimate free trade". This is exactly the position of Grover Cleveland and the Democratic party in this campaign. We have the rabid free-traders in our party, of course, but they are with us because they see that we are best for the masses. Mr. and Mrs. Stover started immediately after the wedding on an extended tour.

To Swell the Building Fund.

Mrs. H. F. Bentley is getting up a "spring festival" at her home, 21 Leicester avenue, to-morrow afternoon and evening, under the auspices of the Women's Friendly society of which she is a member. The festival for the benefit of the Sunday school to be held in Feist of Krems. It promises to be a very successful affair, and all interested in this work are cordially invited.

Youth's Suits Cut to the Latest Fashion Plate Shape.

There is no buyer of clothing that tries on a garb style on his person as a typical man from his first long pants up to 80 or 90 years of age, and that is where Watson & Co., placed the dressy Sunday suit, as a typical man's dressy suit, and the result was that they sold more of the full fashion plate cut on all their garments.

Look at the low D. B. Dress and Working Suits here shown in all their fixed and Marked street windows marked $10 and $12 and you will see how the cut will impress the fine appearance of a Gentleman.—The Monarch Inn.

Of Interest to Atlantic.

James Robinson, the athletic trainer of Princeton College, N. J., says:

"I have used Piso's Cure for Consumption in cases of hoarseness on hand in some of my athletic students, especially after running, and have found it to be a most excellent remedy. I have also used it in my family for coughs and colds, and find it to be the best medicine I have ever used for the purpose. I have recommended it to many of my friends and shall continue to do so."

JOINED HANDS FOR EARNEST EFFORT

Plainfield Men at Least a Democratic Organization That is Capable of United and Effective Work

At a recent meeting of the Plainfield Tariff Reform club, organized eight years ago, it was decided to join with the Cleveland and Stevenson Campaign club and all others desirous of good government and tariff revision, in one strong association, for more effective work. The strong active committee empowered to select a president for such organization, met evening elected J. A. Desmarest in that capacity and requested Seymour Marsh to fill Mr. Desmarest's place on the committee.

The officers of the Cleveland and Stevenson Campaign club—which as now organized in the most complete, powerful and capable Democratic association Plainfield has ever had—are as follows:

President—James A. Desmarest.
Vice-presidents—H. B. Ely, J. W. Yates, James Clark, V. L. Force.
Secretary—Hoel Vorrier.
Treasurer—E. W. Marshall.
Executive committee—A. G. Thurston, W. L. Saxton, Seymour Marsh, and the officers of the club.

The executive committee, under direction of chairman Ely, have already laid out a plan for the most effective kind of work.

Meeting the Fire Department.

Councilman Flatt and Brinson gave an unexpected treat and for the fire department last night. Learning that the latter would leave on the 24, at 10:45 Monday night. Alert hose company was crippled by the insomnia of its horse, but was first to respond to the alarm, and to the last 4 to answer. The other companies arrived in quick succession.

Fought His Father and Aunt.

Edward Conahay was arrested Monday night by marshal Pangborn for assault and battery on his father, Frank, and on his aunt, Mary Ann Conahay. He was before justice Crosley and held in $150 to appear before the December grand jury at Somerville.

Christian Endeavor Officers.

At the annual election of officers of the Christian Endeavor society of Trinity Reformed church, Monday night, the following unanimous choice was made:

President—Rogers D. B. Carter.
First vice-president—Miss E. C. Beaudet.
Second vice-president—Fred C. Smith.
Recording secretary—Miss F. Hastings.
Financial secretary—Miss M. Woodland.
Treasurer—Miss Ella Fenner.

Wire Damage From the City.

E. B. Thompson, of Somerville, was smashed by the hook-and-ladder truck two months ago, demands $11.25 damages from the city. He says he "does all he could" to avoid the collision, but the fire officials say that the accident was caused by his own carelessness. The bill has been referred to the corporation counsel.

The Mayor Found the Place.

Mayor Gilbert discovered clerical delicacies in the ordinance to open and inspect sewers, presented by Councilman Flatt. The council concurred in the vote, and a new ordinance is to be drafted according to the suggestions. The ordinance will not, however, be unnecessarily delayed.

Union County Democratic Convention.

The committee met Monday and decided to hold the county convention for the nomination of a county clerk, surrogate and coroner on Tuesday. The primaries will be held Oct. 17. The First District convention will be held in Queen's Hall, Elizabethport, the Second at Bensley and the Third at Westfield, all on Oct. 20, and the primaries on the 24th. The date for the Congressional convention has been changed to Friday, Oct. 14, in Library Hall, Elizabeth.

Will There be No Large Concerts to Patronize This Season?

It is now improbable that there will be any concerts in the Plainfield Choral society, this season. This city will thus be left for the first time in many years, without any series of musical entertainments during the winter. It is to be hoped therefore that the efforts of the Music Hall management to arrange a course of three concerts by the Boston band will be successful.

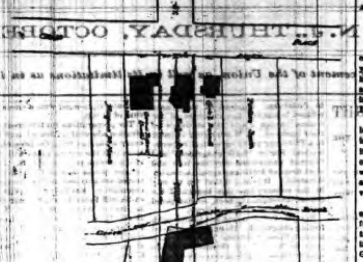
ELY'S CREAM BALM

Catarrh

Cream Balm is quickly absorbed. Gives Relief at once. Opens and Cleanses the Nasal Passages. Allays Pain and Inflammation. Heals the Sores. Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell. Quick, Positive and Permanent Cure. Not a Liquid or Snuff. A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable. Price 50 cents at Druggists or by mail. ELY BROTHERS, Owego, N. Y.

HAY-FEVER

THE PROPOSED EXTENSION OF MADISON AVENUE.



The Farmer to-day presents a correct map of the proposed Madison avenue extension, showing just what property the new street is to go through. This connecting link between Dover street and the present terminus of Madison ave. will open up a fine thoroughfare, a valuable artery between city and borough. The property along the new street and at its first street corners will be wonderfully developed, fine stores and residences being already planned. The credit for this great public improvement is due to George H. Babcock and William M. Stillman.

JOHN KEAN'S FAULT!

HE'S IN THE COMBINE, THAT'S RAISED THE PRICE OF COAL.

And the Extra Dollar For You You Pay Is to be Used to Help Along the Election.

The Courier said the other day in an editorial paragraph all by itself: "Would to God that the miserable coal combine could run just in time [illegible] for your coal bill." Now this is only said in mental ignorance or wilful mendacity. Take a pic !

A bill did pass both branches of the legislature, having for its object the legalization of the Reading combination, but it never became a law. The Democratic party feared the powers it gave would be used to form a monopoly in anthracite coal, and Governor Abbett vetoed it.

That bill, therefore, never had any effect one way or the other on the price of coal, and whatever influence the legislature made in passing it was rendered entirely harmless by the action of the Governor.

Then, too, the Democratic attorney-general has secured an injunction compelling the sundering of the ties that bound the combination together.

But, as an average anthracite coal combines to go up in price notwithstanding the refusal of the Democratic party to legalize the iniquitous combine, and as it goes up until the price charged for it is a burden upon the poor and to thinking persons there can be no doubt that the additional millions of the coal barons are now squeezing out intend to squeeze out of consumers during the cold winter coming will represent untold misery and suffering.

Everybody with a vestige of intuence or power is doing all he can to crush this conspiracy—except the attorney-general of the U. S. Rules and the beneficiaries of the monopoly.

Among the coal barons who are solely and wholly responsible for the exorbitant price of coal and the attendant misery are the Kean family of Elizabeth, of which John, jr., is a member.

They are a part of the rich few direct beneficiaries of this ...id upon the pockets of the poor, and it is into their already well-filled coffers that the dimes and dollars of the multitude, wrung from the laborer and the more affluent consumer are indirectly poured.

It therefore tit-becomes Mr. Kean, his associates or the party, to dishonestly charge another party with an injustice which that party cannot have been guilty of, but which, on the contrary, is to Mr. Kean very largely profitable.

The fact is suggestive—says the New York Journal—that a goodly share of the $15,000,000 which the Republican committee has assessed upon office-holders in this State goes into the capacious pockets of John Kean, jr.

Mr. Kean's millions are largely invested in stocks of the coal companies represented in the "combine". The action of these coal companies is always governed from Republican headquarters, at the stockholders. As none of the owners of coal stocks has "kicked" against an arrangement which has vastly increased their profits, it is fair to conclude that John Kean, jr's, stock voted for the combine.

It seems like rubbing it on coal companies to ask them to elect for governor a millionaire member of the coal combine, who is using some of the dividends wrung from the poor for expenditure, in his campaign throughout the State.

It is impudence to propose for governor a gentleman who will continue to draw his cool annual dividends after he is seated in the gubernatorial chair, and the attorney of the State is proceeding legally against his co-partners in the scheme.

People who are paying a dollar more a ton for their coal than they paid before the coal companies entered into the combine, are not in the humor to elevate to the governorship a gentleman who is one of the principal beneficiaries of the combine. Nor can they be pleased by the spectacle of this gentleman using his profits from the combine for his own election.

President, George H. Fountain.

The Somerset House Republican Campaign club last night elected the following officers:

President—G. H. Fountain.
Vice-president—William Langer.
Secretary—J. P. Rolf.
Treasurer—Rehm Lamphier.
Executive committee—Seven persons.
First ward—William Langer.
Second ward—Jacob Burger.
Third ward—C. C. Dilts.
Fourth ward—E. T. Hoffman.

The executive committee will be open every evening to the public. Good reading will be provided. There was a large attendance present last evening, and T. W. Berger made an address.

A Popular Hostelry.

Among the leading hotels of Plainfield and vicinity the Somerset House in North Plainfield ranks as one of the first. R. A. Boyce, who has been proprietor and sole manager for a number of years, has remodeled and refurnished this popular hostelry, and now, with the commodious stables attached, it is one of the best hotels for permanent boarders, or the transient traveling public, in the city.

The bar is always well stocked, and large or small parties can be supplied with the choicest of refreshments at short notice.

His latest addition for the benefit of the traveling public is a large sample room on the top of which the weather signals are displayed.

The host and hostess are ever on the alert to cater to the wants of their patrons.

Great Bargains at Vanliew's.

Everybody in New Jersey knows Abram S. VanHorn's establishment as the leading furniture house in the State. Just now this popular house is full to overflowing with bedroomings and mixed mattresses, and is selling parlor and bedroom furniture correspondingly low prices. All housekeepers will be interested in the big advertisement in to-day's issue.

—The Republicans are having all sorts of hard luck with their banner on Front street. The other day it blew down and Monday it killed a woman. Last night it got the electric light wires and plunged the post-office in darkness.

—The census of West Fourth street, who were under way Monday, appears to not madedamated in accordance with the ordinance passed are informed by authority of councilman Fisk that it is no use they have it's spite, as they will get no money into the city treasury. When they pay their share the work will be begun.

—Now is to add my efforts to the efforts of my Grace Baker, I was suffering from a severe cold and cough, and was induced to try Piso's Cure for Consumption. The result was that I was entirely cured by the use of a few bottles. I have since recommended Piso's Cure to many friends, and shall continue to do so, as I believe it to be the best cough medicine in the market.—Mrs. Grace Baker, 1,534 Penn ave., Pittsburgh, Pa.

LIST OF ADVERTISED LETTERS

Remainder in the Dunellen P. O., post-office for the month ending September 30, 1892:

Arnold, O. B.
Carpenter, Mr.
Clarke, John C.
Dunellen Gun Club,
Hall, Mrs. Ida,
Herrick, Wm. F.
Kimble, John
Lewis, Miss Carrie,
Sneed, Scott Wood Co.
Smith, Mrs. Ida,
Ward, W. W.
Zeigler, Mr. A.

Persons calling for the above letters will please say advertised. JOHN M. KEASLER, P. M.
Dunellen, N. J., Sept. 30, 1892.

$75 TO $250 A MONTH can be made by any active person in the U. S. Local territory will be sold. Salary or fees paid to profitably employed. Also a few salesmen wanted. Call or address, with stamp, 365 Main st., Richmond, Va. 9 29 2

1,000 YOUNG MEN & WOMEN WANTED to fill positions in TYPEWRITERS, STENOGRAPHERS, TYPEWRITING, BOOKKEEPERS, SALESMEN & MAN AIDERS. Situations secured when competent. Write for circulars. Mention this paper. Address, with stamp, Actual Business College, Elizabeth, N. J.

TRENTON BUSINESS COLLEGE

Trenton, N. J. Thorough instruction by mail. Open all the year. Send for Practical Business, containing full particulars. Penmanship Specialty. Send for Book, to

A. J. SCHOOL, Principal, Trenton, N. J. 9 4 2m

THE PLAINFIELD

PACKING HOUSE !

26 West Front Street,

Would respectfully inform its patrons that in addition to their usual stock of

Fresh Beef, Lamb,

Veal, Mutton & Poultry,

Which it is prepared to sell at

Reasonable Prices !

All goods delivered free of charge.

C. M. ULRICH.

Notice

—OF THE—

Meeting of the Boards

—OF—

Registry & Election

In and For the County of Union.

In accordance with a supplement to "An Act to regulate Elections", approved March 23, 1891.

Notice is hereby given that the Boards of Registry and Election in and for each and every election district are voting precinct in the county of Union, will meet on the Eighteenth Day of October, 1892, at the places in their respective election districts, where the next election will be held, at ten o'clock in the morning, and continue in session until nine o'clock in the evening, but may take a recess from one to two o'clock during said time, for the purpose of making said registration of voters.

And that the said Boards of Registry and Election shall also meet on Tuesday, November 1, 1892

At the place of their former meeting at the hour of one o'clock in the afternoon, and remain in session until nine o'clock in the evening, for the purpose of revising and correcting the original registers, of adding thereto the names of all persons entitled to the right of suffrage in their election district at the next election, who shall appear in person before them, or shall be shown by the written affidavit of some voter in such election district to be a legal voter therein, and of erasing therefrom the name of any person who, after a fair opportunity to be heard, shall be shown not to be entitled to vote therein by reason of non-residence or otherwise.

A. GROWELL,
Clerk of the County of Union.
Dated September 17, 1892.

Countless cases of female complaints, such as leucorrhœa, ovarian troubles, organic diseases of the uterus or womb, displacements,

Bearing-down Feeling, causing pain, weight, and backache, inflammation, nervousness, have been permanently cured by

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

the only truly reliable and harmless remedy for all forms of female complaints. Its success is world-famed, and it is prepared in such a manner that it can be taken by all with safety. Mrs. PINKHAM invites all ladies to write her for advice, free. Address LYDIA E. PINKHAM MED. CO., LYNN, MASS.

SEPARATE storage rooms with plastered walls to let in Stillman block; also desirable sand heat in showing. Also office rooms. Apply to Wm. M. Stillman on the premises. 10 1 tf

BOARD WANTED—From October 15 to June 15, in Plainfield, for widow lady and two grown-up daughters, one of whom is an invalid; private family preferred; one single bedroom, both on second floor, with southern or southeast exposure and open grate fire in one room next with bath room and closet on same floor; there must be no children; reference unexceptional. Address, stating full particulars as to terms, G. B., box 1,534 post-office, New York City. 10 1 6 2—p 10 1 5 6 4

Woven Wire Bedsprings And Mixed Mattresses GIVEN AWAY !

I will give to every purchaser of a Bedroom Suit a Mixed Mattress and Woven Wire Bed Spring until further notice.

CARPETS.

Tapestry Brussels, per yard	60 cts.
Body Brussels, per yard	$1.00
All-Wool Ingrains, per yard	60 cts.
Low-priced Ingrain Carpets, per yard	35 cts.
Velvet Carpets, per yard	$1.00
Moquette Carpets, per yard	1.10

PARLOR SUITS.

Good parlor suite, mahogany finished frame, covered in plush,	$35.00
Good parlor suite, mahogany finished frame, in rep covering,	42.00
Good parlor suite, mahogany finished frame, in silk tapestry covering	60.00
Good parlor suite, mahogany finished frame, in silk tapestry covering	75.00

PORTLAND RANGES.

One hundred and fifty sold last month. That tells the whole story what the Ranges are. Every one warranted or money refunded. The largest line of Parlor Stoves in the city.

Terms:—

$ 75 down and	$ 75 weekly	on	$10 00 worth
2 50 down and	1 00 weekly	on	25 00 worth
4 00 down and	1 00 weekly	on	50 00 worth
6 00 down and	1 25 weekly	on	75 00 worth
8 00 down and	1 25 weekly	on	100 00 worth
12 00 down and	1 50 weekly	on	150 00 worth
16 00 down and	2 00 weekly	on	200 00 worth

Telephone 580 ! Elevator to Every Floor !

Goods Delivered FREE OF CHARGE to All Parts of the State!

FULL NAME

AMOS H. VAN HORN.

My only place of Business is at

73 Market Street,

Near Plane St., Newark, N. J.

NO BRANCH STORES. 10—5 12

Misses A. L. & M. D. GORSLINE,

Fancy Goods, Notions, Art Needle Work, Painted Novelties, &c.,

14 WEST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

STAMPING AND DESIGNING A SPECIALTY

ARTISTIC OUTLINING AND EMBROIDERY. 4 9 m

STOVES. STOVES.

The finest line of Heating and Cook Stoves in the city. Parlor Stoves from $4.50 up, Cook Stoves from $12 up.

Agents for the celebrated "Palace King" furnace, conceded by everyone to be the best furnace in the market.

Also all kinds of Hardware, Housefurnishings, Paints, &c.

ZIMMERMAN & RUMPF'S.

Successors to Flora & Hardware Co. 9 11 3m 123-125 East Front Street.

A COMPLETE CITY DIRECTORY SUPPLEMENT.—Notice is hereby given, that the account of the undersigned, as Executor of the last will and testament of Virginia L. Ely, late of the city of Plainfield, deceased, will be audited and settled by the Surrogate of the County of Union, on Wednesday, the twenty-fifth day of October, A. D. 1892.

Dated July 14, 1892. WALTER S. POUCH
7 21 3t

CARTER'S BIG HEB

Jno. H. Pearce, 20 John Street, New York City. 7 28 13t

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

To the Sheriff of the County of Union:

By virtue of a writ of fieri facias to me directed out of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein Frank P. Bergen is complainant, and you and I are defendants, I do hereby require you to make of the goods and chattels of the said defendant, Frank P. Bergen, the sum of two hundred and fifty-seven dollars and fifty-two cents, which the said complainant lately in the Court of Chancery aforesaid recovered against you, and also the sum of one hundred and fifty-seven dollars and fifty-two cents, which I have then and there adjudged for costs, and also my own costs and charges in this writ. And you are made defendant, Frank P. Bergen, that if the said sum of two hundred and fifty-seven dollars and fifty-two cents, and also the said sum of one hundred and fifty-seven dollars and fifty-two cents, and also my own costs and charges in this writ, be not paid to me within thirty days from the date hereof, I shall sell the said goods and chattels by you so taken in execution as aforesaid, to satisfy the said several sums and my own costs and charges.

Dated August 16, 1892. CHAS. A. REMSEN,
Solicitor of complainant, 7 Exchange Place, Jersey City. 8 25 6t

THE SHOPPING CENTRE BEE HIVE OF NEW JERSEY

NO BRANCH STORES.

1892 Fall and Winter Cross Trimmings. 1893

TOWNSEND'S

Marble & Granite Works,

30 SOMERSET STREET,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

We have now engaged permanent, industrious and skilled workmen, and are prepared to do all work entrusted to us in a prompt and satisfactory manner. Our prices are low, and we guarantee satisfaction. Persons desiring to purchase a Monument or Tombstone will do well to call and examine our stock and prices before purchasing elsewhere. Our facilities are such that we can do work at short notice. Orders by mail will receive prompt attention. Estimates furnished on application. Yards and Office, 30 Somerset street, Plainfield, N. J. 9 3 3m

Fall Bulletin No. 2

NEWARK

Bee=Hive !

THE SHOPPING CENTRE BEE HIVE OF NEW JERSEY

NO BRANCH STORES.

TOWNSEND'S

1892 Fall and Winter Cross Trimmings. 1893

OUR ASSORTMENT in this department will be found new in the reputation gained through its exhibit of last season. Many new goods recently received from the new york and will allow a handsome line of regular stock, and a perfect fit to the many choice and exclusive styles imported expressly for our trade.

NOTABLE FOR EXCELLENT VARIETY. WILL BE FOUND.

Persian Bands,
Fleet Gimps,
Chenille Fringes,
Beads of Gimps,
Jet Bordings,

Cantille Gimps,
Ribbon Fringes,
Irene Trimmings,
Jet Galloons,
Jet Ornaments.

IN HIGH-CLASS STYLES

For Street and Evening Wear

Dress Goods, Linings and other essentials for the completa making or Costumes are here, and in asking your attention thereto, do so with the fullest assurance that style and prices will both prove of the greatest advantage to our patrons in making their selections for the present season.

L. S. PLAUT & CO.

RAIL ORDERS FILLED. 7 2 2m 707 to 709 SAMPLES SENT ANYWHERE. 7 30 3m

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY. LARGEST BONA FIDE CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

J. A. DEMAREST - City Editor.

—The Board of Education council will meet again Oct. 17.

—A crosswalk is to be laid, across West Fourth at Marshall Cleveland's residence.

—The people of Arlington avenue are to have a crosswalk at Rose street.

—Round Brook's tax rate has just been fixed at $1.83 per $100. Last year it was $1.40.

—William Woodruff has sold Alonzo B. Kline's house on summit avenue, to George Sackett.

—An electric lamp is to be placed in the city parks, one every like length of the walk crossing the big lot.

—An electric lamp is to be placed on Sixth street midway between Madison and Central avenues.

—Policeman Hall is to have new winter trousers, overcoats and helmets at an expense of $235 to the city.

—There will be a new schedule of passenger trains on the Central railroad, Tuesday, the 11th inst.

—Grace church will hold a fair for the benefit of the Sunday-school, on the 14th and 15th inst. at 10 Crescent avenue.

—Isaac Arnold, a member of the M. E. church, has been given the job of looking after the lawn mock in the belfry.

—The dark hole along Girard avenue bridge is to be illuminated by two oker ire lamps—a bolt up by the city and one by the borough.

—The constructing committee on lights has been asked to look into the needs of an electric lamp at the dark curve on Railway road.

—The board of freeholders of Middlesex county has awarded the contract for macadamizing the Park avenue roadway between Rahway and Plainfield.

—More fire hydrants are wanted at Webster place, Kensington avenue and Broadway. The fire committee has been instructed to have the matter looked into.

—Two new fire hydrants are to be put into service in the neighborhood of the Irving school, for the protection of the school and other property in that section.

—The city fire department property has been uninsured for a long time. Last night the council ordered fire insurance taken out on all buildings and apparatus.

—Edward Martin, the courteous and obliging station keeper in Scotch Plains, is the beautiful new bicycle-race medal, which has been handsomely and appropriately engraved.

—The large evening banner raising by the North Plainfield Democratic association, will be a big event. The Elizabeth association is the strongest club of nine city will attend in a body.

—The Water Supply company in its bill for fire hydrant service in charging the city for hydrants the council did n't know it had ordered set. The amount is therefore being investigated.

—The council music committee on fire and buildings has been authorized to procure plans for a new engine and hose house to be built on the city lot, new 1st on East Second street near Peace.

—At the communion services of Trinity Reformed church Sunday morning pastor Schenck and his congregation were gratified to receive into church new members, 7 by letter and 6 on confession.

—The authorities should find some way of stopping the horseback riders, wagons and cows that are now thoroughfares for the City Park. The place is now unfit for the people it belongs to, to walk through.

—The drawings and specifications of a workingman's hotel for Garwood are in the hands of the builders. Architect Leon has also just finished drawings for a block of brick stores and flats at Garwood.

—Miss A. E. Linde, the florist, has removed her business temporarily to 59 North avenue, where she will remain until the completion of her new store, which she is about to erect on the old site, 46 Park avenue.

—At last Plainfield is to have a much-needed modern extension-ladder truck for the fire department. The price is to be $5,300, and the councilmanic fire committee will make the purchase speedily, by authority of the council.

—The residents of Park avenue from Cedar bridge to the city line urge that the roadway in that section be speedily given the repairs so much needed, before the winter sets in. Plans for the work has been put in the hands of the street committee.

—Sparks from a locomotive set fire to a pile of lumber at the new Netherwood station Saturday night, and the fire department was called out by box 25. The occupancies were wonderfully quick in responding. The damage was $20.

—The common council have accepted the invitation to be present at the "moonlight excursion and parade banquet" of the Elks on Oct. 18. The firemen are going to have an elaborate time, that night. The Trenton board of engineers will be honorary members.

—A. A. Cruikshank, Mrs. George B. Devere, F. C. Langhorne, C. C. Burke, and others, have petitioned the common council against permitting the trolley road to be extended through Woodland avenue. The communication was filed.

—The location of the proposed W. C. T. U. public drinking fountain is to be changed to the place where it will do the most good. The matter

AMERICA'S NOBILITY.

It Is Composed of Members of the Grand Army.

The Most Exclusive Aristocracy on Earth —Memories of the Days When the Call for Soldiers Electrified Every Section of the Land.

[Special Washington (D.C.) Letter.]

Sound the loud timbrel, exultingly sing; the long war is over, the soldier is king. He comes not with regal pomp and panoply, nor carries he booty and jewels. He is clad neither in purple nor fine linen. No crown of empire is chained to his chariot wheels. He is regal only in the hearts of a loyal and unbid people. Here in the national capital he reigns as no potentate ever reigned. His scepter is the olive branch, and he is crowned in commingled gratitude and love.

Speaking to sons and daughters of veterans of the armies of the Union, a prominent politician recently jestingly asserted that those children were of noble blood. Their fathers were knighted by the sovereign hand of the people of the republic. But, there is an aristocracy in this country which transmits not its heritage. All soldiers are not yet classed with this upper tendom; but every month of the year sees it a soldier. There never was such an exclusive aristocracy on earth as the Grand Army of the Republic. It is remarkably in select, and its number diminishing, rather than increasing. Day by day and hour by hour this aristocratic class is growing numerically less. The emperor of Germany, the czar of all the Russias, the queen of Great Britain and Ireland and empress of India cannot join this brotherhood. No Rothschild, Vanderbilt, nor Gould; no money king, and no prince of politicians or statesmen can be admitted to this charmed circle. None but the boy in blue who bore musket or sabre, or fought at cannon's mouth, can find admission to the conclaves of the grand army.

WATCHING AND WAITING.

THE LAST GOOD-BY.

As the world grows in wealth, and organizations multiply, the money kings and princes of society increase in number, but the nobility of monarchies does not multiply. But the grand army is growing more exclusive year by year. The day is coming when in the land, but two survivors of this aristocracy; and one of them will follow his comrade to the grave, and fire the last salute of a volley over his remains when they are lowered into the grave. The last survivor will be buried in state, in form, and over his grave the soldiers of a new generation will fire an echo of the last volley which he heard fired over the resting place of his last comrade. So will the last knight of chivalry find at Thermopylæ the last of his fellows.

Bunker—I thought you were going to propose to her last night?

Hill—So I was. But just as I started to she insisted on pinning a bachelor's button on my coat.—Truth.

THE WHEELBARROW.

It's the Only Vehicle to Be Seen in the Chinese Empire.

As we pass through Japan into China we find that the Chinese, like the Japanese, are a wheelbarrow people. The men draw immense loads in Burlinhan and two-wheeled wagons, but the Chinese use the wheelbarrow in the New York Sun, use the wheelbarrow. A Chinaman will push a load of cotton from the country into the city of Shanghai for ten cents.

Here, in this old Chinese town, the city of Shanghai, around which a wall was built a thousand years ago, we see all the industries carried on in the most primitive style. Here is a man pounding out copper into sheets; there a boy is sewing by hand, and hand looms are wearing silk. Carpenters, blacksmiths and masons work for $2.50 a week, and subsist on rice and a little peanut oil and fish. Rice is worth 1½ cents per pound, and it costs worth will feed a Chinaman for a month.

THE CHINESE WHEELBARROW.

The Chinese tailor will make a lady's dress or a suit of clothes 25 cheaper than any other tailor on earth. Hundreds of tourists fit themselves out in China. They use Chinese goods and pay Chinese wages, which are $3 a week for an expert tailor capable of remodeling or designing.

A missionary and a Chinaman were ordered to Africa. The missionary had only to say the word and his entire party, with provisions, would start for hard traveling. He used up her last pair of shoes in the forests. In many broken and protruding bones made it all the harder. What my tailor brought back a Texan not this morning, Mrs. Marsh said jokingly.

"John, you makee coverlet."

John took the coverlet in his hand, examined its different mechanism, and said: "Yes, me makee. Me can do."

Mrs. Marsh gave him the sample, and this morning she called in a lady with two perfect corsets. They were absolute copies, one in pink and the other in black satin, and fitted to a charm. John's price was $1 for embroidering a $15 French corset.

ODD FELLOWS' ORPHANS.

Those Living in the Old Hercultar Known as the Widow Home.

The orphans' home erected by the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, at Lincoln, Ill., was publicly dedicated by appropriate ceremonies. Among the buildings, a splendid one, four stories high. The first story is of Joliet limestone, and the other three of red brick, trimmed with brown stone. The building is two hundred and sixty-seven feet deep, with five octagon in the rear, and will accommodate one hundred and fifty children.

I. O. O. F. ORPHANS' HOME.

Colleges will be erected to furnish the children with a thorough education. The building is thoroughly equipped with hot and cold water, assembly halls, and all the modern conveniences. The home, which occupy a part of the grounds, was built by the Widow Home Association, which was organized in 1887 by the wives and daughters of Odd Fellows, and which still holds shares in the old home, which is now used for the aged and sick. Who can be ashamed of such tears?

Do you remember the old tune of "Home, Sweet Home" as nearly two feet long? I used to try to carry out of them and play upon it, while Billy Simpson, the best fiddler in the old Old First Iowa Infantry, played "Old Zip Coon" on the other.

Well, here are some of the old boys, just coming in on the Pennsylvania road. They are from New England and there is a little old fat man puffing and blowing while he rattles on one of the old-time fiddles, and he is played by like old times. The fifer is one of those tall, gaunt, saw-boned men of the old regiments. He may be sixty, fifty, or he may be seventy years of age. He is of that sturdy stock which withstood Pickett's charge at Gettysburg. No soldiers on earth but southerners could have stood up against them. No soldiers on earth but Americans could have stood against the fire. They were one and indivisible, and they are so to-day. Their descendants will be the future rulers of the land. Their children will ride together in Pennsylvania avenue next week for the last time on earth.

SIMPLE D. FAY.

Convenient.

Winfred—Are you going to the world's fair in Chicago in '92?

Edith—That all depends. I expect to get married soon, and if I happen to want a divorce I can go for it and take in the fair at the same time.—Household Monthly.

A Summer Resort.

First Summer Girl—Too bad, Amy. So all is over between you and Mr. Nicefellow?

Second Summer Girl (sneering)—Yes, he—he hadn't any more ice-cream money.—Judge Weekly.

Bunker—I thought you were going to propose to her last night?

Hill—So I was. But just as I started to she insisted on pinning a bachelor's button on my coat.—Truth.

THE WHEELBARROW.

It's the Only Vehicle to Be Seen in the Chinese Empire.

As we pass through Japan into China we find that the Chinese, like the Japanese, are a wheelbarrow people. The men draw immense loads in Burlinhan and two-wheeled wagons, but the Chinese use the wheelbarrow in the New York Sun, use the wheelbarrow. A Chinaman will push a load of cotton from the country into the city of Shanghai for ten cents.

Here, in this old Chinese town, the city of Shanghai, around which a wall was built a thousand years ago, we see all the industries carried on in the most primitive style. Here is a man pounding out copper into sheets; there a boy is sewing by hand, and hand looms are wearing silk. Carpenters, blacksmiths and masons work for $2.50 a week, and subsist on rice and a little peanut oil and fish. Rice is worth 1½ cents per pound, and it costs worth will feed a Chinaman for a month.

THE CHINESE WHEELBARROW.

The Chinese tailor will make a lady's dress or a suit of clothes 25 cheaper than any other tailor on earth. Hundreds of tourists fit themselves out in China. They use Chinese goods and pay Chinese wages, which are $3 a week for an expert tailor capable of remodeling or designing.

A missionary and a Chinaman were ordered to Africa. The missionary had only to say the word and his entire party, with provisions, would start for hard traveling. He used up her last pair of shoes in the forests. In many broken and protruding bones made it all the harder. What my tailor brought back a Texan not this morning, Mrs. Marsh said jokingly.

"John, you makee coverlet."

John took the coverlet in his hand, examined its different mechanism, and said: "Yes, me makee. Me can do."

Mrs. Marsh gave him the sample, and this morning she called in a lady with two perfect corsets. They were absolute copies, one in pink and the other in black satin, and fitted to a charm. John's price was $1 for embroidering a $15 French corset.

ODD FELLOWS' ORPHANS.

Those Living in the Old Hercultar Known as the Widow Home.

The orphans' home erected by the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, at Lincoln, Ill., was publicly dedicated by appropriate ceremonies. Among the buildings, a splendid one, four stories high. The first story is of Joliet limestone, and the other three of red brick, trimmed with brown stone. The building is two hundred and sixty-seven feet deep, with five octagon in the rear, and will accommodate one hundred and fifty children.

I. O. O. F. ORPHANS' HOME.

Colleges will be erected to furnish the children with a thorough education. The building is thoroughly equipped with hot and cold water, assembly halls, and all the modern conveniences. The home, which occupy a part of the grounds, was built by the Widow Home Association, which was organized in 1887 by the wives and daughters of Odd Fellows, and which still holds shares in the old home, which is now used for the aged and sick. Who can be ashamed of such tears?

Do you remember the old tune of "Home, Sweet Home" as nearly two feet long? I used to try to carry out of them and play upon it, while Billy Simpson, the best fiddler in the old Old First Iowa Infantry, played "Old Zip Coon" on the other.

Well, here are some of the old boys, just coming in on the Pennsylvania road. They are from New England and there is a little old fat man puffing and blowing while he rattles on one of the old-time fiddles, and he is played by like old times. The fifer is one of those tall, gaunt, saw-boned men of the old regiments. He may be sixty, fifty, or he may be seventy years of age. He is of that sturdy stock which withstood Pickett's charge at Gettysburg. No soldiers on earth but southerners could have stood up against them. No soldiers on earth but Americans could have stood against the fire. They were one and indivisible, and they are so to-day. Their descendants will be the future rulers of the land. Their children will ride together in Pennsylvania avenue next week for the last time on earth.

SIMPLE D. FAY.

Convenient.

Winfred—Are you going to the world's fair in Chicago in '92?

Edith—That all depends. I expect to get married soon, and if I happen to want a divorce I can go for it and take in the fair at the same time.—Household Monthly.

A Summer Resort.

First Summer Girl—Too bad, Amy. So all is over between you and Mr. Nicefellow?

Second Summer Girl (sneering)—Yes, he—he hadn't any more ice-cream money.—Judge Weekly.

MISCELLANEOUS

E. P. THORN,

No. 17 Park Avenue,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Pure Wines and Liquors,

For Family and Medicinal Use,

A SPECIALTY.

3-26-y

MISCELLANEOUS

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substances. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Elixirs, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

Dr. G. C. Osgood,
Lowell, Mass.

Castoria.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real welfare of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing upon them poisonous syrups and other horrible agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. Kincheloe,
Edgefield, S. C.

Allen C. Smith, Pres.,

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

TEMPLES OF BAALBEC.

Some Wonderful Specimens of Ancient Eastern Architecture.

The Mountains of Northern Syria—Scenery Whose Beauty and Grandeur Are Unsurpassed—The Most Ancient of Oriental Towns.

[Syrian Business Agent's Letter.]

One of the most interesting regions in all the orient is the beautiful valley between the Lebanon and the Anti-Lebanon mountains. While the explorer has devoted much time to the survey of Palestine proper, the monuments of the northern part of Syria have received comparatively scant attention. Much remains to be learned and the surprisingly interesting ruins found in these lonely heights and in these lovely valleys. Thanks to the skill of the French engineers a fine road extends from Damascus to Baalbec and thence to Beirut, so that the traveler is not forced to either for horse or carriage. April 24 last we said good-by to Damascus, with its gardens, fountains, mosques and bazaars, and fording the Abana river we drove next cantoning off on the fine road, hosten and riders in the best of spirits, the wedding feast of the beautiful Barada, the procession of gay-robed orientals with their camels and donkeys, the brilliant foliage of drought grass and palm trees, and the cloudless sky, combining to make a picture of rare beauty and interest.

TEMPLE OF THE SUN.

At the village of Dummar we turned to our right and left the main road to Baruda to our left. For two hours we rode through a wild, rocky region. Japanese gardens we have seen, but we caroled again into the valley of the Barada, which announced itself to the eye by the dense foliage of trees which stood out in strong contrast to the barren, rocky hillsides on the north and south. The scenery of Abana Pass, filled with the sound of rushing water, is fine. Here we reached the village of Suk-Wadi. One of the most beautiful spots on earth is the village of Suk-Wadi. Here the rapid river, which comes from the mountains, flows through a deep gorge, and the foliage was rich, while the limpid river was full of trout

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.
E. L. FORCE & A. L. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors.
AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.
TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXV. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1892. No 41.

"Support the Constitution, which is the consent of the Union, as well as its limitations as to its authorities."—MADISON.

Rates of Advertising

Space	1 Week	2 Weeks	3 Weeks	1 Month	2 Months	3 Months	6 Months	1 Year
1 in.	$1.00	$1.50	$2.00	$3.00	$4.00	$5.00	$8.00	$12.00
2 in.	1.50	2.00	3.00	4.00	5.00	8.00	12.00	20.00
3 in.	2.00	3.00	4.00	5.00	8.00	12.00	20.00	30.00
4 in.	3.00	4.00	5.00	8.00	12.00	20.00	30.00	40.00
5 in.	4.00	5.00	8.00	12.00	20.00	30.00	40.00	50.00
6 in.	5.00	8.00	12.00	20.00	30.00	40.00	50.00	60.00
1 col.	8.00	12.00	20.00	30.00	40.00	50.00	60.00	80.00

All Electric's must be solid metal.
Double rule, 50 per ct. advance of above rates.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & ROBINSON,
Counsellors-at-Law,
Commissioners of Deeds, Notaries Public, Conveyancers, Solicitors in Chancery, Solicitors for Patents, Solicitors under U. S. Pension Act, Etc.
Office, Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

GEORGE W. DAY,
General Auctioneer,
Sales of Personal Property solicited. P. O. Box 133, Dunellen, N. J., or address left at store of Chas. Runyon & Co., Somerset street, Plainfield, will receive prompt attention. Terms reasonable.

DR. CHARLES E. THEIS,
Dentist,
No. 20 West Front street, A new local anesthetic (Cocaine) for extracting teeth without pain. Also filling a specialty.—3m41

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. Van Arsdale
PIANO TUNER.
Instruments put in thorough order. Terms low. Orders may be left at Constitutionalist office, or addressed to 30 Jersey street, Plainfield, N. J. Satisfaction guaranteed. 29y26

T. J. GILLIES,
Auctioneer & Real Estate Agent.
SALESROOM—Madison Avenue, cor. Fifth St., Plainfield, N. J.
Good Conveyance on Commitment.

John Chandler,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER.
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence and shop No. 34 East Third street.
Jobbing promptly attended to. 49y37

WILLIAM B. RANDOLPH,
Successor to E. E. Maynard,
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 20 PARK AVENUE.
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at half residence. Shampooing also satisfactorily performed. 11y21

CARNEY BROTHERS, Agents,
7 West Front St.
TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS.
PARLOR STOVES,
COOK STOVES,
HEATERS.

Grates and Irons for all kinds of Stov s can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your Vietnam measurements on. The best Tinners, the best Plumbers, and the best Gas-fitters in the section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.

Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.
Tinware Made to Order.
Ranges, Brick and Portable Furnaces
SANITARY PLUMBING.

Parlor Stoves,
Furnaces, Ranges,
Water Piping. Plumbing.
Heater Work. Tinning,
Hardware.
A. H. GRIFFEN,
12 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 6. 31 11-42

Beautiful Assortment!
Furniture!
Largest Assortment!
Best Goods!
Lowest Prices!
Ever Offered in Plainfield!
22, 25 and 27 PARK AVE.

Garret Q. Packer.
SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc. Etc.
D. W. LITTELL,
No. 9 North Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

FOR MALARIA,
GENERAL DEBILITY
AND
ALL STOMACH TROUBLES
USE
COLES'
PERUVIAN BARK
AND
WILD CHERRY BITTERS
ARE THE BEST.
A Vegetable Substitute for Quinine.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
Price, 50 cents and $1.00 per Bottle.
PREPARED ONLY BY THE
D. P. COLES DRUG AND MFG. CO
Somerset, N. J. 52f-y

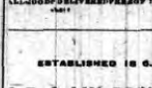
Jas. M. Dunn,
Centre to
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS,
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.

THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS,
BEST IN THE WORLD.
ALL GOOD DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE

ESTABLISHED 18 6.

C.E. & J.W. BROWN,
Successors to J. F. & C. E. Brown & Co.,
Importers. Whole'e and Retail Dealers in
WALL PAPER.
321 Canal Street,
NEW YORK.
English Tiles, Anaglypta, Hard, Leather Stamed Flock Papers, &c. Designs for Halls.
Manufacturers of Window Shades.
3-13-92

LIVERY.

A. M. SEGUINE,
Laing's Hotel Stables


Front street, opposite Madison avenue.
Coaches for Weddings, Funerals and Private Calls. Light carriages of all descriptions for hire.
RIDING OR LIVERY.
Carefully, safe drivers for shipping calls or plain ride orders. Special attention given to boarding horses by the day, week or month.—ly6-97
TELEPHONE CALL, No. 26.

RICKERT'S
ACCOMMODATION EXPRESS.
OFFICE—Vanderbeck's Meat Store, Front avenue. The "Accommodation Express" will attend to the prompt delivery of packages in the city, delivering goods or baggage to and from the depot, or into any part of the city.
Moving of Furniture, Pianos, etc., with care and safety.

INSURANCE.

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.

Fresh Garden Seeds
AND FERTILIZERS,
Farm and Garden Implements,
Lawn Mowers Refrigerators,
Ice Cream Freezers
Gasoline Stoves, Hardware, Tools, etc.
J. J. HEIDELOFF,
No. 19 SOMERSET ST. 9-24-92

GEORGE A. MOORE,
(Of the late firm of Moore Bros.)
Is now the sole proprietor of the old established
NO. 24 NORTH AVENUE,
Where he will continue to supply patrons with the finest grades of
Fresh and Salt Meats,
Poultry, Game, Oysters, Cheese, Butter in tub or print, at the Lowest Market Prices.
Anything not usually kept in stock, Furnished at short notice. 1-30-y

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE
Hugo Weigman,
70 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.
9-24-92

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON,
(Successor to W. J. Cox.)
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—W. Second st.
Leave orders at Cox's Coal Office, Somerset st., or at Residence, No. 6 Watson ave. 9-24-92

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.

H. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer and Dealer in
C. C. D. CIGAR.
The only 10-cent cigar in the State and made exclusively of Connecticut Seed Leaf.
CLARA BARTON CIGARS A SPECIALTY.
Also a full assortment of Cigarettes, Smoking and Chewing Tobacco, Snuff, Pipes, Etc.
Cash Paid for Rags, Rubber, Metals, Bones and Scrap Iron.
Cash Paid for Furs, Hides and Furs.

O. M. PINE,
(under 3 Horses & Dunham's)
—SEGARS!—
No. 20 PARK AVE., (NEXT DOOR TO POSTOFFICE)
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Tobacco and Smoker's Materials
A Full Assortment of Fine Cigars.
Orders promptly attended to.

A. WOLFF,
Manufacturer of
CIGARS.
Next Door to all Kinds of Groceries and Choice Vegetables. Special attention given to Orders by Mail. Prompt delivery. All Goods Guaranteed as represented. Call and see me before buying elsewhere.
No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.

PAINTERS & PAINTERS' SUPPLIES.

Paints, Varnishes, Glass,
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALL PAPERS!
PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY.
A. SWALM,
No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.

A. D. VOORHEES. A. D. MORRIS
Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS,
Wall Papers,
PAINTERS' SUPPLIES. 20 NORTH AVENUE

C. Dickinson
Optician
13 Park Ave.
Plainfield, N. J.

CLEVELAND'S LETTER

A STRONG STATEMENT OF DEMOCRATIC PRINCIPLES.

A Wise and Patriotic Letter—The Veto Message Foretells Twenty Thousand Republican Pluralities, Civil Service Reform and the Tariff Question.

To the Hon. William L. Wilson and others, Committee:

GENTLEMEN—In responding to your formal notification of my nomination for President by the national Democracy, I hope I may be excused from at this time entering upon any extended discussion of the questions which have been presented and considered in the platform adopted by the National Convention which I have the honor to represent in the canvass.

I shall be expected to speak to the people of the party which our government has been administered for the greater part of the time since its organization, and which has always been entrusted by the people for the most critical periods of their history. I shall be expected to speak to the people of the party to which they have always looked for the maintenance of the principles of free government and the defense of the rights of the citizen. I shall be expected to speak to the people of the party which has never failed to meet the responsibilities of power, and which has never been found wanting in the support of the constitution and the laws.

I shall be expected to speak to the people of the party which has never feared to trust the intelligence and conscience of the people, and which has never failed to receive their support.

Such a party, representing a distribution of the powers of government to the States and the people, and a limitation of federal authority, can only fulfill its mission of maintaining governmental and personal rights when it is entrusted with the control of legislative, executive and judicial departments. This is the party of the people, and it is the party of freedom. It proceeds with the confidence that comes from the consciousness that it can honestly answer the test required by a government of the people, that it has faithfully performed the duties imposed upon it by the people.

The history of legislation manifestly proves that the party which has been entrusted with power has never failed to exercise it in the interest of the people. It has never failed to subdue or suppress combinations which have attempted to secure class legislation, or to obtain for favored classes the people's money. It has never failed to protect the people from the exactions of monopoly. It has never failed to protect the people from the exactions of monopoly. It has never failed to protect the people from the exactions of monopoly. It has never failed to protect the people from the exactions of monopoly.

TARIFF REFORMERS AND THE CONSTITUTION.

Opposed to this theory the party is now charged with a desire to destroy the tariff. It asks for the purpose purpose and object of maintaining a tariff for revenue only. Such a proposition is so manifestly in accordance with the principles of constitutional government and forbidden by the constitution that it would not be worthy of consideration by the people were it not that the statement would probably mean the destruction of the protective system. Protection differs from the safe limitation of governmental power in that it proposes to use the power of taxation for purposes not authorized by the constitution. It proposes to use the power of taxation for those not authorized by the constitution. It proposes to use the power of taxation for those not authorized by the constitution.

THE TARIFF AND WAGES.

The tariff is used by Republicans for particular welfare. It is a perversion of a duty part of a function of government in order to help a class of citizens. This operation is exactly the same as if the government should collect taxes from citizens to enable it to enrich favorites at the cost of the masses.—Chicago Times.

THE BOYS IN BLUE.

THE DEMOCRATIC VETERANS AWAKE TO THE ISSUE.

Comrade Jno. J. Dunnebeck Experiences in the Great Grand Army Rostrum—Bitter Words Upon Brigade of Democratic Veterans All Hanging for Cleveland.

No sensible man will take any stock in the assertion that the ballot of the Grand Army vote will be polled against Cleveland and Stevenson. The men who make this assertion does not know the composition of the Grand Army.

Without the ranks of the Democratic soldiers from the north the Union could not have been preserved. The Democratic veterans are still in line. They are as devoted to Democratic principles as they were in the days of the war. The allegation that either Mr. Cleveland or the Democratic house has opposed the pensioning of veterans is untrue. The record shows it. Mr. Cleveland vetoed about 200 private pension bills which were passed by the Republican congress. Democrats and Democratic congressmen are on record. They speak for themselves. Deserters and those unworthy of pensions have been pensioned by them. He signed more pension bills during his term of office than Mr. Harrison did in his.

Honor is the heart of the Grand Army organization. Mr. Cleveland's record before the people is the spirit of honor. Grand Army veterans will support him and will remain in. The Republican party has had its day. It has had 200 and odd pension bills vetoed by Mr. Cleveland, and no more.

A Democratic veteran of Democratic Fifty-first congress voted for pensioning pension bill. Those votes are a matter of record. Democratic votes are on record and have been cast in favor of pensioning bills by the Republican members of the house of congress, a service performed by Democratic votes. Democratic votes are on record and have been cast in favor of pensioning bills by the Republican members of the house of congress, a service performed by Democratic votes.

What the Grand Army has done in the past at Washington and Harrisburg, Horace Greeley said, New York. Instead of many comrades from nearly every state in the Union, I see our Democratic comrades who can not heartily in favor of the national Democratic ticket. The record of Cleveland and the platform of Democracy is the platform of the people, and there seems to be no reason why Democratic veterans, in the main, should not support it.

General Daniel E. Sickles, the hero of Gettysburg, was among them. He was a Democrat. He was a Democrat before he was a soldier. All knew that he was a Democrat. All knew that he was a Democrat. All knew that he was a Democrat. All knew that he was a Democrat.

Comrade Dunnebeck's speech was received with applause by the Democratic veterans present. He was a Democrat. He was a Democrat. He was a Democrat. He was a Democrat. He was a Democrat. He

The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORGE, A. L. FORCE
Editors and Proprietors.

Democratic Nominations.

For President,

GROVER CLEVELAND.
of New York.

For Vice-President,

ADLAI E. STEVENSON,
of Illinois.

For Governor,

GEORGE T. WERTS.
OF MORRIS.

ELECTORS-AT-LARGE.
MILLARD F. ROSS, of Middlesex.
PHILIP P. BAKER, of Cumberland.

DISTRICT ELECTORS.
First District—CHARLES MANN.
Second District—THOS. H. PRICKETT.
Third District—JAMES DEBELLER.
Fourth District—THEO. RISDON.
Fifth District—JAMES O. MORGAN.
Sixth District—EDWARD BALSACH.
Seventh District—EDWD B. STEVENS.
Eighth District—MARTIN R. COOK.

CONGRESSIONAL NOMINATIONS.
First District—FRANK M. FORCH.
Second District—GEO. D. WETHERILL.
Third District—JACOB L. GREENLEAVES.
Fourth District—JOHNSTON CORBIN.
Fifth Dist.—CORNELIUS R. CADMUS.
Sixth Dist.—THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH.
Seventh Dist.—EDWARD F. McDONALD.

CONSTITUTIONAL.

The Constitution of the United States, Article I—Section 8—reads:

"The Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts and excises, to pay the debts and provide for the common defence and general welfare of the United States."

That is the only warrant for tariff duties to be found in the Constitution, and that was placed there for the single purpose of raising revenue to pay public debts, to defend the country from invasion or insurrection, and to promote the general public welfare.

THE GENERAL PUBLIC WELFARE.

What does that mean?

It means anything, IT MEANS THE WELFARE OF ALL THE PEOPLE, IRRESPECTIVE OF CLASS, CONDITION, STATION OR OCCUPATION.

So the Constitution plainly ordains.

There is not a particle more authority in the Constitution to frame tariffs, like the McKinley, for the making of favorites of one class or other pampered millionaires, individual or associated, at the people's expense, than there is to endow with gold or wealth the Grand Turk.

ATTENTION!

The Republican party cannot succeed in the coming Presidential election if every legal voter is left free to exercise his vote as he chooses. Only if all illegal votes are kept from the polls.

Popular sentiment throughout the land is strongly against Harrison-and-McKinley plutocracy.

The Republican leaders and their unscrupulous agents and tariff bountyites know this, and therefore are secretly plotting to put into effect the same corrupt means Dudley, Quay and Company used four years ago.

To block such designs is present duty.

To be fore-warned is to be forearmed.

New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Indiana are the selected fields wherein to ply their nefarious trade.

Colonization, false registration, fraudulent voting and unlimited bribery are their weapons of assault upon honest suffrage.

Every Democrat and every Independent ought at once to constitute himself a vigilance committee to watch, ferret out, and bring to condign punishment all violators of ballot box purity.

The privilege of the ballot is a sacred trust, worth far more than any money or other venal consideration.

It is priceless, because the badge of honorable citizenship.

Attention! Democrats and Independents!

If any corrupt political emissary dare approach you with a bribe-voting offer, secure proper evidence of his guilt and then give the scoundrel such a rebuke that he will never after look an honest man in the face.

CLAY ON PROTECTION.

Henry Clay rightfully earned the distinction of being the father of American Protection.

In a letter written by him, under date of September 13, 1843, his tariff views were clearly set forth as the following extracts therefrom attest. He thus wrote:

"The sum and the substance of what I conceive to be the true policy of the United States, in respect to the Tariff, may be briefly stated. In conformity with the principle announced in the compromise act, I think, that whatever revenue is necessary to an economical and honest administration of the General Government ought to be derived from duties, imposed on foreign imports. And I believe it to be attainable by a Tariff on those duties, such a discrimination ought to be made as will incidentally afford reasonable protection to our national interests."

"My opinion then is, that the fundamental act of a High Tariff is founded on the gratifying fact that our manufactures have now taken a deep root. In their infancy they needed a greater measure of protection, but as they grow and advance they acquire strength and stability, and, consequently, will require less protection. When our system shall be matured, and able to maintain, in distant markets, successful competition with rival foreign manufactures."

That letter was penned 49 years ago, and it portrays the kind of tariff the Democrats have ever advocated, and when possessing legislative power enacted.

Two or three years after the date of Mr. Clay's letter, Robert J. Walker, the enlightened Secretary of the Treasury under President Polk, whose tariff law had passed through Congress a just and moderate ad-valorem tariff bill, so arranged as to afford reasonable protection to every legitimate industry of enterprise and every species of labor, whether of the mill, the mine, the farm or the fen, and at the same time providing adequate revenue for the needs of honest government.

Democratic tariffs have always been and continue to be based upon these principles.

And it is a fact of great significance that, during the absence of the Walker tariff, the Agricultural, Commercial and Manufacturing interests of this country greatly prospered as they never did before or have since.

Mr. Clay was sadly deceived when he expressed the opinion that the danger of future high tariffs had passed. He lamented, in 1843, that he had not survived until the day of McKinleyism he would have been startled by seeing a mountain of tariff timeline, growing higher and higher, and built up for the purpose of oppressing necessary goods and producing political corruption. And furthermore, that many manufacturing interests in demand strong enough fifty years ago to support themselves, even in 1892, Europe-and-tariff frenzy, clamoring for more and more infant protection pap.

If Henry Clay was now numbered with the living he would be an outspoken Democrat.

TO-MORROW.

To-morrow, Friday, the Eighth District Democratic Congressional Convention convenes in Elizabeth. It is hard to predict at this writing who will be the successful candidate. Hon. John T. Dunn seems to be in the lead with delegates, who it is believed can be relied to vote for him in Convention. While we have nothing to say against his ability or fitness for the office, we have a local pride in the nomination of our fellow-citizen, James R. Nugent, who is equally fitted to represent the people in Congress, and we trust that the hands will fall upon his shoulders. He is a worthy son of the sturdy old Emerald, and his faithful service for the party.

The Governor has designated Friday, Oct. 21, as a general holiday, in commemoration of the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America.

An Appeal.

The Democratic National Committee comes appealing for contributions to aid them in the final struggle of the campaign against class legislation, fattened monopolists, entrenched officeholders, and the usual coalition of bolters and mercenaries. It makes the appeal not in a secret or "confidential" circular addressed to the beneficiaries of partisan legislation, but in the shape of a hint to petty officeholders that they are in danger of losing their places; nor does it offer high places in the government service as a reward to those who contribute in large fashion to a corruption fund, but it addresses an open letter to "all good citizens who are in favor of the great principles for which the committee is fighting, asking them to contribute, and welcomes any contribution, whether large or small, to the campaign fund, in aid of the great cause in which it is enlisted. It appeals to the people, against one and all of the opponents of the people's interests, to help it to help the masses. It has no resources except what the people furnish, and it calls for contributions only to spread the truth among the people and to aid in getting to the polls the full and honest vote of the masses, but also to detect, to prosecute and to punish every attempt on the purity of the ballot, whensoever they are perpetrated and by whomsoever committed or directed." The committee states, in the appeal, that the indications all point to the election of Cleveland and Stevenson; that all anxiety about the State of New York is allayed, and that she will give her Electoral vote to the Democratic candidates; that all reports from independent and conservative sources in other parts of the country are equally cheering, and that, with vigilance and timely action everywhere, and with the aid asked for by the committee, it believes that "victory will be won, polled, counted and declared throughout the country, and if this is done defeat is not possible." There should be a prompt and liberal response to this appeal from friends of the cause everywhere.

Cheering Words.

The Hon. John J. Richardson who represents Iowa on the Democratic National Committee, gives an encouraging report of the political situation in that State. He says that nothing but good reports come up from all parts of the State, and that while a few of the Republicans who were left disappointed on the ticket will go down hook in their party, they are fully offset by accessions from the Republican ranks on tariff reform and other National issues. He believes the State will go for Cleveland and Stevenson in November. So in regard to Wisconsin. The managers of the campaign there assure him that all the disaffection will be healed before victory. As to the chances of the People's party in the Northwest, there is no reason, he says, to doubt that they will carry Kansas by a large majority, and the prospects are almost as good in Nebraska and Nevada, while the Farmerites are very likely to carry Wyoming and Idaho. There are indications, he says, that the sweep of 1890 will be repeated in November.

TO TELL WAR TALES.

Interesting Programme for the ex-Prisoners' Reunion.

The State of New Jersey has an association composed of some of the survivors of the war who were permitted to escape the horrors of prison life. These men will hold a reunion in this city on next Thursday, in Reform Hall. There will be a public meeting at 2 p. m., when it is hoped the citizens of Plainfield will give a full attendance. The exercises will consist of an introduction of the association by the department president of the Loyal Legion League, Mrs. Mary B. Olmsted; an address of welcome by one of Plainfield's clergymen; singing by Houghton division of the Children's Loyal Legion; a flag drill by the same division; a recitation by Miss Bessie Blair, and an experience meeting, when ex-prisoners of war will relate the trials through which they passed. It is expected that Gen. E. L. Hayes of Glen Ridge, N. J., Gen. Shaler of New York, Col. Sawyer of Cape May City, Col. Bill of Jersey City, Col. A. Long of East Orange, Dept. Van Sicklen of Trenton, Capt. Hopkins of Boonton, Capt. Pelouket of Rockaway, and other prominent veterans, will be present.

Smiling for Votes.

To get the dollars we have to smile for them—no mistake about that; but there are different ways of smiling, and it is said if you are not satisfied with your smile at present, then write to B. F. Johnson & Co., Richmond, Va., who can give you a good receipt or two. Send carefully their advertisement in another column, and write them at once. "The early bird", etc.

A Vast Difference.

The Watchmaker Dunn says of the Hotchkiss family who will be at the Woman Union session chapel Thursday evening, at 8:

"The Hotchkiss family had a full house at Trinity Congregational church at Tremont, last night. Nearly every piece was encored, and Miss Annie Hotchkiss' solo was encored twice. It was indeed wonderfully good, and she may very properly have been the inspiration of the entertainment, which was a success in every way." There is a vast difference between an entertainment at the platform, including several varieties of bills, and all very mercenary in appearance, and the same thing managed in respectable style. There the talent is all home talent, and the proceeds go into a church treasury. Those who attend are assured of a good entertainment, and the meeting is done with. There is no commercialism about it, and no one is annoyed by the constant appeals for the hand remembrance evolution. The necessity of every-week solicitation of the public for money is a curse to all concerned in it. Let us have a change.

MRS. GILBERT, PRESIDENT.

A Worthy Choice Made by the Annual Election and Review of Its Year's Work.

The Plainfield Relief association at its annual meeting Monday elected officers as follows:

President—Mrs. Alexander Gilbert.
Vice-president—Mrs. J. E. Stout.
Secretary—Mrs. S. R. Leonard.
Assistant Secretary—Mrs. Wm. K. John.
Treasurer—Mrs. H. F. Seaman.

BOARD OF MANAGERS.

Mrs. Rowland Cox, Mrs. W. G. S. Sec.
Mrs. C. W. McClellan, Mrs. D. J. Tuttle.
Mrs. R. W. Tyler, Mrs. C. C. Gaskell.
Mrs. J. B. Wilson, Mrs. J. E. Stout.
Mrs. J. B. Tracy, Mrs. W. L. Phelps.
Mrs. C. H. Ryder, Mrs. Alexander Gilbert.
Mrs. Lucien Sayre, Mrs. G. F. Dyer.
Miss Mary E. Tracy.

The following interesting reports were submitted:

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The work of the Relief Association during the past year has followed the same line as hitherto with little change of any sort. The visiting department is as efficient as ever. Detailed in the annual report have mentioned in operation, but no new methods have been inaugurated. The number of cases of past years has continued to give demand for attention, but few new names have been added to the list. A gradual advance, however, has been noticeable in the past year in the number of applications for aid from the organization of other charitable agencies in the city. It is perhaps unnecessary to explain again the good effects of close co-operation between all such societies, but where there is not a proper understanding between them. If there is not some method of comparison, some interchange of information, there is danger of the duplication of relief, and that the same families may be receiving help from more or few different sources, each of which has no knowledge of what is being done by the others. There is also this additional benefit to be derived from such comparison, that the worthless class of one may be made available for all, thereby saving much unnecessary trouble. In order to promote such co-operation as above suggested, the Relief Association keeps a registry book, in which all cases investigated are recorded, together with all information that has been gathered with reference to the same. This book may be referred to at any time by those who are interested in any of the cases. The secretary has felt the need of our co-operation in dealing with the many applications, and several conference have been held with him. The King's Daughters also have several times consulted with the members of the visiting committee. They are always welcome there, and it is greatly to be desired that their visits be often repeated. At present the work is principally done by a few, and more assistance would be welcomed. By means of communication with the poor committees of some of the churches, St. Mary's church, approaching this work in a thoughtful even consistent society, and joined forces with the Relief Association. In some cases, of course, it would be impracticable to adopt this plan, but it should be too strongly urged that those churches which have independent poor boards should find some means of connection with the Relief Association. The Associated Charities and other institutions, Muhlenberg Hospital has been as ever our faithful ally, and though it has not been necessary of late to call upon the Children's Home and the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, we feel confident of their continued support.

During the past year the executive committee, which meets each week, has treated the cases of ninety-two families, containing in all three hundred and seventy individuals. Forty-three of these had never applied to the Relief Association before. In dealing with the new cases the wisdom of the policy of delay in relief is clearly demonstrated. Everything depends upon her. It is also who must be investigated. Investigation in the true sense of the applicant (sometimes far different from the situation as represented by himself), find out whether he is needing help or not. Also what means and suggest to the committee the way in which he can be most benefited. She can perhaps by her personal exertions find for him the employment he lacks, and in all cases by her friendly advice and counsel can help to raise him above the need of relief. A large number of such visitors would be of the highest advantage to the work. Of course the most desirable arrangement of all would be that adopted by the Associated Charities, through which a paid agent to investigate in a scientific manner, and direct the friendly visitors, whose work supplements his. But until this is possible, we must do good entirely upon them.

The following is an approximate statement of the nationalities of the families relieved, it being impossible in some cases to discriminate with entire accuracy:

American	31
Irish	18
German	22
Scotch	2
Colored	7
Swedish	2
Danish	2
Canadian	2
Scotch-Irish	1
Italian	1
Unknown	7

With regard to the general condition of those aided, a rough classification is as follows:

Needing continuous relief, as aged, incurable, orphans, etc.	8
Needing relief during illness of husband, father, or natural trouble	20
Needing work rather than relief	3
Needing temporary relief	61

Many in the last class are aided by the poor-master or by some church. The help given by the Relief association is in most cases of a temporary character, and is given to afford relief in emergencies that no private combined support for a few individuals.

An important part of our work is with persons of the second class, those who on account of accident or illness are thrown out from their ordinary occupation for a time. If any member of the family is able to sew, the relief usually furnished is in the form of work; if not, the only aid given is to give food, clothing and fuel for a few weeks. The great danger to be guarded against is, of course, the encouragement of pauperism. Our policy in this direction has been recently changed for a long time, and now that pecuniary help is given only in the form of open buying and the supplies furnished in kind, where a bill is to be paid, the applicant is required to sign his name, and the amount of the bill is deducted from the next order given. Following is the report of the employment bureau for the past year:

Number of women who have received work	25
Number of days' work	1,000
Amount of sales from ordered work	$2,000
Number of persons assisting given	1,000
Number of days' work	120.00
Value of new clothing given	30.00
Number of orders for work received	100
Number of orders for work filled	100
Value of new clothing given	30.00

The number of orders has increased very large, since many persons who wished to employ women for sewing have found it unprofitable to do so, owing to the time consumed in getting goods to and from the persons needing work. They are thus the means of doing good in two ways, since not only the benefit of work given to the needy is increased, but the time of the needy is increased, but the time of the needy is increased, but the time of

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

J. A. DENAREST - - City Editor.

—All the electric light poles in the borough are to be painted.

—The cost of the new steam fire whistle in the borough was $1,100.

—Borough Magistrate Crosley collected $95.50 in fines last month.

—Laing's hotel is being torn down, and in a few days will be a thing of the past.

—The only report that the Board of Mayor W. L. Saunders is for sale is utterly false and unfounded.

—Stalls are to be built in the Warren street horse for the accommodation of the hose-carriage horses.

—The county clerk's office in Elizabeth will be open for naturalization on Thursday and Friday evenings of this week from 7 till 9.

—E. C. Mulford broke ground Wednesday for a new house on Fifth street opposite the Bryant school, and is erecting another house on Fourth street in the rear of his own residence.

—Two electric lamps are to be placed on Jackson avenue between Westervelt and Terrace avenues, pursuant to the borough committee on fire, water and lamps finds itself with sufficient spare funds.

—The Cleveland and Stevenson Campaign club will hold a mass meeting Wednesday evening at Washington Hall, Charles H. Winfield, and other speakers will address the audience.

—Music and the prospect of electric railways are now talked, Plainfield will be the hub of the rapid transit system of central New Jersey, and connection will be easily had to Bound Brook, Somerville, New Brunswick, Westfield, Cranford and Elizabeth.

—Miss Ednorah Nahar will give elocutionary readings in Bethel Mission, on Monday, 17th inst., and Tuesday, the 18th inst., at 8 p. m. The Boston Pilot says, "Her rendition of the 'Chariot Race,' from Ben Hur, can hardly be excelled or praised." Tickets bearing October dates, good for 17 or 18.

—The sixth annual convention of the N. J. Christian Endeavor Union, will be held at the Central Methodist church, Bridgeton, N. J., Oct. 26 and 27. The first session will be Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 26, at 3. Closing service, Thursday evening, Oct. 27, at 7:15. Local rally in the church, Tuesday evening, Oct. 25, at 7:30.

—If there are any soldiers or sailors residing in this city who were prisoners of war and do not belong to either post of the G. A. R. in Plainfield, they will confer a favor on the committee on "Reunion of Men of Northern Prisoners of War" by sending their name and address to Mrs. R. J. Oliesse, 154 East Second street.

—Thomas Schaefer, a young draughtsman now in the employ of Pond Machine Tool company, is said to have resigned his position in order to devote his time to the promotion of a horse motor, a motor line he has already achieved much success. If this is true, his resignation will be a source of deep regret to all his friends at the works.

—It is the duty of those who want to see Grover Cleveland elected in November, to assist by their presence and support the efforts of the Cleveland and Stevenson club by the present campaign. The club is providing first-class speakers on the campaign issue at its Monday night meetings. Citizens irrespective of party are invited to-night at 8:30.

—The ninth monthly contest for the prizes of the New Jersey Trap Shooters' League will take place on the grounds of the East-Side Mutual Gun club, Newark, Saturday, Oct. 15, at 2. In connection with this, the East-Side Mutual club will hold an all-day tournament, beginning at 9:30 a. m. Ten expert blue-rock traps, with electric pull, will be used. A good lunch and plenty of loaded shells will be on hand.

—Comedies seem to be all the rage at present, and the better class of them meets with a great deal of success. The comedy of Dr. Bill, which is to be presented here on Monday evening next, is undoubtedly as fine a comedy as has been seen in years. It has not been before the public long and still it has pleased the audiences wherever it is seen. It is a clean comedy utterly devoid of the usual horse play and vulgarity of the kind. Plainfield is promised a very excellent company headed by Miss Celia Ellis.

—Edwin R. Maynard having again taken possession of the Park avenue and depot parlors opposite Parker's, has refitted, refurnished and redecorated them, so that they are now the most complete and elegant parlors of the kind in the city, especially for ladies' and children's work. Mr. Maynard makes a specialty of shampooing and bleaching and coloring the little one's hair. He has also every facility and appurtenance for shaving and men's hair dressing. William Randolph is still retained as assistant, and George Randolph still officiates at the shoe-cleaning throne.

RAPID TRANSIT GROWING.

The Borough Preparing for Extension of the Electric Railway.

At Friday night's meeting of the North Plainfield borough council an ordinance was introduced granting to the Plainfield Street Railway company the franchise to extend the line along Somerset street from the brook to the foot of the mountain. There was practically no opposition to the ordinance, and it was adopted on first and second reading. At the next regular meeting of the council it will be taken up for third reading and final passage.

All of the council's time was occupied at the session, and all voted for the great public improvement.

Low Rate Excursions.

The announcement that the North-Western line, comprising over 8,000 miles of thoroughly equipped railway, has arranged to run two low rate excursions during the months of August and September, will be gladly received by those who are contemplating a visit or investment of the great West and Northwest, as well as by those who desire to visit this wonderfully productive region at a season of the year when most desirable location can be made of the merits and advantages it offers to home-seekers and those in search of safe and profitable investments.

These excursions will leave Chicago on August 30 and Sept. 27, and tickets can be purchased at very low rates of one fare for the round trip to points in Iowa, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho, and Montana. They will be strictly first-class in every particular and will be good for return passage at any time within twenty days from date of purchase. Full information, rates, maps and other arrangements for these excursions can be obtained upon application to any coupon ticket agent, or to W. A. Thrall, G. P. T. A., Chicago & Northwestern Railway, Chicago. 9 12 2t

What Plainfieldites Will Enter!

The editor of Elizabeth Town Talk is arranging for a 25-mile road race between twenty-five of the fleet County Wheelmen and a like number of crack wheelers of Union county. He has called a meeting of the captains of the County Wheelmen's clubs, and hopes to have the race ridden at sunrise on Thanksgiving day.

PERSONALS.

Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Leslie have returned home.

Charles H. Stover and bride are back from their wedding trip.

Miss Sommers of Eighth street, has gone for a two weeks' visit in Canada.

The Rev. Dr. Robert Lowry and bride sailed from Europe for home, Wednesday.

Mrs. Rogers M. Lelley has returned home from a visit at Weston, Sagamore county.

Mr. Butler of Philadelphia spent Sunday with Charles F. Prentiss of Grand-avenue.

Mrs. Alexander Gilbert has been elected secretary of the New York Christian Endeavor union.

F. L. C. Martin is on the list of names nations for representatives to the New Jersey Division. L. A. W., for next year.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wharton Robinson have returned from a visit to Bound Oracle, and are guests of Mrs. Rowland Cox.

Mrs. Charles Hand and family returned home from Europe Saturday evening. They had a fine trip, and all are well.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Hawley and Miss Gawley, after an absence of some time from this city, are back again as permanent residents of Plainfield.

Charles B. Clark, township clerk at Westfield, died Friday evening. He was prominently identified with the Democratic party, and he and his good work will be greatly missed.

W. E. MacClymont will give his first free organ recital of the season the evening of Oct. 19, in the First Baptist church. He will be assisted by Miss Genevieve W. Hoyt, soprano, of Brooklyn.

The mass-meeting of Democrats to be held at Music Hall Wednesday evening, Oct. 19, will be addressed by Major F. W. McGettrick of Vermont, and the Hon. Charles Winfield of Hudson county.

Rudolph M. Titsworth of 29 West Seventh street, who was taken ill while attending the Saengerfest in Newark, and ended in three colonels a few days ago, died this morning, at the age of 71. Services will be held at his late residence Thursday afternoon at 2:30.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Harry Squires, who will spend the winter in New York, have leased from next Spring the house on Broadway now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Fred D. Andrews. Mr. Andrews is building on Central avenue.

Cards have been issued announcing the wedding of Lewis A. Hubbard, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Brown, to Jane T. Armstrong of Brooklyn, at Dunellen, Wednesday evening, Oct. 19, at 8 o'clock. To accommodate guests a train will leave N. P. at 7:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Noble Warwick and family, formerly of Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas, but now of Brooklyn, spent Sunday with George W. T. Randolph. Mr. Warwick was overjoyed to hear his old friend and pastor, the Rev. Charles B. Mitchell, preach.

Charles A. Lee, jr., who arrived at the home of his parents, 50 Grove street, Sunday morning, is just now delighting the hearts of all, including his little sister Marguerite, beyond everything they ever knew before. Mrs. Lee is the sister of Dr. D. G. Adams.

Ray Hutchison, of Providence, R. I., the brother-in-law of Mrs. Smith, the brother of Robert on Westervelt avenue while parenting his studies in the New York Art League, was a participant in the notable floral display and gift of the Art League students in yesterday's big parade.

Miss Celia Ellis, sister of Mrs. ex-councilman G. W. Watson of this city, is to be the leading member of the company to be seen here on Monday evening next. Miss Ellis is promised a very excellent company headed by Miss Celia Ellis.

Edwin R. Maynard having again taken possession of the Park avenue and depot parlors opposite Parker's, has refitted, refurnished and redecorated them, so that they are now the most complete and elegant parlors of the kind in the city, especially for ladies' and children's work. Mr. Maynard makes a specialty of shampooing and bleaching and coloring the little one's hair. He has also every facility and appurtenance for shaving and men's hair dressing. William Randolph is still retained as assistant, and George Randolph still officiates at the shoe-cleaning throne.

SQUIRES-HOWARD.

A WEDDING IN GRACE CHURCH AND A RECEPTION IN THE CASINO.

Society at the Seaside Adult at Its Gayest—Titled That Miss Rose Transplanted to Plainfield.

Miss Grace Howard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Howard, of Park street, was married Wednesday to Gardner Cox Squires, at Grace church, by the Rev. Dr. Charles H. Hall. The church was handsomely decorated for the event with many friends of the bride and groom. The wedding took place at 7. Shortly before that hour the guests began to file into the church under the direction of the ushers, Messrs. Agnew Howard, Frederick Howard, Lewis Howard, jr., and Howard Onarse, and were seated at the right sides.

After the ceremony the guests gathered again at the Casino, where the wedding supper was held, and where Mr. and Mrs. Squires received the congratulations of their friends.

The gifts were numerous and handsome. The bride and groom stood under a floral bell, and the presents were displayed on tables. A chandelier of roses hung in a bag-satin at the private grounds of the Atlantic Yacht club, of which Mr. Squires is a member.

The ushers who very prettily decorated with golden rod and thistles, were Howard Onarse, Frederick Howard, Lewis Howard, jr., and Agnew Howard.

The bridesmaids were Miss Marion Dumont and Miss Smith, of this city, and Miss Jewett and Miss Gertrude Lockwood, of Brooklyn; the latter acting in place of her sister, who was ill and could not be present. The ushers were: J. W. Sanford, Nr., F. W. Wells, G. S. Bacon, J. F. Mines, A. J. Mines, and Mr. Lockwood.

The bride wore white corded silk trimmed with duchess lace, and a tulle veil. The bridesmaids each wore a gown of tucked white tulle made over colored silk, and carried pink roses and lilies of the valley. The favors were cluster rings of turquoise and pearl for the bridesmaids, and pins for the ushers.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Shepard, Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Wetherbee, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Miller, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Glenn, Mr and Mrs. Ernest Alchesman, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hurrell, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Huntington, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Murray, Mr. and Mrs. Nonon Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Powers, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Cooley, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Wale, Mr. and Mrs. Lovell, Mr. and Mrs. Chadsmore, Mr. and Mrs. Robert, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lovell, the Rev. and Mrs. Simpson, the Rev. W. R. Richards, the Rev. T. Logan Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Gen. Gaylard, Miss Newton, Mr. and Mrs. Rushwell, Mr. and Mrs. Rasbrouck, Mr. and Mrs. Worthington, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Graves, Miss Mercie Bonnell, Miss Kitty Stewart, Miss Annie Cottles, the Misses VanRosbrook, Miss Wale, Miss Mann, Miss Lovell, Miss Mabie, Miss Lyle, Miss John Bowers, the Misses Hollis, Miss Olcott, Miss Dewey, Miss Murphy, Miss Hart, the Misses Morgan, Miss Ray Stevens, Miss Ida Stevens, Miss Jessie Stevens, Mrs. Forster, Charles Brooks, Mr. Bushnell, Geoffrey Cooley, Thomas VanRosbrook, Augustus Sheppard, Harris Sheppard, Miss Mabie, Augustus Mabie, Charles Schoonmaker, F. Andrews, Frank Brooklyn—G. G. W. Cleveland, Mrs. J. W. Lewis, Mrs. H. Phillips, Miss Paul-H. Kortmeyer, Mr. Kelsey, Dr. and Mrs. Burnhard, Gen. J. Cole, Miss Cole, Senator Fred C. Mason. From New York —The Rev. Dr. Price; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Frontier.

HYMENEAL.

Hinkson—Carpentie.

A very pretty home wedding took place at Princeton at 6:30 Thursday night when Miss Emma Blanche Carpentie was married to Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Carpenter, became the bride of William Elwood Hinkson, assistant manager of the Plainfield Central Telephone exchange. The Rev. and Mrs. William Hinkson, of Princeton. The ceremony was Presbyterian in form, and the Rev. Dr. Hall officiated. The bride was attended. The handsome young couple were married under a big bell of bridal-eyed flowers, and the house was nicely decorated with cut flowers and potted plants. The ushers were A. W. Smedley and Dr. E. B. Cottrell, of Philadelphia, and W. H. Bartine, of Princeton. The bride wore a beautiful costume of white, brocade, en train. The guests were the relatives and and immediate friends of the contracting parties, and those from out of town were as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. William Hinkson, the Misses Hinkson, Lewis E. Hinkson, Mr. and Mrs. Wickham, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Black, Miss Tibbs Black, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Black, Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Black, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Hinkson and Mrs. G. Hinkson, all from Princeton; R. N. Gray, of Camden; Miss Nellie B. Grose, of Trenton; Charles Grose, of Edinburgh; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel A. Fell, Dr. Alexander Fell, R. B. Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Carpenter, and Miss Robertson, of Hightstown, Pa.; Mrs. Bergen, of Bordentown; Mrs. Lampman, of Albany, and Mrs. F. G. Stout and son, of Ardsley, N. Y.

Mr. Gopsill, of the mail firm of Gopsill & Vanderhoof, who was a delegate to the recent State Republican convention and a member of its committee on resolutions, yesterday he believes that the combine will order an advance of 25 or 50 cents a ton on November 1.

It is reported charged that this advance, which will be ordered by the Reading, Central, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, Lehigh Valley and Pennsylvania companies, is to be made in the interest of Mr. Keen, who hopes to gain votes by it through the general misunderstanding which seems to exist on the subject of last winter's coal legislation.

Want Funds for Their Treasuries.

The women of the Women's Christian Temperance union of Plainfield have long recognized the fact that a debating team is much needed in this city, and it was greatly needed in the city, and at a recent meeting, accepting the help offered by the women of the Second Reformed and the Unitarian leagues, voted to secure said debating team, and hereby appoint to the positions elected officers of Plainfield to said debating team, as follows: Spoken will be received by the chairman of the committee, Mrs. S. B. Kent, 71 Madison avenue.

Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria.

A FAITHFUL MINISTER.

Distinguished Church of Louisiana Lutherans, Second Pastor of the Jersey Avenue Baptist Church.

ST. G. N. LEIGHAUS.

Lebbeus Ludwig was born Oct. 27, 1791, at Canterbury, Windham county, Conn. He was the son of Nathaniel and Anna Fell Ludwig, formerly of Boston, whose ancestors were French Huguenots, and was educated in Mount Hope institute, Baltimore, Md., and at the time so many Protestant refugees left their native land to escape religious strife and persecution. A large colony of these Protestants settled in Maryland, Massachusetts and Connecticut, and since the present State line of Connecticut and Rhode Island, and some of the present old stone houses in existence there are said to have been built by these refugees.

Nathaniel Ludwig, the father, died in 1770, leaving enough money for a collegiate education for his two sons, Lebbeus and Benjamin. But the family removed to Connecticut soon after the death of the father, and the two sons were placed in the old-fashioned district schools, and the children were deprived of this antiquated mental training, as their parents were poor, and were engaged in the army during the Revolutionary war, serving a short time under General Putnam in the Continental forces from 1776 to 1778. Lebbeus Ludwig was a private in the Connecticut militia, and was in the Wyoming Valley campaign against the Indians and Tories, and was present at the Battle of Wyoming when it was fought in 1778. Thither the young Ludwig had gone with his father's death to live with his mother's brother, who was a living as a farmer, and later obtained employment with a colonel of militia, who had a vision in the Revolutionary war.

On October 16, 1791, he married Mary Dolson of Bloomfield, N. J., where he lived till her decease, August 12, 1793. At the age of twenty years he was converted to a religious life and united with the Baptist church in Bound Brook, N. J., in 1791. Shortly afterward he became a preacher of the church in which he had his membership, and was ordained in 1797. Shortly afterward he became pastor of the church in which he had his membership, and was ordained in 1797. Shortly afterward he became pastor of the church in which he had his membership, and was ordained in 1797. He continued in the pastorate of this church for twenty years, when, in January, 1825, he moved back again to Orange county, N. Y., to Walden, and was the pastor of his first pastoral experience.

Elder Ludwig's labors with his people in this church were very successful, and to the conversion of many souls and the building and strengthening of the membership of the church. All his work was performed in addition to his pastoral duties, and was devoted to the systematic reading and study of theology with the Rev. William Wellstood of South Salem, regarded as one of the most thoroughly theological ministers in the Baptist denomination of his day.

His pastorate of fourteen years at Wallkill, N. Y., was with a people afterward united with southeastern Association, and from the first regularly established in favor of the old school anti-mission belief. Of his pastoral labors in this field the writer had only a meager knowledge. Both living and dead of the period of his labors there have passed away. But, being in the immediate association with Elder Van Horn, and a close student of the work of God, his reputation was of no common order, and the high office with a firm grasp of the doctrines of grace, sound in Scriptural tenets and an earnest defender of our denominational beliefs.

On the second Lord's day of February, 1819, Elder Ludwig took up the duties of the last pastorate of his life with the Second Baptist church of New York city, the pastor of Jesse Christ never servant in preaching for the reconstruction of sinners to the Saviour under his administration, this church enjoyed a wonderful revival. Many additions were made to its membership, and its influence in the city became widely extended. Many of the gifts in this church, when, as a result of this revival, the Second Baptist church made by foreign laborers were imported from Wales for the use of the Welsh Baptist church, Jersey City, Hoboken, Bayonne, and Mr. Ludwig's ministry is simply a chapter of history, and Mr. Ludwig's ministry is simply a chapter of history, and Mr. Ludwig's ministry is simply a chapter of history

HOW TO DRIVE.

How to Handle the Reins on Crowded Streets.

An Art to Be Acquired Only with Practice —Col. Knox's "Tally-Ho" the Standard of a Popular Pastime in This Country.

(COPYRIGHT, 1892.)

Certainly in no country in the world has there been the same accumulation of mechanical appliances for the use of man as in our own. Consequently there have been added large numbers to the class which is generally supposed to be Queens of leisure. To this fact and the steady but slow improvement of our roads the increasing popularity of driving must be attributed, and as our cities and driveways become more crowded the art of driving will become more necessary. Those who remember thirty years ago know that in those days our present crowded streets would, if we had not improved our driving methods, become one continual block, and as this crowd increases it will soon have to be introduced that will facilitate traffic.

The rapid growth of coaching since its introduction by Pickwick shows how earnest and energetic a nation we are even in our amusements, and when Col. De Lancey Kane brought over his "Tally-Ho" in that year he had no idea that the progress would be so great.

The colonel was at that time a most enthusiastic whip and the duke of Beaufort paid the highest compliments to the father of coaching in this country.

It was during the next season, 1876, that the colonel brought over the first coach, which he appropriately named

"Tally-Ho," and with him came Arthur Fownes, one of the sons of Edwin Fownes, to act as guard. This coach, although an experiment, was a success, caught on right away, and the crowds that waited its starting and arrival on Fifth avenue, near the Brunswick, are well remembered by all lovers and admirers of coaching. It ran from the city to Durham, making its stopping place the well known Arcularius hotel.

COACHING BECOMES POPULAR.

The success of the first year's experiment induced Col. Kane to extend its trip the next season to Newcastle, putting up at the Neptune house. After that year, 1877, it may be said that coaching in America had taken root, and it has blossomed into one of the most popular pastimes of the country.

Many people regard driving a horse as one of the simplest things imaginable, but driving in its true sense is an art that cannot be acquired without practice and the thorough knowledge of how to manage the horse, manipulate the reins and use the whip. Anyone view the parade of carriages and horses of all kinds which is to be seen in our fashionable driveways and it will not take long to convince him that there are drivers and drivers.

TANDEM DRIVING.

Tandem driving will, perhaps, never become so popular as four-in-hands, but it must always be ranked as fashionable and at the same time a somewhat difficult way to handle the reins, but about it as an attraction entirely different to driving a pair or four-in-hand, barring scarcely the lack of interest with either.

In driving tandem it is necessary to have a good box seat. Before getting up see that the bits drop in their places in the horse's mouth and that the curbs are not too tight. First hold the leader's rein in the right hand, with the left rein on top as in figure No. 3. Place the wheeler's rein in the left hand, the right rein between the first and second fingers, and the other rein between the second and third, as in figure No. 5.

It is then necessary to keep the first finger open while you transfer the leader's reins from the right hand to the left, placing the left rein of the leader between the first finger and the rein, as in figure No. 7.

Place the reins in your left hand, as described, before mounting the box. When getting on the box the use of the left hand is required. The reins should be placed in the right hand, as in figure No. 8. As soon as comfortably seated upon the box regain the reins in the left hand in the same order as at first.

In order to avoid mishaps or delays see that both horses are well up in their traces and that the reins are neither too tight nor too slack.

The next thing for a master is the management of the horse in turning. To turn to the left take hold of the leader's left rein with the right hand in the loaches below the left hand, as in illustration No. 11; then draw the rein up over the left hand, which you should hold the loaches in the left hand, and then pull the rein down a trifle. The coach should now be pointed right; to straighten out take the rein in the right hand and pull it down a little, at the same time pulling with the right rein of the leader. When bound the right hand is ready for the rein, and the left hand is ready for the left rein of the wheeler, as in figure No. 13.

To pull off to the left side lay hold of the rein as in figure No. 12, and to the right side as in illustration No. 14. This would mean passing the rein between the ears should not be disturbed. It is always best to keep the hands as well as the body steady, as in so doing the leader's rein in the former position.

FOUR-IN-HAND.

Good judgment is one of the elements of a four-in-hand whip. The driving of four horses differs little from tandem excepting in the matter of reins. Take the reins in the left hand, as in illustration No. 1. Take hold of the two left reins and then the two right, as in illustration No. 18, until the buckles are perfectly even. This will leave the reins perfectly loose, but when you become seated on the box they will readjust themselves and become even.

THE MARCH OF CONSUELO.

"Are you the wife of the man who was shot?" asked the Texas coroner of the woman who stood before him.

"Two hours ago I was," she replied, "but now I am the wife of the man who got the drop on him."—Truth.

ARE PARENTS BLIND?

Ella Wheeler Wilcox Writes About Girls and Boarding Schools.

Dangers Mamma Maidens—Mothers Should Be Very Careful About Sending Their Daily Tests—The Country Girl in the City School.

(COPYRIGHT, 1892.)

HERE added to give my opinion of boarding schools I find it difficult to formulate.

I see a girl who has a wise, broad-minded sympathetic mother had better train her daughter from boarding school.

The girl who has a good mother is a success may be greatly benefited by a boarding school. But I see more girls whom these mothers in the land, I fear.

I had but three months' personal experience with a boarding school. The only knowledge which I gained during those three months was that of the weakness of the inadequateness of my mathematical ability and my wastebute to cope with the problem. This mathematical deficiency could have been remedied, perhaps, by a return to the school. The matter of wardrobe seemed without solution.

I do not think a more unwise action could be made by a mother than sending a young girl from the country to a city school. Yet it is done every year by thousands of devoted parents, who make painful sacrifices to enable them to carry out this cherished desire.

The young girl is put through the first year of such a school and is not half as well educated as she would have been had the natural duties of life which really do before country bred girls, a model of good sense or a born philosopher.

The very sights and sounds of city life are startling and exciting to the girl who is not accustomed to them; the crowding of carriages, the crowds of people, the fashionable attired women, the gossip in the air about balls and theaters, which the girls overhear, all tend to distract her from her scholarship.

If a boarding school is to be selected, as sometimes frequently demands that it must be, let it be as remote as possible from fashionable life. I would select New Protestant schools conducted in the manner of convent schools. Some of the most charming girls I have known, and some of the best educated, have been taught in convents. There is greater simplicity under the rule of good and greater system and more thoroughness than is to be found in most boarding schools. And put a mother's influence behind the school. I cannot think that anyone can deny that she learned more wisdom at home than at school. She had ever "mother" to go to for advice and sympathy. The "very wisest or very bad," she said, "and the bad girls delighted in bringing pernicious books into the convent, reading them and distributing them about. These books were kept from us at home."

ELLA WHEELER WILCOX.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

ANGLE BOOK CASE.

One Way of Disposing of an Old Corset Steel.

How best to dispose of an old corset is many times the subject of considerable debate in more households than one. Some cut them into lengths for garters, again in the quilting room and dressmaking establishment they are used. But whatever it may be some manner of disposing of the corset is still required. One of the most unique ways of disposing of the steels is to make them into an angle book case. Two steels are required for the back of the case, and it is best to have them of the same length. Two are also required for the ends, and these are of course shorter than the back steels. Procure a piece of cloth, one harmonizing better against the color of the room. Wet some design on the linen—a Kate Greenaway girl or a spray of flowers—and cover the large board with it. Also cover four slats, one for the top and bottom of the back, and one for each end. Then with the steels fasten the four slats to the large board, the ends of the steels being run through the slats. This may be left on the piece cut, as it is ornamental as well as useful.—Interior Architect.

MUSIC RACK.

A CORNER BOOK CASE.

corner cabinet in the supernaturalness which arises to the fitness molding. Handsome corner cabinets and pretty corner cabinets could be constructed just such a piece of furniture, which when completed would be a lasting benefit to the work planning to look upon. For the book case, has relief of plaster of glass could be utilized and the effect be good, in natural colors. These may be molded by light and dark molding angles. In really her bodice should be perfectly, modern and yet not extravagant. One or two smaller jars on the top of which is placed a small bird, about these, and pale blue plush may be used to protect the bodice, would complete a handsome and ideal piece of furniture.

FOUR NEW SLEEVES.

Do They Suggest to the Dressmaker Any Idea for Gowns?

The accompanying cuts show four sleeve patterns which will be very fashionable for fall gowns.

The first one shown is in a leg-o'-mutton style in tweed, cheviot or serge, with a plaid or contrasting material for cuff and collar. From the elbow it is plain, and finished at the wrist with cord loops and plain buttons.

The second is a green tweed sleeve, lined with old gold silk, and braided with gold cord.

No. 3 is a cream-colored cheviot silk, spotted with coral pink, and trimmed with chenille and straight trimmings to match the spots in the silk. The cuff is of the same material.

LATE STYLES IN SLEEVES.

The "afternoon sleeve" shown in the fourth cut is made of cream crepon cloth or nun's veiling, striped diagonally in the upper part with narrow velvet ribbon, matching in color the tints but the sleeve, edged with buttoned.—N. Y. World.

To Remove Ink Stains.

If you are the lucky wife of a man who is always getting ink on his fingers, or anything—an hour in hot water before going into bed may be beneficial. Then rub them well with pumice stone, and you will be surprised to find how much of the ink has disappeared. Of course, if the ink is allowed to dry it is very much harder to remove.

Chocolate Blanc Mange.

Dissolve one ounce of gelatine in an equal quantity of water and add one pint of chocolate, grated, one quart of milk, one cup of sugar; boil the milk, chocolate and sugar for a few minutes, then add the gelatine and boil five minutes longer, stirring constantly; flavor with vanilla and pour into molds to cool.

Mayonnaise Dressing.

There is nothing nicer served about a chicken than salsods. It will dissolved in a little water, remove grease from a dish, and leave it white. It is also good for cleaning an iron sink. It is also the very best thing for cleaning paint brushes, which by the way, should be cleaned much more frequently than they are.

To Clean a Hair Brush.

To clean hair brushes, dip them up and down in soda water, rinse in tepid water in which a little soda has been mixed. Place several thicknesses of brown paper on a table, and on this the brushes, bristles down, and dry.

A TEAPOT HOLDER.

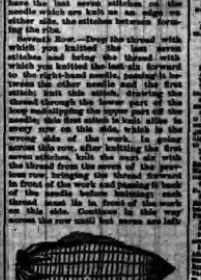
How to Make One Over and Over Will Cost Only a Few Cents.

The materials are an ounce of pale, pompadour shade zephyr, 4 pair of needles, and steel knitting hook, a yard and a quarter of horn-colored ribbon and a quarter of a yard of pale green ribbon, both of them an inch wide.

Cast on fifty stitches, knit five rows plain.

Sixth Row.—Add a second ball of the same shade and knit with it seven stitches, then draw the thread over the back of the work and knit six with the first ball; continue this way until you have the last seven stitches of the needle which are knit as an edge on either side, the stitches between forming the rim.

Seventh Row.—Drop the thread with which you knitted the last six, forward between the needles and the first seven stitches, knit the same drawing the thread over the back of the work, long enough to bring the upper part of the needle, then knit seven stitches in every row on this side, which is the wrong side of the work. In going across this side of the work, after drawing the first seven stitches, knit the next with the thread from the seven of the previous row, bringing the thread forward in front of the work and passing it back over the needle; knit the next seven with the thread used in the former seven on this side. Continue in this way across the row until but seven are left.



TEAPOT HOLDER.

Knit these and return with thread from the last six.

Remember always to knit seven and then slip one and to draw the thread a little tighter as the work progresses.

When you have thirty-two rows, make two every fifth stitch for two rows, then every fourth for two rows then every third for two rows, then every second for two rows, then every stitch for two rows, then narrow every stitch for two rows, then every second for two rows, then every third for two rows, then every fourth for two rows, then every fifth for two rows, then every sixth for two rows, then every seventh for two rows, then every eighth for two rows, then every ninth for two rows, then every tenth for two rows, then every eleventh for two rows, then every twelfth for two rows, then every thirteenth for two rows, then every fourteenth for two rows, then every fifteenth for two rows, then every sixteenth for two rows, then every seventeenth for two rows, then every eighteenth for two rows, then every nineteenth for two rows, then every twentieth for two rows, then every twenty-first for two rows, then every twenty-second for two rows, then every twenty-third for two rows, then every twenty-fourth for two rows, then every twenty-fifth for two rows, then every twenty-sixth for two rows, then every twenty-seventh for two rows, then every twenty-eighth for two rows, then every twenty-ninth for two rows, then every thirtieth for two rows, then every thirty-first for two rows, then every thirty-second for two rows, then every thirty-third for two rows, then every thirty-fourth for two rows, then every thirty-fifth for two rows, then every thirty-sixth for two rows, then every thirty-seventh for two rows, then every thirty-eighth for two rows, then every thirty-ninth for two rows, then every fortieth for two rows, then every forty-first for two rows, then every forty-second for two rows, then every forty-third for two rows, then every forty-fourth for two rows, then every forty-fifth for two rows, then every forty-sixth for two rows, then every forty-seventh for two rows, then every forty-eighth for two rows, then every forty-ninth for two rows, then every fiftieth for two rows, then every fifty-first for two rows, then every fifty-second for two rows, then every fifty-third for two rows, then every fifty-fourth for two rows, then every fifty-fifth for two rows, then every fifty-sixth for two rows, then every fifty-seventh for two rows, then every fifty-eighth for two rows, then every fifty-ninth for two rows, then every sixtieth for two rows, then every sixty-first for two rows, then every sixty-second for two rows, then every sixty-third for two rows, then every sixty-fourth for two rows, then every sixty-fifth for two rows, then every sixty-sixth for two rows, then every sixty-seventh for two rows, then every sixty-eighth for two rows, then every sixty-ninth for two rows, then every seventieth for two rows, then every seventy-first for two rows, then every seventy-second for two rows, then every seventy-third for two rows, then every seventy-fourth for two rows, then every seventy-fifth for two rows, then every seventy-sixth for two rows, then every seventy-seventh for two rows, then every seventy-eighth for two rows, then every seventy-ninth for two rows, then every eightieth for two rows, then every eighty-first for two rows, then every eighty-second for two rows, then every eighty-third for two rows, then every eighty-fourth for two rows, then every eighty-fifth for two rows, then every eighty-sixth for two rows, then every eighty-seventh for two rows, then every eighty-eighth for two rows, then every eighty-ninth for two rows, then every ninetieth for two rows, then every ninety-first for two rows, then every ninety-second for two rows, then every ninety-third for two rows, then every ninety-fourth for two rows, then every ninety-fifth for two rows, then every ninety-sixth for two rows, then every ninety-seventh for two rows, then every ninety-eighth for two rows, then every ninety-ninth for two rows, then every hundredth for two rows, then every hundred and first for two rows, then every hundred and second for two rows, then every hundred and third for two rows, then every hundred and fourth for two rows, then every hundred and fifth for two rows, then every hundred and sixth for two rows, then every hundred and seventh for two rows, then every hundred and eighth for two rows, then every hundred and ninth for two rows, then every hundred and tenth for two rows, then every hundred and eleventh for two rows, then every hundred and twelfth for two rows, then every hundred and thirteenth for two rows, then every hundred and fourteenth for two rows, then every hundred and fifteenth for two rows, then every hundred and sixteenth for two rows, then every hundred and seventeenth for two rows, then every hundred and eighteenth for two rows, then every hundred and nineteenth for two rows, then every hundred and twentieth for two rows, then every hundred and twenty-first for two rows, then every hundred and twenty-second for two rows, then every hundred and twenty-third for two rows, then every hundred and twenty-fourth for two rows, then every hundred and twenty-fifth for two rows, then every hundred and twenty-sixth for two rows, then every hundred and twenty-seventh for two rows, then every hundred and twenty-eighth for two rows, then every hundred and twenty-ninth for two rows, then every hundred and thirtieth for two rows, then every hundred and thirty-first for two rows, then every hundred and thirty-second for two rows, then every hundred and thirty-third for two rows, then every hundred and thirty-fourth for two rows, then every hundred and thirty-fifth for two rows, then every hundred and thirty-sixth for two rows, then every hundred and thirty-seventh for two rows, then every hundred and thirty-eighth for two rows, then every hundred and thirty-ninth for two rows, then every hundred and fortieth for two rows, then every hundred and forty-first for two rows, then every hundred and forty-second for two rows, then every hundred and forty-third for two rows, then every hundred and forty-fourth for two rows, then every hundred and forty-fifth for two rows, then every hundred and forty-sixth for two rows, then every hundred and forty-seventh for two rows, then every hundred and forty-eighth for two rows, then every hundred and forty-ninth for two rows, then every hundred and fiftieth for two rows, then every hundred and fifty-first for two rows, then every hundred and fifty-second for two rows, then every hundred and fifty-third for two rows, then every hundred and fifty-fourth for two rows, then every hundred and fifty-fifth for two rows, then every hundred and fifty-sixth for two rows, then every hundred and fifty-seventh for two rows, then every hundred and fifty-eighth for two rows, then every hundred and fifty-ninth for two rows, then every hundred and sixtieth for two rows, then every hundred and sixty-first for two rows, then every hundred and sixty-second for two rows, then every hundred and sixty-third for two rows, then every hundred and sixty-fourth for two rows, then every hundred and sixty-fifth for two rows, then every hundred and sixty-sixth for two rows, then every hundred and sixty-seventh for two rows, then every hundred and sixty-eighth for two rows, then every hundred and sixty-ninth for two rows, then every hundred and seventieth for two rows, then every hundred and seventy-first for two rows, then every hundred and seventy-second for two rows, then every hundred and seventy-third for two rows, then every hundred and seventy-fourth for two rows, then every hundred and seventy-fifth for two rows, then every hundred and seventy-sixth for two rows, then every hundred and seventy-seventh for two rows, then every hundred and seventy-eighth for two rows, then every hundred and seventy-ninth for two rows, then every hundred and eightieth for two rows, then every hundred and eighty-first for two rows, then every hundred and eighty-second for two rows, then every hundred and eighty-third for two rows, then every hundred and eighty-fourth for two rows, then every hundred and eighty-fifth for two rows, then every hundred and eighty-sixth for two rows, then every hundred and eighty-seventh for two rows, then every hundred and eighty-eighth for two rows, then every hundred and eighty-ninth for two rows, then every hundred and ninetieth for two rows, then every hundred and ninety-first for two rows, then every hundred and ninety-second for two rows, then every hundred and ninety-third for two rows, then every hundred and ninety-fourth for two rows, then every hundred and ninety-fifth for two rows, then every hundred and ninety-sixth for two rows, then every hundred and ninety-seventh for two rows, then every hundred and ninety-eighth for two rows, then every hundred and ninety-ninth for two rows, then every two hundredth for two rows, then every two hundred and first for two rows, then every two hundred and second for two rows, then every two hundred and third for two rows, then every two hundred and fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and tenth for two rows, then every two hundred and eleventh for two rows, then every two hundred and twelfth for two rows, then every two hundred and thirteenth for two rows, then every two hundred and fourteenth for two rows, then every two hundred and fifteenth for two rows, then every two hundred and sixteenth for two rows, then every two hundred and seventeenth for two rows, then every two hundred and eighteenth for two rows, then every two hundred and nineteenth for two rows, then every two hundred and twentieth for two rows, then every two hundred and twenty-first for two rows, then every two hundred and twenty-second for two rows, then every two hundred and twenty-third for two rows, then every two hundred and twenty-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and twenty-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and twenty-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and twenty-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and twenty-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and twenty-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and thirtieth for two rows, then every two hundred and thirty-first for two rows, then every two hundred and thirty-second for two rows, then every two hundred and thirty-third for two rows, then every two hundred and thirty-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and thirty-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and thirty-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and thirty-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and thirty-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and thirty-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and fortieth for two rows, then every two hundred and forty-first for two rows, then every two hundred and forty-second for two rows, then every two hundred and forty-third for two rows, then every two hundred and forty-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and forty-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and forty-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and forty-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and forty-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and forty-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and fiftieth for two rows, then every two hundred and fifty-first for two rows, then every two hundred and fifty-second for two rows, then every two hundred and fifty-third for two rows, then every two hundred and fifty-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and fifty-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and fifty-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and fifty-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and fifty-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and fifty-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and sixtieth for two rows, then every two hundred and sixty-first for two rows, then every two hundred and sixty-second for two rows, then every two hundred and sixty-third for two rows, then every two hundred and sixty-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and sixty-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and sixty-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and sixty-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and sixty-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and sixty-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and seventieth for two rows, then every two hundred and seventy-first for two rows, then every two hundred and seventy-second for two rows, then every two hundred and seventy-third for two rows, then every two hundred and seventy-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and seventy-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and seventy-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and seventy-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and seventy-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and seventy-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and eightieth for two rows, then every two hundred and eighty-first for two rows, then every two hundred and eighty-second for two rows, then every two hundred and eighty-third for two rows, then every two hundred and eighty-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and eighty-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and eighty-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and eighty-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and eighty-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and eighty-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and ninetieth for two rows, then every two hundred and ninety-first for two rows, then every two hundred and ninety-second for two rows, then every two hundred and ninety-third for two rows, then every two hundred and ninety-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and ninety-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and ninety-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and ninety-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and ninety-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and ninety-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundredth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and first for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and second for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and third for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and tenth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and eleventh for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and twelfth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and thirteenth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and fourteenth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and fifteenth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and sixteenth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and seventeenth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and eighteenth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and nineteenth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and twentieth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and twenty-first for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and twenty-second for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and twenty-third for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and twenty-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and twenty-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and twenty-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and twenty-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and twenty-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and twenty-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and thirtieth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and thirty-first for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and thirty-second for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and thirty-third for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and thirty-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and thirty-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and thirty-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and thirty-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and thirty-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and thirty-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and fortieth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and forty-first for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and forty-second for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and forty-third for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and forty-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and forty-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and forty-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and forty-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and forty-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and forty-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and fiftieth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and fifty-first for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and fifty-second for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and fifty-third for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and fifty-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and fifty-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and fifty-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and fifty-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and fifty-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and fifty-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and sixtieth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and sixty-first for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and sixty-second for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and sixty-third for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and sixty-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and sixty-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and sixty-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and sixty-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and sixty-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and sixty-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and seventieth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and seventy-first for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and seventy-second for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and seventy-third for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and seventy-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and seventy-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and seventy-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and seventy-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and seventy-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and seventy-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and eightieth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and eighty-first for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and eighty-second for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and eighty-third for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and eighty-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and eighty-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and eighty-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and eighty-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and eighty-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and eighty-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and ninetieth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and ninety-first for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and ninety-second for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and ninety-third for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and ninety-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and ninety-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and ninety-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and ninety-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and ninety-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and three hundred and ninety-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundredth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and first for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and second for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and third for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and tenth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and eleventh for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and twelfth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and thirteenth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and fourteenth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and fifteenth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and sixteenth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and seventeenth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and eighteenth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and nineteenth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and twentieth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and twenty-first for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and twenty-second for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and twenty-third for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and twenty-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and twenty-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and twenty-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and twenty-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and twenty-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and twenty-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and thirtieth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and thirty-first for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and thirty-second for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and thirty-third for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and thirty-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and thirty-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and thirty-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and thirty-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and thirty-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and thirty-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and fortieth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and forty-first for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and forty-second for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and forty-third for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and forty-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and forty-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and forty-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and forty-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and forty-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and forty-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and fiftieth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and fifty-first for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and fifty-second for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and fifty-third for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and fifty-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and fifty-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and fifty-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and fifty-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and fifty-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and fifty-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and sixtieth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and sixty-first for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and sixty-second for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and sixty-third for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and sixty-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and sixty-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and sixty-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and sixty-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and sixty-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and sixty-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and seventieth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and seventy-first for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and seventy-second for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and seventy-third for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and seventy-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and seventy-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and seventy-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and seventy-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and seventy-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and seventy-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and eightieth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and eighty-first for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and eighty-second for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and eighty-third for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and eighty-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and eighty-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and eighty-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and eighty-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and eighty-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and eighty-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and ninetieth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and ninety-first for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and ninety-second for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and ninety-third for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and ninety-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and ninety-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and ninety-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and ninety-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and ninety-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and four hundred and ninety-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundredth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and first for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and second for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and third for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and tenth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and eleventh for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and twelfth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and thirteenth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and fourteenth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and fifteenth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and sixteenth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and seventeenth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and eighteenth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and nineteenth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and twentieth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and twenty-first for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and twenty-second for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and twenty-third for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and twenty-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and twenty-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and twenty-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and twenty-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and twenty-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and twenty-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and thirtieth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and thirty-first for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and thirty-second for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and thirty-third for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and thirty-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and thirty-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and thirty-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and thirty-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and thirty-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and thirty-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and fortieth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and forty-first for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and forty-second for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and forty-third for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and forty-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and forty-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and forty-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and forty-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and forty-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and forty-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and fiftieth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and fifty-first for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and fifty-second for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and fifty-third for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and fifty-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and fifty-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and fifty-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and fifty-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and fifty-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and fifty-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and sixtieth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and sixty-first for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and sixty-second for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and sixty-third for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and sixty-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and sixty-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and sixty-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and sixty-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and sixty-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and sixty-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and seventieth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and seventy-first for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and seventy-second for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and seventy-third for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and seventy-fourth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and seventy-fifth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and seventy-sixth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and seventy-seventh for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and seventy-eighth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and seventy-ninth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and eightieth for two rows, then every two hundred and five hundred and eighty-first for two rows, then every two hundred and five hund

The Constitutionalist
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY,
W. L. FORCE & A. L. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors.
AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.
TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXV. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1892. No 42.

"Support the Constitution, which is the cement of the Union, as well in its authorities as in its authorities."—Madison.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & GUILDERSLEEVE,
Counsellors-at-Law,
Commissioners of Deeds, Masters in Chancery, and Notaries Public. Office: Corner of Park Avenue and Second street. [1y27]

GEORGE W. DAY,
General Auctioneer,
Agent of Pioneer Fire Engine Co., P. O. Box 185, Dunellen, N. J., will attend to sales at Court-house, Plainfield. Terms reasonable. [1y27]

DR. CHARLES P. TERRY,
Dentist,
20 West Front street. A new local anesthetic effects painless tooth extraction without pain. Gold filling a specialty.—[y12]

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VanArsdale,
PIANO TUNER.
Instruments put in thorough order. Terms reasonable. Orders may be left at Constitutionalist office, or down by postal, P. O. Box 580, or will attend to them if left at 1 Park avenue. Shop will receive prompt attention. [1y27]

T. J. GILLIES,
Auctioneer & Real Estate Agent.
OFFICE—Residence, corner Front & Somerset streets, Plainfield, N. J.
Goods received on consignment.

John Chandler,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence and shop No. 24 East Third street. Jobbing promptly attended to. 1y27

WILLIAM B. RANDOLPH,
Successor to E. S. HAYNES,
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 26 PARK AVENUE.
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their residence. Shampooing, etc., satisfactorily performed. 1y731

CARNEY BROTHERS, Agents,
7 West Front St.
TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS.
PARLOR STOVES,
COOK STOVES,
HEATERS.

Grates and Bricks for all kinds of fires can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your Thermometer measure to us. The best Thermometer, the best Plumbers, and the best One-Horse in the section. We use none but the very best of new metals, and our work always gives satisfaction.

Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.

Tinware Made to Order.

Ranges, Brick and Portable Furnaces
SANITARY PLUMBING

Parlor Stoves,
Furnaces, Ranges,
Water Piping, Plumbing,
Heater Work, Tinning,
Hardware.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
18 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 6. 31 11-87

Beautiful Assortment!
Furniture!
Largest Assortment!
Best Goods!
Lowest Prices!
Ever Offered in Plainfield!
22, 25 and 27 PARK AVE.

Garret O. Packer.
SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc., Etc.
I am prepared to do any of the above branches in a workmanlike manner, and guarantee satisfaction. Having purchased the stock and fixtures of the late firm of Packer & Sutphen, I am now prepared to fill all orders promptly. Shop on Somerset street, rear of Front street. Residence, 15 Somerset street.
D. W. LOUTREL,
No. 9 North Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

MISCELLANEOUS.

FOR MALARIA,
GENERAL DEBILITY
AND
ALL STOMACH TROUBLES
COLES'
PERUVIAN BARK
AND
WILD CHERRY BITTERS
ARE THE BEST.
A Vegetable Substitute for Quinine.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
Price, 50 cents and $1.00 per Bottle.
COLES' PERUVIAN BARK CO.
D. P. COLES DRUG AND MFG. CO.
RAHWAY, N. J.

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS,
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS,
BEST IN THE WORLD.
ALL GOOD DELIVERED PROMPTLY FREE OF CHARGE.

ESTABLISHED 12 C.

C. E. & J. W. BROWN,
(Successors to G. F. & C. E. Brown & Co.)
Importers, Wholesale and Retail Dealers in
WALL PAPER.
321 Canal Street,
NEW YORK.
English Tiles, Antaglypta, Rand, Leather Stamped Flock Papers, &c. Borders for Walls.
Manufacturers of Window Shades.

LIVERY.

A. M. SEGUINE,
(Successor to John W. Laing.)
Laing's Hotel Stables

Front street, opposite Madison avenue.
Carriages for Weddings, Funerals and Private Calls. Light carriages of all descriptions for pleasure driving.
RIDING OR LIVERY.
Careful, safe drivers for shopping parties or stage-coaching. Special attention given to boarding horses by the day, week or month. [1y27]
TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 24.

RICKERT'S
ACCOMMODATION EXPRESS.
OFFICE—Vanderbilt's Music Store, Park avenue. The "Accommodation Express" will attend to the prompt delivery of packages in the city, conveying goods or baggage to and from the depots, and to any part of Plainfield.
Moving of Furniture, Pianos, Safes, with care and safety.

INSURANCE.

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.

Fresh Garden Seeds
AND FERTILIZERS,
Farm and Garden Implements,
Lawn Mowers Refrigerators,
Ice Cream Freezers
Gasoline Stoves, Hardware, Tools, etc.
J. J. HEIDELOFF,
No. 12 SOMERSET ST. 3-13-87

GEORGE A. MOORE,
(Of the late firm of Moore Bros.)
Is now the sole proprietor of the old established
NO. 14 NORTH AVENUE,
Where he will continue to supply people with the Best Groceries.
Fresh and Salt Meats,
Fish of all kinds, Oysters, Game, Game in season, at the Lowest Market Prices.
Anything not usually kept in stock, furnished at short notice. 1y27

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGE REASONABLE
Hugo Weigman,
10 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J. 3-10-87

LEWIS E. CODDINGTON,
(Successor to C. E. Dickson)
Furniture and Freight Expressman
OFFICE—18 W. FRONT ST.
RESIDENCE—13 PARK AVE.
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.

H. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of Wholesale and Retail Dealer in
C. O. D. CIGAR,
Which is made from the finest Havana and Sumatra tobacco, and is guaranteed to be pure, and made entirely by hand. Call and try them.
C. M. FINE,
Dealer in HAVANA & DOMESTIC
SEGARS!
No. 30 PARK AVE., (Next door to H. EGGERDING'S.)
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Tobacco and Cigarettes a Specialty.
Library Attached.

A. WOLFF,
Manufacturer of
CIGARS,
And Dealer in all kinds of Smoking and Chewing Tobacco. Also agent for Schlitz's celebrated Milwaukee Beer. Orders promptly filled. Factory and Office, No. 12 West Front, one door west of Somerset street. Plainfield, N. J. Branch Store, No. 9 North Avenue, Plainfield. Cash paid for clean cotton rags. 1y27

PAINTERS & PAINTERS SUPPLIES

Paints, Varnishes, Glass.
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALL PAPERS!
PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY.
A. SWAIM,
No. 8 North Avenue, Plainfield.

A. P. BUCKLE. L. D. WOOLSTON.
Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS,
Wall Papers,
PAINTERS' SUPPLIES. 36 NORTH AVENUE

WHATEVER form of printed matter you require we can be of service to you; whether it be

Letter Headings,
Circulars,
Programme Books,
Addresses,
Pamphlets,
By-Laws of Societies,
Programmes and Reports of Financial Associations, or any other matter for Public or Private circulation.
Everything.

WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST
DAILY PRESS
(Chamberpos. Building)
PLAINFIELD N. J

STEVENSON'S TOUR.

NEW LIGHT THROWN UPON THE FORCE BILL CONSPIRACY.

Congressman Cummings Details the Astounding Methods by Which It Was Pushed Through the Senate—Democratic Treachery Exposed.

[Special Correspondence.]

New York, Oct. 16.—In this city the movements of Adlai Stevenson in North Carolina have been watched with much interest. Senator David B. Hill speaks of it in his warmest terms. Mr. Stevenson made the force bill a vital issue. The character of this bill was surprised by the manner in which Democrats aided in the passage of representatives to pass it.

It was not until after the campaign of 1890 that the Republicans achieved North Carolina. They knew that by the official returns they had three majority in the House. They also knew that South Carolina would be Democratic, which Democratic State Convention met in Columbia on the 10th of September following the election. Governor Tillman, who had been renominated, in his address said: "Another question has come before the people. The Chief Lodge, in a speech in behalf of Federal Election bill, announced that the Republicans in the next house intended to pass a force bill. They would not stop at that, but repeal the apportionment of the Democratic majority in the House in the next Congress. Then they would have a majority of 20 or 30 in the House. Mr. Cleveland would be elected President for the first time in years. Mr. Cleveland would not sign the bill, and the Republican party claimed the right to put troops at the polls under the pretense of keeping the peace and secure a fair election. He replied that they did.

Mr. Harrison fraudulently counted the force bill in the Senate, and passed it the three weeks afterward. He also advised the passage of such a measure in his first message to Congress, which met in December, 1889. The Republican majority in that congress stood one hundred and seventy-two to one hundred and two. They were elected by the people of North and South Dakota, Montana and Washington into the Union. The Republicans had a majority of sixty-nine with this majority. It was too small for them to pass the bill desired. Three days after the Republican senators and Republican members who would give votes for it. To insure the passage of the bill they declared that the majority in the house by throwing out Democratic members and placing Republicans in their seats. They did so. The most tyrannical measures were adopted.

On Jan. 31, 1890, before the house had adopted any rules for the government, the case of Smith against Jackson was called. Judge Jackson had been elected by about 2,000 majority. Forty-four official majority. The instant the case was called up Mr. Crisp, of Georgia, raised the point of no quorum. There was no violation of power rights and by Speaker Reed and others. It was the first time that a speaker had assumed this power since the foundation of the government.

Mr. Crisp appealed from the action of the speaker, and Mr. Reed, acting still, as the Republican majority in the house to law, refused to entertain the appeal. He also refused to entertain a motion to lay Smith against Jackson on the table. Smith, Jackson was a Democrat. Reed's action, and that under parliamentary law he had a right to do so.

Then, by the most high and unconstitutional ruling of the speaker, the Jackson case was forced before the house. Judge Jackson from Georgia took his seat, but the Republicans furnished a quorum of 167 votes to oust him. They were afraid to do it by regular order. The seats present and not voting, because this would give the judge an opportunity to make a speech in favor of his case. Reed's rulings were general parliamentary law.

But the seating of Judge Jackson the Republican majority in the house was increased to ten.

The Republicans that They would be unable to obtain a voting quorum in the other contested election case the Republicans forced it to adopt a rule for the appointment of the house. One of these rules gave the speaker the power to count those present and not voting to make a quorum. But this very rule was adopted under the ruling of the speaker that he had the power to count parliamentary law to count such a quorum.

The rules were adopted on Feb. 14. On Feb. 17 Mr. Enloe, Democrat, of Tennessee from West Virginia, was turned out of his seat by four votes less than a quorum. His official majority was 1,500. Reed's present and not voting to make a quorum. Pendleton's official majority was 1,500. The republican majority in the house was then increased to 12.

On March 8 Mr. Cate, of Arkansas, was unseated. His official majority was 1,548. The affirmative vote showed 22 less than a quorum. The Republican majority in the house was thus increased to 14.

On March 30 Barnes Compton, a Democratic member, was unseated. His official majority was 181. The affirmative vote was 8 less than a quorum. His official majority in the house was then increased to 16.

On April 11 George D. Wise, a Democratic member, was unseated. His official majority was 861. The affirmative vote was 43 less than a quorum. The Republican majority was then increased to 16.

On June 4 Louis W. Turpin, a Democratic member, was unseated. His official majority was 13,153. The affirmative vote was thirty-seven less than a quorum. The Republican majority was then increased from three to twenty.

With these stolen votes the Republicans felt themselves able to pass a force bill. As a foundation for the passage of such a bill, on July 2, by the aforesaid acts of the committee on rules, they had passed within an hour and a half a bill giving the power to the United States the appointment of seventeen United States circuit judges for life. Thereare but eight circuits in the United States. The bill appointed with the power to fill the seventeenth judge, were doing the work. The bill released the eight court judges from circuit duty and left them to hear the ten circuit judges already in office and the seventeen circuit judges to be appointed under the bill. The bill provided that after the 1st day of July, twenty-five of the twenty-seven Judges would be Republicans. At that time all the Democratic judges would be dead. The bill was passed by the Republicans and they knew that there would be no Democratic judges to veto it.

The object of this bill was shown when the Force bill came before the house. That bill gave the judges the power to appoint supervisors of elections to each election district. The supervisor was to appoint the deputy marshals to preserve the peace at the polls. The supervisor was to appoint the voting precincts in each circuit, with the power to change and add and remove. The power of appointment was forced by eight judges, a board of supervisors in each state, who were to hold office for life. The board was to appoint the chief supervisor of elections in each district in the state board of canvassers and were to return certificates of election to the clerk of the house of representatives. He was to place the names of those whom the certificates showed to have been elected at the head of the house roll. The supervisors of elections were to call the roll of members and were to declare those whose names were at the head of the roll elected. The speaker was to appoint the clerk of the house.

The passage of the bill passed on April 19 was fully expected.

Democratic Treachery.

Democratic treachery was the cause of the passage of the bill. Democrats in the house, by their votes, made the bill a party measure. Democrats in the senate, by their votes, made the bill a party measure. Democrats in the senate, by their votes, made the bill a party measure. Democrats in the senate, by their votes, made the bill a party measure.

Democratic Treachery.

Democratic treachery was the cause of the passage of the bill. Democrats in the house

The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORCE. A. L. FORCE
Editors and Proprietors.

Democratic Nominations.

For President,
GROVER CLEVELAND,
of New York.

For Vice-President,
ADLAI E. STEVENSON,
of Illinois.

For Governor,
GEORGE T. WERTS.
OF MORRIS.

ELECTORS-AT-LARGE.
MILLARD F. ROSS, of Middlesex.
PHILIP P. BAKER, of Cumberland.

DISTRICT ELECTORS.
First District—CHARLES MANN.
Second District—THOS. H. PEARSETT.
Third District—JAMES DOUGHERTY.
Fourth District—THEO. SIMONSON.
Fifth District—JAMES G. MORGAN.
Sixth District—EDWARD BALBACH.
Seventh District—EDWD H. STEVENS.
Eighth District—MARTIN R. COOK.

CONGRESSIONAL NOMINATIONS.
First District—FRANK M. PORCH.
Second District—GEO. D. WETHERILL.
Third Dist—JACOB A. GEISSENHAINER.
Fourth District—JOHNSTON CORNISH.
Fifth Dist.—CORNELIUS G. CADMUS.
Sixth Dist.—THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH.
Seventh Dist.—EDWARD F. McDONALD.
Eighth District—JOHN T. DURN.

COUNTY NOMINATIONS.
For County Clerk—JAMES J. GERBER.
For Surrogate—ROWLAND M. STOVER.
For Coroner—EDWARD B. KELLY.

SHUT THE GATES.

At a late Republican meeting in Montclair, N. J., there came upon the platform an extraordinary oratorical genius.

With eyes flashing fire and arms wildly swinging aloft he shrieked for more and more protection, higher and higher duties, and longer for the coming time when economic science and the cholera scare might operate to entirely prohibit the importation of all foreign goods.

That gentleman must have mistaken his audience, and instead of civilized Americans, supposed himself addressing a tribe of Fiat Head Indians.

If his absurd wishes were carried into effect, how in the name of reason could the government obtain means to meet its obligations?

Mr. McKinley tells us the foreign exporters, not home consumers, pay all tariff exactions, therefore, if protection can be made strong enough to kill off exporters and, as a consequence, stop their generous revenue contributions, who will furnish Uncle Sam with cash sufficient to carry on the war against a horde of Envoys and Consuls summoned from abroad to politically aid in perpetuating the power that gave them commissions?

CARNEGIEISM.

Mr. Carnegie, the highly protected American tariff millionaire, now living in baronial splendor among his native Scottish highlands, has been presenting to the city of Ayr a Memorial Library.

At the recent laying of the corner stone he delivered an address, a part of which was as follows:

"I feel more strongly bound than ever to devote the remnant years of my life now to aiding in self and more to the service of others, using my surplus wealth and spare time in the manner most likely to produce the greatest good to the masses of the people. From them came the wealth which is intrusted to the owner only as administrator."

The founding of grand Music Halls and Libraries may benefit a certain class of people, but does that fulfil his trust as an administrator of surplus wealth derived from the toiling masses and of which he boastingly claims to be THE OWNER?

We think not.

If Mr. Carnegie really desires to advance the good of the masses, why does not he seek an opportunity in THIS country among the multitude of poor workmen whose labor made him so rich and who are now struggling against the demon of want and misery.

The Mayor of Ayr in pompous style presented the wealth possessed Mr. Carnegie with the freedom of the city, but the significant fact remains to be stated, that crowds of Scotch working people were there hostility by blessing the whole performance.

They had heard of Carnegieism in America.

POLITICAL REFORM.

The unanimous re-nomination of Jacob A. Geissenhainer as the Democratic candidate for Congress in the Third District, like that of Grover Cleveland for President and George T. Werts for Governor, was the result of popular sentiment, the expressed will of the honest masses.

That is the way all nominations should be made, and the notable instances of reverse in this county, give comment to believe that the only sound and safe plan of offices seeking candidates solely because of proven character and ability is advancing towards more general adoption.

It heralds a grand political reform.

GRANT ON THE TARIFF.

In his message to Congress, December, 1874, President Grant spoke as follows:

"I would suggest to Congress the propriety of reconsidering the tariff so as to increase the revenue and at the same time decrease the number of articles upon which duties are levied. Many articles which enter into our manufactures, and are not produced at home, it seems to me, should be entered free. Those articles of manufactures which we produce in a certain part of, but not produce the whole, that path which we do not produce should enter free also. It will lessen the cost of living. These articles must be imported to form a part of the manufactures of the higher grades of woolen goods. Cheaper cloth and hose, composed in part of these articles, would be within reach of many more people. Labor in manufactures could be employed more fully. The introduction free of duty of such articles ought to be the first step towards the manufacture of goods requiring the use of those we do produce, and eventually should be a full step towards production. There are many articles entering into home consumption which we do not produce ourselves, the tariff upon which, however, becomes the cost of producing the manufactured article. A correction in this respect will be in the direction of bringing labor and capital in harmony with each other, and of equalizing the burdens of taxation fairly as much needed."

Such views tally closely with the Democratic position in regard to the tariff question, and they differ from Republican views as radically as chalk differs from cheese.

The Democratic party advocates—

A tariff for revenue to meet national obligations and to pay the current expenses of an honest and economical administration of government.

A tariff framing from import duties, as far as practicable, all raw materials, in order to prosper manufacturing industries, to open markets for home production, enliven commerce and agriculture, and benefit both labor and capital.

A tariff strictly just and business like, framing duty taxation equitably upon all classes of people, affording ample protection to every legitimate employment, but totally repudiating the pernicious idea of special system of enriching by spacial bounties favored interests.

That is Democratic doctrine. It is honest and practical and the public without majority demands its popular endorsement.

Vote for
CLEVELAND and STEVENSON.

SING, BOYS, SING!

A Republican editor in New England flaps his wings after this fashion:

"Let the Republican party sing for the principles of protection and of free men till the country rings with the songs which express the best sentiment of the people, and it will come back to victory in November. Let male quartets and glee clubs be organized, and everywhere let the Harrison and Reid songs be as earnestly sung as the famous Hosannas were to ring their appropriate songs. And the great set scenes of this campaign will have been made and the triumph of Republican principles be assured. Sing, boys, sing!"

Fifty-two years ago when Grand-father Tippecanoe was in the Presidential race boisterous singing was a prominent feature of the campaign, but times have changed, icon-fooling has to a great extent been thrust aside by common sense.

Intelligent argument, not silly noises, is the political food now demanded by the people.

Sing, boys, sing, until your Republican throats are as dry as corn husks, but don't deceive yourselves by thinking that the thoughtful voting masses of this country can be sung into exchanging solid truths for windy nothingness.

That era has fled.

THE COUNTY TICKET.

At the head of our columns will be found the names of the candidates for county offices nominated by the Democratic county convention on Wednesday. They are men of worth and intelligence and should receive the support of not only Democrats but conservative voters.

WINTON FOR SENATOR.

The Democrats of Bergen county did themselves credit Wednesday by re-nominating Henry D. Winton for State Senator. Mr. Winton is one well qualified in every way to fill the position and was the only Democratic Senator who voted against the cost question and was the only Democratic Senator who voted against the cost question and was the only Democratic Senator who voted against the cost question till. He certainly ought to be re-elected by an increased and handsome majority.

CREDITABLE OPPOSITION.

Judge Werts's Attitude on the Liquor Subject, Said to Have Provoked the Saloon Men's Antagonism.

The liquor men, it is said, threaten to lead a rebellion against Judge Werts for Governor. It was he who amended the High License Local Option law of 1887 into its present shape, and the liquor men of the State as it exists to-day is known by his name. It is not satisfactory to the saloon men as it stands. For years—two or three years, at least—the liquor men have been making efforts to secure a modification of one of its most odious provisions by demanding a repeal of the clause which allows the Sunday saloon doors a disorderly house. The fraternity, who largely indulge in the sale of liquor on Sunday, consider the elimination of these words as elevating the business to a reproach upon the character of their business. And they have been quite earnest in their endeavors to obtain the words from the statute. For each of the last three winters they have had committees waiting on the Legislature to enforce compliance with that demand, and the man who has met them with a denial at the very threshold of each session has been George T. Werts. The antagonism which his attitude on this subject has provoked against him among them has been somewhat intensified by his recent charge at the opening of the September term of the Hudson county courts, directing the grand jury to pursue the Sunday violators and indict them.

The fight element is going to work actively for his defeat the more outspoken their opposition the better it will be for him. New Jersey is essentially a law and order State, and even those who do not believe in Sunday restrictions are yet possessed of the idea that as long as a law is upon the statute books it should be honestly enforced. The opposition of the saloon men or of any other element that does not sanctify outspoken itself to the public conscience is apt to experience the better sentiment of the State for him, and if the friends of Judge Werts can make all the voters acquainted with the fact that Judge Werts has been waged against him he is more likely to be helped than hurt by their demonstrations.

Veterans, Rend the Wrath.

The private pension bills signed by the president during their terms of office from 1861 until 1892 is numbered as follows:

President A. Lincoln, 4 years	123
President A. Johnson	85
President U. S. Grant, 8 years	1,523
President R. B. Hayes, 4 years	1,231
President C. A. Arthur, 3½ years	396
President Grover Cleveland, 3½ years	1,900

These figures cannot be refuted.

And some of the officers retained in office by Grover Cleveland than by any other president.

This cannot be denied.

READ WHAT ONE, GRANT'S FRIEND, GEO. W. CHILDS, IN THE "PHILADELPHIA LEDGER," SAID:

"In the private pension bills passed by President (Cleveland) he has engaged in correcting the errors of Congress. He has done it at the risk of having his motives misconstrued, and at the risk of being misrepresented, and the pensioners questioned, his popularity impaired; but somehow or other, regardless of party or party ties or party right, determined to do right, he has persistently insisted on it in the face of the strongest opposition, and in the discharge of his duty. That is what he should be encouraged to continue to do, and by we voters more than the politicians. He is the President of the whole country, and who should now stand with him in the discharge of his duty more than the Commander-in-Chief of the Army in his attempts to secure the pensions to the soldiers and to correct the frauds and the errors of the past pensions?"

DUNN GETS IT.

THE LEADERS REFUSE TO HONOR THE MAN WHO MADE THEM.

A Crime of Injustice Committed Against James R. Martine at Elizabeth Yesterday.

(From The Press of October 19.)

If there was ever anything kicked in politics it was done to-day, and as an outsider as to be almost a robbery. It was accomplished at the Democratic convention in Elizabeth, yesterday, to nominate candidates for Congress, Surrogate and Coroner for this district. The convention was held in Library Hall and proved the liveliest that ever took place in Union county. As early as last night it began to manifest itself in the political air. By that time the caucuses had been held and the primaries had been held in the several wards of this city, a number of the county executive committee, but opposed to Dunn, was thrown from the cars.

The Democratic leaders, by right of position, the promises of the leaders and the pledges made at past conventions, to Jacob R. Martine of Plainfield. For years past he has been the prime mover in the politics of Middlesex county, a general row precipitated by the John T. Dunn delegates in their efforts to prevent a general row precipitated by the John T. Dunn delegates in their efforts to prevent the nomination of Martine, and the organization of this city, a member of the county executive committee, but opposed to Dunn, was thrown from the cars.

The Democratic leaders, by right of position, the promises of the leaders and the pledges made at past conventions, to Jacob R. Martine of Plainfield. For years past he has been the prime mover in the politics of Middlesex county,

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

J. A. DEMAREST, - - City Editor.

—The Newark Day Hive will remain closed to-morrow (Friday), Columbus Day.

—The bringing of Thatcher to Plainfield was a losing investment for Major Anderson post.

—Chief engineer T. O. Doane is satisfied that the Hayes extension ladder truck is just what Plainfield needs.

—R. M. Stoyer was re-elected a member of the county executive committee, Monday evening, in the fourth ward.

—The case of the treasurer of the city of Plainfield vs. Wm. Lee, for illegal liquor selling, was adjourned over for one week, Friday morning, to Friday, Oct. 21.

—The Crescents have been invited to bowl with the Elizabeth Athletic club in their fine new club-house, Thursday, Oct. 20. It will be the first match on the new alleys. Two-men teams will contest.

—The Press and Prude of Boston thinks it of importance to record that "Two town companies have been organized among the employés of the Hoyt printing machine company at Plainfield, N. J."

—The bicycle became out in a recent addition to the modern accessories to churches. A lady living in Somerville rides to Round Brook every Sunday to officiate as organist in a church there.—New Brunswick Home Journal.

—Frank Moulton was arrested by borough marshal Pangborn Saturday evening for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. He had been out of the house with a spe, so this time, for his fourth offense, he was sent by judge Crosley to the jail at Somerville for 30 days.

—Holy Cross church choir will sing in Trinity church, Seymour, Conn., Monday evening, Oct. 31; and in St. Michael's, Naugatuck, Tuesday morning and evening, Nov. 1, All Saints' Day. The choir will be assisted by the full orchestra, Oct. 31 and return the following Wednesday.

—The next ten under the auspices of the Ladies' Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church, will be held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. G. Q. Dubliver, Friday evening, from 5 to 9. It is unnecessary for THE PRESS to say that those who attend will enjoy a pleasant evening.

—A Washington Park woman, a characteristic anti-trolleyite, walked down to Front street the other night and saw, for the first time, an electric car in operation, after dark. Then she went home and breathlessly told her astonished relatives that as the horrible thing passed by she "actually saw the electricity bubble out of the bottom of the car"! "What fools these mortals be" said Shakespeare.

—All who heard the "Cradle Songs of Many Nations," as given in the Congregational church, last spring, will be pleased to know that they are to be repeated Thursday evening, November 17. New characters will be added to the cast, and these will be taken by prominent young women well-known in society. The entertainment will be given for the benefit of the Orchestra of the Library, and the tickets are now on sale. Further particulars will be duly advertised.

At Rest.

There was a large attendance at Trinity church Tuesday afternoon at the funeral of Jessie K., late wife of Prof. S. Dunn. The Rev. Cornelius Holbrook read committal service of Scripture for burial and most beautifully of the lovely attributes of the departed spirit. He was visibly affected by his sad mission over the body of one of the best loved ones of his flock. The Rev. John Hart of Nashanic, the former pastor of the parents of the deceased, paid a just and glowing tribute to the dead, and closed the services with prayer.

The floral tributes surrounding the casket were many and beautiful. The following: Basket of flowers; King's Daughters' cross in purple, from the Whatsoever Circle; pillow with initials C. R., from Prof. F. S. Dunn; pillow with name "Jessie"; cross of white and pale pink roses; wreath of white roses and chrysanthemums; large bouquet of white carnations, with a bouquet of asters, pink bouquet, yellow bouquet, bouquet of white carnations, white bouquet, bouquet of white carnations, Christian Endeavor pin and King's Daughters' badge rested on the breast of the deceased. The remains were placed in the family plot at Hillside.

The pall-bearers, chosen from the Christian Endeavor Society, were: E. R. Anthony, W. J. Oliver, J. A. Love, F. S. Oviatt, D. Kramer and Thos. H. Hardy.

Hoop Meth Fun.

Members of the Improved Order of Red Men held a grand hoop meth on Wednesday. It is estimated that 7,000 braves were in line marching in honor of Columbus. Minotomono Tribe, No. 118, of this city, was represented by forty braves and a band of music. The braves returned to their wigwam this morning and report having had "a heap good time". With this issue, the Red Men's paper changes to "Great Sun of Discovery, 401, Traveling Moon, 12th Sun", and a new century is begun.

Bowling for the Trophy.

The contestants in the bowling league for the trophy, which was won last year, have been divided into two sections, as follows:

FIRST SECTION.	SECOND SECTION.
Arthur Kull.	Crescents of Plainfield.
Arlington Hotel Club.	U. Y. M. C. A.
Elizabeth Field Club.	Westfield Ath. Club.
Y. M. C. I. A., Jr.,	Roselle Center.
Union Co. Democrats.	Phoenix of Roselle.
Ville Lions of Linden.	Unique of ———

Convicted the Opposing Counsel.

Counselor Craig A. Marsh moved the case of A. M. Griffen against ex-county collector Patrick Sheridan, before Judge Vandyke at Elizabeth, Saturday. Mr. Marsh produced his case with such vigor and logic that he convinced even the opposing counsel, James English, who said of his speech that the exact amount of the claim he would pay it.

Trinity Church Election.

The yearly congregational meeting of the Trinity Reformed church was held last week, when the annual task place for members of the ministry. Alexander Willett, G. L. VanEmburg, and J. E. VanWinkle were re-elected elders for two years. D. VanWinkle was elected elder for one year to fill the unexpired term of R. R. Field. A. Swain, R. H. Gayle and W. F. Oliver were elected deacons for two years, Messrs. Bowles and Gayle being re-elected.

Somerset County Sentiment.

The Democratic county convention was held at Somerville, Monday, to nominate a surrogate, sheriff and freeholder. The meeting was largely attended. When the convention met in the afternoon Curtis B. Bechtold of North Plainfield was chosen permanent chairman.

At the call of the townships for surrogate, A. F. Hoff was nominated on the first ballot by the vote of 28 to 24. The contest for sheriff was very gracefully given up by G. D. McKinstry of Bridgewater to Jacob S. Hoagland of Montgomery. In the contest for freeholder, Conover of Branchburg was on the second ballot. The nominations were announced by the conference and the Democratic county committee met and organized by the selection of Hon. J. A. Gaston as chairman.

PERSONALIA.

W. S. Hudson and bride are home from their wedding journey.

Cards are out for the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Lord of Rahway.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bowen of Scotch Plains gave a "Spoonlation party" Friday evening.

John W. Murray, Jr., is mentioned as a congressional possibility by local Republicans.

Frank J. Hubbard has been appointed deputy clerk. He has been a most capable bowling-alley for P. J. Donovan.

Miss Mabelle Doering of Somerville, North county, is the guest of her friend Miss Florence V. Buttner of North Plainfield.

The committees of Plainfield are to have a new club car. It will be a model of luxury in every way, and will be exhibited at Chicago, next year.

William Holmes of this city will play the part of "Bonthorne" in an elaborate amateur performance of "Patience" at Westfield, Friday evening, Oct. 28.

Miss Madeline Harbenger, of West Front street, is to be married during Thanksgiving week to a prominent banker and broker of New York.

Chief engineer T. O. Doane was the guest of Phœnix Engine Company, No. 1, at Penn'gtonport, Wednesday, and was delighted with the fine reception the boys gave him.

The Rev. J. C. Ferrell, of this city, will address the sixth annual State Christian Endeavor convention at Bridgeton, Oct. 25, 26 and 27. One thousand delegates are expected.

Joseph Borst, of Palsted Post, R. Y., who has been visiting Mrs. Mary A. Smith, of Madison avenue, left for his home, with his niece, Miss Anna L. Borst, Saturday morning.

Frank W. Runyon, city clerk, has been appointed by N. Y., state treasurer, attending the meeting of Alpha Delta Phi alumni of Cornell university. He arrived home Monday morning.

A farewell reception to Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Mitchell will be given in Unami chapel, the evening of Tuesday, Oct. 27. The Ladies' Aid society of the church will have charge of the affair.

William D. Murray will give an illustrated lecture on "Japan," in the Crescent Avenue church parlors, the evening of Oct. 24, at 8, for the benefit of the Charity Circle, King's Daughters.

G. E. Rose, principal of the North Plainfield public school, is a member of the committee on statistics to arrange the the New Jersey State school exhibit for the Columbian exposition at Chicago.

Miss Lucy Wells Tyler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Corydon E. Tyler, formerly of Plainfield, is to be married on Saturday, the 29th inst., to Clifford Stygnet Kelsey of New York, at the Madison Avenue Reformed church in that city.

Invitations are out announcing the marriage of Miss Ida Bell Smith, of this city, to Mr. Frank Wilson, of Brooklyn, N. Y., on Wednesday, Oct. 26, at 8 o'clock, at the residence of the bride's parents, 21 Madison avenue, Rev. Dr. Hall officiating.

Mrs. W. S. Hyndman, of North Plainfield, was re-elected president of the Woman's Synodical Society of New Jersey, at the annual meeting in Newark, Thursday, and Mrs. F. H. Mundy, of Plainfield, was elected corresponding secretary.

The Dover Iron Era says: "Miss Libbie Bingham, of Plainfield, who has for several weeks been the guest of the Misses DeCamp, of Chester, returned to her home on Monday last. She will be greatly missed by her many friends who fully appreciate her pleasant ways and wonderful musical talent.

George H. Fountain is always something curious things. The latest oddity he has dug up is the jaw bone of a fish, a relic of a prehistoric monster of the palæozoic age, found in rummaging about in the earth near the city. He thinks the find a valuable one, and will consult State Geologist Smock about it.

The Tuesday Afternoon Musical club met yesterday at the home of Miss Florence M. Hamlington, Franklin place. It is the object of the club this winter to arrange their programmes at each meeting so as to instruct only the writings of one of two composers. Tuesday Padrewski and Grieg were those chosen.

The Rev. Father Gaulting, of Jersey City, who is taking Father Stafford's place as assistant rector of St. Mary's church in this city, is a man who has made the popularity and high esteem of his pastor his pride. He is a zealous worker, and a most devout and earnest clergyman, and is very much endeared to the young men of the parish.

Mr. and Mrs. William Gostler, of 154 West Third street, celebrated the fifth anniversary of their marriage on Saturday evening. Music and dancing were indulged in until supper was served, after which Frederick Franke of New York gave selections on the violin, which were greatly enjoyed. The guests departed in high spirits, bestowing hearty congratulations on the host and hostess.

Mrs. Dr. Hodges and Mrs. Mason, with a few friends, dined last Friday night at the home of E. J. Shreve, Grove street. Mason Boy is a Virginian by birth, but for many years has been a resident of Troy, and was elected with the Egyptian army. As an explorer in Africa, having strenuous vigorated Lake Albert in 1877, being governor of the Equatorial Province below, and a personal friend of Gordon and of Stanley, the fund of subjects at Mason Boy's command renders him an interesting and entertaining guest, added to which, he is a charming style of narration makes him a delightful guest.

Says the Colored Man Stole the Vote.

The out-of-town papers all take an active interest in Plainfield matters, and one of these shows what it knows of the political situation in the following item, by stating that "The colored voters in the city of Plainfield hold the balance of power in local elections, and the leaders of the Republican party are making strenuous efforts to induce these voters to join their respective campaign clubs."

The "Hop" at the Casino.

A hop will be given at the Casino by the Hillside Temple club Saturday evening, Oct. 29.

An evening of rare enjoyment is promised to the club by the presence of Miss Ireland, as the club has purposely arranged a programme to suit the professional stage to secure its talents. The entertainment will be quite a novel one for Plainfield, and the evening is largely attended by all those gentlemen who love an evening of spirit, music and art. Tickets may be procured at Reynolds's and at the Central pharmacy.

PEACE STREET LINGERS.

The Project to be Discussed by Another Long-Drawn-Out Investigation Meeting.

S. A. Gines, Rufus K. Case and Charles J. Fish were Monday appointed by the common council as committee to review the report of the Town and assessment commissioners and to confer with the commissioners and the common council. The objectors on this side of the bench were Smith A. Mac Donald, Charles S. Haines and J. Scott Darcy, who appeared before the committee and presented their property by the commissioners based on their property by the assessors. The committee will meet with the commissioners and the objectors at the council chamber on Monday evening, Oct. 24, at 8 o'clock.

THE PEOPLE TO BE HEARD.

North Plainfield's Council to Listen to Everyone's Views on the Street Railway Extension Matter.

Mayor Brokaw of the borough is anxious that the public obtain here the first and free opportunity to make known their wishes in the matter of electric railway extension, and this decision issued the following notice:

To all persons interested in the extension of the Plainfield Street Railway Company to the borough of North Plainfield:

Gentlemen: Whereas, the Plainfield Street Railway Company, through its president, Mr. Cleveland, has made application to the Council of the borough of North Plainfield for the right to extend its tracks from the present terminus of the line in Plainfield to the borough line, and whereas, it is the desire of the Council that the people of the borough should have an opportunity to express their views in the matter, and to suggest such terms and conditions as they may deem proper to be imposed by said Council in granting said request, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, October 24, 1892, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of hearing the views of the people in the premises, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, October 31, 1892, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of considering the terms and conditions upon which said extension shall be granted, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, November 7, 1892, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, November 14, 1892, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, November 21, 1892, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, November 28, 1892, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, December 5, 1892, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, December 12, 1892, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, December 19, 1892, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, December 26, 1892, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, January 2, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, January 9, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, January 16, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, January 23, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, January 30, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, February 6, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, February 13, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, February 20, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, February 27, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, March 6, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, March 13, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, March 20, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, March 27, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, April 3, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, April 10, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, April 17, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, April 24, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, May 1, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, May 8, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, May 15, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, May 22, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, May 29, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, June 5, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, June 12, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, June 19, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, June 26, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, July 3, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, July 10, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, July 17, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, July 24, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, July 31, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, August 7, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, August 14, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, August 21, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, August 28, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, September 4, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, September 11, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, September 18, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, September 25, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, October 2, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, October 9, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, October 16, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, October 23, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, October 30, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, November 6, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, November 13, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, November 20, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, November 27, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, December 4, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, December 11, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, December 18, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, December 25, 1893, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, January 1, 1894, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of the Plainfield Street Railway Company for the extension of its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of granting or refusing the application of said company for the right to extend its tracks as aforesaid, and for the purpose of imposing such terms and conditions upon the granting of said application as may be deemed proper by the Council, and

Whereas, the Council has appointed Monday evening, January 8, 1894, at 8 o'clock, at the Council chamber, in the borough hall, for the purpose of passing upon the application of

THEY BEAT TIME.

The Great Living Bandmasters of Different Nations.

An Englishman's Admiration of the German Band—Austria Ranks High in the Way of Band—Gilmore's Peerless Success.

[COPYRIGHT, 1892.]

The lamented death of Patrick Sarsfield Gilmore, universally conceded to be the greatest bandmaster America has known, while naturally suggesting speculation as to who shall worthily succeed to his baton, brings to the front the interesting subject of the military band as it is to-day in Europe and the many famous names which are associated with both its history and its development into its modern condition of perfection.

The great names of Lulli, Wagenseil, Jullien, the Strausses, Godfrey and Gungll, so inseparably connected with the story of the military band, come to mind just now and fix our attention upon the glory they achieved as organizers and wielders of the baton.

It has been appropriately said that an inevitable accompaniment of the military system is the band of music, whether it always has, to stimulate cowardice and beget bravery. Louis XIV., the grand monarch of the Bourbon dynasty, most fully recognized the inestimable services rendered to an army by the inspiring strains of martial music. It was he who married with the army under the taunting banner of the fleur de lis. There was a time when military, or at least martial is the world then knew, consisted of a flourish of trumpets, the shrill notes of the fife and the roll of the drum. That was merely the embryo of the imposing instrumental combination that we call a band. The Germans, as the foremost musical nation of the world, originally took the lead in its development.

CAPPA.

The bands of the German army were once little more than drum corps, though it is admitted that French musicians were always vastly altered for the better, partly through the influence of national pride, and partly through self-interest. The influence of M. Perrin achieved great results. He was probably the father of all the famous military band. According to his ideas a competent bandmaster should be absolutely qualified to play any instrument used in the band, and also possess an elaborate musical education in regard to composition and theory. For a properly equipped infantry band M. Perrin insisted upon a total of forty performers, classified as follows: First brass, six musicians, eight second class, ten third and fifteen fourth class, besides the fundamental percussion section.

DAN GODFREY.

But Perrin bettered things vastly, and since 1836 the French bands have been able to do battle even with any. One great fault found with them during the Second empire was that all the instruments were made by one firm. This enjoyed this monopoly from the government, and it was claimed by experts that the general average was "without liveness" in tone resulted. The proverb that too many cooks spoil the broth does not apply in music, however, as instanced in the Crimean war the French army kept its bands intact long after the siege of the cannonades and climate had demoralized those of the English regiments, and when at last Sebastopol it was to the sprightly and cheering notes of "Partant pour la Syrie."

The most notable French band of this century was that organized by M. Julien. Many of its members are foreign countries and perform at great festivals everywhere. In canvassing the merits of French bands, more especially those of the army, musical critics have claimed that they aim rather at a strong noise than at harmonious effect in full, sweet sounds.

Austria occupies a high position in the realm of music, which have gained distinction in the organization of bands of music. To-day, as for years past, the names of the Strausses stand in the first eminent. Sons of a distinguished father, who, although himself a musician of high standing in the Austrian regiment, set his face against their following his profession, declaring that the force of nature stronger than everything else and drifted into music as a thing they could not help, as the second has, if anything, outdone that of their father. Who does not know and love the waltzes of Johann Strauss, "the Viennese—to the Austrians at large—his "Beautiful Blue Danube" is regarded almost as a national air.

Johann Strauss was born in Vienna in 1825, and his original calling was that of bank clerk, but music, however, favored his musical aspirations and allowed him to have a violin teacher in private. So he went to Dreyschock for composition lessons. His first waltz was written at the age of 19 years. The Austrian army was fortunate enough to obtain his services for a time and he became bandmaster of the Fifty-sixth regiment. He was now in his true element and did much to improve the condition of the band which he found it. His methods and ideas were generally adopted, and the consequence was a marked rise in the standard of excellence of Austrian regimental bands.

On the death of his father he succeeded the latter's band with his own and made a grand tour of the German cities. His fame at once grew to such that the government engaged him to superintend the popular concerts of Dommayer's Casino, and at the same time, leasing his band in the Petersplatzerveld park in that city, Johann Strauss won the admiration of the people as Gilmore did with us.

Engaged for a time with the opera balls at Vienna as director, he resigned to make a tour of the world, during which he visited Europe and America.

Eduard Strauss, who so recently performed at the Madison Square Garden in New York, is a younger brother of Johann, and though not quite so prominent occupies a with fame. He was, like his brothers, very young when he began to show he filled the position of conductor of the opera at Carlsruhe with credit, to which he succeeded on the decease of his father.

Josef Strauss, the youngest of the famous trio of military bandmasters, was born in Vienna in 1827. He was educated for the profession of engineering, but music was his passion, and he took lessons on the piano, violin and flute. He was a prolific composer, and his waltzes, polkas and quadrilles are still popular. He died in 1870.

ALBERT HARTMANN.

band of 1892 is a thing so service need be said about it. The English bands are still, as regards fonds, run on much the same principle as of old. As all true officers there pursues private means, it follows that in those corps where the officers are rich the band is the finest the land can found. The Foot guards, as the swellest part of the army, took the palm in this respect, the band of the Grenadier regiment having a world-de-served reputation. There are several members of this band, fellows of men of rank and fortune, the band fund was plethoric, and the engagement of the best bandmaster the country possesses. Under the regime of the great Dan Godfrey the band of the Grenadier guards became, like Ellicott's, a household word in every land.

Dan Godfrey is one of the best-known figures in London, a frequenter of the clubs and a much-feted man in society and literary circles. He is constantly to be seen in the Savoy, the theater of a group of friends and admirers. The accompanying portrait was photographed from life.

The United States has lost in Gilmore a man so distinguished that it will be difficult to replace him, but probably the mantle will descend upon Carlo Albario Cappa, the well known bandmaster of the Seventh regiment of New York. He is already a favorite in many circles in society. By birth a Piedmontese, and the son of a major in the Scandinavian army, he enlisted first in the Sixth Lancers of his native country, and when twenty shipped aboard the United States ship Concord at Genoa. Just before the war he joined the band of which he has been conductor for the past eleven years. He also acted for several years as first trombone to the Metropolitan Opera House. The late American representative band Cappa's has had a record gratifying to our national pride, and is the reason why we need have any apprehension as to the future triumphs of this country in the realm of musical art as evidenced by the achievements of our leading military bands.

EDWARD STRAUSS. JOHANN STRAUSS.

It is to be hoped that under the leadership of the great Gilmore's successor the band he made so famous will continue to maintain its high standard of excellence. THOMAS DONNELLY.

THE JESUIT CONVENTION.

For the First Time They Assemble Outside of Rome.

Features of Various Interest—Reasons as to the Future Policy of the Order—Statistics—A Story of Missionary Methods—Brief Jesuit History.

[COPYRIGHT, 1892.]

THE general congregation of the Society of Jesus, which has just been held at Quebec, in Spain, is worthy of attention from several points of view. The object of the great meeting of the Jesuit order was the election of a vicar general to replace the late Father Anderledy.

The selection of the successory of Aspeyte as the place of meeting was at once significant and significant. Here there Ignatius Loyola, the founder of the order, was born, in 1491, of a noble family, and here he took his place in the ranks of sacred memory to the Jesuits. Again, in holding their congress in Spain, the order of Jesus established a portentous precedent, for this is the first time in their history that they have met outside of Rome. Since, During the three hundred and three-score years which have passed since the order was taken by Loyola and his followers that constituted the order, not one of its elective meetings for the election of a general has ever been held outside of the Eternal city. Here lies the significance of the congregation of 1892, inasmuch as it is supposed to signalize the culmination of centuries of growth between the Jesuits and the Jesuits. Not in Rome has the new chief of the order been selected, but in the ancient city of Loyola, which, although himself a non-Jesuit soldier regiment, set his face against their following the Jesuit-Catholic, and found the force of nature stronger than everything else and drifted into music as a thing they could not help, as the second has, if anything, outdone that of their father. Who does not know and love the waltzes of Johann Strauss, "the Viennese—to the Austrians at large—his "Beautiful Blue Danube" is regarded almost as a national air.

Johann Strauss was born in Vienna in 1825, and his original calling was that of bank clerk, but music, however, favored his musical aspirations and allowed him to have a violin teacher in private. So he went to Dreyschock for composition lessons. His first waltz was written at the age of 19 years. The Austrian army was fortunate enough to obtain his services for a time and he became bandmaster of the Fifty-sixth regiment. He was now in his true element and did much to improve the condition of the band which he found it. His methods and ideas were generally adopted, and the consequence was a marked rise in the standard of excellence of Austrian regimental bands.

On the death of his father he succeeded the latter's band with his own and made a grand tour of the German cities. His fame at once grew to such that the government engaged him to superintend the popular concerts of Dommayer's Casino, and at the same time, leasing his band in the Petersplatzerveld park in that city, Johann Strauss won the admiration of the people as Gilmore did with us.

Engaged for a time with the opera balls at Vienna as director, he resigned to make a tour of the world, during which he visited Europe and America.

Eduard Strauss, who so recently performed at the Madison Square Garden in the New York, is a younger brother of Johann, and though not quite so prominent occupies a with fame. He was, like his brothers, very young when he began to show he filled the position of conductor of the opera at Carlsruhe with credit, to which he succeeded on the decease of his father.

Josef Strauss, the youngest of the famous trio of military bandmasters, was born in Vienna in 1827. He was educated for the profession of engineering, but music was his passion, and he took lessons on the piano, violin and flute. He was a prolific composer, and his waltzes, polkas and quadrilles are still popular. He died in 1870.

ALBERT HARTMANN.

band of 1892 is a thing so service need be said about it. The English bands are still, as regards fonds, run on much the same principle as of old. As all true officers there pursues private means, it follows that in those corps where the officers are rich the band is the finest the land can found. The Foot guards, as the swellest part of the army, took the palm in this respect, the band of the Grenadier regiment having a world-de-served reputation. There are several members of this band, fellows of men of rank and fortune, the band fund was plethoric, and the engagement of the best bandmaster the country possesses. Under the regime of the great Dan Godfrey the band of the Grenadier guards became, like Ellicott's, a household word in every land.

Dan Godfrey is one of the best-known figures in London, a frequenter of the clubs and a much-feted man in society and literary circles. He is constantly to be seen in the Savoy, the theater of a group of friends and admirers. The accompanying portrait was photographed from life.

The United States has lost in Gilmore a man so distinguished that it will be difficult to replace him, but probably the mantle will descend upon Carlo Albario Cappa, the well known bandmaster of the Seventh regiment of New York. He is already a favorite in many circles in society. By birth a Piedmontese, and the son of a major in the Scandinavian army, he enlisted first in the Sixth Lancers of his native country, and when twenty shipped aboard the United States ship Concord at Genoa. Just before the war he joined the band of which he has been conductor for the past eleven years. He also acted for several years as first trombone to the Metropolitan Opera House. The late American representative band Cappa's has had a record gratifying to our national pride, and is the reason why we need have any apprehension as to the future triumphs of this country in the realm of musical art as evidenced by the achievements of our leading military bands.

EDWARD STRAUSS. JOHANN STRAUSS.

It is to be hoped that under the leadership of the great Gilmore's successor the band he made so famous will continue to maintain its high standard of excellence. THOMAS DONNELLY.

THE JESUIT CONVENTION.

For the First Time They Assemble Outside of Rome.

Features of Various Interest—Reasons as to the Future Policy of the Order—Statistics—A Story of Missionary Methods—Brief Jesuit History.

[COPYRIGHT, 1892.]

THE general congregation of the Society of Jesus, which has just been held at Quebec, in Spain, is worthy of attention from several points of view. The object of the great meeting of the Jesuit order was the election of a vicar general to replace the late Father Anderledy.

The selection of the monastery

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.
E. L. PRICE & S. L. PRICE, Editors and Proprietors.
AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.
TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXV. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1892. No 43.

"Support the Constitution, which is the consent of the Voters, as well as its limitations as to the authorities"—Madison.

Rates of Advertising

Space	1 W.	2 W.	3 W.	1 M.	2 M.	3 M.	6 M.	1 Y.
1 in.
2 in.
3 in.
4 in.
¼ col.
½ col.
1 col.

All Notices must be paid for.
Double rate 50 per ct. advance of above rates.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODDINGTON,
Counsellors-at-Law,
Commissioners of Deeds, Notaries Public, Solicitors in Chancery, &c. Office, corner of Park avenue and Front street.—tf

GEORGE W. DAY,
General Auctioneer,
Sales of Personal Property solicited. P. O. Box 182, Dunellen, N. J., or address in care of Constitutionalist, Plainfield, will receive prompt attention.

DR. CHARLES E. TRIBUS,
Dentist,
39 West Front street. A new local anesthetic for painless extracting teeth without pain. Gold filling a specialty.—pd

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VanArsdale,
PIANO TUNER.
Instruments put in thorough order. Second-hand Pianos for sale. Orders left at 109 West 5th. Address by postal, P. V. Box 330, or may be left at residence, 1 Park place, Dunellen, N. J. Orders by telephone promptly attended to. Terms moderate.—pd

T. J. GILLIES,
Auctioneer & Real Estate Agent.
ALLENDALE—Auctioneer and Agent for Pyfer's Addition.
Conveyancer to contentment.

John Chandler,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER.
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence and shop No. 16 East Third street.
Jobbing promptly attended to. apr9

E. B. MAYNARD,
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 24 PARK AVENUE.
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at home if desired. Shampooing, &c., also thoroughly performed. 27tf

CARNEY BROTHERS, Agents,
7 West Front St.
TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS.
PARLOR STOVES,
COOK STOVES,
HEATERS.
Grates and Bricks for all kinds of Stove can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Better your Tinware cheapened at the Tinners' Stores, the best Plumbers, and the best One-Stores in this section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.
Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.
Tinware Made to Order.
Ranges, Brick and Portable Furnaces
SANITARY PLUMBING.

Parlor Stoves,
Furnaces, Ranges,
Water Piping. Plumbing.
Heater Work. Tinning,
Hardware.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 6. 11 13-tf

Beautiful Assortment!
Furniture!
Largest Assortment!
Best Goods!
Lowest Prices!
Ever Offered in Plainfield!
22, 25 and 27 PARK AVE.

Garret O. Packer.
SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc. Etc.
I am prepared to do any of the above branches in a satisfactory manner, and at reasonable charges.
Roofing executed equal with the best. Tinning of Roofs, Gutters, Conductors, &c., a specialty. All work I attempt will receive my personal attention. Estimates cheerfully furnished. I solicit a share of public patronage.
D. W. LITTELL,
No. 9 North Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

FOR MALARIA,
GENERAL DEBILITY
AND
ALL STOMACH TROUBLES
USE
COLES'
PERUVIAN BARK
AND
WILD CHERRY BITTERS
ARE THE BEST.
A Vegetable Substitute for Quinine.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
Price, 50 cents and $1.00 per Bottle.
MANUFACTURED BY THE
D. F. COLES DRUG AND MFG. CO
RAHWAY, N. J.

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS,
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS,
BEST IN THE WORLD.
ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE

ESTABLISHED 18 6.
C.E. & J.W. RROWN,
(Successors to G. F. & C. E. Brown & Co.)
Importers, Wholesale and Retail Dealers in
WALL PAPER.
English Tint, Embossed, Gilt, Leather Lined Flock Papers, &c. Borders for Walls.
Manufacturers of Window Shades.
NEW YORK.

LIVERY.
A. M. SEGUINE,
(Successor to John W. Laing.)
Laing's Hotel Stables

Front street, opposite Madison avenue.
Coaches for Weddings, Funerals and Private Calls. Light carriages at all reasonable hours. Pleasure.
RIDING OR LIVERY.
Careful, safe drivers for shopping calls or pleasure drives. Special attention given to boarding horses by the day, week or month.—notf1y
TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 36.

RICKERT'S
ACCOMMODATION EXPRESS.
OFFICE—Valentine's Music Store, Park avenue. The undersigned having purchased the business of the late Wm. Rickert, is prepared to do general carrying business, at the shortest notice, or charges. Leave orders at the store, or with the driver.
Moving of Furniture, Pianos, etc., with care and safety.

INSURANCE.
WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.

Fresh Garden Seeds
AND FERTILIZERS,
Farm and Garden Implements,
Lawn Mowers Refrigerators,
Ice Cream Freezers
Gasoline Stoves, Hardware, Tools, etc.
J. J. HEIDELOFF,
No. 18 SOUTH AVE.

GEORGE A. MOORE,
(Of the late firm of Moore Bros.)
Is now the sole proprietor of the old established
NO. 14 NORTH AVENUE,
Where he will continue to supply people with the best grade of
Fresh and Salt Meats,
Fish of all kinds, Oysters, Clams, Game in season, at the Lowest Market Prices.
Anything not usually kept in stock, furnished upon short notice.

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.
H. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of the celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR.
The best cigar made in the State, and made under the most favorable conditions.
CIGAR HAVANA BLEND A SPECIALTY.
Tobacco and Segars at Wholesale and Retail.
Pocket and Domestic Cutlery, Cigar holders, Pipes always on hand.
Smokers Articles in Great Variety.

C. M. FINE,
Dealer in HAVANA & DOMESTIC
SEGARS!
G. H. PARK AVE., (Next to Post Office.)
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Tobacco and Smokers' Articles.
The finest and most popular brands of Segars always on hand.

A. WOLFF,
Manufacturer of
CIGARS,
And dealer in all kinds of Smoking and Chewing Tobacco, Snuff, Pipes, Cigarettes, &c. Orders filled from any N. Front street, in all Plainfield, will receive prompt attention. Goods delivered free of charge. Store on North avenue, near railroad crossing.

PAINTERS & PAINTERS SUPPLIES
Paints, Varnishes, Glass.
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALL PAPERS!
PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY.
A. SWALM,
No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.

L. D. WOOLSTON. J. P. BUCKLE
Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS,
Wall Papers,
KITCHEN SUPPLIES. NORTH AVENUE
NEAR R.R.

ADDRESS TO VOTERS.

APPEAL FROM THE DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL COMMITTEE.

Voters Asked to Consider Calmly the Great Questions at Issue—Warning Against the Work of Corruptionists—Money Needed for Proper Use.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.
To the People of the United States:

The time for the campaign is short. The issues are clear-cut and sharply defined.

They are so sharply defined, and at last so well understood, that no intelligent voter can fail to appreciate them, or to know what great governmental policies he will choose for his country when he shall come to exercise his sovereign power on election day.

The gravity of the crisis in the nation's life calls upon every citizen of the republic to prepare to cast his ballot by giving to its consideration and supreme duty its most careful attention. It is a duty to be performed, and with his mouth for the right. Charmed by his love of country and his devotion to the principles of liberty, of all his countrymen.

It is universally conceded that at the last election the Democratic party was in the tendency of the government will be determined, and that on the incidents or results of that election depends the future question involving the future welfare of America.

Upon the intelligent faith, therefore, in the intelligence, the patriotism and the political purity of the masses, believing that the people will not permit the power lately applied in governing, will achieve the greatest good to the greatest number, and that that political heresy which thereby vaunts the wealth and luxury of a class especially favored by law as evidence of good government for all the people, is now so rapidly lodgment in your minds, we ask your suffrages for the candidates of the Democratic party.

The record of each candidate for the presidency in the administration of that office is before you.

The characters, the qualifications, the abilities of the contestants for that office are spread before you, and you are to judge between them on the evidence presented by their public acts.

Against success in the struggle which is now on are all the sinister forces which willingly money can supply.

Organized bodies of men who have secured profits which in the ordinary laws, and who have bargained to control, to the special purposes of the organization of the special law, help still to overthrowing the Republican opposing interests.

Rich men add to the fund on promises of the highest places of honor and profit in the gift of the nation.

An army of officeholders, by choice or compulsion, pay into the campaign fund. Corporations, heretofore ill protected by the people, by their constitutions and laws, have been forced to pay "and contribute dates determined to right them, and to remove to the people incensed and legally protected assailants of the public welfare.

With dominant means, with unlimited impudence, with a body of hired retainers, with the prestige of success, political intimidation and political debauchery, corporations are preparing a campaign of corruption, such as has been the disgrace of no other country.

Those most exposed to temptation from the severity of duty, from arrears of wages, from positions of personal danger, are being stealthily sought out under a regularly organized system of espionage, and are insidiously approached with the proposition that they shall sell their votes for the purpose when the time shall come to vote. Where they can be reached, they are bribed at the polls. Wherever men are employed they are bribed, their characters and histories are known, and the most powerful influence likely to control each one is found. When the men who will be approached by any means be brought to sufficient vote as desired, the system includes the alternative of keeping them from the polls on election day by legal quibbles, by intimidation, or by other methods within the ingenuity and unscrupulousness of the manipulators employed for such purposes.

The committee has not troops of deputy marshals at command. It will not agree to all the future legislation of congress. It cannot pay now into its party treasury. It will not serve for or give high places in the people's service for money. It will not connect itself or aid any bargain hereafter made by the Republican party under cover of law for any contribution however great.

It appeals to the people to save the country and all of those opponents that corruptly banded against the friends of good government.

We have no resources except what the people furnish.

We call for means not only to spread the truth among the people and to aid in getting to the polls the full and honest vote of every citizen, but, if need be, to prosecute and to punish crimes against the purity of the ballot, wherever committed, by whomsoever committed or attempted.

The publication points to the defeat of the Democratic candidates and, to the triumphant election of Cleveland and Stevenson.

The popular will clearly favors the Democratic cause; all anxiety about the result of the New York election is at an end; it will give his electoral vote to our candidates. All reports from independent and conservative sources in every part of the country are exceptionally promising. With resources not timely applied, with party ties not severed, with pledges, honest ballots will be polled, counted and returned throughout the country, and if this is done defeat is not possible.

The committee calls upon all good citizens for the aid which it requires for these objects. It invites and will welcome contributions from every honest source. No contribution will be refused or counted too small. Whether a bank or a postal money order office can be found in a village, or whether it can be reached by express, the committee will receive the proceeds of this appeal.

Address, WILLIAM F. HARRITY,
Chairman Democratic National Committee.

EDWARD M. DICKINSON,
Chairman Democratic Campaign Committee.

THE DEMOCRATIC TRUST.

The delegates to the World trusts convention have begun to be heard from. Here is an opportunity to see what becomes of the trust issue, which they vote to throw overboard in order to "conciliate organized labor." The Cordage trust, known to our farmers as the Sanborn Twine trust, has announced that the cut of 10 per cent in wages, Mr. John Good, who makes the statement in drawing out of it that it had been paying 10 per cent dividends and could afford to pay a little more to keep its factory going.

Mr. Good is the extra man which went to go to labor when a single man is needed. He is the man who is to be "conciliated" by the Democratic party. He is the man who is to be "conciliated" by the Democratic party. He is the man who is to be "conciliated" by the Democratic party.

WHATEVER

form of printed matter you require we can be of service to you; whether it be

Letter Headings,
Circulars,
Programmes (Musical)
Addresses,
Memorials,
By-Laws of Societies,
Prospectuses and Statutes of Financial Associations, or any other matter for Publication or Private Circulation.
Everything.

WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST

DAILY PRESS

(Chautauqua Building),

PLAINFIELD N. J

THE CAMPAIGN.

When the McKinley bill was under discussion in the House of Representatives the Democratic members from the South, as a rule, voted against the measure. Some of them, like Mr. Crisp, of Georgia, voted for the McKinley bill. The Democratic members from the South, as a rule, voted against the McKinley bill. The Democratic members from the South, as a rule, voted against the McKinley bill.

Let farmers see to it that he never gets that opportunity.

Home and Landlord Lessen.

The annual report for 1891 of the Secretary of Internal Affairs of Pennsylvania has just been issued from the Department of Internal Affairs at Harrisburg. It contains the following figures: Number of farms in the State, 208,000; number of acres, 20,000,000; number of acres improved, 20,000,000; number of acres unimproved, 20,000,000; number of acres in woodland, 20,000,000; number of acres in pasture, 20,000,000; number of acres in meadow, 20,000,000; number of acres in orchard, 20,000,000; number of acres in vineyard, 20,000,000; number of acres in garden, 20,000,000; number of acres in nursery, 20,000,000; number of acres in greenhouse, 20,000,000; number of acres in hothouse, 20,000,000; number of acres in coldframe, 20,000,000; number of acres in hotbed

The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORCE, } A. L. FORCE
Editors and Proprietors.

Democratic Nominations.

For President,
GROVER CLEVELAND.
of New York.

For Vice-President,
ADLAI E. STEVENSON,
of Illinois.

For Governor,
GEORGE T. WERTS.
of Morris.

SENATOR-AT-LARGE.
MILLARD P. ROSS, of Middlesex.
PHILIP P. BAKER, of Cumberland.

DISTRICT ELECTORS.
First District—CHARLES MANN.
Second District—THOS. H. PRICKETT
Third District—JAMES DEMLER.
Fourth District—THEO. SIMONSON.
Fifth District—JAMES O. MUNDHAM.
Sixth District—EDWARD BALBACH.
Seventh District—EDW'D H. STEVENS.
Eighth District—MARTIN S. COOK.

CONGRESSIONAL NOMINATIONS.
First District—FRANK H. FORCE.
Second District—GEO. D. WETHERILL.
Third Dist.—JACOB L. GREENSTHALDER.
Fourth District—JOHNSTON CORRESBE.
Fifth Dist.—CORNELIUS R. CADMUS.
Sixth Dist.—THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH.
Seventh Dist.—EDWARD F. McDONALD.
Eighth District—JOHN T. DUNN.

ASSEMBLY NOMINATION.
For Assembly—Third District.
LEONARD G. COHEN, Esq.,
Of Westfield.

COUNTY NOMINATIONS.
For County Clerk—JAMES J. GERBER.
For Surrogate—ROWLAND M. STOVER.
For Coroner—EDWARD B. KELLY.

JUDGE GRESHAM AND OTHERS.

Although some Republican leaders may profess to make light of the political change avowed by such conspicuous members of their party as Judge Gresham, of Illinois, Wayne MacVeagh, of Pennsylvania, ex-Governor Cox, of Ohio, and William Dudley Foulke, of Indiana, there is a belief, but proved by indications created among the people when upright public citizens of that stamp renounce party allegiance and declare their preference for the election of Grover Cleveland, the Democratic candidate for President.

These gentlemen all possess established personal characters, and are well known as clear-headed, long-time statesmen of mature experience, three of them having been cabinet ministers in former Republican administrations.

They have no political axes to grind, nearth partisan pedigree of every grade, and honestly and openly base individual judgment upon ascertained facts. In supporting Mr. Cleveland, they not only express confidence in him as the better candidate, but go beyond that, and commend the Democratic policy of government represented by him as far more conducive to the general welfare of the people than that espoused by Mr. Harrison and party.

This is an age of independent thought and action, designing politicians cannot so readily shackle voters as they once could, knowledge is abroad in the land, and reliable example exists as a mighty factor in the formation of popular sentiment. Scores of Republicans will follow the lead of Judge Gresham and others and vote for Cleveland and Stevenson.

VOTE FOR CLEVELAND.

Every American citizen has the positive right to hold and enjoy such political sentiments as he may deem proper, but no one possesses the right to be politically dishonest.

Political rectitude is an urgent need of this the one hundredth and fifth year of the formation of Constitutional Union.

The best interests of the people demand honest men in office from President down to Policemen and from Congressman to Common Council.

Men competent to discharge aright every incumbent duty, and whom no earthly consideration can swerve a hair's breadth from the straight pathway of honor, justice and truth.

Men who will make equal rights and the general public welfare the guiding star of official action, and who will never, under any conditions, barter patriotism for gold.

Such a man the party of Democracy now presents as a candidate for President of the United States.

He is both honest and capable.

He bears the honorable name of GROVER CLEVELAND.

He has been tested and not found wanting.

For four years he occupied the Presidential chair and gave the people, all classes of people, one of the most reputable, intelligent and practical business administrations that ever existed at Washington.

Elect him again, and every honest man in the land will be a gainer in pocket and in the grandeur of national renown.

Vote for CLEVELAND.

DEGENERACY.

There is one thing observable in this Presidential campaign, not present at the commencement of any administration, and which certainly shows partisan degeneracy.

It is the scoring home under public pay of United States Envoys accredited to England, Russia, South American and other countries, and of prominent Consuls, for the purpose of doing active political work for the reelection of a party in power.

No other President ever dared tolerate such an unjustifiable movement, and for the credit of the American name we hope it will be the last of its kind.

Every day there are new accessions to the Democratic ranks from former Republicans. This is the people's year. Cleveland and Werts will carry New Jersey by handsome majorities.

John Kean, Jr., Republican candidate for Governor, refused to attend Odeonia Hall the evening when he was Candidate.

Hon. John T. Dunn, who was recently nominated for Congress in the Eighth District, is well known in Union County, having resided here one of the latest Liberty Districts at Trenton and honored with the Membership for one term. He is an energetic Democrat and will make an able representative for Congress. There can be no doubt of his election, as the District is strong Democratic. While there was some disappointment in portions of Union County, because Mr. Martine failed to get the nomination, when election day comes all honest Democrats will be found at the polls with their coats off working for the successful candidate for Congress, John T. Dunn.

The candidates for County offices, which will be found at the head of our columns, are gentlemen of worth and integrity, and should receive the vote of all Democrats and conservative citizens. James J. Gerber, the candidate for County Clerk, has before served the public faithfully in Surrogate and retired from office with honor and credit. Rowland M. Stover, the candidate for Surrogate, is a gentleman too well known to our citizens to need any recommendation from us. He possesses the requisites for the office to which he has been nominated. The ticket is a strong one and should receive the support of every honest Democrat in the County.

In a ringing speech at Morristown, Monday evening last Governor John R. McPherson gave a brilliant explanation of the issues of the day. Regarding the nomination of Judge Werts for Governor, the Senator said: "Judge Werts' reputation is of that kind unchangeable. His record in the Assembly and Senate proves that he considers public office a public trust, and I declare truthfully that I have never known him to be faithless to a public trust.

Geo. T. Werts, the Democratic candidate for Governor, is becoming more popular daily. His worth is beginning to be appreciated by those wavering Republicans who cannot see the John Kean coal combine and monopoly.

Judge Geo. T. Werts represents a free ballot, for he is the father of the Ballot Reform law, and this is the honest man monopolists are striving to defeat with money. They will not do it, however.

Re-Assessment Loss Denies Connection With Mr. Dean's Nomination.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—I am somewhat surprised to see in your account of the recent congressional convention the statement that two Summit delegates changed from Follett to Dunn at my solicitation.

It is impossible to imagine a more impossible assumption or one so wholly without the shadow of a foundation upon which to rest. From the time the convention met for organization until it adjourned one day, I did not speak to a single member of the Summit delegation or any other delegation, and have not been in contact nearly enough to be direct, with the action taken by the representatives of Summit in that convention.

THOMAS F. LANE.

Summit, N. J., Oct. 19, 1892.

Resolutions of Democratic Sympathy With the President.

At the Democratic rally in Rivbeth, on Saturday evening, the following, offered by James S. Martine, were unanimously adopted:

Resolved: That the Democrats of Union county in meeting assembled, take this opportunity to express their deep sympathy with the President in the treatment of President Harrison in the death of his most estimable wife. Though in the heat of political controversy, we stop not in the midst of the fierce battle of the hour to offer our heartfelt condolence to the bereaved husband, and do bear willing testimony to Mrs. Harrison's moral worth and many womanly virtues.

A Chance for a Ninth Victory.

The New Jersey Trap Shooters' league will hold their tenth and last meet of the season on the grounds of the Maplewood Gun club to-morrow afternoon, beginning at 1. In connection with the shoot, the Maplewood club will hold a field day tournament; events to begin at 10 a. m. The contests for the league trophy have been won eight out of nine times by the Independent Gun club of Newark, and one by the Maplewood Gun club.

The Favored Classes.

Teachers, Ministers, Farmers, Mechanics, Manufacturers, as well as their wives, daughters and sons, who would like to devote at least a part of their time and attention to a work that would bring them in a lot of ready money during the next few months, would do well to look up the advertisement of E. F. JOHNSON & Co., Richmond, Va., in another column as it may be the means of opening up to many new life and larger possibilities. Those gentlemen have been extensively and successfully engaged in business for many years, and they know what they are talking about when they tell you they can show you how to better your financial condition.

Hon. C. S. Hollwig, who, since her arrival in Plainfield three years ago, has been looked upon as the leader of the Democratic party in the Second ward, is again among the prominent families in this city receiving her friends after a prolonged illness. She is warmly greeted by her numerous friends and pupils.

All young men interested in the study of English branches for foreign-speaking young men, should call at the Newark Mechanical drawing, singing, light gymnastics, arithmetic, or algebra, should call at the Y. M. C. A. Rooms without delay. A committee of the association entitles to any or all of these classes, with the exception of short-hand, for which there is an extra charge of $3.

The musical performances of Sydney Rosenfeld's "The Lady or the Tiger" have been received with extraordinarily favor, and a high degree of satisfaction, by lovers of opera as at Rosenfeld's Bijou theater, New York, during the past week, and the author's cleverly-written comedy, which he has based on Frank Stockton's interesting story, is said to be a production worthy as well as a prosperous successor of "Wang." The production of "The Lady or the Tiger" is a most attractive one, and handsome stage settings and brilliant effects of costume, together with the premiere of evolutions and graceful dances, are accordingly the order. Next month upon the extensive department of Mr. Rosenfeld's excellent organization, and known to be entirely in the enjoyment of a prosperous season, are announced productions of the comedy of Eight Bells opera in New York.

Proved to be the Best.

Tested and proved by many thirty years' use in all parts of the world, Ayer's Sarsaparilla has won the confidence of millions of the afflicted, and the unanimous endorsement of physicians of prominence and standing, who have learned from experience who have learned from experience that it is the most effective blood purifier and strength builder, and the best and cheapest medicine for every family to use. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which this can truthfully be said. It is the only one you can depend upon to do you good when you buy it. Don't be induced to buy something else because it is said to be "just as good." There is no substitute for Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

LOOK HERE MR. BABCOCK!

HOW ABOUT THIS, MATTER AS MR. WELLS PUTS IT?

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST TO THE ASSESSORS and the Writer of "Never That Rather Work to Belong Down in Other High Schools With Our Number".

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—I was glad to see Mr. Babcock had such very good reasons for not voting for Mr. Robinson's reply. Mr. Babcock says, "We should apply to the superintendent of schools." That is exactly what I have done for the past two years, and it is now fully established that the aggregate in favor of the two one-hour sessions is more than two to one. But I think the question should be open to discussion.

Most High schools have one session. The pupils meet at 8:30 a. m. and are dismissed at 1 p. m. Many pupils prefer one hour's work with a short intermission. Here the hours are from 9 to 12, 1:30 to 3 p. m. As the most economical half session, it is contended that the pupil who rushes home for a hasty bite or for the one who stays to eat a cold lunch brought to school, the two one-and-a-half hours given up to school work, which arrangement throws the study period into the evening. It may be best for the primary pupils to have a long session as there are several such departments in the city each drawing from its immediate neighborhood; but there is only one High school and most of the pupils come quite a distance.

One can see why it is necessary for a pupil of six to study under the supervision of a teacher, but I think the pupil of fifteen is capable of studying full as well at home. Would it not be better for the older pupils to make the journey but once a day, giving to a good use the time at most other'wise wasted?

On stormy days when the school has been closed for the session, the reports are that they cannot be carried out, whereas, if one session were the rule, there would be no interruption of work, no lessons left out, and each day's work would be complete.

I fail to see what there is in favor of two sessions and would be glad to hear from Mr. Babcock on the point. I trust that better work is being done in other High schools with one session in the four hours, and I believe it is the duty of the pupils so to do just as well here. I appreciate the fact that being one who pays for the privilege may not add anything to the weight of my remarks. But having had two children in the school for several years and having heard at the exercises in June how much those who pay receive back in the way of taxes, I venture to write as above. How do the regular patrons of the school feel about this matter?

ERNEST B. WELLS,
North Plainfield.

THE CITY'S LIQUOR CASES.

Watson and Miller Agents Arrested for Illegal Sales Once Denied.

Druggist F. A. Miller of South Second street is to be tried Monday before Judge Codington on the charge of selling liquor against the law. Policeman Gross is the complainant. Miller was fined $50 for a similar offense some time ago.

Michael Watson also is to be arrested again for illegal liquor selling. He is out on seven bonds. When he refuses the officers will seize him.

Since the above was put in type, Watson was apprehended. There are three charges against him. One was heard this morning and was held for trial Nov. 5. James McFadden, the father-in-law, for whom Watson is said to have been acting as agent, was also held and leaves the city without any case.

The informer against Watson is said to be a Custer spy.

The President's Great Sorrow.

In his great sorrow President Harrison and his household have with them the unbelievable sympathy of the entire nation—we are sure, we say say, of the world. In the presence of the grim conqueror the din and racket of political warfare is hushed, and the nation will for this small voice of respectful mourning. At such a time the President is merged in the bereaved husband, and the grief of his household commands that he shall be called in the strife of parties, so that even amid the heat of political debate not an unkind word shall be spoken by the one against the representative opponent of the Democracy of this country. Already before the President's bereavement public speakers on the side of Mr. Cleveland have paused for a moment in their addresses and paid a sorrowful tribute to the greatness and suffering wife of the nation's Chief Magistrate. With a chivalric delicacy that is peculiarly his own, Mr. Cleveland refrained from participation in the Chicago celebration, because the dark shadow of death overhung the White House and thereby prevented Mr. Harrison from being present. This both as a private gentleman and as one who is a few days might be called to supersede the present Chief Executive, the ex-President demonstrated to his political antagonist the sympathetic side of his nature. Democracy, but also by all our people, who then realized that it was only a matter of a few days when we should be called upon to perform the last sad rites over the dead and so often filled the position of the First Lady in the land and so aptly practiced even the amenities of social life in the White House. One of the most admirable features of the passing campaign is to be found in the universal sympathy shown the President and his family in the hour of his afflicted family. There is, indeed, a strength and earnestness in the National sorrow of Americans that has no parallel in history.

Caught by a Stepping Auchoon.

Frank Molloy, of Dunellen, is suffering serious injuries received from a stepping auchoon. He and a well-known sport of Dunellen, Jack Keating, had a fight in a saloon on Saturday night, for the purpose of settling Ridge and Furnace-ville were on hand to see the fun. Molloy was having the best of the fight when Keating made a spring and threw him into a corner. Molloy then took his fist to strike a decisive blow and struck his elbow against the stepping auchoon, made a terrible gash in the flesh of his arm, and severed several arteries. Two doctors were called, but Molloy bled nearly to death. It will be quite a while before he recovers the use of his arm.

That New Sheriff Stock.

The Elizabeth and Plainfield Street Railway company made application to the Supreme Court at Jersey City on Saturday for the appointment of a receiver. On Monday night, for the purpose of receiving their books through the two companies, so as to ascertain their financial standing, Receiver Wm. Walsh will hear the application and listen to objections, Nov. 24, and the Chancery Court will convene Nov. 10. North avenue is to be the line of travel.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

PEACEFULLY SHE SANK INTO REST

In the Early Morning Hours Mrs. Harrison's Sufferings Were Ended.

A SORROWFUL GROUP AT THE IN VALID'S BEDSIDE.

THE PRESIDENT OVERCOME

Peace for His Foolish—Close Attention to the Sick Room—Her Worst Greatly Quieted—Nervous System—Mrs. Harrison's Last Words Spoken Yesterday—Her Last Conscious Moments—History of the Gardener—Mr. Harrison's Life—Other Deaths in the Executive Mansion.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The long vigil of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison is numbered with the dead. The end came early this morning. The President was present when it came.

She sank slowly from midnight, the change in the last two hours being more marked than at any previous time.

For the night just before the end had fallen to sight a calmness, and the awakenings from the intervals of sleep were less frequent and not so startling as before.

The President had been with her for a somewhat stretch of nine and a half hours.

All the members of the family were present at the bedside when the end came.

Shortly before noon Dr. Gardner announced the fact of the death of the beloved patient until noon.

As he left, he stated that the end had come peacefully. Mrs. Harrison's condition was unchanged from that announced at 10 o'clock. She was conscious, and her mind was clear. She was resting easily, and there was no indication of pain.

Dr. Gardner left the White House at 11:40 o'clock, and at that hour the following official announcement was given out:

Mrs. Harrison died this morning at 5:57 o'clock, standing by her bedside when the end came were the President, Mrs. McKee, Mrs. Dimmick, Mrs. Russell Harrison, Mrs. Lord, Dr. Gardner and Dr. Boyd.

The last moment in Indianapolis, the home of the deceased, began in Mrs. Harrison's room.

The family were early gathered in the room adjacent to the sick chamber, and when Dr. Hadley said that Harrison's condition showed no unexpected change, repaired to the dining room.

MRS. BENJAMIN HARRISON.

Shortly after the President returned to the bedside of his wife, from which he has been absent but a half hour, that she might enjoy enough to obtain absolutely needed rest.

The other members of the family went to the library at the south side of the house on the first floor.

When they returned, the end, still which they had been summoned, had come.

During the morning there were other members of the usual number of callers, who left their cards and left the White House grounds. Among them were many of the Diplomatic Corps, who have just returned to Washington from Chicago.

The visit by Baron Fava, Italian Minister, has been previously announced. Mrs. Harrison's condition in the afternoon was such that the Baron's visit was not made. Mr. Tower, the American Minister to Germany, also called, but was not admitted. Mr. Bayard, Secretary of State, called during the forenoon, and left his card. Mr. Bayard has been in daily communication with the White House during the illness of Mrs. Harrison. Inquiries of her Majesty Queen Victoria, to which formal response has been made, have been received from the Queen herself.

A few of the callers, including Attorney-General Miller, were admitted to the office of the building and had brief interviews with Private Secretary Halford.

At 1 o'clock Dr. Boyd paid a third visit to the White House. He remained but a few minutes, and left word that he would be found at the residence of ex-President Harrison, where he was to lunch.

Shortly afterwards Private Secretary Halford said that Dr. Gardner left word that Mrs. Harrison might live until 5 o'clock.

Shortly afterwards Private Secretary Halford said that Dr. Gardner left word that Mrs. Harrison might live until 5 o'clock.

Mr. Halford was then at the White House, and was in constant communication with Indianapolis. He remained at the White House during the afternoon, and was joined by Mr. Russell Harrison, who came over from Indianapolis.

Mr. Halford said that Mrs. Harrison's condition was unchanged, and that the physicians in attendance upon her were hopeful that she would rally. Mr. Halford said that Mrs. Harrison's condition was unchanged, and that the physicians in attendance upon her were hopeful that she would rally.

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

J. A. DEMAREST . . . City Editor.

—St. Joseph's church, Manning avenue, is now furnished with electric lights.

—Walter Scott has been granted a patent on a machine for hanging electric lights and other chandeliers.

—The Courier sets itself up as a model of English, yet pushes the atrocious expression "Home were discovered".

—J. G. Miller, the druggist, made an assignment Thursday for the benefit of his creditors. John Vesterlein was the assignee selected.

—Short-hand lessons are made a pleasure under the instruction of the charming young woman who has charge of the West Front street.

—The 25th anniversary of the Columbus Day exercises at Raritan were under the auspices of veterans Henry Johnson, of Wissahickon Post, Plainfield.

—The Philharmonic concerts are to be held this season, as usual, in the Casino and not in Music Hall. The first concerts will be held in the latter place.

—Brakeman John Walsh, who had his foot crushed in a railroad collision at Weston last week, is recovering nicely under the care of Dr. Jones, who is also attending Conductor Wm. Hall, who was injured in the same collision.

—Miss Lizzie Bedle, niece of W. C. Butler, is visiting friends on Fifth avenue, New York.

Dr. D. C. Adams and Capt. Dunn have returned from their deer hunt in the Adirondacks.

Robert Clark has returned to his home in Washington after an absence of some time in the far west.

Burt Love, formerly of Neuman Bros., has accepted a position as contract clerk in the Pond Tool Works.

All Dunellen sympathizes with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ayres in the loss of their bright little daughter Florence.

Mr. Bunnell and his tally-ho party from Short Hills took dinner at the Mc Kean House, Bound Brook, Sunday.

John Herrmann, of this city, and Miss Rachel Apgar, of Bound Brook, were married by pastor Kessler last Wednesday.

Frank J. Hubbard has returned to Ocean, N. Y., to resume charge of F. A Dunham's engineering work at that place.

Mr. Bancroft and his tally-ho party from Short Hills took dinner at the Mc Kean House, Bound Brook, Sunday

A TERRIBLE HITTER.

Admiral Ammen's Ram to be Launched About November 1.

Interesting Details in the Construction of This Remarkable Craft—Her Method of Fighting Compared with That of the Monitors.

[CORRESPONDENCE OF THE INTELLIGENCER, 1861.]

The Ammen ram is a decidedly unique specimen of naval architecture.

Her general shape, the details of her construction and her means of offense and defense are quite unlike those of any other craft yet designed, as will be seen further on.

But these wide departures from the usual practice of a naval constructor are due to the fact that she is intended for one specific warlike object, and that object is to sink her adversary by ramming. In designing her, every feature that would tend to adapt her the better to this style of attack was carefully considered and developed to the highest degree of efficiency.

Other warships, it is true, have powerful ram-bows, and the reader has, doubtless, seen them so shown as dangerous spars projecting from the bows of all our new cruisers. The value of a ramming attachment to a warfare is not overlooked in any of the vessels now built.

But other warships also carry powerful batteries of guns, and, as a rule, torpedo outfits. The gun, the torpedo and the ram are three distinct methods of warfare, the greatest importance being usually attached to the gun.

The Ammen ram, however, will have no torpedoes, nor will she carry any guns, save four small rapid-firing guns, added to her equipment as an afterthought, with a view of affording some protection against boat attacks.

She is a square, pure and simple, and nothing else. She is not intended to cruise or to capture prizes or to bombard cities and forts.

Her single mission is to sally forth from the harbor where a squadron lies to attack the hostile vessels, sinking them by means of blows from her deadly beak.

Lying low in the water, she offers a poor target to the enemy's guns, and even if struck she is unlikely to be put out of action, which would be harmlessly deflected from her armored hull-back deck, clad with thick steel armor.

Upon sighting the enemy, the captain of the ram will enter his conning tower, the walls of which are formed of eighteen inches of solid steel, and in this safe retreat he would direct the movements of his destructive craft, his attention undiverted by guns or torpedoes, and his confidence and coolness strengthened by the knowledge that his vessel is practically invulnerable to hostile fire.

STRUCK BY THE AMMEN RAM.

The tactics suggested by Admiral Ammen with which to use his vessel against the battleships of the hostile fleet, letting them bear the brunt of the battle, letting their fire be wasted, and take the ram should be apparent. When they had performed their mission—that is, when they had sunk or disabled all of the enemy's vessels that was possible—the reserve squadron of battleships and large cruisers would come up and complete the victory.

The contrast price of the ram is $600,000, the cost of a first-class battleship is over $3,000,000, to which must be added an expensive armament of guns and torpedoes. The ram are comparatively cheap to maintain; the battleships extremely expensive.

Yet, on the other hand, the ram have but one sphere of usefulness. They are useless for cruising purposes, for commerce destroyers, for coast protection. The battleships are not only of immense importance in coast defense, but they are adapted for those forms of naval operations named.

The question is a deep one, and the most rational view of the matter would seem to be, as Admiral Ammen suggests, to construct a few rams for use to be added to the remainder of the naval establishment.

Described in semi-technical language, the ram's most important features are follow: Her extreme length, over all, is 311 feet; extreme breadth, 41 feet 6 inches; total depth, from bottom of keel to crown of deck, 22 feet 10 inches. Under normal conditions she will draw 14 feet 11 inches of water, and at this draught her displacement is 2,150 tons. When going into action she can be lowered in the water to a fighting draught of 15 feet 6 inches, and her displacement is then increased to 2,250 tons.

The feature which is apt, at first glance, to strike the observer as most remarkable, is the peculiar shape of the hull, as will be seen on examination.

The lower portion of the hull, instead of being parabolic, as in other vessels, is disk-shaped, or, to be more accurate, which runs completely around the vessel, forming a sharp blade, the edge of which is ordinarily six inches beneath the surface of the water, but one foot below at the fighting draught.

This knife-like side is a most notable characteristic of the ram. It was adopted not only to facilitate exit from an enemy's hull after striking, but in order that, after striking an antagonist's side, the latter might be ripped —indeed, literally cut—away. It also increases the destructive effect of a grazing blow, and it greatly adds to and enhances the ram's structural strength.

Above this "knuckle" or blade the shape of the hull is that of a circular arc, with a radius sandships of about thirty feet. There is thus formed a curved bow, or "turtle-back," which is armored throughout, the thickness of armor tapering from six inches at the "knuckle" to two inches at the crown of deck. Below the "knuckle" extends an armor belt five feet deep, the thickness of this belt is that of a circular arc, with a radius sandships of about thirty feet. There is thus formed a curved bow, or "turtle-back," which is armored throughout, the thickness of armor tapering from six inches at the "knuckle" to two inches at the crown of deck. Below the "knuckle" extends an armor belt five feet deep, the thickness of this belt is that of a circular arc to three inches. The walls of the conning tower are eighteen inches thick. The lower portions of the smokestack and the ventilators are protected with six inches of armor. All the armor is of steel.

The framing of the hull is remarkably strong, it particularly adapted to resist the strains incident to ramming.

This framing consists of a series of stout longitudinal girders, which are connected by bulkheads, to each of the engine, gathering at the bow and stern. They extend below the turtle-back deck as well as to the hull proper.

Between these longitudinals transverse frames are worked in at intervals of four feet throughout the vessel's length. There is thus formed a very rigid structure.

THE CAPTAIN IN HIS CONNING TOWER.

There is a double bottom, the inner one being of heavy steel plates, while the space between them (one, bottom is subdivided into no less than seventy-two water-tight compartments.

It may thus be seen that the injury that would result to the vessel from a penetration of one bottom would be comparatively slight.

The ram is also built with iron screens, the watertight compartments of her hull, to which compartments are added two iron screens, one forward and one aft of the engine and boiler rooms.

A speed of sixteen knots is confidently expected. The engines required to develop this power, if the vessel will be ordered.

There are two double-ended and one single-ended Scotch boilers, 12½ feet in diameter.

The coal bunker capacity is 700 tons. The vessel will be equipped with all the modern devices for artificial ventilation, and her crew will be furnished thereby by steaming.

It has been found necessary to fit out all new vessels of war with a full complement of torpedo outfit. The Ammen ram will be a notable exception to this rule.

The vessel's crew will number ninety-four all told, officers and men.

The ram is armed with a steam-actuated ram, a working launch and one whale boat.

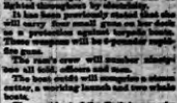
The president of the Sun Iron works is Gen. Thomas W. Hyde, a distinguished officer of volunteers during the civil war, with a fine record.

The designer of this building is Mr. Charles H. Haswell, and his chief assistant is Mr. W. C. Hunnewell.

The government inspector in charge is Lieut. Commander John H. Dowell, U. S. Naval Constructor.

The Lieutenant-Commander is Mr. Henry.

It is interesting to note that there is but one vessel in the world which bears



TRANSVERSE MIDSHIP SECTION—AMMEN RAM.

even the remotest resemblance to the Ammen ram.

This is the British torpedo ram Polyphemus, a vessel built some eleven years ago. She is slightly longer than the Ammen ram, displaces 3,240 tons, she is of steel, with twin screws, and has a speed of about eighteen knots.

She has four guns, and her deck and gunnels contain other points of resemblance to the Ammen ram, from which also she differs, however, in the underwater contour and construction of her hull, and also in the fact that she is not constructed of a ram, but is intended largely, if not mainly, to fight with torpedoes.

Woman's Chief Perception.

"If a woman would only take me in from hand to foot, instead of from head to crown," said a pretty girl, "somehow this street criticism wouldn't seem so insulting, but you see, I'm positively dead like a wooden doll under that searching gaze—not even the shoes and stockings but only the details of your gown."

And how observant the women are! What profit, indeed, to the wearer of defect and illusion taken in every charm, and the critic can tell her every time the color of her eyes, whether she wears false or natural hair, whether the complexion is rouge or not, as well as the sort of corsets and fit of the garments—in short, every and its every detail of your gown and whether you wore flowers or feathers in your hair. This staring is rude, but it evidently sharpens the perception.—Harper's Bazar.

FAIR HANDS FOR ALL.

How to Make and Keep the Finger Nails Beautiful.

A Little Trouble with Almost No Expense Will Be Rewarded—Most Effective Directions Furnished by a Manicure.

What is rarer than a beautiful hand, beautifully kept? Nothing.

What avails a lovely face and figure, though perfectly groomed, if your eyes are soon to be shocked by the sight of a rough, red hand, with ill-kept finger nails, or, rather, nails that are strangers to nail brush at all?

The latest method in artistic manicuring demands that the hands be give n thorough massage previous to the commencement of the treatment proper.

A WELL-KEPT HAND. A NEGLECTED HAND.

It is highly grateful to the tired hands of the professional worker to have the steady, work-inflicted fingers of the typewriter and all others who earn their bread by the toil of the hands. It strengthens and refreshes the hands, giving that feeling of, exquisite cleanliness which a Turkish bath imparts to the body.

The question is often asked, "Why are my nails ridged, brittle and prone to snapping?"

This question is best answered by the Yankee fashion by asking another: "What kind of soap do you use?"

The fair customer looks as though you suspected her of using lye in her article. Ten to one she will immediately give you the name of some highly-perfumed soap and will soon greatly be surprised when you explain that the unperfumed soaps are the best.

A goodly share of all the troubles of the skin of the hands originates from the chemical, fatty matter in highly scented soaps.

Always endeavor to use a soap that will replace as much of the natural oil of the skin as possible, for it is that only which keeps the skin soft and smooth by acting as a protective depository of oil. An accomplished manicure would be held in high estimation if she could tell any lady that her use of "cosmetics" happened wrinkles.

The color or scarf skin, through dryness, becomes looser than the under layer, hence wrinkles.

The right time to file plain to say a word about the "instantaneous wrinkle remover," which are professed to do away with wrinkles at a touch—young and old.

TRIMMING CUTICLE. FILING NAIL.

There is no preparation that can remove wrinkles by itself—impossible this. But in the hands of a scientific "manipulator" and with the aid of a few oil, lotions and powders, the skin may be made to look as smooth as velvet, but only through any virtue of the preparation used.

Massage alone will strengthen the muscles of the skin and make daily and the old will look and feel younger, thereby causing it to become smooth and firm.

Pure, moist have smooth cuticle hands. Keep them wet at last water. Use a pure soap and always rub them in a soft, dry towel.

Keep the nails clean and well trimmed and with a nail brush and soap and water. Use a pure soap and always rub them in a soft, dry towel.

Never use sharp instruments to cut the cuticle, unless you understand how to do it properly, for you may cut the cuticle so close that it will grow thicker. Then, again, you may cut it so deep that it will grow thinner. Then, again, you may cut it so deep that it will grow thinner. Then, again, you may cut it so deep that it will grow thinner.

Never use sharp instruments to cut the cuticle, unless you understand how to do it properly, for you may cut the cuticle so close that it will grow thicker

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.
[illegible] & I. PRICE, Editors and Proprietors.
AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY
TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXV. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1892. No 48.

"Support the Constitution, which is the cement of the Union, as well in its institutions as in its authorities."—Madison.

Rates of Advertising

Space	1 W	2 W	3 W	1 M	2 M	3 M	6 M	1 Y
1 in.	1.00	1.50	2.00	3.00	5.00	7.00	10.00	15.00
2 in.	1.50	2.50	3.50	5.00	8.00	12.00	18.00	25.00
3 in.	2.00	3.50	5.00	7.00	12.00	17.00	25.00	35.00
¼ col.	3.00	5.00	7.00	10.00	17.00	25.00	35.00	50.00
½ col.	5.00	8.00	12.00	18.00	30.00	45.00	65.00	90.00
1 col.	8.00	14.00	20.00	30.00	50.00	75.00	110.00	150.00

All Editor's must be sold cash.
Double cols. 50 per ct. advance of above rates.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODINGTON,
Counsellors-at-Law,
Commissioners of Deeds, Masters-in-Chancery, Notaries Public. Office corner of Park avenue and Second street.

GEORGE W. DAY,
General Auctioneer,
Sales of Real and Personal Property solicited. P. O. Box 185, Dunellen, N. J., or address as here or City Auctioneer, Trenton, N. J.

DR. CHARLES S. TURNER,
Dentist,
at No. 7 Front street. A new local anesthetic is a specialty for extracting until without pain. Work all to be a credit.—jy 87

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VanArsdale,
PIANO TUNER.
Instruments put in 1st rough order. Tuning done to order. Plain or Self Offices 7 cents each or $1 per. Orders by P. O. Box 1, 206 or left at Wilbur's shoe store, No. 8 Park avenue, will receive prompt attention. Residence No. 7 Grove street, 1st door west Netherd. jy 1

T. J. GILLIES,
Auctioneer & Real Estate Agent,
SALESROOM AUCTION AVENUE, NEAR FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Goods received on consignment.

John Chandler,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence and shop on E. 3d East Third street.
Jobbing promptly attended to. apr9

E. B. MAYNARD,
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 28 PARK AVENUE.
Leather and Children's Hair Cutting done to order. Shampooing, etc., satisfactorily performed. jy87

CARNEY BROTHERS, Agents,
7 West Front St.
TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS.
PARLOR STOVES,
COOK STOVES,
HEATERS.
Grates and Bricks for all kinds of fire's can be found here at Johnny' prices. Bring your Tinware standing to us. We sell Tinware, the best Plainfield, and the best Gas Stoves in the country. We can some but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.
Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.
Tinware Made to Order.
Ranges, Brick and Portable Furnaces
ANITARY PLUMBING.

Parlor Stoves,
Furnaces, Ranges,
Water Piping. Plumbing.
Heater Work. Tinning,
Hardware.
A. E. GRIFFEN,
12 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 6. 11 11-87

Beautiful Assortment!
Furniture!
Largest Assortment!
Best Goods!
Lowest Prices?
Ever Offered in Plainfield!
23, 25 and 27 PARK AVE.
Garret Q. Packer.

SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc. Etc.
If not pressed to pay on the above branches in monthly instalments. Delivery and guaranteed.
Having contracted myself with the Water Plumbing Association of New York City, I am prepared to do all kinds of Plumbing, Steam and Gas Fitting, and to fill orders promptly.
D. W. LITTELL,
Nos. 9 North Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

MISCELLANEOUS.

FOR MALARIA,
GENERAL DEBILITY
AND
ALL STOMACH TROUBLES
USE
COLES'
PERUVIAN BARK
AND
WILD CHERRY BITTERS
ARE THE BEST.
A Vegetable Substitute for Quinine.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
Price, 50 cents and $1.00 per Bottle.
MANUFACTURED ONLY BY THE
D. P. COLES DRUG AND MFG. CO
RAHWAY, N. J.

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS,
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS,
BEST IN THE WORLD.
GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE

ESTABLISHED 18 6.
C.E. & J.W. RROWN,
(Successors to C. F. & C. E. Brown & Co.)
Importers, Whole sale and Retail Dealers in
WALL PAPER.
321 Canal Street.
NEW YORK.
English Tiles, Anaglypta, Hand, Leather covered Flock Papers, &c. Designs for Walls.
Manufacturers of Window Shades.

LIVERY.

A. M. SEGUINE,
(Successor to John W. Laing.)
Laing's Hotel Stables

Front street, opposite Madison avenue.
Hackers for Weddings, Parties and Private use. Light carriages of all descriptions for hire.
RIDING OR LIVERY
Useful, safe horses for shopping calls or pleasure driving. Special attention given to ladies' calls by the day, week or month.
TELEPHONE CALL NO. 28.

RICKERT'S
ACCOMMODATION EXPRESS.
OFFICE—Vanderveer's Music Store, Park avenue. The only regular express in Plainfield will attend to the delivering and collecting of packages, delivering goods or baggage to and from the depots, or anywhere in the city. Leaving of Furniture, Pianos, etc., with care and promptness.

INSURANCE.

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.

Fresh Garden Seeds
AND FERTILIZERS,
Farm and Garden Implements,
Lawn Mowers, Refrigerators,
Ice Cream Freezer
Gasoline Stoves, Hardware, Tools, etc.
J. J. HEIDELOFF,
No. 12 SOMERSET ST. 3-15-87

GEORGE A. MOORE,
(Of the late firm of Moore Bros.)
Is now the sole proprietor of the old established
No. 24 NORTH AVENUE,
Where he will continue to supply patrons with the finest grade of
Fresh and Salt Meats,
Fish of all kinds, Oysters, Game in season, etc., at the Lowest Market Prices.
Catering not usually kept in stock, furnished at short notice.

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE
Hugo Weigman,
30 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON,
(Successor to T. J. Gray.)
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—E. W. FRONT ST.

MISCELLANEOUS.

E. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer and Wholesale Dealer in
J. O. D. CIGAR,
Two cent cigar in the State, and made and sold in accordance with the Internal Revenue Laws.
CUBAN HAVANA ORDERS A SPECIALTY.
A separate department for the sale of Smokers Articles in Great Variety.

O. M. PINE,
Dealer in HAVANA & DOMESTIC
CIGARS
PARK AVE., (next to Post Office) SECOND ST., PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Agency for Bowker's Fertilizers.
Grocery Specialties.
Orders by Telephone promptly attended to.

A. WOLFF,
Manufacturer of
CIGARS,
And Dealer in all kinds of Domestic and Choice and Imported Cigars and smokers' articles. Also an Annex from 313 E. Front street, to 24 West 10 st., one door east of Madison avenue, and a full line of the best brands of Cigars and Tobaccos always on hand. 4-18-87

PAINTERS & PAPER HANGERS SUPPLIES.
Paints, Varnishes, Glass,
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALL PAPERS
PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY.
A. SWAIM,
No. 6 South Avenue, Plainfield.

S. B. WOOLSTON, A. D. BUCKLE
Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS,
Wall Papers,
PAPER HANGERS AND DECORATORS.
ALSTEN'S SUPPLIES. 30 NORTH AVENUE

WHATEVER form of printing matter you require we can be of service to you; whether it be

Letter Headings,
Circulars,
Programmes Menus
Addresses,
Memorials,
By-Laws of Societies,
Prospectuses and Reports of Financial Associations, or any other matter for Public or Private Circulation.
Everything

WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST
DAILY PRESS
(Chautauqua Building)
PLAINFIELD N. J.

Dickinson's Office 13 East Front St. Plainfield N.J.

Dr. Miles' Nervine

Dr. Miles' Nervine is a scientific remedy for the cure of all forms of nervous diseases, such as Sick Headache, Nervous Prostration, Nervous Debility, Neuralgia, Hysteria, Dizziness, Sleeplessness, Backache, Nervous Chills, Epilepsy, Fits, Nervousness after the use of Alcohol or Tobacco, Blues, Etc.

Dr. Miles' Nervine is a positive cure for Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Mental Depression, Loss of Memory, Premature Old Age, Impotency, Nervous Headache, Paralysis, Spasms, St. Vitus' Dance, Nervous Neuralgia, Hysteria, Dizziness, Fits, Nervous Chills, Backache, Nervous Debility

The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORCE, } A. L. FORCE
Editors and Proprietors.

FIDELITY.

There is no grander trait of personal character than that of uncompromising fidelity to hon-sly formed convictions of right. Such loyalty on the part of an individual is the source of both strength and success.

That public man who spurns political chicanery, and resolutely advocates openly avowed principles and measures solely for the sake of their own intrinsic merits, must and will win enlarged popular favor, because the people can safely repose confidence in him.

Grover Cleveland is a marked example of such a noble man.

When he announced through Congress to the people of the United States, in language that could not be misconstrued, matured views regarding tariff reformation, some timid members of his own party thought he had made a political mistake.

He did not make a mistake.

Time has fully confirmed the wisdom of his judgment and action. Tariff reform is now demanded by an overwhelming majority of his fellow-countrymen, including the Democratic party as a unit.

Again, when he bravely advocated a sound financial policy, a co-equal honorable coin currency, doubling past issues imagined that he had clouded his future prospects.

He did not then make a mistake.

The political sky grew brighter and brighter until the eighth day of November, when the beams of victory shone in splendor for him and his principles from centre to circumference of the American Union.

He has the courage of his convictions and no human power can drive him from the position.

"I believe that the President-elect will see and act upon the wisdom of justice, peace and good will alike to the white and colored people in the South. I am sure that he will give no support or encouragement to lawless violence anywhere. I say this because I know the man, and that he stands high above the meanness that would strike down, and because they are weak, unpopular and defenceless."—Fred. Douglass, Republican.

"The provisions of financial and industrial disaster or ruin, following Democratic victory, which are still being made by bigoted, or ignorant, or reckless partisans, are according to support these, they are as untrustworthy as were the campaign predictions of Republican success which were so confidently made upon premises which have been proved false and mortifyingly false."—Philadelphia Ledger, Republican.

No relief from unjust exactions can be assured while the present Republican Executive and Senate hold sway but the country is scourged by the fraud of palming worldly trash on the people and calling it wool will be suppressed, along with kindred impositions.

Democrats had no expectations of carrying Ohio and California and did not exert themselves towards that end, yet both those States came sigh-tumbling at the polls the enslaving of Harrison.

"The fraud of the McKinley Bill on the poor through their shoddy blankets alone contains moral guilt enough to fill one of the biggest penitentiaries in the country with malefactors."—Evening Post.

"If the Republican party is to win any victories in the future it must drop McKinleyism immediately and permanently and send all the men who cling to it to the rear."—St. Louis Globe, Republican.

"Who frew dat brick at our G. O. P.", Sam Jones indignantly exclaimed to Napoleon McKinley—"was it you?"

"Twas not me, so sirree,
Do not ask my Carnegie."

President-elect Cleveland has intimated that he will not consider applications for office until after his inauguration. It is a wise conclusion.

New Jersey this year about doubles the plurality given Grover Cleveland in 1888. Her Democracy is adamantine. It cannot be bruised.

Cleveland and Stevenson would have been elected without the 36 electoral votes of New York. Note that 'ye Republican prophets.

Republican smoke in the Plainfield Block chimneys and vessels what? Essoles returns from all over the land make answer.

The meeting in Philadelphia between Brother Wanamaker and Brother Martin was mournfully affectionate.

Pay up your bets, gentlemen, and the best time don't place so much confidence in political boodle and boodlers.

McKinley adheres to his tariff bill, but the people have cut loose from McKinley.

Free wool heads the Democratic tariff reform programme.

The Tammany tiger is not dangerous, but very keen-eyed.

Those Re Great Talks.

Again this winter there will be given in the Y. M. C. A. rooms a series of practical talks to the young men of the city by prominent professional and business men of the city. Franklin S. Smith, the educational member of the High school, will give four talks on the subject "The Elements of the Ancients", which were Earth, Air, Water and Fire. The first of these talks will be given Thursday evening of this week, Dec. 1, and will be illustrated by specimens, experiments and lantern slides. Mr. Smith is a very interesting speaker and it is hoped that the young men of the city will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing him. The attendance will be free.

Importance of an Ex-Champion.

Athletes and other who take ordinary outdoor exercise should be troubled with no digestive rising, flatulency, constipation, etc., as they are just the ones to avoid such troubles. The experience of an ex-champion pedestrian will be given to all who are afflicted. Harry Brooks writes:

NEW YORK, April 2, 1892.

"Hop-o-mint stomach tablets to be the source of inhuman pleasure having been brought to my attention, I take this opportunity to state that I have used ALLCOCK'S PORous PLASTERS for over twenty years and prefer them to any other kind. I would both recommend that I was troubled with pain in the back of the kidneys and attribute my recovery entirely to ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS.

I have been troubled with catarrh for 25 years and have tried almost everything without relief. I purchased a bottle of ELY'S CREAM BALM and before I had used it two days I found relief coming. I have used it for a few weeks and am entirely cured. I can recommend it to all sufferers.

Ely's Cream Balm is worth its weight in gold to me. I have been troubled with catarrh for 25 years and have tried almost everything without relief. I purchased a bottle of ELY'S CREAM BALM and before I had used it two days I found relief coming. I have used it for a few weeks and am entirely cured. I can recommend it to all sufferers.

Ely's Cream Balm is worth its weight in gold to me.

WHAT KIND OF WORK IS THIS?

Pastry Methods of the Present City Clerk—Intimation that He Deserted the Temperance People So that They Are Shut Out of Their Official Ballots.

The city clerk in his correspondence to a New York paper this morning, absolutely says:

"Next Tuesday the Plainfield city election will be held. It was discovered by the city clerk that the petitions filed by the Prohibitionists were not in conformity with the New Jersey ballot law, and the petitions were returned to the party. The petitions can be presented, however, and will be voted on as a matter of courtesy."

This is the city clerk's side of the case. What the temperance people think about the matter is shown in the following letter:

THE PETITION LAW A FREE-SUFFRAGE KILLER.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE PRESS:—The petition law robs thousands of voters in our State from voting their principles; for the fact that there is not one voter in one hundred knows how a petition should be made out according to law, especially in the rural districts and towns, and even in the cities. In order that the temperance people desired a temperance or prohibition ticket put in the field for our city election, and one was expected. There was not a lawyer in the party, but the members were told that they must make their nominations and get it out of the number of voters required to sign and send at the last election to sign the petition to make the nomination a legal ticket. The president of the town committee was chairman of the committee appointed to make the nominations and the petitions filled in each ward. I took one for the Third ward and had no difficulty in getting it filled, and took it to the city clerk by one if it was satisfactory. He said it would be necessary to have the street and number of each signer's residence in each ward where I lived if we had a full list for any candidate's name without his consent. He said not. I immediately wrote to Mr. Dykstra, who was away, and got the one-half dozen names and residences, and filled out object. The name of street and num-ber to each petitioner was obtained, and I presented it to the city clerk to see if the petition was satisfactory. He said he "did not see why it was not". I then returned the petition to the chairman, so that the other wards' petitions might be made out in the same way. They were all filled accordingly. Mr. Longer, vice president of the league, took all the petitions to the clerk on Saturday, and the 30th inst. He raised no objections to the petitions. Mr. Longer made inquiry as to what he would receive for printing the tickets, etc., but it was not decided at that time, as I understand it; but he said he should commence printing tickets for the Republican and Democratic first. Democratic second, and Prohibition third; so I understood Mr. Longer. Mr. Longer was further to see after the ticket matter. We heard nothing from the matter until Monday about noon, when I received a note from the clerk requesting me to call at his office that day, as there was some irregularity about the tickets I called near 2 o'clock, but did not find him in. I left word that the notice should have been sent to Mr. Longer, as I had no jurisdiction in the matter. I went to Mr. Longer's house, but did not find him; but finally found him at Mr. Hall's office, and informed him that I was immediately went to the clerk's office to see what was the trouble. The clerk told me that the petitions were filed in time to have the affidavits of five of the petitioners attached, of each ward, and a certificate of every city candidate of their acceptance attached to all the ward tickets, and all the ward candidates their certificates to their several wards. This was an unexpected demand; and Mr. Longer could not very much time we could have to correct the applications, and he said it closed his office at 6:30 o'clock, and the time would be up. As this was only for notice, I suggested to Mr. Longer, whether we could have until the next noon, for which there were the best to be printed; that we would have the tickets ready, and we could not have until midnight. This was refused, and we were left to about 2½ hours. We called on a lawyer to see if we could not get petitions filed for the candidates and petitioners were scattered all over the city, and some in New York. He thought we could not accomplish the thing desired, and we gave it up. I charge no intentional wrong on anyone; but let everyone judge for himself. If I have made any statement in this communication, I wish to be corrected. I thought the public would desire an explanation why there was no temperance ticket put in the field. Hence I write.

P. S. The petitions were in on time; we only asked for a chance for correction. E. L.

THE PRICE OF COAL.

President McLeod Says He Could n't Increase It If He Wanted To.

The Congress sub-committee which is investigating the Reading combine met in the chamber of the United States Court of Appeals at 11 o'clock at Philadelphia Tuesday morning.

President McLeod of the Reading, called as the first witness, was then asked whether, to furnish the sub-committee with rates on anthracite coal to New England points that are reached by the Poughkeepsie Bridge route, as that is the shortest water and rail rates may be compared. He was asked if the monthly circular of the Reading Coal and Iron Company was issued by him. He replied that the demand for coal made the prices. Mr. Bonsh of New York, counsel of the committee, then asked:

"Is it a part of your policy to make any further advance in the price of coal?"

"We regulate our business according to the conditions we find from month to month," said the witness. "We certainly have no intention of raising the price of coal for December."

"Why cannot January?"

"I could n't raise prices in January if I wanted to."

Mr. McLeod elaborated say co-operation toward the election of Reading directors in the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, and said that the close relations existed between the two roads.

Mr. McLeod further said that if there were no meeting to regulate the output of coal and every producer went to work to keep the channels of trade supplied, the result would be that the price would be reduced to the cost and the more powerful would continue and raise the price of coal. Many producers who were on the verge of bankruptcy were saved by the Reading management, Mr. McLeod continued, and should the output of coal be restricted to the demand there would be wages of miners on the Reading system are on a sliding scale—when prices advance wages advance.

Mr. McLeod did not know what the demand for coal and not the price regulates the output. It is the aim of the company to produce coal at the least cost and make profit. The coal business had been conducted at a loss. Prices are so fixed that they have been, and so, advantages have been made in consequence. The fact that the Reading Coal and Iron company had never paid a dividend, and that the Reading was kept up and running a reasonable profit on the price of coal.

"We want a reasonable profit," he said, "but we do not propose to go so far as to be very rich at the expense of the people."

WHEN WILL CUBA BE BUILT?

President Murray of the Y. M. C. A. Tells How the Japanese Set Plainfield an Example in the Matter of Erecting a Gymnasium Building.

The following interesting account of Physical Association Work" is from the pen of Wm. D. Murray, and appeared in a recent issue of the Young Men's Era:

Japan with an area of less than 150,000 square miles, and 41 per cent. of which is cultivated, has a population of over forty millions, five times that of when Perry in sixty-three days of thirty hours each forced open its doors to commerce with the same population. The same are about twenty-seven millions of whom about one-third are the same ambitious as we, but with them tremendous obstacles have been overcome. It, as we have heard Japan's young man my stand for help to-day.

In America we give as one reason for the establishment of the association for evil causes test that young men do not go to church; that reason has two-fold force here, and ground as to the opportunity of the young men of Christian households for speaking to the young men of Christian American doorways to the church, it is counted for in Japan. Not a single one has an opportunity, but a. Many are as reached through their desire to study English, the coming world language; many, I think, will be made Christians by attended boarding houses, harems is strips in a sea of rice. And so the cost of the work and the possibility of its being successfully prosecuted is all open to us, for issues not to be misunderstood, to do our part.

As everybody knows the International Committee has had a secretary in the field for some years, and it is about the work as well as about the native wor-ers that I wish to write. Of course, I saw our visit to a Young Men's Christian association given quite a different idea from we made in the working season; and, to-day I have seen some of the best-looking young men in the country. In the year that I say many same substantial interest on the part of some in the young men of Japan.

Associations existed in Japan before the International Committee and its agent here. Two of these associations I have had the pleasure of visiting. One was at Uagiya, an inland city, on the Tokaido railway and the other in the suburbs of Sendai, a city of 100,000 inhabitants, stopping out of the Japanese hotel, in which we had passed a most uncomfortable night, we were whisked away by the willing crowd, and taken to a modest one-story Japanese house. There a three small rooms we found the Uagiya Young Men's Christian Association. Before we drove we took off our shoes, as is customary, and as I did so I could not out think of Ex. xxi, 5, "Put off thy shoes from off thy feet, for the place whereon thou standest is holy ground." Sound at so low table in the front room were a number of young men reading the Bible or praying. In the back room was a small library, and between the two was a sort of general room. One of the members, who is the librarian, has given much time to this association and it is now successful and self-supporting.

A few days later I visited the association of Osaka, a city of half a million people. Here is the first association building erected in Japan. Organized in 1881, they started a building canvass in 1883. Helped by contributions from individuals in England, Australia and America, and by missionaries and native laborers, they raised about $5,000. Then on the second day of August 15, 1883 and on November 3, 1885, a day of joy to all loyal Japanese, the Emperor's birthday, they dedicated their building. The building, which has exalted an influence for good, 300 only in Osaka but in other cities also, is not like our association buildings. It is really a gymnasium, 40 feet from 1,300 to 1,500 people. Built of brick, trimmed with stone, with its stone Sittin, iron shutters, it is not that extreme beauty which we think so necessary in cities to one side of the hall stands the reading room and janitor's quarters in a wing of the building. The association has two good officers, Mr. Miyagawa, one is an Ems note head, the president, and Mr. Kabagawa, a government employe, Secretary. Mr. Miyagawa, the latter I spent a pleasant evening listening to the story of their work. They have 180 members—none dues are ten sen (seven cents) a month. They usually have a lecture or address on the abolition of licensed prostitutes; they hold occasional prayer meetings and fall meetings. Not long ago they received a letter from the mayor of the city thanking them for sending books and papers to the city prison. They are also supported and one of the officers visited me that the association has done everything in protecting among the churches that harmony and unity of action which was so necessary in the midst of a fee strong and aggressive.

Then far, about the work outside of Tokyo, to which city the efforts of the International Committee have been largely confined. A few days ago Mr. Miller and I got into Jinrikishas and inspected the plant of the Tokyo association. Across the river, in Mandel City, we were landed at the house, a little back from the street, where the association has opened a reading room and library. Started in January of this year, it has always been full. Here the men are under Christian influences, helpful talks are given, evening prayers are conducted, and the social atmosphere is made to help towards a higher life. It has the honor of being the first Christian boarding house in Japan. But the best place of the work is the gymnasium to my before I close. The best at one time had practically closed the work for lack of association, but was revived by Mr. Harris.

The building now occupied has a five modest rooms, upstairs and down, library, reading room and class room on the first floor, and dormitory above. The gymnasium is a room of about 40 feet square, and the room is filled with apparatus, including a running track around the edge. The association has a membership of 200, and is doing a good work. Mr. Harris is a graduate of Amherst College, and is a man of fine spirit and great promise. Should he remain in Japan he will be a power for good.

Mr. Harris was residing a block away from the building and I was entertained and Mrs. Harris was entertained and Mrs. Harris was entertained and Mrs. Harris

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION

J. A. DEMAREST - - City Editor.

—Judge, get out your gun.

—There are 20 prisoners in the county jail at Somerville.

—Don Williams rolled 230 on the Crescent alleys Thursday afternoon.

—Quite a Movie will open its last repertoire in this city, next week. Don't miss his farewell.

—Carl Reimerdes took one I. and three 21 prizes for Great Danes, at the Bronx Dog show that closed Saturday night.

—J. Howard Leggett is receiving orders for a big lot of fresh Huylers' candies especially for Christmas. Hand in your order now. The goods will be made up especially for you.

—A number of seats have been sold in New York people for the Mount Company here [illegible] event at the Academy of Music, and the company may not appear in New York before their departure around the world.

—J. Lisle has secured the sole agency in this city for the Bartholomay brewing company's Rochester, its celebrated Bohemian and Archers for family and table use. All grocers have at prices to suit and are assorted for inferior grades.

—Elm street is one of the oldest thoroughfares in town, yet it has never been properly flagged. Residents of the neighborhood cattle [illegible] the councilmen to the district for not making improvement. One citizen there says he attends the councilman See only two blocks away.

—Don't get cross when a Republican offers to bet that four months after Cleveland's inauguration the stores and shops of the country will be closed. Just wait your chance and remember that you offered to make the bet after the inauguration the country will be celebrating Independence Day.

—Now that they have nominated Ulrich, they are going to knife him. A prominent Republican in the county is that such discipline is the best for the party. He holds that such differences should be settled in primary and caucus, and that all should stand by the ticket when made.

—Harold Roppelyea homestead, two miles from New Brunswick, was destroyed by fire Sunday night. The house is said was built in 1709. The building was of oak and the foundation stones were hauled from the Raritan river. A yoke of oxen could be driven through the hall. It was a big house.

—G. R. Musgrove, the record-handling furniture deal r of Thorn's block, Somerset street, is meeting with such success as an honest dealer in his new store, that he is compelled to take a larger store to display his goods. He has moved into the store at 39 Somerset street, formerly occupied by Lippincott.

—The Union County Athletic club is a new organization formed for the perpetuation of manly sports. It has rented rooms in the Steele building, Park avenue and Front street, and will welcome all respectable young mechanics to membership. Next Tuesday is meeting night. These fond of light gymnastics and boxing should attend.

—The seven-year-old son of Henry Rock, sexton of the M. E church at Somerville, and his fourteen-year-old sister, while passing in front of Fredin's grocery in Summit, Sunday, were both shot by some unknown person. A quantity of bird shot entered the boy's face, completely blinding his left eye, and the girl was shot in the leg.

—It is n't true, the story of the Courier that sergeant Lynch had a head bitten by a drunken negro and was in danger of death from blood poisoning. The big man only scraped the skin off his knuckle against a wall. It's an ordinary scratch, and he is n't going to die from it. The life insurance companies are all cleared. If you see it in the Courier, you can't believe it till it's verified.

—The suit of Newhall against Moore before Justice Hendrickson and a jury Friday morning, was won by counselor McClure for the defendant. Newhall sued for rent that he claimed after Moore left his (Newhall's) house. Justice charged for Newhall but the jury found for Moore Newhall has appealed the case to the higher court to be tried before three judges at Elizabeth at the next term.

—As was to be expected, the Courier valiantly takes up the cudgel for John W. Murray. It has to fight for the ring and all its supporters, no matter if it wants to or not. But as was further to be expected it has not a word to say to the nomination on the city ticket who is fighting the ring and who only by a combination has defeated the ring candidate for nomination. That nominee already knows of several sources of treachery. He need not be surprised to find more treachery at the hands of the ring organ.

The Next Night of Fun at Music Hall.

Brinkley Stillwell's "Phoenix" will present the musical extravaganza "Our Goblins" at Music Hall on Friday evening next. This is the oldest and one of the best of Stillwell's productions of the season. It is sort of a romantic and musical fair, and is calculated to cool and refresh tired minds. "Our Goblins" will be presented by a cast of thirty-five performers, among the members of which are Mrs George P. Knight, whom everybody knows, Richard F. Carroll, late of the New York Casino, William Stinchell, formerly principal comedian of the Pauline Hall Opera company, Miss Annie Southerland, Miss Clara Lathrop and others.

One thing the management desires to say in connection with the presentation; the skit is more coherent than the "Brook" of "Trouville," of the early part of that class. The entertainment includes of all the latest and most popular airs of the day. Certainly such an organization as this, is sufficiently capable to make an evening pass away pleasantly. Seats are now on sale.

A Good Wooden Head Will Be Welcomed Back to Plainfield's Chief.

The New York World says that "The candidates for the Union county jail war assembly are so many that there will be quite a scramble for the places, and it may be that their bitter rivalry will result in the retention of the present warden, Charles Dodd, who has made the best of Sheriff in the place that the jail ever had. Mr. Dodd was for ten years Chief of Police in Plainfield, where he proved a most competent officer, and nothing but his pointed would prevent him being his own successor as jail warden. Some of the Democratic freeholders, it is said, are much in favor of making a change, in view of the strike now rapidly for Warden Dodd's job."

Knocked Out His Playmate's Tooth.

Master Charley Dedrick, son of O. G. Dedrick of Manning avenue, was struck in the mouth by a comrade's "shinney" stick, Saturday, and had two t eth broken out.

Arranging for Christmas.

The Christmas programme at Grace church will be as follows:

Christmas Day—Holy communion, 7:30 a. m. Morning prayer, sermon and Holy Communion, 10:30 a. m.; hymns 46, 51, 57, 58, 61. Morning prayer, 4:30 p. m.; hymns 39, 52, 54, 56, 60. Sunday, December 24, 3rd Sunday in Advent; 10:30, Morning prayer, sermon and Holy Communion; 12 m., Intercessory Day; Holy Communion, 10 a. m.; children's festival, 2:30 and 7:30 p. m.

Daily evening prayer, 5:30 p. m.

PERSONALIA.

Miss Phillips of Jersey City is visiting friends in Plainfield.

Mr. Vernon S. Hoge's grandchild is recovering nicely from her serious illness.

David Drake has gone to Boston to visit his aunt, Mrs. Newman, for the winter.

Miss Carrie Mole of Prospect, L. I., spent Thanksgiving with Miss Kittie Gillson of Somerset street.

T. B. Kinmon, of this city, has been granted a patent for an electrical device described as an insulating chair for rails

Howard Tripp, formerly of this city, but now of Bingham, Potter & Fielding's law corps at his old home, 342 South Second street.

Mr. Hamilton of Seattle has been added to New York people for the Mount Company here [illegible] event at the Academy of Music, and the company may not appear in New York before their departure around the world.

—J. Lisle has secured the sole agency in this city for the Bartholomay brewing company's Rochester, its celebrated Bohemian and Archers for family and table use. All grocers have at prices to suit and are assorted for inferior grades.

—Elm street is one of the oldest thoroughfares in town, yet it has never been properly flagged. Residents of the neighborhood cattle [illegible] the councilmen to the district for not making improvement. One citizen there says he attends the councilman See only two blocks away.

—Don't get cross when a Republican offers to bet that four months after Cleveland's inauguration the stores and shops of the country will be closed. Just wait your chance and remember that you offered to make the bet after the inauguration the country will be celebrating Independence Day.

—Now that they have nominated Ulrich, they are going to knife him. A prominent Republican in the county is that such discipline is the best for the party. He holds that such differences should be settled in primary and caucus, and that all should stand by the ticket when made.

—Harold Roppelyea homestead, two miles from New Brunswick, was destroyed by fire Sunday night. The house is said was built in 1709. The building was of oak and the foundation stones were hauled from the Raritan river. A yoke of oxen could be driven through the hall. It was a big house.

—G. R. Musgrove, the record-handling furniture deal r of Thorn's block, Somerset street, is meeting with such success as an honest dealer in his new store, that he is compelled to take a larger store to display his goods. He has moved into the store at 39 Somerset street, formerly occupied by Lippincott.

—The Union County Athletic club is a new organization formed for the perpetuation of manly sports. It has rented rooms in the Steele building, Park avenue and Front street, and will welcome all respectable young mechanics to membership. Next Tuesday is meeting night. These fond of light gymnastics and boxing should attend.

—The seven-year-old son of Henry Rock, sexton of the M. E church at Somerville, and his fourteen-year-old sister, while passing in front of Fredin's grocery in Summit, Sunday, were both shot by some unknown person. A quantity of bird shot entered the boy's face, completely blinding his left eye, and the girl was shot in the leg.

—It is n't true, the story of the Courier that sergeant Lynch had a head bitten by a drunken negro and was in danger of death from blood poisoning. The big man only scraped the skin off his knuckle against a wall. It's an ordinary scratch, and he is n't going to die from it. The life insurance companies are all cleared. If you see it in the Courier, you can't believe it till it's verified.

—The suit of Newhall against Moore before Justice Hendrickson and a jury Friday morning, was won by counselor McClure for the defendant. Newhall sued for rent that he claimed after Moore left his (Newhall's) house. Justice charged for Newhall but the jury found for Moore Newhall has appealed the case to the higher court to be tried before three judges at Elizabeth at the next term.

—As was to be expected, the Courier valiantly takes up the cudgel for John W. Murray. It has to fight for the ring and all its supporters, no matter if it wants to or not. But as was further to be expected it has not a word to say to the nomination on the city ticket who is fighting the ring and who only by a combination has defeated the ring candidate for nomination. That nominee already knows of several sources of treachery. He need not be surprised to find more treachery at the hands of the ring organ.

The Next Night of Fun at Music Hall.

Brinkley Stillwell's "Phoenix" will present the musical extravaganza "Our Goblins" at Music Hall on Friday evening next. This is the oldest and one of the best of Stillwell's productions of the season. It is sort of a romantic and musical fair, and is calculated to cool and refresh tired minds. "Our Goblins" will be presented by a cast of thirty-five performers, among the members of which are Mrs George P. Knight, whom everybody knows, Richard F. Carroll, late of the New York Casino, William Stinchell, formerly principal comedian of the Pauline Hall Opera company, Miss Annie Southerland, Miss Clara Lathrop and others.

One thing the management desires to say in connection with the presentation; the skit is more coherent than the "Brook" of "Trouville," of the early part of that class. The entertainment includes of all the latest and most popular airs of the day. Certainly such an organization as this, is sufficiently capable to make an evening pass away pleasantly. Seats are now on sale.

A Good Wooden Head Will Be Welcomed Back to Plainfield's Chief.

The New York World says that "The candidates for the Union county jail war assembly are so many that there will be quite a scramble for the places, and it may be that their bitter rivalry will result in the retention of the present warden, Charles Dodd, who has made the best of Sheriff in the place that the jail ever had. Mr. Dodd was for ten years Chief of Police in Plainfield, where he proved a most competent officer, and nothing but his pointed would prevent him being his own successor as jail warden. Some of the Democratic freeholders, it is said, are much in favor of making a change, in view of the strike now rapidly for Warden Dodd's job."

Knocked Out His Playmate's Tooth.

Master Charley Dedrick, son of O. G. Dedrick of Manning avenue, was struck in the mouth by a comrade's "shinney" stick, Saturday, and had two t eth broken out.

Arranging for Christmas.

The Christmas programme at Grace church will be as follows:

Christmas Day—Holy communion, 7:30 a. m. Morning prayer, sermon and Holy Communion, 10:30 a. m.; hymns 46, 51, 57, 58, 61. Morning prayer, 4:30 p. m.; hymns 39, 52, 54, 56, 60. Sunday, December 24, 3rd Sunday in Advent; 10:30, Morning prayer, sermon and Holy Communion; 12 m., Intercessory Day; Holy Communion, 10 a. m.; children's festival, 2:30 and 7:30 p. m.

Daily evening prayer, 5:30 p. m.

FREIGHT HOUSE TO GO.

WITHIN A YEAR A PAVILION WILL OCCUPY ITS SITE.

New Tracks Will Be Laid Out on Richmond Street and on Second Avenue, and the Old Yard Will Be Made a Handsome Park.

From The Press of November 30.

The Press is permitted to announce the complete and satisfactory settlement of a question that has not only been determined, but already plans for the changes to be made about the site of the present depot, which, when completed, will be one of the handsomest depots in the country. The people will be glad to know that the old freight house is to be removed and that the space it now occupies will be converted into a beautiful park. The new depot will be built on the present site of the freight house, and the tracks will be changed so that they will run on Richmond street and on Second avenue, and the old yard will be made a handsome park.

The plans for the changes and improvements have been prepared by Engineer Berrell, and the plans are now under the consideration of the officials of the company. The plans will be submitted to the city authorities in a few days, and it is expected that the work will be commenced in the spring.

The new depot will be a handsome structure, and will be one of the finest depots in the state. It will be built of brick and stone, and will be a credit to the city. The present depot is a disgrace to the city, and the sooner it is removed the better it will please the people

VALUABLE DOGS.

The National Greyhound Club's Greatest Kennel Exhibition.

One Thousand of the Finest Animals in Canada and the United States—Bathos and His Great Record—All Breeders Will Be Represented.

(COPYRIGHT, 1892.)

Brooklyn's first kennel show, to be held in the Clermont Avenue Rink from the 22d to the 27th of the present month, under the auspices of the National Greyhound club, promises greater attractions than any other similar affair preceding event in this country.

The entries, comprising over one thousand dogs of almost every species, will include rare novelties of native breed and recently-imported kinds, and there will be splendid representations from various parts of the United States and Canada. Over five thousand dollars in prize cups, medals and trophies will be awarded. The list includes one hundred and thirty regular classes, besides some specialties. The most elaborate arrangements have been perfected for presenting the exhibits to the best advantage, and neither pains nor expense have been spared to make complete success to the enterprise.

Among the special prizes offered are a silver cup by Mr. Lorillard Spencer for the best American bred fox terrier; a cup by the American Coursing club for the best American greyhound with a coursing record; a challenge cup by Dr. M. H. Cryer for your breeders' class; a cup by American Kennel club for the best beagle; a magnificent challenge cup by Henry Hellmann for the best English setter-dog; a beautiful challenge cup by Norman L. Munro for the best greyhound, a cup by the Seminole Kennel club for the best Irish setter; three handsome medals by the Collie club for the best three collies, and four medals by the St. Bernard club.

BULLDOG BATHOS.

The National Greyhound club offers numerous prizes of medals, trophies and cash. W. J. Popp offers twenty-five dollars for the best greyhound dog. Roger Williams offers a fine silver goblet for the best dog puppy in the Russian wolfhound class. The Great Dane club, the Westminster Kennel club, the New Rochelle club, the American Spaniel club, the Bulldog club, and Mr. Clinton Willoughby severally offer a number of attractive prizes.

Among the prominent attractions presented will be a string of twenty-two dogs of new importation, entered from the Hempstead Farm kennels. Mr. Traher Burden will also send his celebrated bull terriers from the Rittner kennels. A string of performing dogs will be presented during the afternoon and evening entertainments.

Of the other canine celebrities that will grace the occasion may be mentioned the champion, Rosenbrook Maiden, and Broomfield Bellan, both of the black and tan species, from the

1. PUG HARRY LACY. 2. FASCINATION.

New Rochelle kennels; the magnificent and peerless imported Modjeska, of the Russian wolfhound species, from the Marlborough (L. I.) kennels; a pair of spaniel, Tamah, owned by Mrs. Serron, of New York; the dachshunde, Jack, from the Homestead Farm kennels; the bulldog, Bathos, owned by John H. Mathews, besides a long list of others of numerous specialties, all severally and respectively possessing merits and attractions, and the loan of which to their particular cities, the entire lot aggregating more than two hundred and fifty thousand dollars. The most famous of the choice breeds and of those who have established a reputation among admirers of the breed it is difficult to accord particular preeminence, but mention may be made of the following: The black cocker spaniel champion, Fascination, born June 30, 1891, for which Mr. Sells paid 1,000 kennels, Walker house, Toronto. His muzzle is nicely shaped in profile, his skull is beautifully modeled; his dark, lovely eyes, ears beautifully shaped, and small set neck strong and clean cut, capital shoulders, straight back and powerful loin; bones, legs and feet are exquisite and his motion easy and graceful. He has won the following prizes: First in open black dogs, New York, 1892; the same in Philadelphia, 1892; also the first in puppy class Philadelphia, 1892, the same in Boston, Pittsburgh, Washington and Toronto.

RUBY ALDRICH, (FIRST SETTER).

Another excellent specimen is the greyhound Lord Neverstill, the property of the Woodhaven kennels, whose record is as follows: Lord Neverstill, First special for best dog in show, Chicago, 1891; first, Chicago, 1892; Special, for best dog in show, Chicago, 1892; first, Denver, 1892. Lord Neverstill, by Lord Neverstille — Parepa, the granddaughter of Lord Neverstill, has long been exhibited but three times, and winning all three classes, and among others having twice defeated champion Gem of the season.

The splendid bulldog Bathos, owned by John H. Matthews, by A. Briton's Beast, out of Nimble Ninepence, was winner, first, New York and Lynn, 1891, and first, New York, 1892. The white-haired fox terrier Bobbie is par excellence the greatest living representative of his class in the United States, and is owned by E. F. Hoyt. He was whelped in 1884, by Brisk, out of Vosch; brother, Mr. Manager; sire of Brittany — Wire woman of first prize, New York, 1892.

GREYHOUND LORD NEVERSTILL.

The beautiful Irish setter Ruby Gleneora, from Gleneora and Tara kennels, by Tara, owned by A. L. Van Emburgh, winner of first, New York, 1887, fourth, New York, 1891. She is one of the most symmetrical, brilliant and robust specimens of her kind, and never fails to attract most admiration wherever exhibited.

It is almost impossible to do justice to the premier specimens of the Bench Show dog show in this paragraphic description. The accommodations, facilities for exhibition of the thousands of dogs, their [illegible] and every profusion and care assure to the public the highest degree of pleasure and refinement.

The preliminary classification of this exceptional occasion is the fact that it is an innovation upon the amateur "classic" class of the C'ity of Gotham, and the members of the Nelson Greyhound club have made extraordinary efforts to render an event of such brilliant interest to the best class of responsible sporting people. Not only are the entries very numerous, but the exhibits and entries of specimen exhibits will probably exceed that of all previous bench shows, no even excepting those of New York.

FOX TERRIER BRUTUS.

The various classes will include the following: Mastiffs, St. Bernards, great Danes, pugs, poke dogs, bloodhounds, deerhounds, greyhounds, Russian wolfhounds, Chesapeake Bay dogs, pointers, foxhounds, English Irish, Gordon and Scotch setters, spaniels, collies, poodles, bulldogs, bull terriers, dachshunds, beagles, fox terriers, dandi monts, skye, black-and-tan, Yorkshire and toy terriers, pugs, toy spaniels, Italian greyhounds, Japanese spaniels and a very large list of miscellaneous kinds.

Murder Does Not Always Out.

The old adage that "murder will out" is, after all, more or less of a fiction. Scores of murders go unpunished every year throughout the civilized world largely for lack of proof against the murderers. The number of civilian who are open to criminals as well as to officers. It is possible for a murderer to commit his crime and then be whisked hundreds of miles away before the deed is discovered. He knows just what methods will be used to assess his nature, and he may have planned how to outwit such attempts before they are made. Murder is often, and even usually, discovered and punished, but there are many such crimes that have had no explanation, and it is possible that the Fall River tragedy may be one of these.—Boston Advertiser.

Dame Fashion's Shortcomings.

The necessity which women seem to be under to have something preposterous and deforming in their dress, was never better illustrated by anything —not even by crinoline—than it is by this incoming style of dress which makes women all shoulders. Six inches of waist diameter surmounted by a yard of shoulders is not a whit less ridiculous than a little body sticking up out of the summit of a mountain of skirts, and will not be regarded as less ridiculous by the judgment of an impartial posterity. And this we are to have at a time when people of taste of both sexes were congratulating themselves that women's dress was at last beginning to obey the obvious inspiration of nature, and follow, in a general way at least, the lines of the formal—Boston Transcript.

Had Heard of It.

Teacher—What is a reservoir?

City Boy (who hears a good deal)—It's a place where they keep bad water. —Good News.

Cause of Fire.

Mrs. Jones—Is your

Bad Boy—Yes, pa's real

Good Boy—Well—I love your enemies. —Truth.

WOMAN OF FASHION.

A Rival of the Empire Makes Its Appearance.

What Will Perhaps Supersede the Empire Altogether—Endless Variety—Very Pretty Coats Described—The Diversity in Sleeves.

(COPYRIGHT, 1892.)

Did you say that empire was the style? Did you say that everything which comes from Paris or from the great London modistes has an empire touch, either of the First, under Josephine, with low-cut, short-waisted bodice, or of the Second, under Eugenia, a la crinoline.

But what would you say if you heard that the empire revival was to be only very short-lived; that it was soon so to be superseded by the mists of 1830; that even now Paris had declared herself in favor of it because she thinks it a graceful "go-between," a style that has all the beauties of both and the extravagances of neither, a little tantalizing—don't you think so—to discover that your newest gown, cut in the very latest fashion, as you supposed, is about to be followed by another which will usurp its place?

Well, don't! Don't cast off your pretty new gown. It will take a long while for this style to become old fashioned and there is such a difference between the old and the new that you will be wise in only getting the latter, and perhaps those of us who are on this side of the water will still cling to our gowns a bit, for there's a good deal of independence even in the matter of dress about the American woman, and a favorite style will often linger long after it has been declared old-fashioned.

This was shown more strikingly exemplified than in the matter of the bell skirt. Long after Worth and Felix had practically abandoned it it reigned supreme, and has could find scarcely a single gown that was not a bell skirt. At present that had not a bell skirt. At present the bell, when it is used, is drawn just as tightly over the hips, but flares much wider at the feet.

The trimming of skirts grows daily. You can watch it creeping further and further up. Just at present it reaches the knees, and shall it go higher?

There is still, however, much more attention paid to the corsage than to the skirt of a gown. I saw a remarkably pretty one to-day on a young girl. It was quite elaborate for the almost plain skirt, that had only a deep band of bronze at the edge. The bodice had a white satin front, with a full little velvet bell beneath it, the whole under a loop of ribbon. Over the front was a jacket of bronze cloth, heavily embroidered in narrow braid, bronze braid, and edged with beaver. There was also a band of embroidery on the upper part of the back, and one of fur above. The sleeves were quite short—four, puffs to the elbow of this cloth, then a deep frill of ruffles, embroidered and edged with fur.

A pretty dress, also bodice that I saw to-day was of dark green velvet, embroidered with black silk spots, and had a white bell sleeve with heavy black lace ruffles. Over the shoulders was a [illegible] of white [illegible] and every profusion but open enough to show the white satin front that was almost completely covered by a large bow in black velvet. The effect was very pretty, and not bad simply, a cut on the style of the bell.

I saw another bodice intended for a very young girl. It was all white and green, which is a particularly popular combination this season, especially for evening wear. This was white gauze with green velvet sleeves, green gauze with a quantity of white spots in the shape of a shamrock. It was remarkably pretty combination, and has another advantage—that of coming in two pieces for separate use. Women who have not the best of alibis can wear it to-night.

The bell sleeve is made of a fine, white material, and had a colored white bell, as well as a large square yoke of white. Over the yoke was a bolero, elaborately covered with exquisite green embroidery, done in fine stitches. The color was the same as that used for the embroidery went around the plain, lower sleeve.

Pretty, fanciful coats, to slip over dress fronts or plain bodices, are growing very popular. A very pretty one is made of black velours, and is trimmed with beaver. The vest fronts are cut down into narrow points that fall just below the full white belt of the same material. These fronts are edged with fur, which also runs around the neck, and two large velvet buttons are fastened at either side.

Some delicious ones are made in white or pale colored satins or brocades, and have short, wide-open fronts, full with lapels, and occasionally a little short pointed piece following over the top of the arm in lieu of a sleeve. They are particularly pretty in the light dancing materials.

Let me tell you of another ballet for evening wear. It is cut quite low and round. It is made of heavy green silk and has a pretty gathering of green silk around the low cut neck. The ruffle on is a bow at the front. There are short, green velvet puffs for sleeves, and a green velvet belt.

What a wonderful revolution the sleeve has undergone, has it not? When we compare the plain, tight-fitting one of a few years back, that had nothing to redeem it from absolute plainness, to the one

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.
E. L. PRICE & A. L. PRICE, Editors and Proprietors.
AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.
TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXV. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1892. No 44.

"Support the Constitution, which is the cement of the Union, as well in its limitations as in its authorities"—Madison.

Rates of Advertising

SPACE.	1 WEEK	2 WEEKS	1 MONTH	2 MONTHS	3 MONTHS
1 in.	$0.75	$1.00	$1.50	$2.50	$3.50
2 in.	1.00	1.50	2.50	4.00	5.00
3 in.	1.50	2.00	3.00	5.00	7.00
4 in.	2.00	2.50	4.00	6.00	8.00
5 in.	2.50	3.00	5.00	7.00	9.00
6 in.	3.00	3.50	6.00	8.00	10.00
7 in.	3.50	4.00	7.00	9.00	11.00
8 in.	4.00	4.50	8.00	10.00	12.00
9 in.	4.50	5.00	9.00	11.00	13.00
10 in.	5.00	5.50	10.00	12.00	14.00
11 in.	5.50	6.00	11.00	13.00	15.00
12 in.	6.00	6.50	12.00	14.00	16.00

All Electro's must be solid metal.
Double rate, 50 per ct. additional of above rates.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

FACTOR & COUNSTON,
Counsellors-at-Law,
Commissioners to Depose, Notaries Public, Conveyancers, and Solicitors in Chancery. Office of Park counsel and Plainfield Bank.

GEORGE W. DAY,
Authorized Auctioneer,
Sales of Personal Property conducted. P. O. Box 713. Store, Front, between Second and Third. Rear 110 Second Street. Terms reasonable.

DR. CHARLES D. TERRY,
Dentist,
10 West Front Street. A new local anesthetic (not cocaine) for extracting teeth without pain. Gold filling a specialty.—tf-42

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VanArsdale,
PIANO TUNER.
Subscriptions will be promptly solicited. Terms low, satisfaction guaranteed. Orders left at Constitutionalist office, or addressed to residence, 21 Somerset street, Plainfield, N. J., will receive prompt attention. Reference, any one of the 2000 pianos tuned by P. P. VanArsdale, in Plainfield and vicinity.—tf-1

T. J. GILLIES,
actioneer & Real Estate Agent,
OFFICE AND SALESROOM—Sanford's Auction Store, 8 Somerset St.
Special attention to consignments.

John Chandler,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER.
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence and shop No. 34 East Third street. Jobbing promptly attended to. apl9

E. B. MAYNARD,
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 28 PARK AVENUE.
Ladies' and Child'ren's Hair Cutting done at their residence if desired. Shampooing, &c. Only skilful workmen employed. 17apr

CARNEY BROTHERS, Agents,
7 West Front St.
TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS.
PARLOR STOVES,
COOK STOVES,
HEATERS.
Grates and Mantels for all kinds of fires a one can be found here at lowest prices. Bring your Tin-ware mending to us. The Latest Tinware, for sale in Plainfield, and the best one-drawer in the market. We can draw out the very best of tin for turtals, and our work always gives satisfaction.
Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.
Tinware Made to Order.
Ranges, Brick and Portable Furnaces
SANITARY PLUMBING
Parlor Stoves,
Furnaces, Ranges,
Water Piping. Plumbing.
Heater Work. Tinning,
Hardware.
A. H. GRIFFEN,
18 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL. 6. 11-11-42

Beautiful Assortment!
Furniture!
Largest Assortment!
Best Goods!
Lowest Prices!
Ever Offered in Plainfield!
23, 25 and 27 PARK AVE.

Garret Q. Packer.
SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Stove Store.
I am prepared to do all of the above branches in the most thorough, workmanlike and first-class manner, and at the lowest possible prices. Parties desiring anything in my line will find it to their interest to call and see me before contracting elsewhere. Estimates cheerfully given. Shop, Front, between Somerset and Watchung Avenue. Residence, 10 Somerset street. Telephone connection.
W. W. LITTELL,
No. 2 North Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

MISCELLANEOUS.

FOR MALARIA,
GENERAL DEBILITY
AND
ALL STOMACH TROUBLES
COLES'
PERUVIAN BARK
AND
WILD CHERRY BITTERS
ARE THE BEST.
A Vegetable Substitute for Quinine.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
Price, 50 cents and $1.00 per Bottle.
D. P. COLES DRUG AND MFG. CO.
NEWARK, N. J.

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS,
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
IRONBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS.
BEST IN THE WORLD.
ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE

ESTABLISHED 18 C. S.
C.E. & J.W. RROWN,
(Successors to C. F. & C. E. Brown & Co.)
Importers, Wholesale and Retail Dealers in
WALL PAPER.
321 Canal Street,
NEW YORK.
English Tiles, Anaglypta, Lincrusta, Decorated Floor Papers, &c. Designs for Walls, Manufacturers of Window Shades.

LIVERY.

A. M. SEGUINE,
(Successor to John W. Laing.)
Laing's Hotel Stables

Front street, opposite Madison avenue.
Coaches for Weddings, Funerals and Private Parties. Light carriages at all descriptions for pleasure.
RIDING OR LIVERY.
Careful, safe drivers for shopping calls or sight-seeing. Special attention given to boarding horses by the day, week or month.—oct13y1
TELEPHONE CALL. NO. 32.

RICKERT'S
ACCOMMODATION EXPRESS.
OFFICE—Vanderbeek's Music Store, Park avenue. The Accommodation Express will attend to all orders promptly. Leave orders at the office or by telephone to attend to trunks to the depot, or from place to place.
Moving of Furniture, Pianos, &c., with care and safety.

INSURANCE.

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.

Fresh Garden Seeds
AND FERTILIZERS,
Farm and Garden Implements,
Lawn Mowers Refrigerators,
Ice Cream Freezers
Gasoline Stoves, Hardware, Tools, etc.
J. J. HEIDELOFF,
No. 19 SOMERSET ST. P.O. Box 1

GEORGE A. MOORE,
FOR THE NEW ERA, OF THIRTY YEARS.
Has taken the sole proprietorship of the old established
No. 14 NORTH AVENUE.
Where he will endeavor to supply patrons with the finest grades of
Fresh and Salt Meats,
also of all kinds, Oysters, Clams, Game in season. Everything was specially kept in stock. Satisfaction guaranteed.

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE
Hugo Weigman,
20 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

LEWIS E. CODDINGTON,
(Successor to T. C. CROSS.)
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—20 W. FRONT ST.
Large enclosed Vans for moving Furniture, Pianos, &c., with care. Orders left at 20 West Front street, or at residence, 20 Park avenue, will receive prompt attention. P. O. Box 1.

FOR SALE, SECOND HAND, &c.

H. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of and Dealer in
C. G. D. CIGAR.
The best cigar in the State, and made of the purest tobacco. Also manufacturer of HAVANA BLEND CIGARS A SPECIALTY.
Always on hand a large assortment of Key West, Domestic and Imported Cigars, Tobacco and Smokers' Materials.
Cigars delivered to any part of the city free of charge.

O. M. FINE,
DEALER IN HAVANA & DOMESTIC
—CIGARS!—
No. 18 PARK AVE., (NEXT DOOR TO RICHARDSON'S)
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Tobacco and Smokers' Materials.
Cheery Accommodation.

A. WOLFF,
Manufacturer of
CIGARS,
And Dealer in all kinds of Smoking and Chewing Tobacco, Snuff, Pipes and Smokers' articles. Cigars direct from 304 E. Front street, to all parts of the city, one door west of Second street. Orders solicited. Satisfaction guaranteed.

PAINTERS & PAINTERS' SUPPLIES
Paints, Varnishes, Glass.
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALL PAPERS!
PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY.
A. SWALM,
No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.
C. H. WOOLSTON. A. F. BUCKLE.
Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS,
Wall Papers,
AISTERS' SUPPLIES. 38 NORTH AVENUE

WHATEVER form of printed matter you require we can be of service to you; whether it be

Letter Headings,
Circulars,
Programmes Ballot Addressed,
Receipts,
By-Laws of Societies,
Constitutions and Reports of Financial Associations, or any other matter for Public or Private Circulation,
Everything.

WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST
DAILY PRESS
(Chautauqua Building).
PLAINFIELD N. J.

VICTORY IN THE AIR.

THE DEMOCRACY'S SKY IS AGLOW WITH PROMISE.

Cheering News All Along the Line—The Battle in the Pivotal States—New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Indiana for Cleveland—The Fight South and West.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—There is cheering news from all along the line. Whatever apathy there may have been in the Democratic ranks has been dispelled by the fierce fire of the battle of the political battle covers all the pivotal states, and the roaring of artillery is heard in the west and the great guns of the east. The Democratic hosts are in line here in New York. He is attacking, and not repelling assaults. Everywhere the Democrats are full of fight and are confident of victory. Tammany Hall leads the van. Her orders have gone to the nations ranks. Local issues are dead, and all are fighting on national issues. The orders will be obeyed. Tammany is in the field, and will poll a strong vote in this city. Tammany is moving in a solid body, and will poll a larger vote than ever before. Every district in the city is actively polled in her history.

The reports from the interior of the state are of the most cheering kind. An effort has been made to secure a combination of Democrats, Republicans and Prohibitionists. Governor Flower's friends are taking the stands manfully. Many Republicans have declared their determination to vote the Democratic electoral ticket. A strong effort has been made by the Republican state committee to capture the German vote. Chauncey M. Depew, Republican candidate for governor, is making it a personal matter to Chili, with a score of Republican orators to assist him in the campaign. All efforts to drag them into the fire futile. The Republicans claim the Democratic organization is split, but there are more than balanced by the disaffection in their own ranks.

New York is safely Democratic. The majority of nearly 50,000 last fall cannot be wiped out. The betting on Cleveland carrying the state is $5,000 to $700. Nothing is more sensitive than the pocket nerve, and the pocket nerve is the barometer of political sentiment at this time here. In Brooklyn the last Republican candidate for mayor is put upon his ploughshield for Cleveland. His example has been followed by some prominent Republicans in nearly every town and city in the state.

From Connecticut the news is equally cheering; there is no lethargy in that state. The Democracy is awake and marching. Governor Waller, Robert J. Vance and other Democratic leaders are stumping the state in favor of the Democratic national ticket. The same disaffection among the Republicans is found in Connecticut as in New York. Lyman Harrison, who has led the Republicans in many a campaign in that state, openly espouses the cause of reform and the sterling of the state from the Democracy two years ago. Harrison's defection in New Haven county, where he has always held a majority of the votes cast, should be inconsiderable. The Republican lieutenants left with him, and Morgan Bulkeley still holds over as governor.

While the Republicans, through their rectus, bemoan the disaffection in the legislature may again secure the state offices they can carry their county and city ticket. Mr. Cleveland receives only a plurality to carry the state, while the Democratic state ticket by a majority must have a majority, or the election goes to the legislature. Never were the Democratic hosts more enthused than it is now certain for Cleveland now than it was four years ago.

The struggle in New Jersey is a bitter one. Some think the Republicans have been in a still hard in that state, but no real difference exists in the minds of the electoral ticket. Cleveland will carry the state by a larger majority than four years ago. Fo, the Republican candidate for governor, is a young man with plenty of money. He is spending it liberally in the state, and all of the Republicans are making an effort to carry the legislature. It will have the selection of the United States senator to fill the place of Rufus Blodgett. Kean may succeed in reducing the vote for the Democratic candidate for governor, but he cannot injure the electoral ticket. Senator McPherson, Governor Abbett, Edward F. McGlynn, Dr. Talmage, the cradle-politicians are heading the columns there and making a gallant fight. They predict that Cleveland will carry the state by over 15,000 majority.

Indiana is considered lost to the Democrats, even by the Democrats. All the reports from that state are encouraging. Harrison carried it by a small margin in 1888, and the Democrats are confident that the state all agrees that this margin was wiped out by Governor Bigger. Bynum, Gorman, Bulwaby and other Democratic orators are congressmen express the utmost confidence in the success of the ticket. All over the country the Democratic outlook is encouraging. It is understood that in the last election in Tennessee the Democrats in the state will hold the state with safety. "Soap," however, will hardly prove as effectual as it did in Arkansas.

Walter Q. Gresham's letter in behalf of Cleveland is a letter of strength to the Democracy. It is a letter of power. There is hardly a town in the state in which Gresham has not some followers. The Democrats of Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, will turn the scale without adding other elements of Democratic strength. The Republicans are overconfident. The Democratic state is as certain for Cleveland as it is New Jersey.

In order to fair to all concerned. Disquiring of carrying all of them, the Republicans have been casting their eyes south. West Virginia, North and South Carolina and Alabama. Magnificent work in Alabama, however, has turned the Democratic hosts in the Yellowhammer state. Alabama is safe. West Virginia with the Sixth party ticket to work. The Republicans went in, are to and you for the Weaver ticket, with the view of defeating Cleveland. Should the Democratic electors of West Virginia vote for Weaver electors would turn their votes over to Harrison. But a fractional fight has been made in West Virginia by the Republicans in the party. Tammany is moving in a solid body, and will poll a larger vote than ever before polled in her history.

The reports from the interior of the state are of the most cheering kind. An effort has been made to secure a combination of Democrats, Republicans and Prohibitionists in the state

The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORCE, A. L. FORCE
Editors and Proprietors.

Democratic Nominations.

For President.

GROVER CLEVELAND,

of New York.

For Vice-President,

ADLAI E. STEVENSON,

of Illinois.

For Governor,

GEORGE T. WERTS.

OF MORRIS.

ELECTORS-AT-LARGE.

MILLARD F. BOSS, of Middlesex.
PHILIP P. BAKER, of Cumberland.

DISTRICT ELECTORS.

First District—CHARLES MANN.
Second District—THOS. H. PRICKETT
Third District—JAMES DESHLER.
Fourth District—THEO. SIMONSON.
Fifth District—JAMES G. MORGAN.
Sixth District—HOWARD BALDACH.
Seventh District—EDW'D M. STEVENS.
Eighth District—MARTIN R. DOOK.

CONGRESSIONAL NOMINATIONS.

First District—FRANK M. PORCH.
Second District—GEO. D. WEUBELL.
Third Dist—JACOB A. GEISSENHAINER
Fourth District—JOHNSTON CORNISH.
Fifth Dist.—CORNELIUS R. CADMUS.
Sixth Dist.—THOMAS DUNN ENGLISH.
Seventh Dist.—EDWARD F. McDONALD.
Eighth District—JOHN T. DUNN.

ASSEMBLY NOMINATION.

For Member of the Assembly.

1st Dist.—TIMOTHY M. KELLY.
2d Dist.—THOMAS F. LANE.
3d Dist.—LEONARD G. COHEN, SR.,

COUNTY NOMINATIONS.

For County Clerk—JAMES J. GERBER.
For Surrogate—ROWLAND M. STOVER.
For Coroner—EDWARD B. KELLY.

FREE TRADE IMPOSSIBLE.

(From Grover Cleveland's Letter of Acceptance.)

We anticipate with calmness the misrepresentation of our motives and purposes, instigated by a selfishness which seeks to hold in its relentless grasp its unfair advantage under present tariff laws. We will rely upon the intelligence of our fellow-countrymen to reject the charge that a party comprising a majority of our people is planning the destruction or injury of American interests and we know they cannot be frightened by the specter of impossible free trade.

"Do they not tell you that Grover Cleveland will carry this State by 10,000, but that they expect to defeat George T. Werts by more? Is not that an even lie? Does it not come to you from your Republican friends? Is this true? Is our liberty, our right of suffrage, to be wrested and broken down in the person of the father of free ballots, and that by the intervention of large amounts of money in our State?—Attorney-General Stockton's Speech.

THE LAST CALL.

The hour of action is at hand. Before we again go to press the Presidential contest will be ended.

It therefore behooves every citizen, regardless of former political affinities, who desire equal and exact justice to rule the management of public affairs, and the preservation of that system of free representative government the patriotic Fathers of the Republic established, to vote for

CLEVELAND AND STEVENSON.

Because these candidates will, if elected, to the extent of ability, make sovereign—

Official integrity.
Prudent economy.
Rigid accountability.
Reputable appointments.
Just legislation.
Equitable taxation.
Labor enfranchisement.
Industrial development.
Business activity.
Commercial revival.
Honest protection.
General prosperity.

And because they will offer determined opposition to the Harrison-Reid-McKinley-Lodge programme of Tariff and kindred laws designed to subsidize and enrich a privileged class at the expense and to the injury of the toiling many.

Laws for the encouragement and perpetuation of heartless monopolies and plundering combines.

Laws for depriving the people of their inalienable prerogative of election, by placing the ballot boxes of the country at the mercy of unscrupulous supervisors and manipulators, backed by Federal bayonets.

And all class legislation that, either directly or indirectly, by libor or sirtht intent, infringes upon popular rights and shackles free American citizenship.

Vote for

CLEVELAND AND STEVENSON.

WATCH THEM.

A freeman's weapon is the ballot, and the unsolicited exercise of it a legally conferred privilege worth vastly more than all the bribe money political corruptionists can raise and proffer.

Every true-hearted American citizen, whether native born or naturalized, loyal to the principles of free representative government and rightly appreciating their value, would on soon resignation a house as to barter his vote for any mercenary consideration.

If he is a genuine patriot, although poor, the combined wealth of the Astors and Vanderbilts would be powerless to rob him of personal dignity and the elective franchise.

And it is proper to add, that the 4th just distinction of all ballot box defilement, they who contribute funds for the vile purpose and they who handle them, no matter how exalted their official position or how loud-mouthed their profession of sanctity and respectability, is behind prison bars.

Watch and there send them.

A MOMENTOUS ISSUE.

A momentous issue of the present time is Plutocracy versus Democracy.

The Republican leaders may suppress their schemes as actually as they can, yet what we have stated remains to be a serious issue, involving as it does the very life or death of popular sovereignty.

What is Plutocracy?

It is a form of Government in which the wealthy classes have supreme power—a controlling class of rich men.

That is Plutocracy, and the McKinley tariff act reveals its repugnant character. The McKinley measure was drafted by mercenary interests for their own aggrandizement, and it was passed by Congress and approved by the Executive as a reward for money contributed to purchase the election of President in 1888, and now in 1892, the same mercenaries are lavishly supplying funds for the purpose, if possible, of rebuking the Republican party in power and thereby riveting their sordid hold upon government.

The Democratic party victoriously fought Plutocracy as championed by the party of Federalism nearly a hundred years ago, and it will continue to pursue the modern monster to its death.

What is Democracy?

It is a form of government in which supreme power is vested in the people, irrespective of class, and the legislative and executive functions are exercised by free and unbiased representatives of the people.

That is Democracy, of the people, by the people and for the people, and the existence of their freedom depends upon its supremacy.

GUBERNATORIAL.

It is of paramount importance to elect the right kind of man Governor of New Jersey.

The holder of such an office is the embodied representative of the people, either to honor or discredit them.

He should be practically conversant with the details of State affairs, and of himself fully competent to meet and correctly discharge every official obligation, and never for a moment permit personal interests to outweigh public duty.

Such a man is GEORGE T. WERTS, the Democratic candidate.

He is neither a pampered millionaire nor a sordid monopolist, but a rich possessor of statesman ability and fearless integrity.

Vote for
WERTS.

CONGRESSIONAL.

To the credit of JOHN T. DUNN, the Democratic candidate for Congress, he is a self-made man.

The advantages of wealth and collegiate education were never his, but by persevering industry and studious application he has surmounted all difficulties and attained an honorable standing in the community where he has so long resided.

Mr. Dunn is an intelligent speaker, a keen observer of current events, and has had varied legislative experience. As a Congressman he will continue to be an unswerving advocate of popular rights.

Vote for
DUNN.

ASSEMBLY AND COUNTY.

The Democratic nominees for Assemblyman, County Clerk, Surrogate and Coroner are all gentlemen well and favorably known to the voters of Union County.

They possess the Jeffersonian requirements of Honesty, Capability and Worth, and each of them is justly entitled to receive a majority verdict at the polls.

Vote for COHEN,
and for
GERBER, STOVER and KELLY.

The Last Week.

The last week of the Presidential campaign opens with a better prospect of Democratic success than has existed since the nominations were made.

The united front and determined spirit of the Democratic party in New York city and Brooklyn, as evidenced by the great meetings and the heavy registration, promises a majority for Cleveland and Stevenson much above the Democratic majority of 1888 or that of last year. Cynical and well-informed politicians put the increase in the majority in these two cities over 1888 at 20,000. No intelligent politician believes that Harrison will get within 15,000 or 16,000 of a majority above Harrison as he received four years ago.

New York is always a doubtful State in Presidential years until the votes are counted. But the Democratic prospects of carrying it are to-day better than the Republicans in the ratio of 10 to 7.

The Democratic prospects are even better in Indiana and New Jersey, and they are at least even in Connecticut. There is little doubt of losing a single electoral vote in the South. There is a reasonable certainty of gaining at least four in Michigan and a strong probability of securing five in Minnesota.

The Democratic candidates at the West threaten the Republicans with the loss of forty-eight electoral votes. Some of the Northwestern States they are certain to lose with more electoral votes than they can gain from States heretofore Democratic.

But the weak points in the Republican line are too many and too widely separated to be grouped together by any one campaign effort of fraud at any point or by money. Never before have they had to fight to hold New England, to capture New York, to keep the West in line and to outmeet the solid South. The revolt against the Republican policy, begun in 1890 and continued in last year, still exists in most of the whole country. There is no organization that the people have more thoroughly mistrusted. The disclosures of fraud in the counting over of purchased ballots in Kentucky and Louisiana have undermined the confidence of all ballot box defenders, they who contribute funds for the Democratic Campaign Committee, Democratic Congressional Committee, Democratic State Committee, Democratic County Committee, Democratic Ward Committee, Democratic Executive Committee, Democratic Committee of Arrangements, Democratic Committee of Finance, Democratic Committee of Correspondence, Democratic Committee of Organization, Democratic Committee of Conference, Democratic Committee of Publication, Democratic Committee of Literature, Democratic Committee of Speakers, Democratic Committee of Printing, Democratic Committee of Advertising, Democratic Committee of Transportation, Democratic Committee of Hotels, Democratic Committee of Reception, Democratic Committee of Entertainment, Democratic Committee of Music, Democratic Committee of Ushers, Democratic Committee of Decoration, Democratic Committee of Police, Democratic Committee of Fire Department, Democratic Committee of Health, Democratic Committee of Charities, Democratic Committee of Correction, Democratic Committee of Parks, Democratic Committee of Public Buildings, Democratic Committee of Docks, Democratic Committee of Ferries, Democratic Committee of Bridges, Democratic Committee of Markets, Democratic Committee of Public Schools, Democratic Committee of Streets, Democratic Committee of Lamps and Gas, Democratic Committee of Sewers, Democratic Committee of Water Supply, Democratic Committee of Printing, Democratic Committee of Law, Democratic Committee of Finance, Democratic Committee of Correspondence, Democratic Committee of Organization, Democratic Committee of Conference, Democratic Committee of Publication, Democratic Committee of Literature, Democratic Committee of Speakers, Democratic Committee of Printing, Democratic Committee of Advertising, Democratic Committee of Transportation, Democratic Committee of Hotels, Democratic Committee of Reception, Democratic Committee of Entertainment, Democratic Committee of Music, Democratic Committee of Ushers, Democratic Committee of Decoration, Democratic Committee of Police, Democratic Committee of Fire Department, Democratic Committee of Health, Democratic Committee of Charities, Democratic Committee of Correction, Democratic Committee of Parks, Democratic Committee of Public Buildings, Democratic Committee of Docks, Democratic Committee of Ferries, Democratic Committee of Bridges, Democratic Committee of Markets, Democratic Committee of Public Schools, Democratic Committee of Streets, Democratic Committee of Lamps and Gas, Democratic Committee of Sewers, Democratic Committee of Water Supply, Democratic Committee of Printing, Democratic Committee of Law.

THE OVERPOWERING ISSUE.

Mr. Cleveland Tells What It Is for the Saving of the Nation From a Despotism of Bribery and Corruption.

Grover Cleveland made a great speech Tuesday night at the business men's big rally in the Academy of Music in New York. He emphasized the declaration that there is only one issue now before the people—the issue of bribery and saving the honor of New York and New Jersey from a despotism of bribery and corruption. The tariff and the force bill are not in it. Men of integrity, however, are united to carry the country.

Mr. President Cleveland speaks well. Even while he was speaking the reports were circulating that Governor Flower was corrupting votes and using money to purchase the votes of the people. The New York World to-day gives the figures of the corruption fund which has been used for Governor Flower. The Republicans in New Jersey, Gen. Sewell expects to have spent $600,000 here by the time the campaign closes next Tuesday. He has already given $60,000 himself. Mitchell contributed $50,000 and has been promised $60,000. Johnson Keen, the railroad candidate for Governor, has spent $70,000, and those in privity with him have spent more freely. Still for all that the Democrats are not alarmed in little New Jersey. They see the majority for Cleveland at 8,000 and for Werts, the sturdy candidate for Governor, at 5,000, and they will get it, too.

Get Together.

(From The Times' Journal.)

As we intimated in referring to the result in Union county last week, we said it will be a very hard thing for the multitude of friends of County Clerk Criswell to reconcile themselves and get the good will of delegates, in depriving him of the usage of the party—a consolidation, which he had a right to expect. But, as the old adage runs, "What is lost is lost, let it be endured"—and the writers of the Democratic party in this county is of too great value to allow such an important office as that of County Clerk to fall into the hands of the enemy. Therefore let all of us who are friends of the party step aside if by the ballot, and not sealed to put a club in the hands of our opponents to break our own heads—to use a homely phrase. We are aware that Mayor Chamberlain, the Republican candidate, is a strong partisan, and if elected will take every political advantage his office affords. Again we say —Democrats, stand by the whole ticket!

WESTFIELD'S BOY FIREBUG.

County Detective Kaven Closes Up the Mystery of Incendiary Fires Saturday.

The people of Westfield for the past month have been alarmed by the number of fires in the village, all of which had the appearance of being of incendiary origin.

On the 20th of October the barn of ex-surrogate Addison Kaven was burned. Two days later another barn belonging to Oliver H. Pierson. They were both large buildings, filled with grain and stock. Two smaller barns were destroyed, and a horse and wagon were consumed.

Prosecutor Marsh's attention being called to the matter, he notified county detective Kaven, who on Monday afternoon went to Westfield, and in his investigations located the perpetrators of the crimes, and placed a complaint before the ringleader and prime instigator, a boy of the name of Charles P. Donaldson. He is only sixteen years of age, but has already graduated from the school in the village and is now a student of the Boys' Reform school, at Jamesburg.

In the latter part of September the Donaldson boy obtained his release from the institution on the promise of his reformation. This attorney to the last, however, was unaware of the boy's participation in the petty crime of which he was accused, he has now developed into a greater criminal.

He is a cool customer and said he first set the ball rolling by striking a match and setting fire to the barn of Addison Kaven. He then went to the residence of Oliver H. Pierson, and after the inmates were all in bed, he and his companions set fire to the barn. Donaldson said he was afraid to go near the house, as he knew Mr. Pierson had a gun, and he was afraid he would shoot him. He then went to the barn of Mr. Pierson and set fire to it. He then went to the barn of Mr. Pierson and set fire to it. He then went to the barn of Mr. Pierson and set fire to it

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

J. A. DEMAREST - - City Editor.

—The Park Place chapel should be named Mitchell chapel.

—Ice was formed Wednesday night for the first time this season.

—An evening class in stenography has been started at Harned academy.

—Restaurant-keeper McVay says that the plan of two young men to buy his business has been abandoned.

—The Lost Tool-belt team gave a seventy set exhibition Thursday and defeated the Brooklyn High school 19 to 4.

—Tax Payers is glad to report that the rumor on the streets that Hon. G. M. Pine was stricken with paralysis is untrue.

—The semi-annular examination for teachers' certificates for Union county will be held at Westfield on Saturday.

—The Plainfield Avenue had a still alarm, Wednesday night, to put out a fire in its woods that threatened barns and houses.

—"Count" George Leidy, the author of night and day tricks, has accepted a position in the Pond works and will remain in Plainfield.

—The Hon. William D. Edwards, of Rahway, will speak on the political issues of the Cleveland and Stevenson Campaign club, Friday evening.

—Two mortgages are filable in a few days for $80 for homesteads falling in a New Jersey without first honoring members of a Game Protective society.

—A correspondent asks: "How about Carrigy Hand's communication in the Courier?" Answer: We cannot find Mr Hand says he did n't write it.

—Charles Hand is planning to build another big three-story brick building at Justice and the Crescent Park. There will be three stores, with flats above.

—Charles Hand has already torn down the big hill-board at the front of his vacant Crescent rink land, preparatory to the erection of a row of new buildings.

—The householders seem to have taken the disposition of dead leaves into their own hands. They burn them in big bonfires, regardless of the law, or the artist.

—Before his departure, the Rev. Charles E. Mitchell of the M. E. church, gave photographer Langhorne some settings that resulted in very desirable pictures.

—Thomas Carty has leased two of the fine new stores at Central avenue and Second street, and will open a first-class grocery establishment therein, as soon as completed.

—Complaint is made of the macadamizing of sidewalks on Westervelt avenue near Jackson. The stone used is very rough and sharp, and cuts shoes to pieces. A hop-toad would be put to it.

—Cranford has decided to take twenty-five fire hydrants from the Union Water company at an annual rental of $25 each. That's still a hydrant more than Plainfield pays the same company.

—At the court holding session in Vincent chapel and connected with the M. E. church, a case of horse stealing will come up for trial, and Lawyer Ford of Codrington, with a mixed jury, will sit on the case.

—An entertainment similar to the one given by the Crescent League, at its clubhouse, last Monday evening, will be given at the same place next Monday. The members have the privilege of inviting their friends.

—Seven ex-Republican Cabinet officers are supporting Mr. Cleveland in this campaign—Hugh McCulloch, Walter Q. Gresham, Alphonso Taft, Wayne MacVeagh, Benj. H. Bristow, Daniel McK. Key and Jacob D. Cox.

—The high wind of Saturday tattered all the fine decorative banners so that they had to be taken in for repairs and shattered a show case in front of the theatre. Out fitting company's store and one owned by Mrs. T. J. Gillies.

—The debt-raisers of the Trinity church have hit on another plan of income. Beginning last Friday they will have chicken and oysters cooked on sale at convenient places. The sale to-morrow will be at J. F. MacDonald's.

—George McGinnis of Linden avenue, an employe in McCullough's steam mill on Rahway avenue, Plainfield, was grinding a tool Thursday when an emery wheel burst and made an ugly cut on his hand. Dr. Cornwall dressed the wound.

—All last week the Jersey Central Railroad company have had men at work cutting down the beautiful shade trees around the Grant avenue station, a resident of which complained at the last moment going over the station surroundings now would take it for a barren land.

—The Courier spy tried to induce P Lieke, the wholesale liquor dealer on Front street, to break the law and sell him a pint of whiskey. But Mr. Lieke refused and the spy did not have the hoped for evidence. Therefore he was not arrested. Yet the Courier is advertising Mr. Lieke and accepting his money for it.

—William H. Brower & Sons, of Broadway and Fifth avenue, who were the florists that made so grand a display in the way of decoration at the recent Squires-Hoveuet wedding, will exhibit a vase and a bouquet at the Chrysanthemum show Friday. Last year the firm was awarded first prize for the handsomest table completely furnished, and did deserved.

—The Rev. Dr. Judge of Missionary society of the First Baptist church is preparing for a fair to be held December 5 and 6. Mrs. Jane Rosmo has granted the use of the "Rosmo mansion" on Madison avenue, (next to the Park club-house), which is so admirably adapted for such a purpose, and as all the rooms are to be in use it will prove to be a brilliant affair.

—The bowling alley connected with Hope chapel, which has been in operation for about six weeks, has been drawing large attendances. Many of the young men belonging to the chapel seem to enjoy the pastime very much. Friday evening the highest score bowled was by Harry Tregar, of 103. The next highest of two weeks ago, by bowling 107. This is pretty good for an amateur who began learning the game only lately.

—Secretary Hoffman, superintendent Passmore of the Street Railway company met with the North Plainfield council and citizens committee Thursday and discussed the matter of the proposed trolley extension. They perfected various details, and agreed on 6 months as the limit for the road to be in operation. As soon as the contract is ratified by the council, the work of construction will be begun, and the road will doubtless be in running order by early spring, unless too severe weather intervene.

—Mr. Dunkerat takes pleasure in announcing to the citizens of Plainfield, a new course of the delightful and instructive lectures at the Y. M. C. A. Music Hall, beginning the evening of the 16th inst. Those who have attended the former lectures by Mr. Dunkerat will need no further assurance to secure their patronage. Each lecture was received with increasing enthusiasm, and there was a number of requests to the management, from impressed, for having secured such an intensely interesting and profitable series of entertainments. The present course will be advertised, promising to be equal if not superior in interest to all preceding efforts, as it will include Paris, the Rhine, St. Petersburg & the Alps, Italy, Madame Le Lion Gougy & the Adirondacks, and Treasures of the Nations. This course will positively commence early in November.

PERSONALIA.

H. P. Reynolds is recovering steadily and satisfactorily.

Miss Ethel Peat is visiting Miss Estelle Bycraft of Hillside avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Mallett have returned from their honeymoon trip.

Miss Minnie Wyckoff, of Bethlehem, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hodge, at their home on Somerset street.

Arthur W. Tyler, who instituted the Middle Brook Co. Co. shop, is visiting his relative, Col. Mason W. Tyler.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Cadmore and baby Helen are at grandpa and grandma Cadmore's, Bound Brook, for a visit.

Mary E., widow of the late Ephriam Brinet, died Wednesday at her home, 26 West Fifth street, in her seventy-seventh year.

Richard Cordell, of Liberty street, who has been so seriously sick for some time, is on better, and his death is reported any time.

Dr. W. E. Stelle and wife of Park are, were among the starved-to-home passengers on board the Transit which arrived Wednesday.

The Newark Evening News rightly says that John H. VanWinkle of Plainfield is one of the most popular members of the Union county bar.

The engagement of Miss Jessie Hodge, daughter of the late Rev. Dr. Hodge, to Benjamin Schlosser of Jersey City to Thomas Hale, jr., of East Fifth street.

Mrs. Abram Pine, of 200 West Front street, was run down by a bicycle rider on Saturday, is slowly mending and no hopes are entertained of her recovery.

Miss Mamie Titsworth, of Dunellen, eldest daughter of the late Dr. Titsworth, will be married this evening to Prof. Green, of New York State.

Martin Wooden of Brooklyn, of the Royal Templars of Temperance, is visiting his mother, Thursday, in North Plainfield, where she has lived over sixty years.

Otto Arens has purchased that very desirable residence site on the west corner of Park avenue and Arlington place, and contemplates erecting a handsome home thereon.

Mrs. Vincent, wife of the Bishop, is visiting at the home of Mulford Estil on Grove street, during her husband's attendance at the Bishops' convention in New York.

Miss Cole Ellis will sever her connection with the "Dr. Bill" company, next Saturday evening, at Elizabeth, where they will make her last appearance as Mrs. Hawkins.

Miss Mamie Titsworth, Dunellen, eldest daughter of the late Dr. Titsworth, will be married this evening to Prof. Green, of New York State.

Martin Wooden of Brooklyn, of the Royal Templars of Temperance, is visiting his mother, Thursday, in North Plainfield, where she has lived over sixty years.

Otto Arens has purchased that very desirable residence site on the west corner of Park avenue and Arlington place, and contemplates erecting a handsome home thereon.

The householders seem to have taken the disposition of dead leaves into their own hands. They burn them in big bonfires, regardless of the law, or the artist.

—Before his departure, the Rev. Charles E. Mitchell of the M. E. church, gave photographer Langhorne some settings that resulted in very desirable pictures.

—Thomas Carty has leased two of the fine new stores at Central avenue and Second street, and will open a first-class grocery establishment therein, as soon as completed.

—Complaint is made of the macadamizing of sidewalks on Westervelt avenue near Jackson. The stone used is very rough and sharp, and cuts shoes to pieces. A hop-toad would be put to it.

—Cranford has decided to take twenty-five fire hydrants from the Union Water company at an annual rental of $25 each. That's still a hydrant more than Plainfield pays the same company.

—At the court holding session in Vincent chapel and connected with the M. E. church, a case of horse stealing will come up for trial, and Lawyer Ford of Codrington, with a mixed jury, will sit on the case.

—An entertainment similar to the one given by the Crescent League, at its club-house, last Monday evening, will be given at the same place next Monday. The members have the privilege of inviting their friends.

—Seven ex-Republican Cabinet officers are supporting Mr. Cleveland in this campaign—Hugh McCulloch, Walter Q. Gresham, Alphonso Taft, Wayne MacVeagh, Benj. H. Bristow, Daniel McK. Key and Jacob D. Cox.

—The high wind of Saturday tattered all the fine decorative banners so that they had to be taken in for repairs and shattered a show case in front of the theatre. Out fitting company's store and one owned by Mrs. T. J. Gillies.

—The debt-raisers of the Trinity church have hit on another plan of income. Beginning last Friday they will have chicken and oysters cooked on sale at convenient places. The sale to-morrow will be at J. F. MacDonald's.

—George McGinnis of Linden avenue, an employe in McCullough's steam mill on Rahway avenue, Plainfield, was grinding a tool Thursday when an emery wheel burst and made an ugly cut on his hand. Dr. Cornwall dressed the wound.

—All last week the Jersey Central Railroad company have had men at work cutting down the beautiful shade trees around the Grant avenue station, a resident of which complained at the last moment going over the station surroundings now would take it for a barren land.

—The Courier spy tried to induce P Lieke, the wholesale liquor dealer on Front street, to break the law and sell him a pint of whiskey. But Mr. Lieke refused and the spy did not have the hoped for evidence. Therefore he was not arrested. Yet the Courier is advertising Mr. Lieke and accepting his money for it.

—William H. Brower & Sons, of Broadway and Fifth avenue, who were the florists that made so grand a display in the way of decoration at the recent Squires-Hoveuet wedding, will exhibit a vase and a bouquet at the Chrysanthemum show Friday. Last year the firm was awarded first prize for the handsomest table completely furnished, and did deserved.

—The Rev. Dr. Judge of Missionary society of the First Baptist church is preparing for a fair to be held December 5 and 6. Mrs. Jane Rosmo has granted the use of the "Rosmo mansion" on Madison avenue, (next to the Park club-house), which is so admirably adapted for such a purpose, and as all the rooms are to be in use it will prove to be a brilliant affair.

—The bowling alley connected with Hope chapel, which has been in operation for about six weeks, has been drawing large attendances. Many of the young men belonging to the chapel seem to enjoy the pastime very much. Friday evening the highest score bowled was by Harry Tregar, of 103. The next highest of two weeks ago, by bowling 107. This is pretty good for an amateur who began learning the game only lately.

—Secretary Hoffman, superintendent Passmore of the Street Railway company met with the North Plainfield council and citizens committee Thursday and discussed the matter of the proposed trolley extension. They perfected various details, and agreed on 6 months as the limit for the road to be in operation. As soon as the contract is ratified by the council, the work of construction will be begun, and the road will doubtless be in running order by early spring, unless too severe weather intervene.

—Mr. Dunkerat takes pleasure in announcing to the citizens of Plainfield, a new course of the delightful and instructive lectures at the Y. M. C. A. Music Hall, beginning the evening of the 16th inst. Those who have attended the former lectures by Mr. Dunkerat will need no further assurance to secure their patronage. Each lecture was received with increasing enthusiasm, and there was a number of requests to the management, from impressed, for having secured such an intensely interesting and profitable series of entertainments. The present course will be advertised, promising to be equal if not superior in interest to all preceding efforts, as it will include Paris, the Rhine, St. Petersburg & the Alps, Italy, Madame Le Lion Gougy & the Adirondacks, and Treasures of the Nations. This course will positively commence early in November.

MAY CHANGE ITS SITE.

THE Y. M. C. A. HAS ANOTHER LOCATION IN VIEW.

Assistance to Build but Not to Purchase of the Succession of Boardway the Same Thing.

The Y. M. C. A. directors have at last become discouraged by the selfish and short sighted action of the property owners interested in the site, by visiting his relative, Col. Mason W. Tyler.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Cadmore and baby Helen are at grandpa and grandma Cadmore's, Bound Brook, for a visit.

Mary E., widow of the late Ephriam Brinet, died Wednesday at her home, 26 West Fifth street, in her seventy-seventh year.

Richard Cordell, of Liberty street, who has been so seriously sick for some time, is on better, and his death is reported any time.

Dr. W. E. Stelle and wife of Park are, were among the starved-to-home passengers on board the Transit which arrived Wednesday.

The Newark Evening News rightly says that John H. VanWinkle of Plainfield is one of the most popular members of the Union county bar.

The engagement of Miss Jessie Hodge, daughter of the late Rev. Dr. Hodge, to Benjamin Schlosser of Jersey City to Thomas Hale, jr., of East Fifth street.

Mrs. Abram Pine, of 200 West Front street, was run down by a bicycle rider on Saturday, is slowly mending and no hopes are entertained of her recovery.

Miss Mamie Titsworth, Dunellen, eldest daughter of the late Dr. Titsworth, will be married this evening to Prof. Green, of New York State.

Martin Wooden of Brooklyn, of the Royal Templars of Temperance, is visiting his mother, Thursday, in North Plainfield, where she has lived over sixty years.

Otto Arens has purchased that very desirable residence site on the west corner of Park avenue and Arlington place, and contemplates erecting a handsome home thereon.

The householders seem to have taken the disposition of dead leaves into their own hands. They burn them in big bonfires, regardless of the law, or the artist.

—Before his departure, the Rev. Charles E. Mitchell of the M. E. church, gave photographer Langhorne some settings that resulted in very desirable pictures.

—Thomas Carty has leased two of the fine new stores at Central avenue and Second street, and will open a first-class grocery establishment therein, as soon as completed.

—Complaint is made of the macadamizing of sidewalks on Westervelt avenue near Jackson. The stone used is very rough and sharp, and cuts shoes to pieces. A hop-toad would be put to it.

—Cranford has decided to take twenty-five fire hydrants from the Union Water company at an annual rental of $25 each. That's still a hydrant more than Plainfield pays the same company.

—At the court holding session in Vincent chapel and connected with the M. E. church, a case of horse stealing will come up for trial, and Lawyer Ford of Codrington, with a mixed jury, will sit on the case.

—An entertainment similar to the one given by the Crescent League, at its club-house, last Monday evening, will be given at the same place next Monday. The members have the privilege of inviting their friends.

—Seven ex-Republican Cabinet officers are supporting Mr. Cleveland in this campaign—Hugh McCulloch, Walter Q. Gresham, Alphonso Taft, Wayne MacVeagh, Benj. H. Bristow, Daniel McK. Key and Jacob D. Cox.

—The high wind of Saturday tattered all the fine decorative banners so that they had to be taken in for repairs and shattered a show case in front of the theatre. Out fitting company's store and one owned by Mrs. T. J. Gillies.

—The debt-raisers of the Trinity church have hit on another plan of income. Beginning last Friday they will have chicken and oysters cooked on sale at convenient places. The sale to-morrow will be at J. F. MacDonald's.

—George McGinnis of Linden avenue, an employe in McCullough's steam mill on Rahway avenue, Plainfield, was grinding a tool Thursday when an emery wheel burst and made an ugly cut on his hand. Dr. Cornwall dressed the wound.

—All last week the Jersey Central Railroad company have had men at work cutting down the beautiful shade trees around the Grant avenue station, a resident of which complained at the last moment going over the station surroundings now would take it for a barren land.

—The Courier spy tried to induce P Lieke, the wholesale liquor dealer on Front street, to break the law and sell him a pint of whiskey. But Mr. Lieke refused and the spy did not have the hoped for evidence. Therefore he was not arrested. Yet the Courier is advertising Mr. Lieke and accepting his money for it.

—William H. Brower & Sons, of Broadway and Fifth avenue, who were the florists that made so grand a display in the way of decoration at the recent Squires-Hoveuet wedding, will exhibit a vase and a bouquet at the Chrysanthemum show Friday. Last year the firm was awarded first prize for the handsomest table completely furnished, and did deserved.

—The Rev. Dr. Judge of Missionary society of the First Baptist church is preparing for a fair to be held December 5 and 6. Mrs. Jane Rosmo has granted the use of the "Rosmo mansion" on Madison avenue, (next to the Park club-house), which is so admirably adapted for such a purpose, and as all the rooms are to be in use it will prove to be a brilliant affair.

—The bowling alley connected with Hope chapel, which has been in operation for about six weeks, has been drawing large attendances. Many of the young men belonging to the chapel seem to enjoy the pastime very much. Friday evening the highest score bowled was by Harry Tregar, of 103. The next highest of two weeks ago, by bowling 107. This is pretty good for an amateur who began learning the game only lately.

—Secretary Hoffman, superintendent Passmore of the Street Railway company met with the North Plainfield council and citizens committee Thursday and discussed the matter of the proposed trolley extension. They perfected various details, and agreed on 6 months as the limit for the road to be in operation. As soon as the contract is ratified by the council, the work of construction will be begun, and the road will doubtless be in running order by early spring, unless too severe weather intervene.

—Mr. Dunkerat takes pleasure in announcing to the citizens of Plainfield, a new course of the delightful and instructive lectures at the Y. M. C. A. Music Hall, beginning the evening of the 16th inst. Those who have attended the former lectures by Mr. Dunkerat will need no further assurance to secure their patronage. Each lecture was received with increasing enthusiasm, and there was a number of requests to the management, from impressed, for having secured such an intensely interesting and profitable series of entertainments. The present course will be advertised, promising to be equal if not superior in interest to all preceding efforts, as it will include Paris, the Rhine, St. Petersburg & the Alps, Italy, Madame Le Lion Gougy & the Adirondacks, and Treasures of the Nations. This course will positively commence early in November.

SPEAKER BENSON EXPLAINS.

He Considers and Clearly Sets What Powers the "Anti Bill" Gave, and What He and Others Voted For It.

The Democrats had a grand time in Liberty Hall last night. A crowd's full of people filled the room with their cheering and Speaker Benson came in from the front of supper by such a man as Junius J. Bergen.

Upon being introduced he was greeted with such applause as he is well used to hearing, and when quiet was restored the speaker said he would like to explain to the people of Raritan what the bill to repeal the Election law really did. The bill, as you all know, was passed by the Democratic assembly passed the bill. The high price of coal was not owing to the Democratic party but was kept at the top notch only by a political combination that would come down to a normal figure.

The explanation of Mr. Bergen was so clear and simple that it made many votes for the party in the district. Republican speakers who sought to refute it, but as George D. Dilts who ran against Mr. Bergen for the assembly last fall, said, the resolution for Sheriff, and is very popular with the masses, the leaders saw it to hold the big mass meeting in his district in order to turn back the tide of "Big Tuesday," Lucelle Stewart, of Cocksett, with a powerful stereopticon, and the audience of the Monday will upon the immense crowd of the laboring people. As an object lesson it was most successful and with spreading that words of explanation.

Music filled in the time between the speeches. Charles Winfield speaks there Thursday night.

DEADHEADS ON THE STREET CARS.

The Police and Firemen to Uniform With Streetcar Men Free on Plainfield's Trolley Road.

Beginning last Monday, all regular policemen in uniform will ride free at all times on the cars of the Plainfield Street Railway company.

All firemen in uniform will also be carried free at all times.

And all firemen, though not in uniform, upon displaying their badge will be carried free from the engine house to the fire to be extended and until 20 minutes after the recall.

A CURIOUS VERDICT.

The Jurors Wanted a Chemist to Decide Druggist Miller's Guilt.

The question in the Miller case yesterday was whether or not the liquor sold was whiskey or a rough mixture. The stuff had not been analyzed, and none of the jurors was sufficiently familiar with the taste of liquor to tell by the dashed that the substance was. Therefore they drew up the following verdict, which will give rise to a curiosity of legal lore:

We, the undersigned, a jury in the case of the city of Plainfield against Frederick A. Miller, for the State of Rouge, hereby find that if upon competent examination of a competent chemist he shall pronounced disobedient to said proclamation.

Geo. W. Moore,
H. W. Marshall,
Jeremiah Sullivan,
T. S. Randolph,
V. V. Lyons,
S. T. Baker,
F. D. Tweedy,
J. Henry Doane,
J. M. Mosmon,
J. P. Hoelk,
H. O. Newman,
G. M. Duncan.

Judge Codrington very properly declined to accept such a verdict, and on the question of positive guilt the jury could not agree. There will be a new trial Monday.

CLEVELAND'S PENSION VETOES.

The Ex-President's Chief Clerk Tells of Those and Other Speak at the Cleveland and Stevenson Club's Meeting.

Last night Cleveland and Stevenson Campaign club of this city is surely keeping things when this year. There was another crowded meeting in its rooms Monday night and the enthusiasm and unity in the ranks of the Democracy grew apace.

President J. A. Demarest introduced E. C. Parkins as the presiding officer who made a brief and brilliant speech that put in front of the meeting the issues which for the past and promised policy of their parties, in such a way that no honest voter of his country would hesitate about his choice, and honest.

Other speakers were D. I. Murphy, formerly clerk of the pension bureau under Cleveland's first term, and Hon. Leonard Cohen, of Westfield.

Mr. Murphy's speech was a telling one, and the pensions Cleveland vetoed—some letters made by deserters who had subsequently fought with the rebel army, and others being claims that even Repub. been congressmen had disapproved.

Leonard Cohen, of Westfield, and John T. Dunn, of Rimsdorf, the assembly and Democratic candidate for Sheriff, made telling speeches to a highly interested.

In this the third district, Leonard Cohen, sr., of Westfield, was unanimously nominated for the assembly. He is a prominent lawyer, and his nomination will be hailed with joy by all parties. Hon. George W. Kyte, of Parsonsburg, has again been nominated by the Republicans, and though they have a large majority in the district, there is a chance for his defeat with such an excellent candidate as Mr. Cohen. As the people, especially the Democrats, do not like to be ruled, think he's running too much of a church officebolder, being a member of the Board of Freeholders, of the township committee and never consulted for the third time for the Assembly.

Daniel Roberts Sole Owner Again.

All the matters in dispute between Daniel Roberts and Mrs. Elizabeth R. Lyon, and with which L. W. Waldron, jr., was indentally connected, have been amicably adjusted to all concerned. Mr. Roberts is sole owner of the Central and Mr. Lyon is the Every business, the partnership heretofore existing between them has become the general topic, and on account he has been offered $1,000 in cash and the release of Mr. Lyon has been made over to him. The latter has been given towards the purchase of his interest. It is said that Mr. Lyon owns offered to draw out for a horse and wagon.

—J. Howard Leggett, the popular manager of the Central pharmacy, corner of Park avenue and Front street, has secured the agency for the sale of Hegler's celebrated confectionery.

—Joseph W. Ballantine has been re-elected chairman of the Somerset County Democratic committee and C. V. D. Garretson, Jr., V. Elton, of North Plainfield, has been elected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of John Booker, jr.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

ALL OPINIONS ASKED.

BOROUGHITES URGED TO BE PRESIDENT ON WRITE.

Mayor Saunders and the South Plainfield Council Want to Hear the Supporters or not Interested Pay or Against, Before Voting on the Street Railway Franchise.

On Friday of this week the ordinance granting a franchise to the Street Railway company to operate a road of the Plainfield Street Railway company for Bond purposes before the North Plainfield council. Now without making the fact that the matter has been fully published and invitations extended to the public to be present, it is desired to again urge all citizens of the Borough who are interested to the subject, whether for or against the road, to be present on Friday next, as it is the intention of the Mayor to call for an expression of opinion from the citizens before the ordinance is finally acted upon. Those who cannot be present or who do not care to be present will oblige the council by sending written communications on the subject.

Mayor Saunders at first thought of subjecting the case to a vote of the people, but after the matter was explained to him he concluded that such a course is not just or practicable. A man who owns no property should not have an equal voice with a property owner in the matter. Where property in the Park should not have a vote equal to that of a property owner in the Borough of South Plainfield. Then, again, the question of how much property each man owns, and how far it will be affected, is one impossible to arrange on any basis that will be just which would give any value to a popular vote on the subject.

The Borough council proposes to openly a real street will all lights or no discussion in the street to the possession of vestibule or bicycles at any angle. The call will be superior to the one now in use in Plainfield, and in view of the fact that there will be a single track it is believed that, notwithstanding the narrowness of Somerset street, the road will be in no way objectionable.

REPUBLICANS IN REVOLT.

John Keen, jr., Is Likely to Lose 500 Votes in Union County.

Another leading Republican of Elizabeth, Union county, is opposed to the election of John Keen, jr., for governor. His name is withheld for the present, but it is sufficient to say that he is one of the wealthiest men of the county, and one who has always ranked high in the party councils and has freely given his time and money in years gone by to promote its interests. He is an eloquent and logical speaker, and his voice has heretofore been heard in behalf of the party in campaigns. This year he has remained out of politics entirely, it is alleged by his friends, because he is disgusted with the methods which are responsible for Chief Executive of the State.

The revolt of leading Republicans of Union county against the candidacy of Keen, jr., is growing daily, and has led to attain formidable proportions before Nov 8. It is only necessities the Republican leaders of Union county are going to retaliate for Keen's desertion of their favorites' and pinning their faith hitherto by casting their ballots for George T. Werts.

It is estimated by conservative men who are familiar with the sentiment of the Republican antagonism to John Keen, jr., that not less than 400 Republicans in Union county will vote against him, and that he will lose 500 Republican votes in Union county.

HYMENEAL.

Mather—Runyon.

At the home of the bride, 312 Arlington avenue, Wednesday, took place the marriage of Miss Martha L. Runyon, daughter of the late J. S. Runyon, to Charles Mather, son of Mother of this city, and prosperous law firm of Mather & Powers.

At 7:30, the bridal party proceeded to the rear parlor of the house, which was filled in front of the mantle-piece, which was artistically arranged with potted plants and cut flowers, to represent an altar. Rev. Dr. Judge, pastor of the First Baptist church, who performed the ceremony, after which the bride and groom received the congratulations and good wishes of the 150 invited guests present. Refreshments were then served.

The bride and groom left on the 9:30 train for New York. They will visit many friends in New York State, and on their return will take up their residence in Dunellen, the former home of the groom.

Henry C. Runyon, a brother of the bride, and Miss Edna Estell acted as ushers and also stood up with the bridal couple. Miss Lillian Runyon, sister of the bride, played the wedding march from Lohengrin as the party passed through the room. The gifts were numerous and handsome.

Mr. Venice Weiker—Mr. Beck.

Albert Venice, of this city, the well-known artist, and Miss Lizzie Beck, of Elizabeth, were married Wednesday by the announcement of his new book, entitled "A Pedal System for the Piano." Dr. Wm. Mason has expressly written an introduction to the work, which will be published by Messrs. Silver, Burdett & Co., are the publishers, and the book will appear in January. The Pedal, Mr. Venice says, has always been a stumbling block, and often compels to cover a multitude of sins, by teacher, pupil and pianist, alike, with but few exceptions. The book is a guide for the proper use of the pedal for beginner as well as for advanced pupils. There is no doubt that it will have a large sale, as it supplies a long-felt want.

Lohr—Lohr.

A Plainfielder Founds a New Town.

Jones W. Lohr, of Union, has sold his farm on Rocky hill, to A. D. Thompson, of Plainfield, and Silas D. Drake has been engaged to manage the transformation into a beautiful park to be known as Hyde Park, and in the early spring large and handsome and a large country club house will be erected.

Plan of Hyde Park

Royal Baking Powder
Absolutely Pure

A cream of tartar baking powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—Latest U. S. Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall St., N. Y.

WERTS NOT INDIFFERENT

HE IS ANXIOUS TO BE THE NEXT GOVERNOR OF NEW JERSEY.

He Makes a Magnetic Denial of the Stories that He Cares Not for the Result of the Campaign, and Says He Reports the Vote and Influences of Every Two Democrats —The Reports that He Did Not Care to Be Elected, He Is Aware, Manufactured Some Those Who Want the Republicans to Win.

(From The New York World.)

One of the stories that has been generally circulated and believed during the campaign with a view to injuring Judge Werts's candidacy is that charging that he does not care whether he is elected or defeated. The story was told before the Judge accepted the nomination, and it has been told and retold so many times since that a good many unthinking persons may have believed it.

Judge Werts himself has heard the story a score of times, but believing that the persons who were engaged in circulating it would eventually see how absurd it was he paid no attention to it.

The position of dignified silence which the Judge maintained in the course of the campaign as a tribute to the honorable position of a cation of the Supreme Court, which he is occupying, and the fact that he toted so hard before the Democratic convention not to defeat his own nomination, gave his enemies a rare opportunity to circulate the lie.

Judge Werts's friends, who were aware of his real sentiments regarding the result of the election and knew that he was earnestly working to win, did everything in their power to show that the story was untrue and unwarranted.

Judge Francis Child, of Morristown, one of Judge Werts's most intimate friends, at last wrote the Judge calling his attention to the story and asking him whether it was true or not.

"For my own part", Judge Childs wrote, "I know it is absolutely untrue and false, but I think a statement from yourself to that effect would forever silence the lies of the ambition of the mischief-makers who are so assiduously circulating it."

Judge Werts, upon reading the letter from his friend, wrote the following reply, which explains itself:

JERSEY CITY, Oct. 31, 1892.

Hon. Francis Child:

MY DEAR SIR—Yours, saying that certain persons, representing themselves to be my political friends, are saying that I am indifferent as to the result of the Gubernatorial election, received.

Such action, by any person or alleged friend, is certainly unwarranted and unauthorized by me, and is a declaration of falsehood. So far from being indifferent as to the result, I am, of course, anxious to secure my election. I will receive the vote and influence of every loyal Democrat in the State.

Although nominated by my official position from any participation in the campaign, I feel that my personal interests in the success of the Democratic party are such that I am in honor bound to exert myself but to the party whose nominee I am.

I must regretfully the motives of the "friends" you allude to more highly were I not fully convinced that they are responsible for the false report that they do not care to be elected, and influences of every loyal Democrat in the State.

Although nominated by my official position from any participation in the campaign, I feel that my personal interests in the success of the Democratic party are such that I am in honor bound to exert myself but to the party whose nominee I am.

I must regretfully the motives of the "friends" you allude to more highly were I not fully convinced that they are responsible for the false report that they do not care to be elected, and influences of every loyal Democrat in the State.

Yours very truly,
STEPHEN T. WERTS.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. John VanWinkle.

Counselor John H. VanWinkle was again bereaved, Sunday morning at 5:45, when his wife, Mrs. Emma T. Jodeck, died, at their home, 19 Duer street. She was married to Mr. VanWinkle in June, 1891, and of late had been in failing health. Her loss will be keenly felt in a happy home and in her adornment.

Mrs. VanWinkle was a sufferer from a fatal form of liver disease. For the three days preceding her death she was unconscious. Mr. VanWinkle spared no effort to cure her trouble. Three different specialists from New York were employed by him and did all they could. Mrs. VanWinkle's mother was summoned to her home in Paris, Ill., and her sister and aunt came from Washington, and were present at the death-bed. The funeral will take place Wednesday at 2 o'clock, and the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community.

A Feast of Classic Song, Crowns Next.

The Fourth Ward Republicans held a chowder party Saturday evening at Smith's hall, 25 Lee place. The hall was filled with attentive listeners who heard remarks from E. E. Anthony on the coming election. The next who spoke was the Hon. John Updike, and the latter is not least was C. B. Corwin, who kept the audience in a roar of laughter all the while he was talking. The speech-making crowd sat down to partake of the chowder, which was heartily relished. Afterwards all present listened to songs that were sung by some of the ladies present. The meeting time closed. Great credit is due president R. F. Millington for the able manner in which the affair was conducted.

Rum Against Rum Men.

(Rahway Record.)

It appears by the following from the New York Sunday Press that it is not lovely in the Republican ranks in this county—feeling, as it also the Democrats, that the parties in Elizabeth are altogether too much mixed with rum:

"The Republicans of Plainfield are disgusted because of the lack of recognition given them by the members of the Republican party in the other districts of the county. The city of Plainfield is the one solidly Republican stronghold in Union county, and the Plainfield people feel that they have not the prominence in the party that their importance demands. The general talking down of the Plainfield faction has been considerable for a long time, and now that resentment has broken out in the form of open hostility and threats. The local Republican league of Plainfield, which is composed almost entirely of the disgruntled members of the party in strong language, following that the leading men of every Plainfield ward should be thrown out of the Democracy may be organized."

Third Precinct Caucus.

The following advertisement was found in the street addressed to the "West end Only Republican" of a certain local paper:

PLAINFIELD, Oct. 31, 1892.

All is confirmed and the papers have a quiet time. Democrats are all right. Keep quiet. Don't say anything. Don't do anything. Truly the N. T. Sharp's politicians are no longer in it.

MR. FOUNTAIN'S FINDS.

Writing for "The Press".

How sweets taste most marvelous,
And how the bells most merrily ring,
Tales of things that 20; Problems
In his backyard has found,
Surely all sweet poesy is sweeter,
When they read the sentence
Of rollies that were penned from
That prehistoric bog.

A heap of sand sweetly like
The sweet sea shore,
(There's what an exotic they did it for
I never have succeeded;
Sand for planting,
That about the last of them;
A rainbow's tooth (the rainbow must Have been extinct) and its end (think)

A lot of shaker brie-a-brac,
Arrow-heads, "by gosh,"
Or "authentic find may be complete
Without an arrow-head,
Hatchet, service, baby dane,
But still no part of it,
Sweet poesy and
A skeleton of two.

Now, there's just one thought that strikes (me,
As I peruse the list,
And I would like to mention that (Though I'm no pessimist)
The only explanation to
My theory,
Is that the place was once the kitchen
Of the Plainfield poorhouse.

For rainbows lived with cave bears
In the cheerful age of stone,
While mound-builders and arrow-heads
Have their stories to tell,
And as for that poor buffalo,
I'm sure you'll all allow
He must have been a contemporary hero—
Unless he was a cow!

For cannibals and
And pillsbury won't suit,
Any more than will the verses
Of the Jersey Lyrics and the Style,
And I should dearly love to see
A spy pronounced
By what antediluvian there things,
All mingled in one tent.

Z.

A GOOD PASTOR GOING.

Farewell Reception to Dr. and Mrs. Mitchell.

Vincent chapel was crowded Thursday night with a host of friends of the Rev. Dr. Charles E. Mitchell and wife, to bid a respectful farewell to the popular pastor and his charming helpmate. There were gathered together all classes and conditions of people, the high and the low, the rich and the poor, the old and the young, all bound together in the one unison of sympathy and affection, all sorrowful over the good and worthy pastor who was soon to leave them, all eager to join in the hearty greeting of "Godspeed you both in your new field of noble work."

Every Protestant pastor of Plainfield was present, each expressing a loss of personal fellowship in the change about to be made, and every official board, class, and members of no church, joined with the Methodists in the common regrets and good wishes.

The church was beautifully decorated, with palms and other plants. The air was filled with music from Mitchell's band. The whole scene was one of animation and vivacity; the picture was a pretty one, and one that will long linger in the memory.

Everyone was present, elegantly dressed, where tea, coffee, bon-bons, and other good things, were served in abundance. The spirit of generous hospitality abounded, and the occasion will be long to be remembered.

At the conclusion of the speech-making, everyone in the large throng of people present, shook hands with Dr. and Mrs. Mitchell, and bidding them an affectionate good-bye, prayed that blessings manifold might attend them in their western field.

Oh! Those Independents.

Again have the Independent Gun club of Plainfield shown their superior shooting qualities in the final team contest of the New Jersey Trap Shooters' League, which was decided Saturday on the grounds of the Maplewood Gun club at Maplewood, N. J. The quintet of shooters from the Independent Gun club, were the only winners, with a score of 113 broken out of a possible 125 blue-rocks. This credits them with nine victories out of the ten contests in the league. The team of the Rolling Springs Fishing and Gun club, of Rutherford, finished second in the competition. The winning team receives a handsome silver cup, and the runners-up are valued at $125, and the Rolling Springs Gun club will receive the second prize of $150 in cash. The other prizes are distributed as follows: $100, third; $75, fourth; $50, fifth; $25, sixth. That the Independents have won nine out of the ten team contests is proof conclusive of their superior shooting and all-around qualities that are hard to beat. Charley Smith (Dutch), who has captained the winning team is to be congratulated upon his unique selection of shooters at each contest.

The score:

Independent Gun Club of Plainfield—Slater, 24

IN THE SOUTHERN ALPS.

Hunting Pigs and Goats in Far-Away New Zealand.

Hard Tramps Through Field and Forest —The Viciousness of Wild Animals—Breathless Moment—Tragedy in Hunting an Interloper.

[Special New Zealand Letter.]

It was a party of four sturdy young fellows who found themselves after a weary and dangerous journey of six days from Westport on the top of Mount William, of the southern Alps of New Zealand, in November, 1887.

They had pitched their tent in a gully, that could not have been free from mosquitoes for centuries, but by lying close to the fire smoking and burning leaves they managed to get a little rest. They had brought four dogs with them for the purpose of hunting the pig, and whether it was advisable to take them after the goats was a matter of much discussion. Finally it was agreed upon to leave them up at the hut.

OUR PARTY STARTS.

Early in the following morning they set out and soon found that a herd of goats had lately been near their last camp. They hastened on in pursuit through a wild, weird country. Sometimes they struggled through a dense forest with thick undergrowth that greatly impeded their progress and tore their stout buckskin clothing into shreds. Low-growing, beautiful ferns, rough, gnarled limbs and stiff, wiry, tropical plants with white and red flowers surrounded them on every side, while a hundred species of birds warbled and flitted merrily from tree to tree. Then again they would be forced to creep on hands and knees over and under immense bowlders, or, with the greatest difficulty, to round a craggy precipice where the slightest misstep meant a horrible death in the chasm that waited silently below to destroy the men who dared to invade its sanctity.

Extraordinary dangers were forgotten for beyond a sharp turn, and about half a mile away, a herd of goats was seen lazily picking up a little food or cheweing the cud. Several little kids gambolled about in the heyday of youth and carelessness, while a number of men of a buck stood contemplating his kingdom. Approaching warily under shelter of tree or rock, and keeping to the wind, we could see that he was a magnificent creature, standing over four feet high, with enormous ringed horns of about twenty inches in length; his beard was only a few inches from the ground, and a straggling black and white coat of long hair gave him a formidable appearance and made him look much larger than he really was. Our eyes watered with delight as we took stock of him, and each mentally determined to secure the prize. We came slowly nearer and nearer the "still" before we became quite suspicious of some unseen enemy who was threatening the safety of himself or some of his subjects. He sniffed the wind, looked up and down and all around, walked majestically hither and thither, while his family rose and followed. Something had frightened him; what could it be? Look! they are scared and are scampering off.

An expletive escapes each man's lips as we find all our hopes so rudely shattered. But what are we to do? Fire there it is. "Well, I'm blest," exclaimed Jack Pettit. "Look, Mere's got loose and has followed us." Sure enough, there was the dog. Every gun was leveled at the dog, and we were all to punish him for his faithfulness, but better impulse saved him. No more work for the dog. We slept on the spot. In the morning we secured Mere more firmly and started out again, after having our bones walking and again sighted the same herd. We came upon them unexpectedly at a point on a small ranch about a hundred feet away on the side of a precipice that ran down to a spouting river. Each man had determined on firing one old-fashioned muzzle loaders, so we quietly and carefully put down the load and shot, reforming them into a kind of bower that hid us from sight slowly and cautiously advanced. Each by mutual agreement had the buck for the sake of his horns, so we cast lots for the first shot. George Williams came off best. He aimed for the buck for the sake of his horns, so we cast lots for the first shot. George Williams came off best. He aimed for the buck and fired. Down he fell, struck by foot, nearer we drew while the goats were disturbed by the guns above rattled not over pleased to find us upon us and threatened an avalanche. The wind was blowing strongly against us. Everything was in our favor. Now we are only one hundred yards away.

SHOOTING GOATS.

A little nearer and all will be right. Keep cool, boys, and don't get excited. Now is the chance!

ALFRED TENNYSON

There are two goats just ahead of us, and in their midst stands the lordly male. Now every gun is thrown to the shoulder. No missing them this time. George has the first shot. He seems a little nervous. He draws and down drops the goat on the right of the buck. Ere our astonishment is over Arrigan has fired and brought down the buck. Two more reports and two more goats fall, literally shot. The others have disappeared.

After three days' hunting we left this field of danger and sport to seek another.

Accompanied by our dogs we started across the ranges for the Motueka valley, between which and us many wild pigs nose the forest and feed. On our journey, which lasted a week, we also killed daily on royal fare. A young kid would serve us better than the most dainty dish of tenderest lamb. Fat as butter and tale formed a meal fit for a Lucullus.

Now for the pigs. A few years ago the descendants of Capt. Cook's gift to the Maoris became so numerous in this fertile land that they caused a serious annual loss to the farmers. For in their search for roots they destroyed the grass and hence the food of sheep and cattle. A bonus was offered of half a crown—a little more than half a dollar—for every pig. This reward aroused the slumbering energies of natives and settlers, and hundreds of pig killers made a handsome living. Their method was to hunt the pigs with their dogs and to fly at the ground and hold them by the ear until the hunters could give the straggling hound a blow or gouge by sticking them to death with a knife or bullet at the end with a short heavy piece of iron or stick.

Now, however, the pigs are not so numerous, although there are plenty for sport. We had a fine time of it, each with hunting spears and determined to have as many fun as possible. On the eighth day, as we were making our way through the bush with our dogs at our heels, we were startled by a perfect grunt from our leader. Mere gave a deep growl as to a large enemy of thereby and out rushed a big sow with a litter of young ones. Mere was after her straight at the first dog, but not before the sow had given one fearful gash right off the dogs. The mother, by the time of attack, intercepted the dog, and their jaws and haunches locked fore and breast, and their eyes glared with a wicked flash. Ha, that is the kind of game we want. The dogs rose higher and mightier for and go for the boars. Each of the dogs springs at an ear, but both are thrown off as if they were rats.

GEORGE IS FORCED TO THE SHOOTER.

Men and hounds feel that there is to be a serious struggle. We all rush for our guns and other implements from us and abide our attack. Mere is down, but manages to stick close to the dogs with their long curled mane, but the hounds slowly create them, at the same time biting at the flanks and out of the fight. The latter set to and make desperate efforts to shake off the dogs and attack the men. The excitement becomes too for the sow has come upon the scene, and in self-defense we are obliged to shoot her down. One of the boars has left the dog hanging to its legs, makes a rush towards George Williams. He draws steadily awaiting the onslaught with his feet firmly planted on the earth and his spear pointed at the boar's breast. He is a strong man, and we see all sent that he will be lucky this time to destroy the first attack. Each man is ready to spear into the side of the boar, but instead of falling it rushes on, tossing George over its head and on to the dog. The

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.
M. L. FORCE & A. L. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors.
AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.
TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXV. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1892. No 45.

"Support the Constitution, which is the consent of the Union, as well as its limitations as to its authorities."—Madison.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODDINGTON,
Counsellors-at-Law,
Chancery Square, Somerville, N. J.
Thomas Jackson, Special Master of Park streets and Second avenue.—1y

GEORGE W. DAY,
General Auctioneer,
Sales of Personal Property solicited. P. O. Box 155, Dunellen, N. J., or address in care of Coe Construction. Terms reasonable.

DR. CHARLES S. THEIS,
Dentist,
24 West Front street. A new metal manikin, an invention for extracting teeth without pain. Gold filling a specialty.—1y37

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VanArsdale,
PIANO TUNER.
Instruments put in thorough order. Terms reasonable. Orders left at Constitutionalist office, or by postal, P. O. box 166, or left at Wilcox's store, No. 6 Park avenue, will receive prompt attention. Residence 41 N. Front street, corner Elm street. 37y1mo

T. J. GILLIES,
Auctioneer & Real Estate Agent.
A. L. FORCE, Manager Auction Room, Front St., Plainfield, N. J.
Goods received on consignment.

John Chandler,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER.
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence corner Second No. 20 West Third street. Jobbing promptly attended to. 1y

E. B. MAYNARD,
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 20 PARK AVENUE.
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done to their satisfaction. Shaving, Shampooing, etc., satisfactorily performed.

CARNEY BROTHERS, Agents,
7 West Front St.
TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS.
PARLOR STOVES,
COOK STOVES,
HEATERS.

A. M. SEGUINE,
Grates and Mantels for all Kinds of Stov a can be found here at Seguine's prices. Bring your Tinware mending to us. The best Tinners, the best Plumbers, and the best Gas-fitters in the State of New Jersey. We give you the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.
Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.
Tinware Made to Order.
Ranges, Brick and Portable Furnaces
SANITARY PLUMBING.

Parlor Stoves,
Furnaces, Ranges,
Water Piping. Plumbing.
Heater Work. Tinning,
Hardware.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
13 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 6. 11 11-42

Beautiful Assortment!
Furniture!
Largest Assortment!
Best Goods!
Lowest Prices!
Ever Offered in Plainfield!
23, 25 and 27 PARK AVE.

Garret Q. Packer.
SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc. Etc.
I am prepared to do any of the above branches of work in the most prompt manner and at reasonable prices. Satisfaction guaranteed.
Having associated myself with the Master Workmen Association of New York City, I am prepared to do any kind of Plumbing, Gas Fitting or Tinning in every town running the road between Plainfield and Jersey City.
D. W. LITTELL,
No. 2 North Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

FOR MALARIA, GENERAL DEBILITY
ALL STOMACH TROUBLES
COLES' PERUVIAN BARK
AND
WILD CHERRY BITTERS
ARE THE BEST.
A Vegetable Substitute for Quinine.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
Price, 50 cents and $1.00 per Bottle.
PREPARED ONLY BY THE
D. P. COLES DRUG AND MFG. CO
NEWARK, N. J.

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS,
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS,
BEST IN THE WORLD.
ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

ESTABLISHED 18 6.
C.E. & J.W. RROWN,
Importers, Wholesale and Retail Dealers in
WALL PAPER.
321 Canal Street,
NEW YORK.
English Tints, Anaglypta, Hand, Leather Raised Flock Papers, &c. Designs for Walls
Manufacturers of Window Shades.

LIVERY.

Laing's Hotel Stables

Front street, opposite Madison avenue.
Coaches for Weddings, Parades and Private Calls. Light carriages of all descriptions for business.
RIDING OR LIVERY.
Careful, safe drivers for shopping calls or pleasure drives. Special attention given to boarding horses by the day, week or month. 10y1
TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 28.

RICKERT'S
ACCOMMODATION EXPRESS.
OFFICE—Vanderbeek's Hotel Store. Will attend to the general carrying business. All orders left at the office will receive prompt attention. Goods delivered to and from Depots, Steamboats and Steamships. Moving of Furniture, Pianos, etc., with care and safety.

INSURANCE.

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.

Fresh Garden Seeds
AND FERTILIZERS,
Farm and Garden Implements,
Lawn Mowers Refrigerators,
Ice Cream Freezers
Gasoline Stoves, Hardware, Tools, etc.
J. J. HEIDELOFF,
No. 13 Somerset St. 9-13-tf

GEORGE A. MOORE,
(Of the late firm of Moore Bros.)
is now the sole proprietor of the old established market at
NO. 14 NORTH AVENUE,
Where he will continue to supply patrons with the finest grades of
Fresh and Salt Meats,
Fish of all kinds, Oysters, Game, Game in season, at the Lowest Market Prices.
Anything not usually kept in stock, furnished at short notice. 1y37

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE
Hugo Weigman,
20 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON,
(Successor to W. J. Cotter.)
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—26 W. FRONT ST.
Is now prepared to do all kinds of Furniture and Freight Moving in the most careful manner. Orders left at the office will receive prompt attention. Residence, 8 E. Second st. P. O. Box 1

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.
H. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of and Dealer in
C. O. D. CIGAR,
The best 5 cent cigar in the State, and made from the finest Havana tobacco.
OLMA HAVANA SEGARS AND SMOKERS.
A large assortment of other Domestic and Imported Segars, Tobacco and Smokers' Articles in Great Variety.

C. M. FINE,
DEALER IN HAVANA & DOMESTIC
SEGARS!
No. 8 PARK AVE., (NEXT DOOR TO POSTOFFICE.)
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Tobacco and Smoker's Materials, of every description.

A. WOLFF,
Manufacturer of
CIGARS,
And Jobber in all kinds of Smoking and Chewing Tobacco and Snuff. Orders by mail promptly filled. Send for price list. No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield, N. J. Also, Wholesale Agent for Manufacturer of Myrtle Navy Tobacco. "Old Judge" Smoking Tobacco. Cheroots and Cigarettes. Orders solicited.

PAINTERS & PAINTERS' SUPPLIES.

Paints, Varnishes, Glass,
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALL PAPERS!
PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY.
A. SWALM,
No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.

L. D. COGGESHALL. A. P. MORRIS
Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS,
Wall Papers,
ALSTEN'S SUPPLIES. 26 SOUTH AVENUE

STORY OF OLD LETTERS.

Newest Plaiting Tells of a Masked Affection.

Showing That Good Fruit Cannot Grow Up from the Seed of Evil—Reading on His Own Old Home Was Always Golden.

[COPYRIGHT, 1892.]

When Maude found that packet of letters in my desk she instantly knew by the appearance of her husband's identity of intuition that they were from a woman. She also knew that this woman was perfectly horrid, and that I had loved the dreadful creature all the time, and never told one word about it to my wife. She knew that if she read them she could never be happy again, and she instantly set about making awful entanglements to do it. She wished that I were present so that she could see me squirm; but though I was due to return in about two minutes and decided not to wait. With her breast full of that perplexing satisfaction which comes to all of us when our worst fears are realized, she broke the seal, and taking the oldest letter from the bottom of the packet read these words:

OLD HOUSE WAS WAITING.

ST. THATH, May 17, 1872.

DEAR HONEY: Father has got it in his head of the money. I am a goose. Old Bones is waiting on the plains. He will have his money, too, the rope is in Nicodemus's room and I owe him for it. Nicodemus is a fool. He will sell you his own father, and if you haven't any money, apply. I am forgive the English, for that is evidently his stenographer's, but the sentiments, I fear, are Fony's.

POST.

P. S.—O-yes.

I know it just as Maude, having finished this letter, was trying to look as if she hadn't opened it and anything in particular.

"What thought you'd found some love letters?" said I. "Well, they're not what you took them for, but there's a horrible affection, and more than one nineteenth century blight on it in that little bundle that you'll find in a drawer of the divorce court, since you've brought these letters. It's the light, let's look them through and see what's the matter of the only man I ever really loved."

"So we will, Ben."

"Signed Fanny Brown, called 'Fony' as college, where that note was written. Those are his letters to me. You see, I was a little girl within the influence of a seminary varied, the subject of which was myself. Fony was one of the pupils. In that note I must also add a ball bat, telling him to pay Nicholson, and that's what Fony was to me. Nicholson is down, so he pays Nicholson. He would only have to pay me if I were entirely satisfied, and Fony bought a play bat with the 40 which remained. He was to have his next letter, which he did on the paper of Holcomb, Reardon & Co., Rides and Leather, 17 New York. He wrote that for the first at the seminary after his graduation with highest honors at college. Here you are:

NEW YORK, Oct. 17, 1872.

DEAR HONEY: Send me fifteen dollars by return mail. I am dead broke. I will be flush on receipt of your letter, for will send up a draft for $100 on Monday. I will be with you for Sunday to pay back the fifteen and the rest of the money. I am dead broke and have a red-eyed cousin with me. Ever yours, FONY.

"Do you need to go on reciting?" said Maude, in the severe tone of a woman who thinks that she has drawn a diamond out of the rubbish.

HE REFUSES OF HIS SIDE.

"I might go on and say that the money Fony spoke of." I replied. "I never saw it. The old man threw a cane to bear with all his possessions, and I had to pay him $50 to get rid of him."

"And didn't he pay you at all? I thought he was real rich."

"Ye, he's rich enough in these days. He was poor. He would have given me anything he had in the days when he didn't have anything. Take this note for instance."

"Dear Honey: I will be up on Monday and for your money, and if you don't have it ready for me I will make you wish you had. Yours, FONY."

"Now, you see, he would have done it if I had had him. I must have had a fancy for him, and I was pretty young, though the goddess [illegible] and then he [illegible] to the other.

"Here are a number of notes I received from that precious old man. I was at all times so [illegible] that I could not see [illegible] the others. Here is one:

"DEAR HONEY: I've got the money. Have [illegible] and I'll be up on the 5 o'clock train. Don't keep me waiting. Don't keep me waiting. Don't keep me waiting

The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORCE. } A. L. FORCE
Editors and Proprietors.

DEMOCRACY.

The Democratic party nobly maintains its original and eternal position as the stalwart defender of popular rights against every species of hostility.

For a century it has fearlessly battled for the people, for civil and religious liberty, and, if necessary, it will wage like warfare for a hundred years to come.

It has seen opposing parties rise, boastingly flaunt their banners on the political field, resort to desperate expedients to prolong existence, at times attain temporary success, and then sink into oblivion.

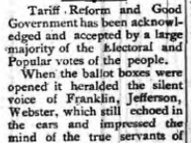
And still the Democratic hosts have onward marched, keeping step to the tunes of Constitutional loyalty.

A government deriving its just powers from the people and for their permanent benefit, regardless of class, creed or worldly condition, and guaranteed by a written and ratified Constitution, and upheld by a Union of co-equal States, in the full enjoyment of reserved rights, is the sure basis of Democratic fidelity.

Democracy is for the people, the free and independent people, not to fraudulently enrich and crown with governing authority a privileged portion, but to protect the equal rights and promote the prosperity and happiness of all.

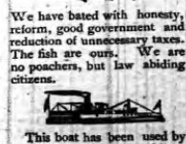
On that solid rock is planted the standard of Democracy.

269 Electoral Votes!
Grant's Great Victory over Greeley Outdone.



Tariff Reform and Good Government has been acknowledged and accepted by a large majority of the Electoral and Popular votes of the people.

When the ballot boxes were opened it heralded the silent voice of Franklin, Jefferson, Webster, which still echoed in the ears and impressed the mind of the true servants of the people—The Democratic Party!



We have bated with honesty, reform, good government and reduction of unnecessary taxes. The fish are ours. We are no poachers, but law abiding citizens.

This boat has been used by all parties. The Republican Party have been tendered the use of the boat by the majority of the people of this broad and enlightened land.

TOM AND JERRY

Will be dispensed with in the 53rd Congress.

Hon. TOM WATSON of Ga., and the Hon. JERRY SIMPSON of Kansas.

THE LATEST FIGURES

Cleveland's Plurality in the Electoral College Will Be at Least 266.

OHIO AND CALIFORNIA CLAIMED BY THE DEMOCRATS.

RESULT DOUBTFUL IN BOTH STATES.

Weaver, Third Party Candidate, Has 22 Votes so Far and Chelses Him—His Party Will Probably Hold the Balance of Power in the United States Senate—Democrats Have About 100 Majority in the House of Representatives—Latest Returns from States and Counties.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The latest returns do not materially change the result as first announced.

Mr. Cleveland is elected to the Presidency, having carried the solid South and a great number of hitherto doubtful States, as is shown in the table printed below.

The surprises of the day are the possibility that he may have carried the State of Ohio, and the strengthening of the possibility that he may have carried California.

Kansas gives her vote to the People's party.

Indiana, Illinois, and Wisconsin are safe for the Democratic candidate.

The Legislatures elected in the various States have changed from Republican to Democratic, and the United States Senate will probably have a small working majority in the United States Senate.

In the House the Democratic majority will not be far from 100.

The majority in New York State is 4,288 for Cleveland. In New York city it is 78,849.

The Assembly is Democratic by 10 majority.

THE ELECTORAL COLLEGE.

Table Showing State Votes for Republican, Democratic and People's Parties.

STATES.	Harrison.	Cleveland.	Weaver.	Bidwell.
Alabama		11
California				8
Colorado			4
Connecticut		6
Delaware		3
Florida		4
Georgia		13
Illinois		24
Indiana		15
Iowa			13
Kansas			9
Kentucky		13
Louisiana		8
Maine	6
Maryland		8
Massachusetts		15
Michigan		14
Minnesota			9
Mississippi		9
Missouri		17
Nebraska			8
Nevada			1
New Hampshire		4
New Jersey		10
New York		36
North Carolina		11
North Dakota			1
Ohio		23
Oregon			4
Pennsylvania		30
Rhode Island		4
South Carolina		9
South Dakota			2
Tennessee		12
Texas		15
Vermont		4
Virginia		12
Washington			4
West Virginia		6
Wisconsin		12
Wyoming			1
Total	144	276	22	8

Necessary for choice.....223

THESE WERE BIG BETS.

Some of the Money That Will Now Change Hands.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The man who made bets on the results of the election are now looking around for the stakeholders.

Michael Dyner is said to have won $75,000. He put up about $180,000 at big odds to win.

Joseph J. O'Donohue won over $60,000. Edward Murphy, jr., wins about $60,000. Edward Kearney will be $25,000 better off when he collects his bets. Sidney Dillon Ripley, Wall Street, loses about $12,3000. Bookmaker J. Mahoney made $50,000.

Eddie Talcott wins $6,000; Louis Bell, $5,000; Peter Palmer, about $60,000; Bill Dinkins, $5,000; William J. Thompson, $30,000; Pat Duffy of New Orleans, $60,000 to Peter Palmer; Solomon of Georgia, boys; H. A. Hart, $15,000.

Dave Hirsh lost about $60,000; Bookmaker Wheelock, $30,000; Billy Edwards, about $200,000 to be paid in London; Bookmaker Fred Lees about $12,000.

CONGRATULATING THE WINNER.

Mr. Cleveland Receives a Party of Prominent Men.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Several gentlemen from the Democratic National Headquarters went up to see Mr. Cleveland at his residence, soon after the result of the election was known, to congratulate him on his victory.

There were in the party Chairman William F. Harrity, Don M. Dickinson, Comptroller A. Fairchild, William C. Whitney, C. D. Baldwin, Henry Villard and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland were not upon the portico and Mr. Cleveland made a short speech, in acknowledgment of the congratulations.

Mr. Cleveland said:

"This seems to be the hour for rejoicing. We have earned a great victory. I attribute it to the rank and file of the party and to the efficient work of the National Committee."

WEST.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—The latest returns do not materially affect the Democratic majority in the State of Illinois, either in the State or Congressional districts. Governor Altgeld's majority will probably reach 30,000. All parties now concede the State to Cleveland by a majority of 25,000. Harrison will be apparently 15,000.

THE NEXT HOUSE.

It Will be Democratic by a Large Working Majority.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The best possible compilation of the election returns for Congressmen, made up from the latest returns, is presented below.

The returns, as yet, of course, are very incomplete, and changes will have to be made to the figures as both sides, as the latter reports will probably steer the defeat of a number of Congressmen now said to be elected, and vice versa.

The figures, however, clearly indicate that the next House of Representatives will be Democratic by a large working majority, which will doubtless finally be found to be somewhere between 50 and 80.

According to the present compilation, there will be 224 Democrats, 122 Republicans, and 7 third party men in the next House, with 3 additional to be made to complete the quota of 356 members.

There were in the last House 238 Democrats, 99 Republicans and 9 Independents, or 332 members in all. The result is a Democratic gain for the Republicans, as compared with the recommendations candidate of two years ago, at that the Republicans will still need those two votes in the national legislative chamber for their measures.

But though the Democrats have lost a score of votes, as compared with the present House, their majority is certainly large enough for all practical purposes, and the strength of the Republicans will be pretty nearly the same in the next House as in this, but they will raise the pressure of their two most aggressive representatives, Tom Watson of Georgia and Jerry Simpson of Kansas—Democrats with Davis, of Kansas, will be the leading Third party men in the next House.

CONGRESSMEN ELECTED.

STATES.
Alabama	9
Arkansas	6
California	3	1
Colorado		1
Connecticut	4
Delaware	1
Florida	2
Georgia	11
Illinois	15	6
Indiana	13
Iowa	7	4
Kansas		1	7
Kentucky	10
Louisiana	6
Maine	1	4
Maryland	6
Massachusetts	3	12
Michigan	9	5
Minnesota	3	5
Mississippi	7
Missouri	13	4
Nebraska	1	1	1
Nevada		1
New Hampshire	2	2
New Jersey	7	4
New York	20	19
North Carolina	9
North Dakota		1
Ohio	15	8
Oregon		1
Pennsylvania	26	7
Rhode Island	2
South Carolina	7
South Dakota		1
Tennessee	10
Texas	13
Vermont		2
Virginia	10
Washington		1
West Virginia	4
Wisconsin	8	4
Wyoming		1
Total	224	122	7	3

Necessary for choice.....178

NEW JERSEY.

Pluralities for Cleveland and Worts—Legislature and Congressmen.

TRENTON, Nov. 10.—Returns up to this morning show that Cleveland has carried the State of New Jersey by 7,749, and that the Democratic, for Governor, has been elected by a plurality of 4,000.

The next Legislature will stand as follows:

Senate—Republicans, 4; Democrats, 17; House—Democrats, 36; Republicans, 25.

The Democratic majority on joint ballot will be 21—which leaves a net Republican gain of 1.

The candidates for Congress elected in New Jersey are as follows, with their respective pluralities:

	Majority.
1—C. C. Londenslager, Rep.,	2,000
2—John J. Gardner, Rep.,	5,500
3—Edward Andrews, Dem.,	2,000
4—Johnson Cornish, Dem.,	2,000
5—Marcellus Cadwalader, Dem.,	600
6—Thomas H. Dudley, Dem.,	600
7—George H. Fielder, Dem.,	4,000
8—John T. Dunn, Dem.,	900

Vote by counties:

COUNTIES.
Atlantic				150
Bergen
Burlington
Camden				1,200
Cape May
Cumberland
Essex
Gloucester
Hudson
Hunterdon
Mercer
Middlesex
Monmouth
Morris
Ocean
Passaic
Salem
Somerset
Sussex
Union
Warren
Total
Cleveland's majority				4,000

OHIO.

Result to Hinge—Democrats Made Gains in the Reserves.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 10.—Returns do only surprising Democratic gains in the reserve counties, and the result hinges on the fact that the result is in doubt, and that Ohio's electoral vote may be cast for either Cleveland or Harrison.

At present, Harrison has a margin of 700, but these are estimated and not yet official. James R. Garfield, of Mr. Garfield's executive committee, has estimated that Cleveland will have 1,000 plurality, and Mr. Foraker claims that the election by a majority of 500. It is not the entire duty of the Democrats to do.

VIRGINIA.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Nov. 10.—A fifth, more than two-thirds of the State has reported, and Cleveland's majority is 20,000, with indications of an increase to 25,000. Democratic majority in the Fifth District for Congress in formerly doubtful county is about 2,000; Democratic majority in the Fourth District, 2,000; majority of about 3,000. It is the entire duty of the Democrats to do.

NEBRASKA.

OMAHA, Sept. 8.—Republicans have probably elected the Governor and entire State ticket in Nebraska by a small majority. Democrats claim the State by a small majority. Boyd, Democrat, for Congress, will run have over 500 majority.

WISCONSIN.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 10.—Democrats Claim—Gain Will Help Cleveland and Pack—Returns received by midnight indicate that Cleveland has carried Wisconsin by 15,000, a net Democratic gain of 25,000 over the vote of 1888.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Harrison's Plurality Over 24,000—Republican Gain Over Congressmen.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—Harrison's plurality in Philadelphia is 24,000. In Philadelphia alone 24,000 Republicans and 10 Democrats, an increase of one Republican, as follows:

First district, Henry H. Bingham, Rep.; 2, Charles O. Bell, Rep.; 3, John Dalzell, Rep.; 4, John L. Hill, Rep.; 5, A. C. Harmon, Rep.; 6, Charles B. Brumm, Rep.; 7, Robert H. Foerderer, Dem.; 8, Wm. H. Hutchison, Dem.; 9, C. Brister, Dem.; 10, Samuel A. Davis, Rep.; 11, J. C. Sellers, Rep.; 12, Wm. H. Simonton, Dem.; 13, James B. Reilly, Dem.; 14, Wm. McAleer, Dem.; 15, Robert Adams, jr., Rep.; 16, A. C. Harmer, Rep.; 17, J. P. Kay, Rep.; 18, Thomas S. Butler, Rep.; 19, F. E. Beltzhoover, Rep.; 20, W. A. Stone, Rep.; 21, E. F. Acheson, Rep.; 22, Philip C. Wright, Rep.; 23, Wm. Mutchler, Dem.; 24, John Buchanan, Dem.; 25, Samuel A. Craig, Rep.; 26, W. A. Duncan, Rep.; 27, C. W. Stone, Rep.; 28, Thomas Marshall, Rep.

Following is the vote by counties:

COUNTIES.
Adams
Allegheny
Armstrong
Beaver
Bedford
Berks
Blair
Bradford
Bucks
Butler
Cambria
Cameron
Carbon
Centre
Chester
Clarion
Clearfield
Clinton
Columbia
Crawford
Cumberland
Dauphin
Delaware
Elk
Erie
Fayette
Forest
Franklin
Fulton
Greene
Huntingdon
Indiana
Jefferson
Juniata
Lackawanna
Lancaster
Lawrence
Lebanon
Lehigh
Luzerne
Lycoming
McKean
Mercer
Mifflin
Monroe
Montgomery
Montour
Northampton
Northumberland
Perry
Philadelphia
Pike
Potter
Schuylkill
Snyder
Somerset
Sullivan
Susquehanna
Tioga
Union
Venango
Warren
Washington
Wayne
Westmoreland
Wyoming
York
Total

Returns are still incomplete owing to new election law and poor canvassing. Figures so far received indicate that Weaver will carry the State by 3,000.

On Governor the result is very doubtful. Gen. Hastings (Rep.) will have a Vote as expected, and Norton (Dem.) probably a majority of 14. Van Wyk (Independent) has no strong showing in any locality, Quay is defeated.

The Legislature will be about 25 per cent. Republicans, 40 Independent and 20 per cent. Democratic.

CONNECTICUT.

Cleveland Has Over 5,000—Senate Rooted Democratic—Governor Makes a Run.

HARTFORD, Nov. 10.—Nothing in the later returns received changes the result here materially. Cleveland's plurality is 3,647.

The report that sufficient Prohibition votes were cast to prevent the election of Morris' election is now confirmed by the drift of the official returns, more than enough.

The State Senate is a tie. The House shows a Republican majority of 14.

Lewis Sperry, Dem., is elected to Congress from the 1st district by 347.

Miles S. Pupin, Dem., is elected in the second district by 2,045. Charles Hall (Rep.) elected in the third district by 527, a falling off of 618 votes from last year's vote. Sidney E. Dean, Dem., is reelected from the fourth district by 3,091. The State Senate is a tie on joint ballot, but have about 30 majority in the House.

COUNTIES.
Fairfield
Hartford
Litchfield
Middlesex
New Haven
New London
Tolland
Windham
Total
Cleveland's majority

VIRGINIA.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Nov. 10.—A fifth, more than two-thirds of the State has reported, and Cleveland's majority is 20,000, with indications of an increase to 25,000. Democratic majority in the Fifth District for Congress in formerly doubtful county is about 2,000; Democratic majority in the Fourth District, 2,000; majority of about 3,000. It is the entire duty of the Democrats to do.

NEBRASKA.

OMAHA, Sept. 8.—Republicans have probably elected the Governor and entire State ticket in Nebraska by a small majority. Democrats claim the State by a small majority. Boyd, Democrat, for Congress, will run have over 500 majority.

WISCONSIN.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 10.—Democrats Claim—Gain Will Help Cleveland and Pack—Returns received by midnight indicate that Cleveland has carried Wisconsin by 15,000, a net Democratic gain of 25,000 over the vote of 1888.

CANADIAN COMMENTS.

How the Result Is Looked Upon by Leading Journals.

TORONTO, Nov. 9.—The "Mail" says: Coming on the heels of the Presidential election comes the news of the overwhelming majority of Mr. Gladstone and the Liberals in the British elections. The Liberals have practically control of the House of Commons, and will be able to form a Government without the aid of the Irish members. Gladstone will be the head of the Government, and will be able to carry out the policy of Home Rule for Ireland. The Liberals have also a majority of the Scotch members, and will be able to carry out the policy of Home Rule for Scotland. The Liberals have also a majority of the Welsh members, and will be able to carry out the policy of Home Rule for Wales. The Liberals have also a majority of the English members, and will be able to carry out the policy of Home Rule for England. The Liberals have also a majority of the Irish members, and will be able to carry out the policy of Home Rule for Ireland. The Liberals have also a majority of the Scotch members, and will be able to carry out the policy of Home Rule for Scotland. The Liberals have also a majority of the Welsh members, and will be able to carry out the policy of Home Rule for Wales. The Liberals have also a majority of the English members, and will be able to carry out the policy of Home Rule for England.

The Delights of Travel Without Its Discomforts.

Special re-engagement of the distinguished traveler and lecturer,

Mr. H. H. Regan,

In a brilliant new series of his

ILLUSTRATED LECTURES,

At Music Hall, Plainfield, N. J.,

Under the management of Mr. Demarest.

Dates and subjects as follows:—Wednesday, Nov. 16—"Paris, the Magnificent." Monday, Nov. 21—"Switzerland and the Alps." Wednesday, Nov. 23—"The Lake Region and the Adirondacks." Saturday, Dec. 3—"Sunsets of the Tropics."

Four tickets will be superbly illustrated.

POPULAR PRICES—Course ticket, including reserved seat, for the four lectures, $1 50; Scholar's course ticket, including reserved seat, $1 00; single reserved seat, to either lecture, 50 cents; to boys 25, 40 and 75 cents.

Sale of reserved seats will open at the Central Pharmacy Thursday morning, Nov. 10. Lectures at 8; curtain rises at 8 20.

We have just completed our stock of

BUSINESS SUITS

For the Fall season, and can show you a choice line of selected styles in any quality you may wish.

$10, $12 and $15

Are popular prices for Business Suits, and we are showing a line of suits that we have never seen equaled at these prices. They are trimmed in the best manner, thoroughly well made, and a perfect fit is guaranteed. In

Boys' and Children's Suits

We have manufactured a great variety of styles in Cheviots, Cassimeres, Worsted Beltings, etc., and as our stock is entirely new this season, we can show you all the latest shapes and styles.

KILPATRICK & BETTS,

745 & 747 Broad Street,

NEAR ACADEMY, NEWARK. 10 20 2m

THE ELECTION.

Additions to Mr. Cleveland's Electoral Vote—Ohio Probably Democratic—California Almost Sure for Mr. Cleveland.

Cleveland	300
Harrison	118
Weaver	22

Returns received since yesterday materially increased Mr. Cleveland's lead in the Electoral College, and he now seems likely to receive 300 votes. The most remarkable change made by the latest returns is in the State of Ohio, which is now claimed by the Democrats by about 2,000 plurality, and conceded by the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette (Rep.) by a few hundred. California also is said to be Democratic by small majorities. Indiana is safe for the Democratic candidate for President. In Indiana the majority will be decisive, the Democrats claiming 7,000.

The returns of Representatives in Congress elected indicate that the next House will have a Democratic majority over all of 80 votes. The returns of members of various State legislatures which will elect United States Senators at present indicate that the Democrats will outnumber the combined strength of Republicans and Fusionists in the Senate, the estimate standing 45 Democrats, 36 Republicans, and 5 People's party.

Nasty Winter in Indian Summer

Three inches of snow fell Wednesday in Plainfield and vicinity. The snow was wet and clinging, and combined everything in its feathery folds, making a beautiful picture. Rain fell during the night and washed much of the snow away. The weight of snow broke down wires and interfered with the fire-alarm system. The storm was a very cold one, and caused considerable suffering on the shivering things.

CATARRH

ELY'S CREAM BALM

Opens the Nasal Passages.

Allays Pain and Inflammation.

Heals the Sores.

Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell.

HAY-FEVER

DO YOU COUGH

DON'T DELAY TAKE KEMP'S BALSAM

FOR COUGHS

Ely's Cream Balm Co., Owego, N. Y.

IT'S FREE

To Patrons

OF THE

NEWARK BEE HIVE!

Who buy $10.00 worth of goods at one time, or that amount traded out on several occasions before Jan. 1st, '93.

"GOOD FORM"

A Monthly Magazine for One Year Free under above conditions.

IT TREATS OF

Bobby Gems and Beauty,
Beautiful Flowers, Health,
The Nursery,
Social Customs, Current & Character,
Amusements,
Literary Work,
Etiquette,
Household Hints,
Fiction,
Romance & of other interesting things.

IT WILL PROVE A VALUABLE ADDITION TO THE READING CIRCLE OF YOUR FAMILY.

SEND YOUR NAME

WE'LL SEND FULL DETAILS

Or leave yes, apply for Magazine Card when you come in person.

If you buy $10.00 worth of goods from us, you get it for one year free.

If you wish to subscribe for the Magazine without the purchasing condition, it can be obtained at publishers' price of $1.00 per year. Sent postpaid upon receipt of an order.

NO BRANCH STORES.

L. S. Plant & Co., 707-721 Broad St.

FURS!

We invite attention to our large assortment of Furs and Fur Garments in all the latest Imported and Domestic Fashions.

Shoulder Capes and Neck Scarfs are our specialties for the fall trade.

A full assortment of Gentlemen's Furs, Robes, Rugs and Coachmen's Outfits always on hand.

W. H. & R. BURNETT,

(Branch Geo. C. Trendwell Co.)

17 Academy Street, Newark, N. J.

$75 to $250 A MONTH can be made by those with a little capital to handle Stocks and Bonds on Margin. Particulars free. Address, with stamp, T. POTTER WITHERS & CO., Bankers and Brokers, 45 Broadway, New York.

NOTICE

In keeping with their F. S. Motto of the city of Plainfield, and that they make all the people of Plainfield and vicinity their friends, the Plainfield Gas Light Co. will hereafter allow a discount of 10 per cent. on all bills paid on or before the 10th of each month.

PLAINFIELD GAS LIGHT CO.

Plainfield, Oct. 15, 1892.

$5 REWARD for any dog lost in or outside of our Dispensary limits, and from any cause, except poisoning, during the past year. Dogs found killed by poison will be buried free of charge. Apply at Dispensary, corner Main and Liberty streets.

Plainfield, Nov. 1, 1892. 11 2 1m

Woven Wire Bedsprings And Mixed Mattresses

GIVEN AWAY!

I will give to every purchaser of a Bedroom Suit a Mixed Mattress and Woven Wire Bed Spring until further notice.

28 Antique Oak Bedroom Suits, 8 pieces, regular price $30, Reduced to	$25 00
20 Antique Oak Bedroom Suits, 8 pieces, regular price $40, Reduced to	30 00
10 Antique Oak Bedroom Suits, 8 pieces, regular price $50, Reduced to	35 00

These prices include Woven Wire Bed Spring and Mattress with every suit.

CARPETS.

Tapestry Brussels Carpet. Only per yard	60 Cts.
Only 5 frame Body Brussels. Only per yard	$1.00
11th Wire Brussels Carpet. Only per yard	60 Cts.
Low-priced Ingrain Carpet. Only per yard	35 Cts.
Velvet Carpet. Only per yard	$1.00
Moquette Carpet. Only per yard	1.10

PARLOR SUITS.

Good parlor suits, mahogany finished frames, covered in plush. Only	$35.00
Good parlor suits, mahogany finished frames, in rep covering. Only	42.00
Good parlor suits, mahogany finished frames, in silk tapestry covering. Only	60.00
Good parlor suits, mahogany finish frame, in silk hair cloth covering. Only	75.00

PORTLAND RANGES.

One hundred and fifty sold last month. That tells the whole story what the Ranges are. Every one warranted or money refunded. The largest line of Parlor Stoves in the city.

Terms:—

$ 75 down and	$ 75 weekly	on $10 00 worth
2 50 down and	75 weekly	on 25 00 worth
4 00 down and	1 00 weekly	on 50 00 worth
6 00 down and	1 25 weekly	on 75 00 worth
8 00 down and	1 25 weekly	on 100 00 worth
12 00 down and	1 50 weekly	on 150 00 worth
16 00 down and	2 00 weekly	on 200 00 worth

Telephone 580! Elevator to Every Floor!

Goods Delivered FREE OF CHARGE to All Parts of the State!

FULL NAME

AMOS H. VAN HORN.

My only place of Business is at

73 Market Street,

Near Plane St., Newark, N. J.

NO BRANCH STORES. 10-6-1y

Misses A. L. & M. D. GORSLINE,

Fancy Goods, Notions, Art Needle Work, Painted Novelties, &c.,

14 WEST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

STAMPING AND DESIGNING A SPECIALTY.

ARTISTIC OUTLINING AND EMBROIDERY. 4 9 tf

43 YEARS AGO

We began talking to this community about Men's and Boys' Clothing. We are still at it and propose to continue.

Our stock of Suits and Overcoats embrace every desirable shade and pattern for the season of '92. They are the most perfect-fitting garments we have ever produced. All our own reliable make.

No other house does—ever did—or ever will—give such sterling qualities at such low prices as we quote.

MEN'S SUITS $8 TO $25.
MEN'S OVERCOATS $8 TO $22.
BOYS' SUITS AND OVERCOATS $4 TO $15.
CHILDREN'S SUITS AND OVERCOATS $2 TO $10.

Stoutenburgh & Co.,

Newark Clothiers,

779, 801, 803 and 805 Broad Street. 10 13 2m

STOVES. STOVES.

The finest line of Heating and Cook Stoves in the city. Parlor Stoves from $4.50 up; Cook Stoves from $12 up.

Agents for the celebrated "Palace King" furnace, conceded by everyone to be the best furnace in the market.

Also all kinds of Hardware, Housefurnishings, Paints, &c.

ZIMMERMAN & RUMPF'S,

Successors to Pierson Hardware Co. 7 11 tf 42 West Front Street.

SEPARATE storage rooms with fireproof walls for the furniture of those in the element and best in the city. Also office rooms. Apply to Wm. M. Stillman on the premises. 10 15 4-y 10 4 cow

Read This 6 1-2 Per Cent 50 Yrs.

Absolutely Safe Investment.

Quarterly Dividends. Can be sold at par at any time. Pamphlet free.

Geo. Leonard, 245 Washington Street, Boston, Mass. 10 15 2m

Dime Savings Institution

OF PLAINFIELD, N. J.

In now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three (3) per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually.

JOHN W. HUBBARD, President.
WILLIAM WOOD, Vice-President.
RALPH BAILEY, Secretary.
ELIAS S. DARR, Treasurer. 10 8 3m

TOWNSEND'S

Marble & Granite Works,

30 SOMERSET STREET,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

If you have not purchased your work, I should be pleased to call on you. Prices and designs are as low and better than can be found elsewhere. Orders left with residence of Mrs. Dr. Hall, 24 Somerset street, will receive prompt attention.

Having purchased the entire stock and business of Mr. Wm. Wood, I am enabled to make a reduction in the price of my work to my customers, and will guarantee satisfaction in every case.

I am under a very small expense in running my business, and can afford to sell at a small profit. Having had many years' experience in the trade, and having had the best of workmen in my employ, I feel safe in saying that I can give satisfaction in every case. Please call and examine my stock and work before purchasing elsewhere. Thanking you for your patronage, I remain,

Yours truly,

J. E. TOWNSEND,

Manager. 9 11 tf

Branch Yard, Plainfield, N. J.

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

J. A. DEMAREST - - City Editor.

—Don't miss the Regan course this year.

—The four new overcoats of the fire department drivers cost the city $90.

—An entertainment will be given at the Boys' club rooms next Monday evening.

—A new electric light is to be placed on Beckman street between Front and Second.

—It was John Mahin, not James, who was fined $5.50 for drunkenness by Judge Codington last Friday.

—Walter Wyckoff of West Eighth street was married Monday to Miss Rhoda McCormick of Railway.

—The Republican leaders received returns in the Crescent club, but got sick at midnight and deserted the tickets.

—The negro in the First ward started to vote the entire four tickets, and wound up by depositing an empty envelope.

—What are the commissioners doing in the matter of widening Front street? That thoroughfare should be widened at once.

—Thanks to councilman Evans's efforts, the people of West Third street between New and Central avenue are to have a new electric street light.

—Councilman Galpin and Johnston were the absentees from the city council meeting. The session was brief, and only routine business was done.

—An anxious Republican in North Plainfield, who is absent minded as to his exact address, had a receipted grocery bill, put it in the official envelope and vote it.

—Corporation counsel Craig A. Marsh says that R. B. Townsend, who was stunned and damages because his wagon was smashed in collision with a fire truck, has no case against the city.

—Grootnaat & Co., wholesale dealers in diamonds at 20 Maiden Lane, New York, have failed and made an assignment to Frederick Lewis of this city. The liabilities are about $6,000.

—Motion of councilman Erickson, J. F. MacDonald was given a vote of thanks by the common council Monday night, for his service in securing the new engine-house lot at a moderate price.

—The sale of reserved seats for the Regan course of illustrated lectures at Music Hall, will begin at the Cosgrove pharmacy Thursday morning. Price for the entire course, $1.50. Scholars, 31.

—On the recommendation of Mayor Saunders, the borough lamps committee will look into the matter of re-arranging the street lamps for more efficient lighting, to report at the December meeting.

—Keen ran behind his ticket in every ward in Plainfield in spite of the hundreds of dollars openly spent in his interests. The majority for the Republican ticket in this city was 411; Keen's majority, 274.

—The ordinance to macadamize West Third street as adopted on second reading Monday night, and ordered engrossed and advertised. The property holders will pay 80 cents per lineal foot, of the expense.

—The borough council will make the Edison Electric Light company pay the contract penalty for lamps left unlighted. Double the amount charged per lamp will be deducted for each lamp left unlighted each night.

—Car No. 1 of the Plainfield Street Railway company, with motorman McDowell and conductor Hedges in charge, fired its run over the extended line to the railroad station, Thursday. The trip was made at 10:30.

—Councilman Marsh spotted a disreputable-looking person prowling about in the councilmen's private room, Monday evening, and immediately had the constable order signs "Private" and "No admittance" put on the door.

—A paper on "A Bicycle Trip in Europe in the Summer of 1893" will be read by F. G. Whiland at Mr. Leal's school, at 45 south church; Park avenue, to-morrow evening at 8. All who are interested are cordially invited to be present.

—E. C. Mulford, the North avenue broker, has just received a large map of the Columbian Fair, showing the position of the Exposition Hotels. Call at his office and see it and get other valuable information concerning the great event.

THE VICTORS WILL MARCH.

And it is Requested That Everybody Along the Line Will Illuminate.

The victorious tariff reformers, friends of good government and Democrats, will have a parade through the streets of Plainfield this evening in honor of the election of Grover Cleveland.

The line of march will be: From at Crescent building, through Peace street to North avenue, to Park, to Front, to Somerset, to Emily, to Grove, to Front, to Liberty, to Edwards, to Park avenue, to Ninth, to Broadway, to Seventh, to Park avenue, to Fifth, to Peace.

The Democratic association of North Plainfield will join the ranks.

Where Quail and Deer Abound.

The best quail shooting may be had in the Shenandoah Valley, Va., and the best deer hunting in the mountains of West Virginia. Both sections are accessible by Baltimore and Ohio express trains from New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington. For detailed information as to rates, time of trains, etc., write to Chas O. Scull, general passenger agent, B. & O. R. R., Baltimore, Md. 3

Committee A Fish's Big Sorrow.

Councilman Fisk caused considerable merriment at Monday night's council meeting by a motion to borrow $600,000 for the fire department fund. "What are you going to build?" queried councilman Marsh—"an engine house?" Mr. Fisk meant $600. This was ordered borrowed, and $4,500 for the general fund. $600 was returned to the general fund from the general fund, and $1,089 was appropriated from the general fund for the streets.

Charming Women of Plainfield Who Will Take Part.

In the entertainment to be given in the Casino, Thursday evening, the 17th inst., for the benefit of the Creche, the following young ladies will positively will represent the mothers of the different nations:

Miss Lena Rose, India.
" May Kinkead, Italian.
" Amey Gross, Spanish.
" Flora Williams, Alexander French.
" Frances Hunnicutt, French.
" Jessie Forest, Dutch.
" Lotta Lewis, Norwegian.
" Augusta Hoisser, Swedish.
" Minnie Hoisser, Japanese.
" Bessie Miller, Siamese.
" C. Bellwig, Bronze French.
" Clara Shepherd, Arabian.
" Mary Robinson, Irish.
" Jennie Morrison, Scottish.
" Jennie Lewis, American.
" Minnie Stewart, Creole.
Mrs. William Saunders, Hungarian.

Caloric is Not Explosive.

It's Grant Bain, grocer, 1 Somerset street, who sells the Caloric stove. Call and see it. Prices low. Terms easy. Wash & Co., 1 Somerset street.

An article of fruit merit. C. P. Allen, Orange, Mass., says: "I can say with truth and pleasure that Hood's Sarsaparilla has done me more good than any other medicine I ever took. I was all run down, had no appetite, and was troubled with dizziness. Hood's Sarsaparilla has built me up, and I am now in excellent health." Get Hood's Sarsaparilla. It will do you good. Sold by druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar

PERSONALIA.

Gen. Long and family have returned from their summer home.

George Wetmore and family are at Hotel Savoy, New York, for the Winter.

Mrs. Gill and family of Nutley ward, have removed to 22 East Second street.

Harry VanKleeck has resigned as F. A. Fitchett's clerk at Boston, N. Y., for the winter.

Miss Carpenter, of East Front street, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Gillespie, at Round Brook.

Wm. G. Ayres has been appointed commissioner of appeals, vice Manning Yerkeslie, deceased.

Miss Kate Tuite, a popular young lady of Somerville, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Davis of West Second street.

The Rev. C. E. Herring, in all probability, will be installed as pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Tuesday evening, Nov. 22.

One hundred and fifty borough Democrats enlisted Mayor Saunders as a soldier on his books, and made him give a rousing speech.

Erkurius B. Dunham, waste of gas-master R. R. Pope, died of consumption at Railway, Saturday, aged 37 years, 7 months and 16 days.

The executive committee of the Methodists has voted it necessary to change the dates of this season's concerts to Dec. 6, Feb. 9 and April 10.

William R. Brower & Sons were awarded prizes for a basket and a vase of chrysanthemums, at the New York flower show, last week.

Mrs. T. O. Doane, wife of Plainfield's efficient chief engineer, is the victim of a severe attack of rheumatism, which is thought to be the result of an election proper bet of her husband's, id case Cleveland got elected.

At the home of the bride on West Third street, in this city, Sunday, the marriage took place of Mary Alice Stevens and Charles Robert Baker. The Rev. A. H. Lewis officiated.

Mr. Marr, of West Third street, merits the sympathy of the entire community. He has lost three children in two years. His wife, Mary, died Sunday, in her twenty-seventh year.

Jeremiah Head, "the carpenter preacher", was formally ordained pastor of the First Church of Christ Monday night, the Rev. J. B. Cheever officiating. He will make an earnest and successful minister.

A young Democrat arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Dubois, on the Craig farm, Rock road, Thursday morning at 10. He is a big boy. The Colonel out arrived too late to register his vote for Cleveland.

Charles Stillwell and wife, of Hamilton, Ontario, were guests of the latter's father, Samuel D. Frazee, in this city Friday. Mr. Stillwell is superintendent of the Edison Electric Light Works at Hamilton, which employs over 1,100 workmen.

The Rev. Charles E. Herring, the new pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city, held a most impressive communion service in the church Sunday morning. Five new members were received by letter from other churches.

The sympathy of a host of friends is extended George Lyons of South Brook, in his sister. The funeral announcements in the office of the corporation counsel, this city, in the death of their aged mother, who passed away aged 68 years.

George Washington DeMeza has been expediting two days at Trenton. He went there a plain citizen, and came back last night a full-fledged sitting justice. In passing passed a highly creditable examination, and being admitted to practice at the New Jersey bar, Judge Backentoss complimented him on his excellent rank.

Master Frank Demilkie of East Second street is deservedly proud of a solid-gold pin presented to him by the Jr. Christian endeavor society of Trinity Reformed church. The pin was offered as a prize for the member who would return the largest list of boys and girls at an Sunday-school connection who promised to attend the Trinity school.

Edward Winter, of the firm of Schapelin & Co., died early Friday morning in his fifteenth year, after an illness of a few weeks. He was a man of high moral worth and sterling integrity, and was of quite equity in the business world. He will be greatly missed from his wide circle of friends and acquaintances. He was a consistent member of the M. E. church.

The date of the Women's Foreign Missionary meeting has been changed from Tuesday, the 5th to Saturday, the 12th inst. Miss Elizabeth Bliss, daughter of Samuel Milliken, of this city, a missionary from Japan, will address the ladies at 2:30 p. m. in the parlors of the Crescent Avenue church. The will be present at 4. A cordial invitation is extended to all women and also to all the Mission Bands.

At the funeral services of the late Robert Winter, on Friday, the Rev. Mr. Dr. Hurlbut, officiating clergyman, was assisted by the Rev. James B. Bryan, of Washington, Warren county, formerly a pastor of the Plainfield M. E. church. The display of floral tributes at the funeral was very beautiful. The singing was very sweet. The selections "Rock of Ages" and "Abide with Me" were rendered by Mrs. W. A. Freeman, Miss Gussie Runyon, E. S. Runyon and Fred. Freeman. The pallbearers were Garret G. Packer, George R. Cornwell, C. H. Rogg, John Valvane, W. H. Griffen and Ezra Loomis.

Col. Electric Light Scores Here.

H. Newton Spencer is to be congratulated, indeed, for the gallant fight he made in his own district. His majority in North Plainfield was unprecedented. If ever a Republican deserved a majority, Spencer does. The townships of Franklin and Bridgewater defeated him. Spencer was traded there at wholesale for Ditts.

Let It Be Somerset.

A North Plainfield councilman expressed himself as satisfied that there is in the borough sufficient petitioning against or for up the proposed Somerset street railway, and that the railway will be put through that thoroughfare. Somerset street is the only available and convenient route.

Winter Excursion Tickets

To all Florida and other southern health and pleasure resorts, to Havana, Cuba, to Asheville, and Hot Springs, N. C., Luray, Old Point, Comfort, Atlanta City, and other winter resorts have been placed on sale at Baltimore and Ohio ticket offices at greatly reduced rates.

For detailed information as to rates apply to C. P. Craig, 415 Broadway, New York; A. J. Simmons, 211 Washington street, Boston; James Potter, 630 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, or Chas O. Scull, general passenger agent, Baltimore, Md.

—All colored Democrats are requested to meet at William R. Johnson's, 91 East Front street, this evening, for the purpose of turning out with the Democratic parade.

Registration.

To secure a normal and regular blood change throughout the body use BRANDRETH'S PILLS. This thorough cathartic gradually purifies and renovates every portion of these and its functions. BRANDRETH'S PILLS are the best solvent of the poisons of disease, the best invigorator of the system, and increases their efficiency. They are an alterative and tonic, a combination which adds irritation and removes obstruction by giving power and tone to the digestive organs, a cause of temporary and natural constipation. Sample free. Sold everywhere. Prepared only by B. Brandreth & Sons, Brandreth House, Liverpool, England. Brandreth's Pills are purely vegetable, absolutely harmless and safe to take at all times.

THE LOCAL VOTE.

REPUBLICANS HOLD THEIR OWN IN CITY AND BOROUGH.

The Democratic Whitewash Brushes Scrubbed and Tickets on Guard at the Rear of the County—Results of the Balloting.

First Ward.

Republican ballots	258
Democratic ballots	240
For President—
Harrison, Rep	258
Cleveland, Dem	240
For Senator—
Stockton, Rep	258
Pitney, Dem	240
For Assembly—
Republicans all but John W. Mercer
Democrats
For Sheriff—
John Keen, Jr., Rep
John T. Watts, Dem
For Coroner—
W. L. Hutchinson, Rep
John T. Dunn, Dem
For County Clerk—
Chas. Chamberlin, Rep	258
Jos. J. Gerber, Dem	240
For Surrogate—
Chas. Chamberlin, Rep	258
Jos. J. Gerber, Dem	240
For Freeholder—
Republicans
Democrats
For Commissioner—
Republicans
Democrats

Second Ward.

Republican ballots	271
Democratic ballots	229
For President—
Harrison, Rep	271
Cleveland, Dem	229
For Senator—
Republicans
Democrats
For Assembly—
Republican candidates, all but Mercer
Democrats
For Sheriff—
Republicans
Democrats, all but Clark
For Coroner—
Republicans
Democrats
For County Clerk—
Republicans
Democrats
For Surrogate—
Republicans
Democrats
For Freeholder—
Republicans
Democrats
For Commissioner—
Republicans
Democrats
For County Clerk—
Republicans
Democrats
For Surrogate—
Republicans
Democrats
For Coroner—
Republicans
Democrats
Prohibition votes, 10; Socialist Labor, 1

Fourth Ward.

Republican ballots	191
Democratic ballots	177
For President—	Gain.
Harrison, Rep	191
Cleveland, Dem	177
For Congress—
Connelly, Rep	191
Dunn, Dem	177
For Governor—
Kean, Rep	191
Werts, Dem	177
For County Clerk—
Chamberlin, Rep	191
Gerber, Dem	177
For Surrogate—
Chamberlin, Rep	191
Gerber, Dem	177
For Assembly—
Harris, Rep	191
Dunn, Dem	177
For Coroner—
Conring, Rep	191
Conring, Dem	177
For Sheriff—
Kyte, Rep	191
Cohen, Dem	177
Prohibition vote, 10; Socialist Labor, 1

The City's Majorities.

For President—
Harrison	271
For Congress—
Connelly	271
For Governor—
Kean	271
For County Clerk—
Chamberlin	271
For Surrogate—
Parrot	271

North Plainfield.

	Maj.	Gain.
For President—
Harrison, Rep	278	4
Cleveland, Dem	224	4
Bidwell and vice-president the same.
For Governor—
Kean, Rep	272
Werts, Dem	224
For Congress—
Wm. T. Hoffman, Rep	272
J. A. Quackenbos, Dem	229
For Surrogate—
H. F. Hoffman, Rep	272
Abram T. Reid, Dem	229
For Sheriff—
Jos. A. Ditts, Rep	282
Jacob S. Hoagland, Dem	227
For County Clerk—
Henry C. Adair, Rep	278
John F. Brady, Dem	224

Watchung.

For President—
Harrison	106
Cleveland	46
For Governor—
Kean	106
Werts	46
For Congress—
Connelly	106
Dunn	46
For County Clerk—
Chamberlin	106
Gerber	46
For Surrogate—
Chamberlin	106
Gerber	46
For Assembly—
Harris	106
Dunn	46
For Coroner—
Conring	106
Conring	46

Majorities in Western Township.

For President—
Cleveland, Dem	46
For Governor—
Werts, Dem	46
For Congressman—
Quackenbos, Dem	46
For County Clerk—
Gerber, Dem	46
For Surrogate—
Reid, Dem	46
For Coroner—
Conring, Dem	46
For Assembly—
Dunn, Dem	46
Coles	46

Majorities in Warren Township.

For President—
Cleveland, Dem	46
For Governor—
Werts, Dem	46
For Congressman—
Quackenbos, Dem	46
For County Clerk—
Gerber, Dem	46
For Surrogate—
Reid, Dem	46
For Coroner—
Conring, Dem	46
For Assembly—
Dunn, Dem	46
Coles	46

Somerset County's Majorities.

Cleveland over Harrison	111
Werts over Kean	1,000
Quackenbos over Hoffman	1,000
Conroy over Van Derveer	1,000
Reid over Hoffman	1,000
Gerber over Chamberlin	1,000
Dunn over Adair	1,000
Coles over Adair	1,000

—Democrats elected in Somerset county is George A. Ditts for Sheriff.

Staff's majorities over Spencer: Bridgewater, 201; Somerville, 1,000; Bound Brook, 100; Branchburg, 37; Franklin, 32; Hillsborough, first district, 50; Bernard's majority, 1,000; Hillsborough, second district, 25; North Plainfield and Warren give 46 majority.

UNION COUNTY.

Railway's Majorities.

Powell, R., ward	40
Powell, R., ward	40
Kean, R., ward	40
The entire Democratic ticket by about 200 majority.
In Elizabeth, average majority for governor, Kean 1,000.
Cleveland, Dem	40
Werts, Dem	40
Kean, Rep	40
Werts, Dem	40
Kean, Rep	40
Werts, Dem	40
Kean, Rep

FICHUS AND JABOTS.

Dainty and Elegant Neckwear for Fastidious Women.

Writer That Are Quite Easily Made at Home and Require Very Little Expenditure of Time or Money—Some Ordinary Notions.

If you have a limited dress allowance, you find it difficult to keep well supplied with dainty ornaments in the lace, silk, muslin and chiffon, the chief beauty of which lies in their freshness. These neck furnishings are expensive and perishable. Because of their expense one is tempted sometimes to wear them when their pristine glory has departed and they are beginning to look a trifle soiled. Do not allow yourself to fall into that trifle better a linen collar than a soiled bit of gauze or chiffon about your throat. Fortunately, there is a way by which these trifles are quite easily made at home and require very little money or time. Even those who are skillful fingers and ideas. The main use of these fancy accessories is to supply half-worn gowns so that the eye will dwell on the pretty cravat or jabot rather than on the shabby and faded frock. All sorts of odds and ends of material may be utilized these days for this purpose. Chiffon, gauze, silk, muslin, soft silk and lace come in play, and the materials employed may be either plain or figured. Lace used for edging are as a rule light and delicate, but guipure lace may be used with good effect.

JABOT.

The Marie Antoinette fichus are in vogue once more, and no other neck ornament is so becoming to the woman with a soft, full throat. They may be made of silk mull with a plain hem stitched edge; crepe, tucked and edged with flimsy lace, or of chiffon finished with deep frills. The jabot shown in the illustration is a favorite style. It is made of a yard and a half of embroidered organdie frilling about five inches wide. The two headings are put together and the material is gathered up through the center, the lower part being shaped to a point with two short mitered ends falling below it. A very narrow plaiting of plain organdie in a lighter color is sewn on under the scallop-edge of the flouncing, and the point, which is at the waist, is drawn in with a ribbon bow. This is pretty in dark green, blue or black crepon, embroidered with a narcissus with ribbon to match. The collarette shown is made of white organdie muslin tipped with little tufts of black ostrich feather; the ruche, which is very full, and for which three or four yards of the frilling are required, is mounted on a ribbon band, and is tied in front with stripped of black velvet ribbon. A novel jabot may be made of black net studded with sequins in flame, green, purple and gold. The band is of black silk covered with the spangled net, and the jabot is arranged in the usual fashion, being much shorter on the shoulders than across the bust. This is particularly effective with a low gown.

COLLARETTE.

A smart finish to a frock is a plastron of almost any kind of ribbon on which one or more frills are tacked, each length being plaited a little at the top and sewn to a point at the end, the center band of ribbon is pinned down to the waist and ornamented with bows and ends of ribbon. The collar consists of two bands of ribbon, either in a narrower width, or folded if too wide, having a band of net between, and fastened at the back of the neck with a bow. Nine yards of ribbon are required for this fashion.

USEFUL BASKET.

To RESTORE black cashmere, wash it in hot suds with a little borax in the water; rinse in very strong bluing water, and iron while damp.

Tar soap mixture is made from gum tragacanth and water. When well dissolved, add a few drops of oil of cloves and a tiny piece of alum.

A good cement for china is made this way: Mix with astrong solution of gum arabic and plaster of paris to a thick paste. Apply this with a camel's hair brush to the broken edges and unite.

ADD to each quart of well-boiled starch half a teaspoonful of powdered borax and a tiny piece of lard, and dip the collars and cuffs in while the starch is quite hot. Use a polishing iron, and your collars and cuffs will look like new.

DURING the summer months it is a common thing to have more than one light dress stained by the grass. Such marks are easily removed with alcohol. Put a little of the liquid in a saucer and wet the stained part with it. Rub well, and the green will disappear

NEWSPAPER WOMEN.

A History of Their Long Struggle for Recognition.

The Women's National Press Association of Washington—Something About the Ladies Who Organized It—Mrs. Briggs' Enterprise.

(Special Washington Letter.)

An infant was born here in 1881, but it was so obscure that very little attention was paid to it, save a passing notice in one of the daily papers. This infant has grown quite rapidly, and is already taking its rank among the men of the world, and astounding everybody with its parents were Necessity and Ambition. It was christened the "Ladies' Press club," but of late years it has been changed, (as all ladies' names are or should be changed), and is now known as the "Women's National Press association."

In former days all ladies who aspired to journalistic honors, with bread and butter on the side, were obliged to work singly against the terrible odds of prejudice and adverse criticism concerning their real aims and ends. Young men who are compelled to struggle with the world for existence and recognition, without paternal aid, soon find themselves narrowed and told by feelings of their own race and sex, but rather by a mob of wolves, tigers, sharks, hen canaries, jackals and hyenas. They learn that this life is indeed a terrible struggle of selfishness and that the survival of the fittest results. But if young men find themselves in a maelstrom of ungodly and unfeeling fellow men, by the tens of thousands, what must the young lady feel who clings helplessly to the surface of this sea of sympathy in that surging, seething mass of humanity? Then it was peculiar to the year 1881, young ladies were dared to lift their heads in the sea of journalism immediately before the tigers for the rarefied shafts of small men. Their abilities were questioned, their tenderness misapplied, their reputations handled from mouth to mouth by forked tongues, and on every hand they were met with the most chilling smell of the waves of disappointment and all the billows of despair rolled over them.

A few months ago a number of these ladies met and decided that the time was ripe for a change in the programme. While others went down to the bottom of the sea, and their bodies were given to the mermaids, they would not. Then they have contented themselves with "keeping house" and "attending to the wants of the infant press club."

This organization resulted from the suggestions of the lady correspondents of the press, engaged in the struggle of the preceding decade. The organization was effected, and the Ladies' Press club might some day become a power. The idea of a territorial temple to Mrs. Hayes and it seems it is not to be for the occupancy of editing journalistic ladies who have come to enter upon the struggle of life, as their elderly sisters have before them. Such has been the case. The idea of a territorial temple to Mrs. Hayes is a very good one, and while it will be a very proper and well deserved honor to the young ladies who were thrown suddenly upon the stage of active newspaper life, it would be a mistake to locate the building. Long live the Women's National Press association!

SUSETTE D. FAIR.

A Smart Yankee Stripper.

A writer in the Rantical Magazine tells a story of a young Yankee who was aspiring to free his ship from rats. While he lay in port he discovered that one of the Liverpool packets in the harbor had among her cargo a great quantity of cheese. He therefore found an opportunity to purchase a pinch, and carrying his own pocket altogether. The next step was to procure a pinch, and this he did with so much success that he returned with an assortment of red herrings, and place it so as to bait trough one of the ports on board the Englishman. The rats speedily benefit was a wholesale emigration of the rats from the American ship's hold to the Liverpool vessel (Crawford's Chamber's Journal.

HON. JOHN T. RICH.

The Republican Candidate for Governor of Michigan.

Mr. John T. Rich, the republican nominee for the governorship of Michigan, is a farmer. His parents, originally from Vermont, moved to Crawford county, Pa., where he was born Com. ... to which state in 1836, when only seven years old, he began life for himself, and has won both position and fortune. In 1870 Mr. Rich was elected to the lower house of the state legislature, and during his six years service in that body was chairman of several important committees. During the session of 1877 and 1879 he occupied the position of speaker of the house. In

HON. JOHN T. RICH.

1880 he was a prominent candidate before the convention for governor. In the same year he was elected to the senate, where he has since been reelected upon his election to congress to succeed Mr. Conger. He served but one term in that body, however, being defeated by a few votes. Returning to private life he has been active in agricultural circles, being associated prominently with the state association, and is also vice president of the National Wool Growers' association. In 1890 Mr. Rich was appointed by Secretary Foster, of the treasury department, as a member of the commission to select the standard of wool samples of the government. In 1891 Gov. Luce appointed Mr. Rich state railroad commissioner, and reappointed him to the same position two years later.

MUNICIPAL COLORS.

Town Colors and White Ballot to Be Used in Washington.

Alfred Jessen Boswell's suggestion for "municipal colors" for the nation's fair city has been adopted by the committee which was assigned the duty of making a design for the official flag of the district. The committee has completed its work, and the following is a description of the flag which is to be used hereafter:

A ground of white, with a border of red, blue and white. The white ground is to be 2 feet 6 inches wide, and the red, blue and white borders are to be 6 inches wide each. The white ground is to have in the center a design of the seal of the district, which is to be 1 foot 6 inches in diameter. The seal is to be surrounded by a wreath of laurel, and is to have in the center a shield with the arms of the United States. The shield is to be supported by a female figure on the right and a male figure on the left. The female figure is to represent Columbia, and the male figure is to represent the genius of the republic. The female figure is to have in her right hand a staff, to which is attached a liberty cap, and in her left hand a shield with the arms of the United States. The male figure is to have in his right hand a staff, to which is attached a liberty cap, and in his left hand a shield with the arms of the United States. The female figure is to have on her head a helmet with a plume of feathers, and the male figure is to have on his head a helmet with a plume of feathers. The female figure is to have on her feet sandals, and the male figure is to have on his feet sandals. The female figure is to have on her body a robe, and the male figure is to have on his body a robe. The female figure is to have on her arms bracelets, and the male figure is to have on his arms bracelets. The female figure is to have on her neck a necklace, and the male figure is to have on his neck a necklace. The female figure is to have on her head a crown, and the male figure is to have on his head a crown. The female figure is to have on her feet shoes, and the male figure is to have on his feet shoes. The female figure is to have on her body a robe, and the male figure is to have on his body a robe. The female figure is to have on her arms bracelets, and the male figure is to have on his arms bracelets. The female figure is to have on her neck a necklace, and the male figure is to have on his neck a necklace. The female figure is to have on her head a crown, and the male figure is to have on his head a crown. The female figure is to have on her feet shoes, and the male figure is to have on his feet shoes.

DESIGN OF A. J. BOSWAR.

was easily adapted to banner or shield as well as flag, Mr. Boswell, whose suggestion for municipal colors has been adopted, is a native of Copenhagen, Denmark. He is an architect and civil engineer, and came to Chicago in 1880. He entered the bureau of construction of the world's fair, and made most of the detail drawings for the interior frames of the manufactures and liberal arts building. Mr. Boswell is forty-four years old.

Local Yardage.

An old Missouri deed for forty acres of land is a curiosity in the matter of verbiage. It conveys "all and singular ...appurtenances, appendages, advowsons, ... and hereditaments, ... messuages, ... curtilages, dairies, dovecots, ... and the reversion, remainder and remainders, rents, issues and profits thereof, ... and also all the estate, right, title, interest, property, claim and demand whatsoever, ... and all the ... and ... thereof, ... and ... and ... and

The Constitutionalist.
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.
W. L. FORCE & A. L. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors.
AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.
TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXV. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 1892. No 47.

"Support the Constitution, which is the consent of the People, as well as its limitations as to its authorities."—Madison.

Rates of Advertising

Space	1 W.	2 W.	3 W.	1 M.	2 M.	3 M.	6 M.	12 M.
1 in.	$1.00	$1.50	$2.00	$3.00	$5.00	$6.00	$10.00	$15.00
2 in.	1.50	2.00	2.50	5.00	8.00	10.00	15.00	25.00
3 in.	2.00	2.50	3.00	6.00	10.00	12.00	20.00	30.00
4 in.	2.50	3.00	3.50	8.00	12.00	15.00	25.00	40.00
5 in.	3.00	3.50	4.00	10.00	15.00	18.00	30.00	50.00
6 in.	3.50	4.00	4.50	12.00	18.00	20.00	35.00	60.00
7 in.	4.00	4.50	5.00	14.00	20.00	25.00	40.00	70.00
8 in.	4.50	5.00	5.50	16.00	25.00	30.00	50.00	80.00
9 in.	5.00	5.50	6.00	18.00	30.00	35.00	60.00	90.00
10 in.	5.50	6.00	6.50	20.00	35.00	40.00	70.00	100.00
11 in.	6.00	6.50	7.00	22.00	40.00	45.00	80.00	110.00
12 in.	6.50	7.00	7.50	24.00	45.00	50.00	90.00	120.00

All Electro's must be cold metal.
Double col. 30 per ct. advance of above rates.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODDINGTON,
Counsellors-at-Law,
Commissioners of Deeds, Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public, and Agents for Sale of Real Estate and Insurance of Risks.

GEORGE W. DAY,
General Auctioneer,
Sales of Personal Property solicited. P. O. Box 180, Dunellen, N. J. Residence on corner of Grove and Somerset streets.

DR. CHARLES E. TWINE,
Dentist,
20 West Front street. A new local anesthetic by which teeth can be extracted without pain while filling is entirely.

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VanArsdale,
PIANO TUNER.
Instruments put in thorough order. Parlor reed-melodeon, Piano and Organ for sale and to let. Orders by postal, P. O. box 300, or call at Willard's Music store, No. 5 Park avenue, will receive prompt attention. Residence, Somerset street, near Grove.

T. J. GILLIES,
auctioneer & Real Estate Agent.
TELEPHONE—Residence Attached and Private Line to Office.
Goods received on consignment.

John Chandler,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence and shop No. 24 East Third street.
Jobbing promptly attended to. apr9

E. B. MAYNARD,
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 28 PARK AVENUE.
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at Your Residence if desired. Shaving, Shampooing, and Hair Dressing performed. 11721

CARNEY BROTHERS, Agents,
7 West Front St.
TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS.
PARLOR STOVES,
COOK STOVES,
HEATERS.

Grates and Bricks for all kinds of fires can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your Tinware Smoking to us. The best Tinners, the best Plumbers, and the best Gas-fitters in the section. We use none but the very best of the materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.
Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.
Tinware Made to Order.
Ranges, Brick and Portable Furnaces
ANITARY PLUMBING.

Parlor Stoves,
Furnaces, Ranges,
Water Piping. Plumbing.
Heater Work. Tinning.
Hardware.
A. E. GRIFFEN,
18 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 6. 11 11-87

Beautiful Assortment!
Furniture!
Largest Assortment!
Best Goods!
Lowest Prices!
Ever Offered in Plainfield!
23, 25 and 27 PARK AVE.

Garret Q. Packer.
SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc. Etc.
I am prepared to do any of the above branches in a satisfactory manner, and solicit a share of public patronage.
Having purchased Mr. Wyatt's entire Plumbing stock and fixtures, I am prepared to furnish any goods that he has on hand at the same prices that he has been selling them. Call and examine stock and prices.
D. W. LITTELL,
No. 2 North Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

MEDICAL GOODS.

FOR MALARIA,
GENERAL DEBILITY
AND
ALL STOMACH TROUBLES
COLES'
PERUVIAN BARK
AND
WILD CHERRY BITTERS
ARE THE BEST.
A Vegetable Substitute for Quinine.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
Price, 50 cents and $1.00 per Bottle.
PREPARED ONLY BY THE
D. P. COLES DRUG AND MED. CO
RAHWAY, N. J.

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS,
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS.
BEST IN THE WORLD.
GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE

ESTABLISHED 18 6.
C. E. & J. W. BROWN,
(Successors to G. F. & C. E. Brown & Co.)
Importers, Whales by and Retail Dealers in
WALL PAPER.
321 Canal Street,
NEW YORK.
English Tiles, Anaglypta, Hard, Leather Relief Flock Papers, &c. Borders for Walls.
Manufacturers of Window Shades.

LIVERY.

A. M. SEGUINE,
(Successor to John W. Laing.)
Laing's Hotel Stables

Front street, opposite Madison avenue.
Coaches for Weddings, Funerals and Private Balls. Light carriages of all descriptions for Summer.
RIDING OR LIVERY.
Careful, safe drivers for shopping calls or sleeping drives. Special attention given to boarding horses by the week or month. 11737
TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 29.

RICKERT'S
ACCOMMODATION EXPRESS.
OFFICE—Vanderbeek's Music Store, Park avenue. The "Accommodation Express" will attend to the general carrying trade of the city, delivering goods or baggage to and from the depot, or other points in town.
Moving of Furniture, Pianos, etc., with care and safety.

INSURANCE.

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.

Fresh Garden Seeds
AND FERTILIZERS,
Farm and Garden Implements,
Lawn Mowers Refrigerators,
Ice Cream Freezer,
Gasoline Stoves,
Hardware, Tools, etc.
J. J. HEIDELOFF,
No. 19 NORTH AVE.

GEORGE A. MOORE,
(Of the late firm of Moore Bros.)
Is now the sole proprietor of the old established market at
No. 14 NORTH AVENUE,
Where he will continue to supply patrons with the finest grades of
Fresh and Salt Meats,
Fish of all kinds, Oysters, Clams, Game in season, at the lowest market prices.
Anything not usually kept in stock, furnished on short notice.

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE
Hugo Weigman,
20 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON,
(Successor to T. J. Gillies.)
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—20 W. FRONT ST.
Large Covered Vans for Moving Goods Safely and at any part of the U. S. Goods delivered to and from all Depots, Steamboats, &c. Best of references.

CIGARS, TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.

H. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of the Celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR.

C. M. FINE,
Dealer in Havana & Domestic
SEGARS!
No. 6 PARK AVE., (NEXT DOOR TO POSTOFFICE)
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Tobacco and Smoker's Materials,
Factory Agent.
Manufacturer of Fine Cigars. Dealer in Foreign and Domestic Cigars, Cigarettes and Tobacco, at wholesale and retail.
Complete Assortment in Stock Constantly.

A. WOLFF,
Manufacturer of
CIGARS,
And Dealer in all kinds of Smoking and Chewing Tobacco. Cigarettes and Smoking Tobacco a specialty. Call and examine stock and satisfy the percentage of his friends and all the public generally.

PAINTERS & PAPERHANGERS SUPPLIES.

Paints, Varnishes, Glass,
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALL PAPERS!
Hanging a Specialty.
A. SWALM,
No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.

A.B. WOOLSTON. A.P. BUCKLE.
Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS,
Wall Papers,
AISTHEN'S SUPPLIES. 20 NORTH AVENUE

Whatever form of printed matter you require we can be of service to you; whether it be

Letter Headings,
Circulars,
Programmes Menus!
Cards,
Billheads,
Statements,
Envelopes,
Pamphlets and Reports of Financial Associations, or any other needed for Public or Private Circulation.
Promptly.

WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST
AND
DAILY PRESS
(Chautauqua Building),
PLAINFIELD N. J

BAFFLED THE CZAR.

Some of Miss Bentley's Remarkable Performances.

One Ruppert, Two Prince Kings and a King to Prince Rested in One Chair and Lifted by Her Namesake Sisters.

Miss Bentley, the English magnetic girl who accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham Gisborne on their visit to Copenhagen, before the golden wedding party broke up rather surprised the subject of Count Moltke's attentions. He keenly watched the efforts of the prince royal of Greece to win the heart of Miss Bentley. The highly bald Mr. Bentley is her uncle, and with characteristic generosity he has left his nephew's place other than failed. The rear grasped the one with both hands, and pulled with all his strength into the effort to get the point of the one to the ground. It bent and quivered, but all his master's efforts could not get his prostrate form one inch from the ground.

But a still greater surprise was in store. He placed his hands under Miss Bentley's elbows and lifted up most effortlessly with the rest of her body. He had almost touched the ceiling. Then Mr. Cumberland exploded that on the occasion Miss Bentley had effected herself to be lifted, but when his majesty next tried he would find it impossible to budge her an inch. The next moment the smile quickly gave way to a look of perplexity when all his efforts to lift Miss Bentley's head an inch from the ground were unavailing. Still more surprised was he when Miss Bentley, upon taking her self

The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORCE, } A. L. FORCE
Editors and Proprietors.

VICTORY.

The Democratic party under the leadership of Cleveland and Stevenson has achieved the grandest of political victories.

It is glorious, because the recorded edict of unprecedented popular condemnation, the voice of the spoken mandate declaring in thunder tones that no partisan artifice shall barter away their rights and shackle their freedom to serve the purposes of mercenary interests.

It is glorious, because it seals the death warrant of a scheme to fasten upon this country the odious and tyrannical system of Protectionism, the absolute governing power of ill-gotten wealth.

It is glorious, because it heralds the coming time when labor, industrial pursuits and business enterprises of every kind will be free to prosper and expand, when equity shall animate law, and an honest administration of public affairs be a protecting shield over all.

The President-elect is a Democrat!

It is an honor to be a Democrat!

Many Republicans wisely take the defeat of their party in a good humored way, while a few, transforming themselves into blocks of evil omen, go around incessantly predicting ruin to all business and industrial interests because of Cleveland's election. That same croak was heard eight years ago, and complacently echoed by the disappointed, practical and prospering first administration of President Cleveland, and it now has no more effect upon intelligent minds than the screeching of owls or braying of donkeys.

It is astonishing how some people will obstinately cling to a delusion. Not a few Republicans honestly proclaimed that Chauncey M. Depew and Reid was a fore-ordained certainty, when a little common sense and political sagacity would have led them to entertain the possibility of a doubt.

Our sympathy is extended to that ardent Plainfield Republican who laid in such a large stock of fireworks wherewith to gloriously celebrate the sure re-election of President Harrison. He had better become sensible and now explode them in honor of President Cleveland, the people's choice.

Every observing citizen must admit that the recent Presidential campaign was a good moderate improvement. It was conducted quietly, yet earnestly, educational, principles and public measures being freely discussed and criticised, but personal detraction avoided.

The obnoxious McKinley tariff will be repealed, and a strictly equitable and honestly protective one enacted into law as soon as possible after the 4th of March. So the people have demanded and so the party of Democracy will respond.

The Republicans were told a terrific political storm was brewing West that would capsize their party, but they treated the information as an idle tale. The cyclone burst with fury, and now they are scrambling the best they can from out the wreck.

The mental condition of those Republican politicians who reposed unlimited confidence in the elective power of money, and vociferously asserted that Harrison-McKinleyism would swoop the entire North and West, is not to be envied.

The Tammany tiger mangled Dave Martin, the notorious political stroke, dubbed "Honorable" by the New York Tribune, terribly. He however escaped with life and has gone to join congenial associates in Philadelphia.

No party in this country can exercise the Divine Right of Kings by claiming the Presidency as its own exclusive inheritance. The American people are and will continue to be sovereign.

The visit of such a man as Frick Carnegie's special agent, to the Republican National Committee on financial business, cost Harrison a vast deal more than cash could purchase.

A very large majority of American voters have justly protested against wearing shoddy and paying all-wool prices for it, as McKinleyism decreed they must.

Loss of millions of contributed and wagered money, damage to partisan reputation, and the coming loss of Federal offices, is the G. O. P.'s pitiable plight.

From ocean to ocean and from the lakes to gulf, the voice of the people, ringing loud and clear, inaugurated Democratic victory on election day.

The secret ballot is a grand protection to honest voters. It blocks the artfully laid schemes of conspirators and corruptionists.

Democracy is triumphant. Let the eagle proudly soar aloft and all the roosters in the land flap their wings and crow for joy.

Some things can be done, but New Jersey cannot be bought with either John Kean's or Andrew Carnegie's money.

We predicted that Napoleon McKinley was marching straight onward to Waterloo, He has reached that fatal field.

When outraged public opinion is aroused to action, political boodlers must flee like chaff before a whirlwind.

In less than four months Mr. Wanamaker will be set at liberty to attend his bargain counter in Philadelphia.

Don't number catchers until the eggs are hatched, nor elected candidates before the votes are all counted.

Democracy has got Plutocracy by the throat and will make an ending of the monster.

In sunshine or in storm New Jersey's Democratic anchor holds fast.

Congratulations on Silo Acquitted.

(Atlanta Journal.)

The verdict of the jury in declaring young Alfred Rosehil, of Plainfield, not guilty of the charge of larceny, was very generally approved. The jury were not a whit too lenient.

Rosehil is a son of the Rev. Mr. Rosehil, of Plainfield, and has always borne an exemplary character. He received many congratulations at the pronouncement of the verdict by the jury.

THE BOND WILL CASE.

The Plainfield Standards Still Contesting the Annie's Estate.

In the Orphans's Court at Newark, Tuesday, the Bond will case came up again. As has been stated in these columns, Mrs. Annie E. Bond willed the bulk of her property to the Rescue Aged Women. The will is contested by her husband; her brother, E. Lott Merchall, of Park avenue, and her nephew, Harry Marshall, proprietor of the American Steam laundry, East Front street. The grounds of the contest are that Mrs. Bond was of unsound mind, and the will was executed by undue influence.

At the previous hearings of the case it was shown that the will was drawn by Daniel Lawrence, read to Mrs. Bond when away in Lawrence's office, and a paper, which Lawrence says is the same document, later placed before Mrs. Bond for her signature and signed by her.

Miss Mary Baldwin says that Newark Evening News, in its report of the Intherlay case—was the first witness on the stand Tuesday. She is a teacher in the Rescue Home, and was on very friendly terms with Mrs. Bond and that on her advice Mrs. Bond agreed to make a will in favor of William and Mary Intherlay, the husband and child of her first husband. It was through the insurance on her first husband's life that she became possessed of means, and Miss Baldwin thought through the will it was only just to will that money to the Danas, especially as Mr. Bond and the Merchalls did not need it. In the said conversation Mrs. Bond told her that she had remembered her in a will which she had made. The sum of $1,000 was mentioned, and Miss Baldwin urged her to be just when she was generous.

"You would n't take that $1,000 if she had willed it to you?"—asked Lawyer Gould.

"No, sir; I would give it to Mary Dunn"—was the answer.

"Was Mrs. Bond penurious?"—Mr. Gould asked.

"Well, she was thrifty"—answered Miss Baldwin, and when the laugh had subsided she said in an apologetic way: "I wonder if derogatory to a woman to be stingy."

"What do you think of stinginess in a man?"—asked Lawyer Hartford.

"Oh, that's an times worse"—replied the witness.

For months before the making of the will, the witness stated, Mrs. Bond was not in a sound condition of mind. She had a habit of repeating things over and over, and saying at times that she feared she should go to a lunatic asylum.

The witness, in answer to lawyer Gould, said that Mrs. Bond had never shown her letters addressed to her. She had seen the handwriting on envelopes, but never spoken about his business or even spoken about his being unfaithful. She was jealous of his taking his own daughter out riding and not taking her. She thought instead of having neglected her in such ways as that.

Daniel Lawrence testified that the whole property is worth about $8,000 or $9,000.

Vandeveer Bond, the husband, swore that his wife had a fine memory for a very long time previous to her death. She had a habit of throwing her arms around men who were comparative strangers to her and kissing them. She was very much opposed and was violent when angry. He never knew her to give a cent for any charitable purpose. He said in answer to his lawyer that at one time the witness labored under the delusion that he was dead.

"Was she drunk?"—Judge Kirkpatrick asked sharply.

"She was,"—answered the witness.

Mr. Gould got the witness to admit that his wife was always able to attend to her property, and had some enough to consult a lawyer if in any doubt as to its management. In answer to Craig A. Marsh he said his wife would sometimes get out at night until midnight or later and would not tell him where she had been. He also stated that she was not in the habit of out at night and wander aimlessly about the house.

Mrs. Phebe Marshall, the mother of the deceased, went on the stand and swore that she did not think her daughter competent to make a will.

Miss Hettie Allen, a stenographer, swore that Mrs. Bond had told her she would leave nothing to the Marshalls, but would leave all equally to Mary Dunn, Miss Allen and a Mrs. Stone. About a year and a half ago she drew up a will at Mrs. Bond's request, providing for the disposal of the property in that way, but leaving blank spaces for the names of the beneficiaries. In January of this year Mrs. Bond got her to change a couple of minor clauses in the will, and a few days after she took both the said will and the one she had disposed of her property in the way which she had spoken of.

The uncertainty of Mrs. Bond's mental condition was shown by Harry Marshall, her nephew, from this city, one of the contestants. She told him at one time, he said, that she was going to leave him a few minutes she would change her mind from motives which she never explained to him. It is unfurnished, and he selling house and furniture. He saw her have what he called a "laughing and crying spell", after her last attempt to embrace his brother-in-law.

"She would never let me go upstairs alone"—said the witness.

"Why?"—asked Mr. Gould.

"I suppose she thought I would steal something"—said the witness.

He related other instances of his aunt's eccentricity.

A sister of the last witness, according to her testimony, was promised that she would be given all of Mrs. Bond's wealth. She noticed that Mrs. Bond acted queerly and did not think her competent to make a will.

Mr. Intherlay moved for the dismissal of the caveat. He said he had plenty of witnesses, but he did not think the other side had made out a case and he did not like to trouble the court unnecessarily.

Counselor Craig A. Marsh objected. He said that Mr. Gould was merely trying to count the court in order to get a decision. He was instituted to a decision in his favor. Judge Kirkpatrick decided to hear the evidence, and the case went over for two weeks.

LOCAL MATTERS VIEWED ABROAD.

Interesting Matters of Plainfield Kite Told to Good People All Over the World.

The following paragraphs of Plainfield news and comment appear in this week's Church Recorder from the pen of J. D. Spicer:

The recent death of Brother Rudolph H. Titsworth strikes a severe blow in our church and community. He was especially in a botanical, where his wife's sojourner has been so frequent a visitor, having taken from it five adult members and several from the town. The deeper affliction of family have the warmest sympathy of a large circle of friends.

The visit of the Rev. Dr. A. E. Main and Rev. E. B. Saunders to our city on Monday evening was the occasion of an occasion of unusual interest. Each preached the sermon to be referenced by sitting and standing vote, and the congregation of Rev. Saunders to our young men and women to remain loyal to God's law, and to fit themselves to fill worthy positions in the world. Dr. Main's sermon, speaking to them who are capable and willing to fill them, was pleasing and instructive. Would that the young people in every church could listen to such sermons frequently to such able and able instead of the unwarrant and

A VALUABLE FARM HAND

Dogs That Save Much Labor on the Farm.

Why Most Kind—What They Should Be and How to Make Them Do It—The Shepherd Dog Compared to the Sheepdog—Many Other Points.

(COPYRIGHT, 1892.)

There is now a movement going on for the benefit of the useful order of dogs. Especially those that are of service on the farm.

Recently I said: "A breed is a plant developed by man, and has been cherished, and the farmer's dog in all parts of the country may be classified in a similar way.

Farmers as a class are not very quick to adopt what is of practical benefit to them, and even when it is something that cannot be accomplished by their own efforts, they are slow to come to the front with their money. Both of these positions are spoken of as successful preachers and pastors.

We are looking forward with interest to the Annual Meeting of the New Jersey and New York city churches, which will convene with us on the eighteenth instant, and hope to see many from the Brooklyn churches. Both of these positions are spoken of as successful preachers and pastors.

New Market matters are treated by the Rev. L. R. Livermore, who writes: The new church edifice is being brought on our first score, and even then it came much earlier than usual in this part of Jersey. This was followed by rain which was very much needed, for the supplies of well water in this State, quite generally, have been entirely affected by the long drouth which prevailed. But in this vicinity were very good as the drouth came too late to do much harm to vegetation.

We were favored on the first Sabbath in this month with a bright and beautiful day, and the large congregation that greeted the faithful words of brethren A. E. Main and E. B. Saunders. They presented to our people some of the important lines of work which are being carried on, sympathies and support. We were stronglyed, stimulated and encouraged.

Our young people's meeting have again become a success this year by the energy and removal of one of our most prominent and faithful members, Miss Maude Thewlett. We are sentiment, however, that the loss in a special sense to Prof. E. I. Green, who has drawn the prize, and also to any community where they may locate. At present their home is in Baltimore, Md.

The New Market church has voted to spare their pastor to make a tour of a few weeks among the scattered Sabbath-keepers of the South, in company with the Missionary Secretary. They anticipate visiting North Carolina, Alabama, Louisiana, and perhaps some points to Georgia and Florida. The Annual Association is to open on the 1st of December, at Hammond, La., which meeting we hope to attend.

OR HURLBUT SPEAKS.

He Tells What Howards Attend Sunday-School Teachers' Work.

The fourth triennial convention of the Mercer County Sunday-school association was held in the Roseville M. E. church Wednesday.

A prominent figure in the gathering was Theodore Dr. Jesse L. Hurlbut of Plainfield, general secretary of Sunday-school work in the M. E. church, who at 11:15 made an address upon "The Duties of the Sunday-school Teachers". He said in part: "I always like to attend a Sunday-school convention. I have known people who have come to me and ask a question who thought they were not competent to teach their classes. The question had been of too high a character for them to answer, but after a little consideration they were able to give a satisfactory answer. The present Sunday-school and the weakest teacher in the land hold a position of great worth. Find the poor Sunday-school teachers. What are the wages the Sunday-school teacher gets for his or her toil? The first reward and only reward is recognition. People say that it is not very much recognition to teach some classes. I believe in putting every man in charge of boys' classes and men in charge of the girls' classes. Let every man have a thoroughness routine of work through the week and the teaching of Sunday-school is only a part of that.

"I don't know of anything that will give a man more exercise than to put him in charge of a Sunday-school class"—declared Dr. Hurlbut in his description of the church that reaps such a harvest at so small an outlay of money. The superintendent and teachers are not paid with money, but they get their reward, which is more glorious than any money that could be paid. Another benefit that comes from teaching, Dr. Hurlbut declared, was a spiritual quickening which can be received in no other way. Another benefit to the teacher is the love of the scholars. There is just the same pride in a Sunday-school teacher. He gets his reward in the good he does for the scholar."

The point—says the Newark Advertiser—was well illustrated by an amusing story with a moral lesson. The speaker is a good story-teller and holds his audience spellbound while he tells it.

A great reward to the teacher—he said—was the good he did as he saw the class transformed under his fatherly influence.

"Many teachers want to give up their classes after listening to the remarks set up by conventions, but, truly, the Sunday-school teacher is the one who has done good than no teacher at all. The millions of teachers in our Sunday-schools are more consecrated than any other company in the world.

"The first reward of the Sunday-school teacher is recreation, for after the work of hard study comes rest, whether in the home or office, Sunday, with its class, is a recreation. More people die from doing nothing than by being tired to death. The work of the church to-day is to come in contact with people and in factory or shop the activity is gained which gives us strength. Knowledge is not gained from association with people and books. So from that one Book, the Bible, the strength is gained, and that knowledge which is gained is powerful.

"The benefit is the love of his scholars; the teacher will gain it if he is faithful; moreover, what a priceless treasure it is to gain the love of a child for its teacher."

M. M. Dunham of Plainfield was elected to represent Union county on the state committee to serve for three years in Andrew Wilson of North Plainfield was one of Somerset's delegates present.

In the afternoon Dr. Hurlbut spoke on "The Relation of the Church and the Home," and had the location in a conference meeting.

—The second of the Regent lectures will be given next Monday evening, Subject, "Washington and the Army."

—There will be shooting at the Oriental Hall Thanksgiving afternoon and evening. All lovers of sports and exhibitions from 12 to 6 and 7 to 12 P. M.

—The New York city Sunday-Day Pageant school will hold an oyster supper Wednesday, the 19th, at corner of Fifty-fourth street and Third avenue.

—The first of a series of lectures to be given by the Y. M. C. A. will be delivered on Thursday evening, November 24th, by Rev. Dr. Hurlbut, on the subject of "Washington and the Army." Dr. Hurlbut is a very popular lecturer and a large audience will be present to hear him.

—The Rev. Dr. Hurlbut, general secretary of the Sunday-school work of the M. E. church, will address the Sunday-school convention of this city, which will be held in the Roseville M. E. church, on Wednesday, November 16th, at 11:15 a. m. Subject, "The Duties of the Sunday-school Teachers." All are invited to be present.

—Mr. Hurlbut

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

J. A. DEMAREST - - City Editor.

—The first concert of the Plainfield Choral society, has been arranged for Tuesday evening, Dec. 20, at Music Hall.

—The Newark Evening News calls it "Somerset's Sovereign" in speaking of the great Democratic sweep in that county.

—The Central Railroad of New Jersey has accepted plans for new stations to be erected at White House, North Branch, and Round Brook.

—Superintendent Passmore, of the Plainfield Street Railway company, has filled the positions of conductors Roberts and Bowne with others.

—Here is the counter at a glance: There are forty-four States. The Republicans carried thirteen. They lost fourteen that they felt honestly sure of.

—Now that the Park Avenue Established North avenue as a part of entry to New York, it is in order for aspirants, for the office of collector of the port to make themselves known.

—Many Plainfield women are students in china decorating, and turn out very creditable work. Plain china for decorating is kept in stock at Cox's Arcade, where all wants in that line are readily supplied.

—City clerk Runyon says that in spite of the popular impression the city council is not obliged to divide the First and Second wards into two districts each before the municipal election, and that such division will not take place.

—The Somerville Democratic Gazette says: "H. Newton Spencer made a brilliant fight at his own home in North Plainfield, and received the handsome majority of 321. He was cut by Republicans in many parts of the county."

—A special committee of the Somerset county board of freeholders has reported in the matter of changes and claimed by William A. Woodruff of this city, and recommends the payment of $87.50 from Somerset's funds.

—The new schedule of trains on the Central railroad of N. J., that went into effect Monday, contained few changes. The 6:14 a. m. train for New York now leaves Plainfield at 6:05, and the 5:51 p. m. leaves at 5:57.

—Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Smalley of Smalleytown were driving home from Plainfield Saturday evening, when their horse was taken decidedly ill and died at the corner of Somerset street and Johnston drive.

—Joseph A. Haynes, who made such a gallant run for Dominican on the Democratic ticket in the First Ward, for years ago would be the most popular and successful candidate the Democrats could nominate this year, if he could be induced to run.

—The Democrats will hold no primaries for the nomination of candidates for the nomination of candidates for the city election of Dec. 6. They will simply a committeeman in the Fourth ward; and there will be no Democratic city convention nor a party nominee for mayor.

—The Plainfield Young Men's Lyceum will produce by local talent at Music Hall, on Thanksgiving evening, the 24th inst., an Irish drama entitled "Eileen Oge, or Erin's Day Hour Before the Dawn". The play is being thoroughly rehearsed under the direction of H. J. King.

—James Martin, an employe at Yoger's meat market, while putting up an electric lamp, Thursday afternoon, slipped from a box and ran a meat hook into his left wrist, literally tearing it. The two stitches had to be taken. Dr. Long dressed the wound. It will be some time before Mr. Martin will be able to use his hand again.

—Mr. Harrison lost his ward, city, county, State and the country. He probably lost his old home also, as Northern Indiana always goes Democratic and Mr. Cleveland carried the town and State of his birth, his old home Buffalo, every Assembly district in the city in which he now lives and swept the country in cyclonic fashion.

A Seventh-Day Convert to be Baptized in Plainfield.

The Sabbath Recorder says: "On the 19th of October Rev. Dr. Leslie, a New York convert to the Sabbath from the Episcopal church, will present his letter of experience and ask for membership with the New York Seventh-day church. The Rev. Dr. Leslie's home in Plainfield, N. J., during some session of our Yearly Meeting."

—W. C. Emory, of West Sixth street, is the happy father of a baby boy weighing nine pounds. The little fellow's birthday anniversary will occur Nov. 19. His father named him Grover C., in honor of the people's choice.

Of this season's course of lectures at Franklin Institute, Philadelphia, that on Monday evening, the 21st inst., will be by George H. Babcock, of this city, president of the Babcock & Wilcox Co., on "The Genesis and Growth of Steam."

Miss Maud Grace Tingley, daughter of Jacob S. Tingley of West Fourth street, was married to Edgar O. Chappell of Great Barrington, Mass., at the home of Lewis, on the 10th of last April, and the marriage is just now announced.

Thomas Crosley, sr., father of borough magistrate T. R. Crosley, died at his home in Trenton last Monday, aged 84 his 86th year, from a stroke of paralysis. He was a devout Christian, and died in full faith. The funeral services on Friday were largely attended.

In the Westerly Daily Tribune last Monday, was published a two-column letter by Ethan Lamphear of this city, which gives his views on the Prohibitionist at the late election. He says the Republican party has supported a drunken nation, and calls out "Will some clergyman who voted the Iron Republican ticket, set me right, if I am wrong?"

C. J. Noel of Netherwood avenue is favorably spoken of for councilman from the First ward. He views on the subject of improvements for that section are well known. The grading of North avenue back of Netherwood depot was soon completed through his instrumentality. He can be relied upon to further the interests of the ward in particular and the city in general.

HYMENEAL.

Drake—Stiles.

The marriage of Miss Emma Laura Stiles to James Day, both of New Market, took place last evening at the home of the bride's father, Joseph Stiles. The affair was private, only the near relatives of both families being present. The Rev. J. H. Cubberley tied the nuptial knot, and after a bountiful spread the happy couple left for Elizabeth where they will reside in the future. Showers of rice were heaped upon them as they departed in the carriage.

The bride wore a dress of gray Jaille silk trimmed with steel passementerie and carried a bouquet of bride roses. Mrs. Peter Pringle of Cranford, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. She wore a dress of lavender chiffon silk trimmed with white swansdown. Stanley Day, jr., brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers of prominence. The tables where the presents were displayed, showed the high appreciation of the guests towards the bride.

PERSONALIA.

R. B. Grinnell, of Fotherwood, who has been ill for the past six weeks,is now convalescent.

Letter carrier Ed Hand has had an addition to his force. It is a male article, too, and all parties are happy and well.

City clerk F. W. Runyon was out again to-day after an unpleasant four days' siege of the grip.

The boiler-manufacturing firm of Babcock & Wilcox has dissolved partnership, and George H. Babcock of this city has taken entire control of the business.

Andrew Mantz has bought of Alonzo Dunlap, of Chester, Mass. county, the property where he lives, 14 Jackson avenue.

The Young Daughters of the King will hold their regular meeting Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. E. Faber, 26 Rockview avenue.

Mrs. W. H. Corbell of New street is able to be around again, after three weeks' of disability on account of a broken toe on the left foot.

Mrs. J. Peterman of this city, visiting friends in Valatie, N. Y., picked on Oct. 30 a quart of fine red raspberries from the garden.

J. W. Reinhart of Netherwood leaves to-day with a party of friends for an extended trip over the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad.

H. F. Reynolds was able to attend his office Monday and to go to Newark to see his physician. He is feeling greatly relieved since his optional operation.

Miss Blanche Fellows is now taking the place of Mrs. Knight as soprano in the First Presbyterian church, and her sweet voice is delighting large congregations.

Mrs. Henry VanMiddlesworth of 3 Elmwood place, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Charles Foster, at 320 Consumpaug avenue, Forney City, formerly of Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hall of 203 Second street, will spend the winter months at the home of their granddaughter, Mrs. H. T. Crawford, Williamsport, Pa.

Amateurs of this city will give "Young Mrs. Winthrop", under the direction of H. C. Blake, at the Casino, Dec. 16, and "Mr. Trumpeter's Box", at Netherwood, Dec. 29.

The new schedule of trains on the Central railroad of N. J., that went into effect Monday, contained few changes. The 6:14 a. m. train for New York now leaves Plainfield at 6:05, and the 5:51 p. m. leaves at 5:57.

—Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Smalley of Smalleytown were driving home from Plainfield Saturday evening, when their horse was taken decidedly ill and died at the corner of Somerset street and Johnston drive.

—Joseph A. Haynes, who made such a gallant run for Dominican on the Democratic ticket in the First Ward, for years ago would be the most popular and successful candidate the Democrats could nominate this year, if he could be induced to run.

—The Democrats will hold no primaries for the nomination of candidates for the nomination of candidates for the city election of Dec. 6. They will simply a committeeman in the Fourth ward; and there will be no Democratic city convention nor a party nominee for mayor.

—The Plainfield Young Men's Lyceum will produce by local talent at Music Hall, on Thanksgiving evening, the 24th inst., an Irish drama entitled "Eileen Oge, or Erin's Day Hour Before the Dawn". The play is being thoroughly rehearsed under the direction of H. J. King.

—James Martin, an employe at Yoger's meat market, while putting up an electric lamp, Thursday afternoon, slipped from a box and ran a meat hook into his left wrist, literally tearing it. The two stitches had to be taken. Dr. Long dressed the wound. It will be some time before Mr. Martin will be able to use his hand again.

—Mr. Harrison lost his ward, city, county, State and the country. He probably lost his old home also, as Northern Indiana always goes Democratic and Mr. Cleveland carried the town and State of his birth, his old home Buffalo, every Assembly district in the city in which he now lives and swept the country in cyclonic fashion.

A Seventh-Day Convert to be Baptized in Plainfield.

The Sabbath Recorder says: "On the 19th of October Rev. Dr. Leslie, a New York convert to the Sabbath from the Episcopal church, will present his letter of experience and ask for membership with the New York Seventh-day church. The Rev. Dr. Leslie's home in Plainfield, N. J., during some session of our Yearly Meeting."

—W. C. Emory, of West Sixth street, is the happy father of a baby boy weighing nine pounds. The little fellow's birthday anniversary will occur Nov. 19. His father named him Grover C., in honor of the people's choice.

Of this season's course of lectures at Franklin Institute, Philadelphia, that on Monday evening, the 21st inst., will be by George H. Babcock, of this city, president of the Babcock & Wilcox Co., on "The Genesis and Growth of Steam."

Miss Maud Grace Tingley, daughter of Jacob S. Tingley of West Fourth street, was married to Edgar O. Chappell of Great Barrington, Mass., at the home of Lewis, on the 10th of last April, and the marriage is just now announced.

Thomas Crosley, sr., father of borough magistrate T. R. Crosley, died at his home in Trenton last Monday, aged 84 his 86th year, from a stroke of paralysis. He was a devout Christian, and died in full faith. The funeral services on Friday were largely attended.

In the Westerly Daily Tribune last Monday, was published a two-column letter by Ethan Lamphear of this city, which gives his views on the Prohibitionist at the late election. He says the Republican party has supported a drunken nation, and calls out "Will some clergyman who voted the Iron Republican ticket, set me right, if I am wrong?"

C. J. Noel of Netherwood avenue is favorably spoken of for councilman from the First ward. His views on the subject of improvements for that section are well known. The grading of North avenue back of Netherwood depot was soon completed through his instrumentality. He can be relied upon to further the interests of the ward in particular and the city in general.

HYMENEAL.

Drake—Stiles.

The marriage of Miss Emma Laura Stiles to James Day, both of New Market, took place last evening at the home of the bride's father, Joseph Stiles. The affair was private, only the near relatives of both families being present. The Rev. J. H. Cubberley tied the nuptial knot, and after a bountiful spread the happy couple left for Elizabeth where they will reside in the future. Showers of rice were heaped upon them as they departed in the carriage.

The bride wore a dress of gray Jaille silk trimmed with steel passementerie and carried a bouquet of bride roses. Mrs. Peter Pringle of Cranford, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. She wore a dress of lavender chiffon silk trimmed with white swansdown. Stanley Day, jr., brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers of prominence. The tables where the presents were displayed, showed the high appreciation of the guests towards the bride.

JOY!

THAT FREIGHT - HOUSE TO BE MOVED AT LAST.

The Old Stone Structure Used the New Site Contemplated — Railway Officials Talking Annihilation — THE PRESS'S Long Fight.

From the Press of November 12.

Officials of the Jersey Central Railroad company came by "fast" engine to Plainfield this afternoon for the purpose of investigating the freight-house matter.

The officials include Mr. Maxwell and Mr. Ottalengo.

The Press can now assure the people that the great public improvement for which so long it has clamored is to come at last.

The details are not yet completed, but the plan under consideration is to remove the freight-house to the old Beiler lumber yard, and open up a fine railway station approach from Somerset avenue, which will be to it what Park avenue is to the ornamental park and circular driveways.

The officials are in conference with Bolce, Runyon & Co., perfecting the plans.

Good things never come singly. The removal of the freight-house and development of its present site into a fine station approach is an object lesson in the value of the Chronicle and the triumph of Tariff Reform.

PLAINFIELD'S TAX RATE.

Compare It with that in Other Cities, and Compare Local Advantages.

For a place with so many improvements and advantages, Plainfield has a low tax rate, in comparison with other cities of the State.

The inhabitants of the township of Greenwich, Warren county, have the distinction of being the least taxed of any people in New Jersey. The rate in that township is 50 cents on every $100 or $1 a $1,000. The highest rate in the State is in the borough of Rahkenfield, Bergen county, and is $2 12 per $100, or $27 20 of every $1,000 or valuation. This is higher than the tax rate of any of the large cities. In Newark the rate is $1.57, in Jersey city it is $2.84, in Paterson, $2 50, and in Plainfield $2.20.

These rates are taken from the State Board of Assessors' report for the counties and cities, and the basis for the distribution of the railroad tax collected by the State for the localities. The rates all over the State are generally higher that last year.

The rates in the principal cities of the State for 1892 are as follows:

Asbury Park	$2.10	Perth Amboy	$2.20
Atlantic City	1.80	Paterson	2.50
Bayonne	2.20	Passaic	2.20
Bergen	2.12	Phillipsburg	2.20
Bordentown	2.20	Plainfield	2.20
Burlington	2.20	Princeton	2.20
Camden	2.20	Rahkenfield	2.12
Elizabeth	2.20	Rahway	2.20
Gloucester City	1.80	Salem	2.20
Hoboken	2.20	Trenton	2.20
Jersey City	2.84	Union	2.20
Long Branch	2.20	Vineland	2.20
Millville	2.20	Woodbury	2.20
Morristown	2.20	Total	2.20
Newark	2.20	Total	2.20
New Brunswick	2.20	Total	2.20

Fellowship Meeting to Their Minister.

The Rev. W. H. Hodgman has been minister of the First Presbyterian church during its lack of a regular pastor, and for the past nine months he had occupied the parsonage of the church. He officiates with the coming of the new pastor. At a recent meeting of the congregation a resolution was unanimously adopted thanking him for his faithful and efficient work, and several complimentary speeches were made. Every one was pleased that matters had progressed so nicely, and regret was freely manifested with expressions of good wishes and good will.

A Sturdy Old Citizen Stricken.

Voorhees Van Vliet, one of the oldest residents of Plainfield, lies very low from a stroke of paralysis. He stopped to chat at Warren Stewart's wheelwright shop, Thursday morning, and while talking he left at 4 for his home, corner of Dunr and Emily streets. On the way a strange sensation came over him, and before he reached his dwelling he could not speak articulately, nor remove his coat. Now he is at the point of death. He has been a sturdy old citizen, and the years, and the stroke is attributed entirely to the enfeeblement of old age.

Why Not Mayor Pick?

The Press has no right or power to interfere with the privilege of the Republicans of Plainfield to nominate and elect whom they please as mayor. But as in the current rumor that Mr. Gilbert wants to retire, and as even we Democrats are interested as citizens in who shall rule over us, we would inquire:

What's the matter with Charles Pick?

Welcome to the New Pastor.

The installation services of the Rev. G. E. Horsey, pastor of the First Presbyterian church will take place next week Tuesday. In the afternoon at 3, the Presbytery of Elizabeth will meet at the church, to receive the Rev. Mr. Horsey into Presbytery of New York. The congregational exercises will be held at 8. The Rev. Mr. Kerr of Elizabeth is expected to preach the sermon. Dr. Gillingham of Elizabeth will deliver the charge to the pastor, and the Rev. Dr. W. B. Richards the charge to the people.

A Sensible Fellow.

(From The Elizabeth Press.)

The Press says that on account Republican in North Plainfield was so absorbed in the political excitement as to neglect his grocery bill, put it in the official envelope and vote it. Sensible fellow was that North Plainfield Republican. Far better was it to vote a township grocery bill, than to vote for Harrison and Reid.

Borough Real Estate Transfers.

The following record shows that North Plainfield property has recently changed hands as follows:

Mary A. Phillips to Virginia Barry, $25.
Samuel H. Rider to Lewis B. Codington, $1.00.

L. H. Codington, sheriff, to Edmund D. Rogers, $1.00.

Sarah Locke to Henry Dedrick, $500.
Peter Vogel to Henry Dedrick, $500.
Frederick Hughes to Henry D. Harrison, $1.
Ida W. Codington to Lilian T. Hoyt, $1.00.
Lilian T. Hoyt to Wm. J. Codington, $1.00.

Incendiary Language at the Central prayer meeting, in the absence of all the newspaper fanatics and novelists in his line, in Plainfield. His latest is a box of the choicest baby powder at 25 cents, and he gives you a big baby with it.

Regenerations.

To secure a normal and regular flow of pure blood, take Hood's Sarsaparilla. It purifies, vitalizes and enriches the blood, and thus imparts to it the power to carry health to every part of the body. Hood's Pills are the best cathartic and liver medicine. Gentle, prompt, reliable. Sold by druggists. 25c. per box. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best in fact the One True Blood Purifier. Hood's Sarsaparilla has met with unprecedented success, and has won a popularity and reputation unknown to other medicines. Its sales have become enormous, and are constantly increasing. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier. Hood's Sarsaparilla has met with unprecedented success, and has won a popularity and reputation unknown to other medicines. Its sales have become enormous, and are constantly increasing. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills

Are the best after-dinner pills, assist digestion, cure headache. 25c

LIFE IN A COAL MINE.

Busy Workers Who Spend Half Their Life Underground.

The West Has Proved the Most Miserly Spirit Out of Pennsylvania by the Greed of the Anthracite Barons.—Visit to a Mine.

[Special Letter.]

Coal miners have formed the subject of scores of recent newspaper articles, not because the public is particularly interested in this branch of labor, but because the importation of thousands of Hungarians by the great anthracite coal companies of Pennsylvania has become a national question. The cruel contract labor law passed a few years ago has, in a measure, corrected the abuse, but enough of the most degraded Huns were brought to the United States during the period from the fall of 1877 to 1886 to present the social and economic conditions of a number of once prosperous and law-abiding communities.

THE MINER AT WORK.

Unquestionably, the Hungarians, who at first came in small detachments, became imbued with American ideas and asked for higher pay, but they were soon defeated by their own countrymen, who came by thousands to take the places of their unorganized fellow-workers. At the present time scores of mining villages in Pennsylvania are little else than settlements of Huns, which, English and American miners have drifted westward. Their ignorance and almost total disregard of moral and sanitary rules and regulations prevail in communities once noted for their cleanliness and enterprise.

The mining of coal became an important industry in the west many years ago, and mine owners in Illinois and Iowa were glad to get hold of the workmen in these sections who had compelled to leave their homes in the east.

A recent visit to Iowa, made after an investigation of the condition of the miners in Pennsylvania, impressed me more than any previous comparison between the labor problem of the east and the west. In the anthracite region ignorance and squalor go hand in hand in the bituminous coal region of Iowa a fair degree of comfort makes the life of the hard-working digger of the black diamonds endurable. Schools and churches are to be found in every settlement, and drunkenness is, to say the least, not a prevailing vice.

The life of a coal miner is not a healthy one. Exposure and impure air claim thousands of victims each year. Many who do not die every day have not the remotest idea of how it is brought to the light of day and made ready for shipment.

The first descent into a coal mine produces a sensation not easily forgotten. At the invitation of an Iowa mine owner I accompanied him on a downward trip not long ago. Stepping from the clear air into a crazy-looking little structure, dignified with the name of "tower," we entered a sort of elevator, which in the twinkling of an eye landed us on the main thoroughfare of the subterranean industrial city. Although supplied with a miner's lamp, the unexperienced visitor will remain virtually blind for several minutes after reaching the bottom.

MULE TRAIN.

The mine is divided into streets and alleys. East street was the name of the main artery invaded by the writer. It was nothing more than a long, narrow passage about eight feet wide and six feet high. Stars frame the top of the halls, and this is held up by rafters at intervals varying from five to six feet. A diminutive railway, propelled by mule power, runs through the hall. Along the "street" are innumerable small openings closed with heavy curtains. Rolling back one of these the discovery was made that it concealed a small apartment in which two miners were busily at work.

When the men in one of these sportives have dug two or three loads of coal they ring a bell for the mule train. The equipment of this primitive transportation line consists of a truck mounted on wheels and a pair of disreputable looking mules. After the car has been loaded it is taken to the lift. The teamster—or "engineer," if you please—flings the mine bell once, the international mining signal that a load waits to be hoisted up. Before the miner allows the load to leave the gallery he first attaches a metal tag to the cart, so that he may receive proper credit for his work on the books of the company. After the coal has reached the surface it is weighed, and the net weight placed to the credit of the man whose name was found on the truck. It is, of course, needless to add that all miners are paid by the piece.

After the coal has been weighed it is pulled either a long distance, at the end of which is an immense screen, which separates and assorts the product.

I have made mention of certain doors covering the openings of the mine apartments. They are put up so as to allow only a limited amount of air to reach the main shaft to go into any one room. Not a particle of it is allowed to go to waste, as carelessness in this respect might imperil the lives of all workmen.

The locks on these doors are quite simple. They have picks, short and very sharp and perfectly flat at the end. Their depth is not shown at such a diameter and from six to ten feet long. After a hole is drilled to sufficient depth, the augur is removed and powder put in the hole. A fuse is then attached and lighted. The explosion following this operation makes a terrific noise. As many as twenty tons of coal have been brought down at one charge in the mine of which I am writing.

Most of the coal now taken from the interior of mines is blown out by powder or some other explosive. In former years this work was performed by hand, and in some sections of the country the old system still prevails. After the coal has been loosened it is broken into pieces of various size by the miners with the aid of their picks.

The social life in a mine is, of course, restricted and monotonous, but still the busy workers find time to exchange an occasional call with their fellows. In one of the rooms visited in need of a little coal to keep the chilliness in the air under control, a number of miners were adjusting belts or before a small brazier, over which he can always find room or less comfort.

From the description of these social gatherings it must be supposed that there is nothing like a game of cards to relieve the monotony of the work. To save one's self from being a "greenhorn" at the game of cards is a necessity, and the miner who is a day amid surroundings that would strike terror to the heart of the coolest citizen. One trip down into a coal mine cannot be a long enough preparation for the man who brave indescribable dangers for the sake of providing for his family's needs. Even the old miner, who passes under the rough jackets of the hostile diggers upon whom he plies the cards of that name with contempt.

AT THE CHUTE.

It is not necessary to tell of the hours of labor of miners. It is a matter of history that many times young fellows have risked, and sometimes sacrificed, their lives to save their companions from death by suffocation or other dangers peculiar to mining life.

That the miner has considerable to absorbing the best of the eastern miners shows that, despite all arguments to the contrary, the mine of the west, as Chicago must henceforth and forever, more be considered the mecca of the American laborer, who finds he holds good not only of unskilled labor, but of the skilled artisan.

The only relief asked by the miners of the west is the immediate passage of an anti-contract law which will practically bring the best of America the peer labor of Europe, and to such legislation they certainly are entitled.

O. W. WHITMORE.

Queen Victoria's Kindness.

Queen Victoria's kindness to the poor people at Balmoral Castle is the subject of an incident recorded by the London correspondent of an English journal. A poor woman, the widow of the old estate Hous as old retainer who had for many years been familiar to her majesty during her visits to Scotland. On arriving at Balmoral the queen learned that the poor old fellow had been stricken down by an illness. Not a long time elapsed ere her majesty's little pony-chaise had stopped at the cottage door and she had inquired as to the progress of the sufferer. Since then baskets of fruit have daily found their way to the cottage, the gift in each case being accompanied by an inquiry. In addition, her majesty has made another personal call.

HEROIC HARRY EILERS.

How a Brave Young Gunner's Mate Saved Many Lives on the Philadelphia.

It is not every ship in the navy that was its hero, but the cruiser Philadelphia has one of the ship's company is proud. Young, fair-haired and handsome, Harry Eilers, a gunner's mate, has proved his worth in the moment of the greatest danger, and by his coolness and bravery saved not only his own life but those of his four hundred shipmates. It was at Baltimore, while the sham bombardment of Fort McHenry was in progress. The big breech-block guns of the cruiser were belching forth flame and smoke in mimic warfare. Officers and crew were at quarters.

Young Eilers was down deep in the vessel's hold superintending the hoisting of ammunition. With him were four or five men to help him to do the work. They were busily engaged in the magazine when the premature explosion of a time primer in the after starboard gun on the upper deck terribly injured the officer in command and three or four members of the gun's crew. Fragments of the burning cartridge which wrapped the primer had fallen upon the chute into the small iron compartment where the men were at work, and the contents of powder and hundreds of shells were stowed. Instant destruction was threatened. If the fire communicated to the powder the ship would be blown up and every living soul on board instantly buried into eternity.

HENRY A. EILERS.

It was a time for heroism, but all but one of the men there gave in to the rush of the upper deck, shouting: "Fire in the after magazine!" Alone and unaided young Harry Eilers remained at his post, the flames all about him, fighting the fire with his naked hands. Death seemed to be the fate of the brave boy, but hesitate and he succeeded in smothering the last spark that remained. He stood at his post of duty until the excitement on deck had subsided and he was regularly relieved. Then he went on deck to muster with his division at quarters. The ship was saved.

FIRED SANS CEREMONY.

One of the Peculiar Phases of Journalistic Life.

[No Class of Workers Treated with as Little Regard as the Washington Correspondents.—The Newspaper Managing Editors.

[Special Washington Letter.]

Margherita Arlina Hamm, in a recent article printed in the Journalist, commented very truthfully upon the treatment which newspaper workers usually receive from the managing editors of great daily papers. Among other things she said that the average newspaper reporter and society writer, as well as the editorial writer, were regarded by the managing editor of the business department and the proprietor as the farmer regards his horses and cattle. As long as they are fleet upon the track and able to win money for their owners, or as long as they are sleek and fat and of good shadders along the field they receive compensation sufficient to keep their souls and bodies together, but when they themselves sufficiently well to appear to advantage in the company in which they must move they are discharged and the assignments given them by the managing editor. But when they cease to be of first-class value to the paper, are reduced or else they are immediately summarily discharged having any warning given them in order to have time to secure employment elsewhere. Miss Hamm thus gave some personal facts like these and followed them with some good advice to newspaper writers of both sexes in general. After reading she said was that it was always necessary to keep a powerful connection and to appreciate to every property before the world; because when any newspaper worker anyone else, even on the acknowledgment of failure or even partial failure, or a temporary reverse, the notice would be served upon a lot of hungry ready to break the ties and tear the unfortunate one to pieces.

Miss Hamm's article upon this subject reminds me of the experience of a number of persons who have been connected respectable, leading daily papers of the country in the national capital. Some of them have had the misfortune to be cast out with their followers by the proprietor of the paper in need of a little room for some of the friends of the editor, or to make room for some of the friends of the editor, or to make room for some of the friends of the editor, or to make

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.
E. L. FORCE & A. L. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors.
AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY
TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXV. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1892. No 47.

"Support the Constitution, which is the cement of the Union, as well in its limitations as in its authorities."—Madison.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODDINGTON,
Counsellors-at-Law,
Commissioners of Deeds, Stenographers, Notaries Public, Office in corner of Park avenue and Second street, Plainfield.

GEORGE W. DAY,
General Auctioneer,
Sales of Personal Property solicited. P. O. Box 116, Dunellen, N. J., or address in care of the establishment, Dunellen.

DR. CHARLES R. THEIS,
Dentist,
19 West Front street. A new local anesthetic by the use of which the most sensitive teeth can be filled without pain. Gold filling a specialty.—[adv]

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VanArsdale,
PIANO TUNER.
Instruments can be left at Stiles' Music Store, Front street, Plainfield, or at residence, No. 1 Arlington avenue. Orders by mail will receive prompt attention. Terms $2 a year for one tuning a day, or $3 for two tunings a day. Satisfaction guaranteed in every instance. Residence, No. 1 Arlington avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

T. J. GILLIES,
Architect & Real Estate Agent,
OFFICE—Madison Avenue, Price's Corner, P. O. Building.
Plans and specifications prepared. Buildings erected on commission.

John Chandler,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence and shop No. 21 East Third street. Jobbing promptly attended to. 1019

E. B. MAYNARD,
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 28 PARK AVENUE.
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their residences in the city. Shampooing, etc., each Saturday performed. 1171

GARNEY BROTHERS, Agents,
7 West Front St.
TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS.
PARLOR STOVES,
COOK STOVES,
HEATERS.
Grates and Bricks for all kinds of fires a can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your Tinware mending to us. The best Tinners, the best Plumbers, and the best Gas-fitters in the country. We can now use the very best of our tinware, and our work always gives satisfaction.
Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.
Tinware Made to Order.
Ranges, Brick and Portable Furnaces
SANITARY PLUMBING.

Parlor Stoves,
Furnaces, Ranges,
Water Piping. Plumbing.
Heater Work. Tinning.
Hardware.
A. H. GRIFFEN,
18 West Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 6. 11 13-92

Beautiful Assortment!
Furniture!
Largest Assortment!
Best Goods!
Lowest Prices!
Ever Offered in Plainfield!
23, 25 and 27 PARK AVE.
Garret Q. Packer.

SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc. Etc.
I am prepared to do any of the above branches in a satisfactory manner. Estimates furnished. Satisfaction guaranteed in every instance. Call and see me before letting your contracts. Shop on Somerset street, rear of Post-office building.
D. W. LITTELL,
No. 2 North Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

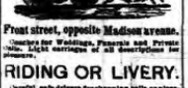
MISCELLANEOUS.

FOR MALARIA,
GENERAL DEBILITY
AND
ALL STOMACH TROUBLES
COLES'
PERUVIAN BARK
AND
WILD CHERRY BITTERS
ARE THE BEST.
A Vegetable Substitute for Quinine.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
Price, 50 cents and $1.00 per Bottle.
PREPARED ONLY BY THE
D. P. COLES DRUG AND MFG. CO
NEWARK, N. J.

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS,
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS,
SENT IN THE WORLD.
ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE within limits.

ESTABLISHED 18 6.
C.E. & J.W. BROWN,
(Successors to G. P. A. C. E. Brown & Co.)
Importers, Wholes le and Retail Dealers in
WALL PAPER.
321 Canal Street,
NEW YORK.
English Tiles, Anaglypta, Rand, Leather Relief Flock Papers, &c. Designs for Vault.
Manufacturers of Window Shades.

LIVERY.

A. M. SEGUINE,
(Successor to John W. Laing.)
Laing's Hotel Stables


Front street, opposite Madison avenue.
Carriages for Weddings, Funerals and Private Parties. Light carriages of all descriptions for pleasure.
RIDING OR LIVERY.
Careful, safe drivers for shopping trips or pleasure drives. Special attention given to boarding horses by the day, week or month.—[adv]1y
TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 20.

RICKERT'S
ACCOMMODATION EXPRESS.
OFFICE—Vanderveer's Music Store, Park avenue. Trunks and merchandise delivered and collected in the greatest carrying business of the city. Goods stored in large, dry rooms at low rates. Leave orders at Vanderveer's, Pitkin, etc. with care and safety.

INSURANCE.

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.

Fresh Garden Seeds
AND FERTILIZERS,
Farm and Garden Implements.
Lawn Mowers Sharpened.
Ice Cream Freezers
Gasoline Stoves. Hardware, Tools, etc.
J. J. HEIDELOFF,
No. 16 NORTH AVENUE.
Whatever will appear to be of service to you, whether it be
Fresh and Salt Meats.
Fish of all kinds, Oysters, Clams, Game in season. Poultry dressed to order.
Agent for and dealer in Hecker's Buckwheat and other breakfast foods.

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARLES CHAMPENOIS.
Hugo Weigman,
No. 24 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON,
(Successor to T. C. Cory.)
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—N. W. FRONT ST.
Large covered Piano Wagon. Goods moved, packed and shipped with care. Orders left at Coddington's Livery Stable, Front street, or at residence, No. 5 E. Second st., will receive prompt attention.

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.

H. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of
C. O. D. CIGAR,
The smoke most relished by the people, and made of the finest tobacco grown in the country.
JUAN GARCIA CIGARS A SPECIALTY.
A large assortment of other brands of Cigars and Tobacco always on hand.
Smoking Articles in Great Variety.

C. M. FINE,
Dealer in Havana & Domestic
SEGARS!!
No. 32 PARK AVE., (Next door to Hotel Brookside)
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Fine Cigars and Smoker's Materials.
Correct styles in Fine Cigarette Holders, Cigar Cases, Pocket Flasks, Pocket Knives, Etc.

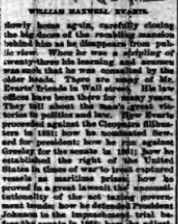
A. WOLFF,
Manufacturer of
CIGARS,
And Dealer in all kinds of Smoking and Chewing Tobacco. Cigars and Tobacco of all kinds delivered from 313 E. Front street, to 22 West Front street, and from 22 West Front street to 313 E. Front street, free of charge. Orders by mail will receive prompt attention. P. O. Box 1788.

PAINTERS & PAINTERS SUPPLIES.

Paints, Varnishes, Glass,
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALL PAPERS!
PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY.
A. SWALM,
No. 6 North Avenue, Plainfield.

L. B. WOOLSTON. A. F. BUCKLE.
Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS,
Wall Papers,
ARTISTS' SUPPLIES. 28 NORTH AVENUE
Plainfield

WILLIAM MAXWELL EVARTS.



16. Dickinson Offices 13 Park Row, Plainfield, N.J.

WHATEVER form of printed matter you require we can be of service to you; whether it be

Letter Headings,
Circulars,
Programmes or Menus,
Addresses,
Statements,
By-Laws of Societies,
Proposals and Reports of Proposed Associations or any other Forms for Public or Private Circulation,
Everything,

WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST DAILY PRESS

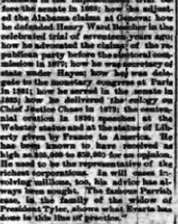
(Chatterson Building).

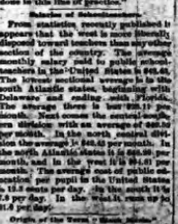
PLAINFIELD N. J

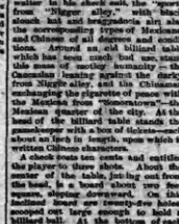
A FAMOUS [illegible]

William Maxwell Evarts, New Lo[illegible] ing in Retirement.

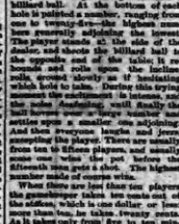
His Great Versatility in Politics—A Lover of Some of the Great Speakers—Quiet Life among the Green Mountains.

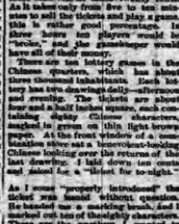


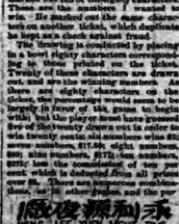




FAN-TAN DEALER.







The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORGE. A. L. FORCE
Editors and Proprietors.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY.
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT
TRENTON, Sept. 12, 1892

In accordance with the law and considering the duty we owe to God, the Almighty Ruler of the universe, I do hereby appoint Thursday, the 15th day of December next, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, on which day I recommend that all secular business be suspended, and that the people meet in their several places of worship, and there render thanks to God for his bounties and mercies to us as a people or nation, the many and great blessings we enjoy, and pray for the continuance of the same.

Given under my hand and private seal, at the City of Trenton, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-two, and of the Independence of the United States the one hundred and seventeenth.

LEON ABBETT, Governor.
Attest—LEON ABBETT, The Private Secretary.

ELECTION ECHOES.

Robert Purvis, a worthy and intelligent colored resident of Philadelphia, an old time Abolitionist, after expressing satisfaction that the negro vote in the South is dividing between the two parties, pays this tribute to the Democratic President-elect:

"I consider him a man of the highest type of Americanism, who believes in the right and has the courage to carry out his own ideas of what is best for the whole interest of the country. I believe that the country has everything to hope for from Mr. Cleveland's Administration, and think that he will newly guard, as far as he is able, the rights of all the people."

Which is a well spoken and merited testimonial.

The President of a large iron manufacturing company, in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, thus writes to a New York stockholder, and a Republican:

"The election is no doubt satisfactory to the majority of our citizens throughout the country, and the result is, in response to some natural law, intended for the general good. We know I never have been charmed with the Mr. Kinley Bill, and do not fear disaster to existing industries on account of the change. Those who use prudence and well-proportioned zeal in the conduct of their business have nothing to fear."

"Our company started under the Cleveland Administration, and its progressive transition will not seriously suffer result on his account. When I compare our treatment and results with other countries, and think of our ability to employ and support a vast army if we choose to do it, as those already here, I fail to see right reason in the plaintive murmurings of depressed parties. Four years of six years ago, viz., 'Say nothing, but vote and work,' is probably as good to-day as it was then, and perhaps better, as we have results, and one fact is worth many theories."

That evidence-level headed business sense, and its allusion to "the plaintive murmurings of depressed partisans" is certainly very reasonable and appropriate.

CROAKERS.

Nearly half a century ago when James K. Polk was the Democratic candidate for President political croakers prophesied that the return of Democracy to power would devastate the country.

What happened?

Polk was elected President, he gave the people an efficient and enlightened administration of government, and every industrial and business pursuit prospered exceedingly.

Eight years ago Grover Cleveland was the Presidential candidate of the Democratic party, and the same chorus of croakers came forth prattling and whining as the sure result of his inauguration.

What happened?

Cleveland was elected President, and filled the office with marked ability and right honesty, for the general welfare of the people and the national honor.

Now, Mr. Cleveland is again the Democratic President-elect by a tremendous majority, and the same feelings of "depressed partisans" fill the land with silly forebodings of coming ruin.

Moral:

Their windy talk has no more effect on sensible men than water has upon the back of a duck.

What happened before will happen again.

Our Republican friends are busily engaged in endeavoring to find out the cause of their recent terrible defeat. They differ in judgment, some laying blame at the door of Mr. Blaine and his friends, others standing it upon Tariff Mr. Kinley, others because of the office holders nomination of Free dent Harrison and the unwise selection of White law Reid, while a detachment think the manipulations of Martin and Daven port did partly more harm than good. All these causes no doubt combinedly exercised a defeating influence, gentlemen, but bear in mind that there was a powerful lever that started the Democratic avalanche, and that was popular dissatisfaction with the doings of your party in general.

The tariff bill as reported by Mr. Mills and passed by a Democratic House of Congress made wool free, and levied an ad valorem duty of forty per cent. on woolen goods. That was encouraging capital and labor at both ends. Freeing the raw material would have given the manufacturer a chance to compete with other nations, and at the same time broadened the field for employment of labor, while taxing foreign fabrics at the rate named would have afforded ample protection to both employer and employee.

When Grover Cleveland was first elected President of the United States, some rampant Republican partisans avowed their determination to close up business interests and retire. They nevertheless continued in trade and made money. Silverman Bunnell, of Bridgeport, Conn., a large owner of real estate, at the same time proclaimed his intention to sell out. Notwithstanding which he remained the happy possessor of enhanced property values.

In 1873 the then editor of the New York Tribune was overwhelmingly defeated. In 1885, twenty months afterwards, the present editor of the same journal as a candidate for Vice-President encountered similar disaster. Defeat killed Greeley and has made Reid very unwell. Both cases attest the fact that Donner Dopers is an incalculable political practitioner.

Minnesota was saved to the Harrison column through the personal popularity and well known sentiments of Governor-elect Nelson, who, as a Republican Congressman advocated and voted for the free Democratic tariff bill, and who remains to be an outspoken champion of tariff reform and free of McKinleyism.

General Benjamin F. Butler has escaped from obscurity to condemn the Australian ballot system because of the harm it has done the Republican party. He also endeavors to both ridicule and vilify the secret voting law of the state and that it originated in a British penal colony. It would be advisable for the General, before again referring from public notice, to read a little perhaps of history and thereby learn that the South Australian ballot law was devised and enacted in a land that is free was a convict settlement. The Australian ballot is freedom's safeguard and that is why it makes Butlerism shun its shadow. Blocks of five Dudley's illegal e naturally antagonistic to it.

"My belief in our principles and my faith in our party constitute my trust that we shall answer the expectation of our countrymen and shall raise high aloft the standard of true Democracy, which for more than forty years has been of a prosperous, a happy and a confident people."—President-elect Cleveland.

To the credit of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, we believe the managers of that corporation did not send circulars upon the subject of their political duty.

"The Democrats in the recent campaign appealed to the self respect of the people and to their consciences for equal rights for all and opened a field for none."—President Eliot of Harvard.

To let every legally entitled citizen, without intimidation or favor, vote as he deems proper, is a fundamental code of the Democratic party.

Political Notes From Exchanges.

There will be 25 Senatorial seats vacant at Washington on March 4. Of these 13 will fall to the Democrats, 9 to the Republicans and 3 to the People's party, one of these being Senator Stewart of Nevada, who has deserted the standard of the G. o. p.

The Democrats gain Senators-elect from the Republican states of California, Montana, New York, Wisconsin and Wyoming respectively, while they do not lose one of those they hold at present. The People's party ousted Republicans from Kansas and Nebraska, besides gaining Senator Stewart, who succeeds Senator Wolcott. The Democrats have 44 Senators to 40 of the Republicans and the 4 of the People's party—as many as the two parties mentioned have between them, can, if so inclined, call on the Vice-President-elect on the case of a tie. As Arizona and New Mexico will certainly be admitted to statehood and Utah probably, the Democracy will then by gain two Senators apiece from those States.

At the Manhattan club banquet to Mr. Cleveland on Saturday night held in the upper room of the club, president Gorham in proposing the health of the guest of the evening dwelt on the fact that the Democratic victory was not only a party triumph, but a popular triumph.

"He was in no great," said he, "that he is greater than his party. The great w of men is the man who is with the people and the people, and trying in the people's behalf."

Governor Werts's Bride.

Perhaps but few of our citizens are aware of the fact that the wife of governor-elect Gen. T. Werts was a resident of Plainfield at the date of her marriage. Her maiden name was Ellen Runyon, youngest daughter of Hon. Theodore Runyon, of Piscataway township, and sister of ex-postmaster Albert Runyon, one of the oldest and most esteemed residents of Plainfield. Miss Ellen Runyon, the old homestead wherein the marriage was celebrated about eighteen years ago is situated just below New Market, and now owned by Joseph Field. In the ancient family graveyard near the house in which governor Werts was married, will be found the handsome new granite of grandfather and great-grandfather of his wife. Among the many guests at the wedding of governor Werts, were John P. Stelle and wife, who are now residents of this city, but who at that time lived on a farm near the old homestead. Mr. Stelle is the well-known Weyman of West Front street. The fact that Governor elect's family were of strong, Republican proclivities may account for the large increase of votes in his favor in Piscataway township.

Want Roads Like Plainfield's Everywhere.

(Elizabeth Journal.)

Now that electric roads have reached within a stone's throw of Plainfield, why would it not be a good thing to project an electric road running out Watchung avenue, Somerville, to Springfield and Milburn and thence to Summit? The Southern part of Union county has always lacked proper connection with its county seat, and its headlines, its commerce, its society, and indeed nearly all its relations have, in consequence, been with Newark, Morristown and other places. An electric road running to Summit on the line mentioned would divert a large traffic to the city, and would bring the different sections of the county into much better business and social relations.

New Jersey's Favorite Son.

THE PRESS heartily re-echoes the sentiment of many prominent papers of the State who name the Hon. John R. McPherson for a cabinet portfolio. If loyal service and unflinching fidelity to party are considered as qualifications for political advancement under the incoming administration New Jersey's claim to recognition is undoubtedly the honorable distinction for which he is named. All Democrats would be proud to have one of their own, called into the councils of the nation, and Senator McPherson would represent the State with honor and ability. But in such an event there would be two United States Senators to elect and there is little likelihood that Leon Abbett could be kept out of one of them.

Monks Married.

Gratified by the kindly reception and Saturday interviewed accorded him by Plainfield's highly cultivated and hospitable people, Father Monks has been commanded to give a violin recital in this city, Thursday evening, December 1, assisted by that talented young pianiste, Edward Smart, at Mavis Hall, under the management of Mr. Demarest.

This will be the opening of the musical season in this city, and we predict that Father and Professor Monks will appear before a full house. We should not be surprised if there be an occasion of special interest and attraction, yet there will be no extra charge in prices. The hall is reserved seats at 50 and 75 cents will begin at the Central pharmacy, Monday morning, November 28.

New Market Notes.

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Osmun, of New Market, celebrated the fifteenth anniversary of their wedding Monday night. A number of their friends were invited, and a large event attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Plant, of New Market, will celebrate the anniversary of their wedding Thursday evening.

A dance will be given at the home of Lloyd Nelson, New Market, on Thanksgiving evening.

HE WILL STILL BE BOSS.

THE FIGHT OF THE ANTI-BOSSITES ON THE WANE.

The Republican Palmetto Men at Liberty as Anti-Bossites—The Grand Executive Committee and Ward Officers and City Committee Reorganize—The Fourth Ward the Only Fighting One.

The off-er of most Republicans to defeat Boss Hedden's ballot law has resulted the party's and the city's affairs in already wretched confusion. For there have been made to-day out of the ashes of a county secret to the many of the Plainfield Republicans. It has been openly avowed that a little attorney who has always acted in the old and notorious ring rule whose yoke has chafed so many necks for so long. The one-man power, the bossism and, would have been the case for many years to come of a prosperous, a happy and a confident people."—President-elect Cleveland.

To the credit of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, we believe the managers of that corporation did not send circulars upon the subject of their political duty.

"The Democrats in the recent campaign appealed to the self respect of the people and to their consciences for equal rights for all and opened a field for none."—President Eliot of Harvard.

To let every legally entitled citizen, without intimidation or favor, vote as he deems proper, is a fundamental code of the Democratic party.

Political Notes From Exchanges.

There will be 25 Senatorial seats vacant at Washington on March 4. Of these 13 will fall to the Democrats, 9 to the Republicans and 3 to the People's party, one of these being Senator Stewart of Nevada, who has deserted the standard of the G. o. p.

The Democrats gain Senators-elect from the Republican states of California, Montana, New York, Wisconsin and Wyoming respectively, while they do not lose one of those they hold at present. The People's party ousted Republicans from Kansas and Nebraska, besides gaining Senator Stewart, who succeeds Senator Wolcott. The Democrats have 44 Senators to 40 of the Republicans and the 4 of the People's party—as many as the two parties mentioned have between them, can, if so inclined, call on the Vice-President-elect on the case of a tie. As Arizona and New Mexico will certainly be admitted to statehood and Utah probably, the Democracy will then by gain two Senators apiece from those States.

At the Manhattan club banquet to Mr. Cleveland on Saturday night held in the upper room of the club, president Gorham in proposing the health of the guest of the evening dwelt on the fact that the Democratic victory was not only a party triumph, but a popular triumph.

"He was in no great," said he, "that he is greater than his party. The great w of men is the man who is with the people and the people, and trying in the people's behalf."

Governor Werts's Bride.

Perhaps but few of our citizens are aware of the fact that the wife of governor-elect Gen. T. Werts was a resident of Plainfield at the date of her marriage. Her maiden name was Ellen Runyon, youngest daughter of Hon. Theodore Runyon, of Piscataway township, and sister of ex-postmaster Albert Runyon, one of the oldest and most esteemed residents of Plainfield. Miss Ellen Runyon, the old homestead wherein the marriage was celebrated about eighteen years ago is situated just below New Market, and now owned by Joseph Field. In the ancient family graveyard near the house in which governor Werts was married, will be found the handsome new granite of grandfather and great-grandfather of his wife. Among the many guests at the wedding of governor Werts, were John P. Stelle and wife, who are now residents of this city, but who at that time lived on a farm near the old homestead. Mr. Stelle is the well-known Weyman of West Front street. The fact that Governor elect's family were of strong, Republican proclivities may account for the large increase of votes in his favor in Piscataway township.

Want Roads Like Plainfield's Everywhere.

(Elizabeth Journal.)

Now that electric roads have reached within a stone's throw of Plainfield, why would it not be a good thing to project an electric road running out Watchung avenue, Somerville, to Springfield and Milburn and thence to Summit? The Southern part of Union county has always lacked proper connection with its county seat, and its headlines, its commerce, its society, and indeed nearly all its relations have, in consequence, been with Newark, Morristown and other places. An electric road running to Summit on the line mentioned would divert a large traffic to the city, and would bring the different sections of the county into much better business and social relations.

New Jersey's Favorite Son.

THE PRESS heartily re-echoes the sentiment of many prominent papers of the State who name the Hon. John R. McPherson for a cabinet portfolio. If loyal service and unflinching fidelity to party are considered as qualifications for political advancement under the incoming administration New Jersey's claim to recognition is undoubtedly the honorable distinction for which he is named. All Democrats would be proud to have one of their own, called into the councils of the nation, and Senator McPherson would represent the State with honor and ability. But in such an event there would be two United States Senators to elect and there is little likelihood that Leon Abbett could be kept out of one of them.

Monks Married.

Gratified by the kindly reception and Saturday interviewed accorded him by Plainfield's highly cultivated and hospitable people, Father Monks has been commanded to give a violin recital in this city, Thursday evening, December 1, assisted by that talented young pianiste, Edward Smart, at Mavis Hall, under the management of Mr. Demarest.

This will be the opening of the musical season in this city, and we predict that Father and Professor Monks will appear before a full house. We should not be surprised if there be an occasion of special interest and attraction, yet there will be no extra charge in prices. The hall is reserved seats at 50 and 75 cents will begin at the Central pharmacy, Monday morning, November 28.

New Market Notes.

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Osmun, of New Market, celebrated the fifteenth anniversary of their wedding Monday night. A number of their friends were invited, and a large event attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Plant, of New Market, will celebrate the anniversary of their wedding Thursday evening.

A dance will be given at the home of Lloyd Nelson, New Market, on Thanksgiving evening.

AN ENGINEER INSANE.

JERRY DUNIHAN FORSAKES HIS LOCOMOTIVE.

All Donation Visits Call to Remain for Him, But He Resists the Benevolent Attempts—His Wife Has Her Reasons, Not Recognize His Neighbors.

Jerry Dunihan cast a gentleman's train from New York to Dunellen Tuesday and ran it as well that no one ever dreamed that it was in charge of a maniac.

The engineer was Jeremiah Dunihan, of Dunellen. He is 50 years of age, and the third oldest engineer in point of service on the Jersey Central.

He has been given responsible runs, making a four day's week, and the work and worry added to loss of sleep, were a great deal to him. Dunihan is a man of the mental strain, he lost a favorite daughter, Mrs. Denham, a good age. It is reported that the mind of the engineer has been affected, but yesterday's acts were altogether.

He completed all day of 301 better, and, engine he had charge of, ran in to head. His fireman noticed his queer actions on the run out from New York and was much alarmed by them. He himself could no longer stand it and returned in some Dunihan's remarks foreign his attention and left him incapable of his work, but Dunihan performed the duties of the engineer quite skillfully to Dunellen. Then he forsook it. He swung down from his cab with his dinner pail, and started swiftly homeward, while in the opposite direction from his home.

The news of Dunihan's "queer" ness spread, and the townspeople in the vicinity of the depot were on the lookout for the insane engineer. Every one feared he might do himself some bodily harm.

He was not found till next morning. Peter Hartlieb saw him from a train window, walking up Clinton avenue. Even from the direction of the residence. Dunihan's deserted home, and he was taken home by Timothy McCarthy and other friends. He did not know his own name, and said he lived in Mr. Gardner's barn. He expressed a fondness for nothing.

His clothes were tattered, and his face and hands were scratched and torn from the brambles and bushes he had evidently wandered about the woods and meadows all night.

He will be examined with a view of putting him in an institution for the insane.

SCHOOLMARMS STORM SOMERVILLE.

A Hand-Rousing Crisis Minutes on Their Petition.

All of the school trustees, male and female, principals, supervisors, and those attending the Institute of Somerville and somerset counties this week in Somerville hall, Somerville. Bright and early Monday morning the town began to assume a mutiful tint liment of pedagogues and as they thronged up the street in the direction their feet were guided was the court house square. Soon the hall was filled, and a full hooked crowd, and all were in their duty ing stations. At 10 the instructors and the men were ascended to between the rooms in a joyful way. This convention of teachers is supposed to be called for the education and enlightenment of the backwoods educators, but it is not exactly that. I teachers from all over say so. They claim that the idea is to promote sociability; in other words, to bring the teachers from all parts together in a friendly companionship in order to get rid of any bashfulness with their fingers to their minds. To that, no doubt, the visit is due. Superintendent Hoagland and many under Commissioner Apgar also met there on the street corners and on the hall until 9 p.m., only stopping a short time for lunch. The hall and town is a glorious over the hall until supper time, at which time the hall was again filled with a full crowd of teachers, and the town was filled with a full crowd of teachers, and the town was filled with a full crowd of teachers, and the town was

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THIS COUNTY OR UNION.

J. A. DUNAREST - - City Editor.

—Another old moniker has been sold off by Leiter's hotel.

—Twenty-eight men were laid off Friday at the Potter Press works.

—Dandelion now has a society for the prevention of cruelty to animals.

—David Morning is the highest average bowler at Hope chapel, having beaten all previous records by bowling 236 Monday evening.

—The stock and fixtures of Miller's pharmacy, in the T. M. C. A. building, 10 East Front street, will be sold by public auction on the premises, next Tuesday afternoon at 2.

—A $2 000 addition is being added to the Hanover academy on Park avenue recently purchased by Prof. Edward Martin from Isaac E. Martino. A. L. C. Martin is the architect.

—What's the matter with Mine Host Rose for a position in Grover's cabinet? He has a brother and his cousin is the wife of Middleton is next to Union for the title of banner Democratic county.

—Trinity Commandery, No. 17 Knights Templars, numbering 75 members, will entertain two candidates Monday evening. Prominent Knights were present from New York and Somerville.

—Dandelion H. J. Weber is having the sidewalk around his grocery store repaired with Belgian, and pedestrians should be thankful, for no longer will they have to walk through mud at the curb.

—County clerk James Gerber has called 1561, given bonds and been put in possession of his office. Chief clerk Theodore Medlicott of this city is still retained in charge to the gratification of all who have business to transact with the county.

—Fitch-ell Bradley, William Wadsfield Mitchell McCarthy and Robert Wood bar, posted $15 and agreed not to starve 2 their boards before Dec. 16. The one who gives the best grave is to have his share of the money. It is an election freak.

—The Democrats will have 223, another, 234, representatives in the next Congress, Republicans 125 and the Populists 7, giving the Democrats 95 majority so far as heard from, and 92, if they carry the election for Congressmen in Rhode Island.

—A stout stone wall is being built the entire length of George H. Babcock's property along Green brook, also along the race-way south of the present stable buildings. This is to keep the brook confined and prevent washouts of the improved property.

—Those who still claim there is danger in the trestle should have seen the men on top of their wagon wiping the hair prestonad wire and greasing it with oil and pinchage, during the snow and rain storm of Wednesday and Thursday. The full current was on and all the cars running at the time.

—Yale men are numerous in Plainfield, and those here considerably jubilant demonstration made in the city Saturday afternoon when the foot-ball score was displayed in front THE PRESS office. Visitors of blue that on close inspection proved to be Yale peasants, were seen over many precious Saturday night and yesterday.

—The Relief Association proposes, this year as hitherto, to give out Thanksgiving dinners to its beneficiaries another poor families. For this purpose groceries, provisions, clothing, fuel, etc., are asked and should be sent to the Relief rooms, 45 West Second street, on Tuesday afternoon, or Wednesday morning before 10 o'clock.

—The most remarkable victory of the Democrats in Illinois, where they have a majority of 16,000, and a majority of 7,000. They gained 76,000 votes as compared with the election of 1892, while the Republicans gained 37,000. The total gain to the vote of the State since 1888 was about 100,000.

—The way the city park is mutilated is a disgrace. The cinder paths that were laid out for pedestrian exercise have been perverted to the use of all manner of horses, and even private carriages, so that they are not in condition for pedestrians. The nuisance should be soon summarily stopped. Let the councilmen of the locality take a hand.

—Arrangements are already making in Washington for the inauguration of President Cleveland, which it is proposed shall be upon a scale fully equal to those of any occasion of the kind in recent years. The inaugural parade will be largely be composed of Democratic clubs from all sections of the country, some of which are already arranging for their entertainment while in the city.

—There is no use to worry about Mr. Cleveland's Cabinet. He has plenty of hard-wood, straight-grained Democratic timber to choose from; and no-w-p is a better judge of material—Philadelphia Record Very good; but let us suggest that New Jersey not be overlooked this time. How about Senator Sam R. McPherson for Secretary of the Treasury? We think he would fill the bill in a most worthy and able manner.

—A handsome deer dog owned and highly prized by Martin McGowan, of Prescott place, Pondville, is supposed to have been poisoned the other night by some miscreant. The animal was first noticed the dog acting strangely and therefore turned him out of his box, since which time he has disappeared entirely. It is said that this deer was a great favorite to most any one and all the boys like to have him accompany with them in the woods. He was generally admired from the family circle as he was fondly treated like one of the family.

Hope Chapel's First Victory.

A friendly game at bowling between a five-men team from Dunellen and a five-men team connected with Hope chapel was played on the latter alleys Monday night. The game was very exciting the whole way through and at one time it was thought the Dunellenites would be victorious as they were 50 pins to the good ahead of the Chapel team in the first frame; but by hard work and keeping together the Chapelers got the best of them in the last frame. The score:

HOPE CHAPEL.		DUNELLEN.
Turner	96	Lovejoy	139
Mole	111	Gile	98
Hoffman	97	Dunham	87
Morning	142	Tingley	110
Geer	88	Wilson	98
	533		532

Taylor of Dunellen umpired the game.

He's So Was Sure Hero of Plainfield.

[Elizabeth Journal.]

Just think of it. Plainfield expects to win a Republican victory at the municipal election on December 5. And this after the unparalleled landslide on November 8. Hurrah for Plainfield!

THE PRESS'S One-Hundred Idea Grower.

[From The Courier.]

The members of the High School class of 1893 will have a Thanksgiving spread in Assembly Hall to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock. They hope to be thankful for the concession system at an early date.

PERSONALIA.

Carl Fiessler, formerly book-keeper at Poehler's, is now in the office of C. Bolmer, Bro & Co.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burke, of Netherwood, on Monday. This is the ninth.

Miss Hattie Hillyer, of Clinton, is visiting the family of her uncle, D. W. Hillyer, of Fourth and New streets.

Miss May Hilton of this city was married to Asa McKean of Somerville, by the Rev. Cornelius Bosworth, Wednesday evening.

Mi-s Hallie Wilson and Miss Jodie Rockwell, two of New Brunswick's most charming belles, are visiting friends in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Rose, of 313 Grant avenue, will spend next week in New York, attending the wedding of Mr. Rose's sister Hattie.

Mrs. Joseph W. Yates and Miss Kathie Yates, who have been visiting Mrs. Yates's son Sigmund Yates and his family at Denver, are expected home next week.

Miss Alice Plummer, formerly of Netherwood, with her mother, Mrs. Plummer, of New York, has been spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bowne of Broadway.

A lad coming from school the other day was overheard comparing some of the Plainfield clergy thus: Positive, Goodrich; comparative, Richardson; superlative, Bossenger.

Mrs. Robert Bunting of Ashland, Pa., who as Miss Emma Martin was chief operator in the telephone office in this city, is visiting friends at the Park Hotel, Clinton street, North Plainfield.

The recent proposition of the Sunset J. Cox Union trustees to Mayor Grant of New York, asking for aid in the matter of the completion of the proposed Tilden public library, was signed by L. V. F. Randolph, secretary of the Tilden trust.

The Rev. Dr. Rudesdale of the Crescent Avenue church, has refused to consider a call, that undoubtedly would otherwise have been extended him, to the pulpit of the late Dr. Howard Crosby of New York. The salary connected with it is $9,000.

Colonel V. D. Baston, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Baston of Railway road, died Sunday after a speedy illness. She was a young woman of rare purity of character, patient in suffering, and with a divine faith in the Master's will. Her loss will be greatly felt.

The most popular form of amusement this winter seems to be amateur theatricals. Three plays are in course of rehearsal at present, two of them to be brought out at the Casino during December. The third will be private but may be repeated at the Casino later in the season.

On the 13th of December W. R. Mackaymont, organist, will give one of his popular organ recitals, in the First Presbyterian church, assisted by Walter Arnold, soprano, Mrs. Mackaymont and Miss Crane. These recitals have become so popular that they are looked for-ward to with considerable interest. Admission is free.

A sociable was given to about seventy-five young people of this city, Elizabeth and Fanwood, Wednesday evening, at the Delbert homestead, Terrill road. Refreshments were served, and the evening was pleasantly spent. Dancing was furnished by Mr. Reilly. All agreed that Mrs. Richards (Aunt Huldah) was a charming hostess, and entertained royally.

The many warm friends of Mrs. Wallace L. Berrell are rejoiced to know that she is to spend the entire winter in Plainfield, where she has built a cozy home on a retiring avenue. She is a guest at the Terrell home on West Front street, where her bright little boy is the pet and plaything of the household. Her brother is kept busily his business interests in the West.

Mrs. Samuel Dreier has paid $6,000 cash for the large plot of land at the corner of New and Front streets, known as the Leal school. The shrewd business woman made a good bargain. She near that the street railway is improving property in that section of town, and is very anxious to have a hand in developing the real estate. The purchase was made through Robinson brothers.

Thomas Hale, jr., of this city, was married at noon, on Wednesday, the 16th inst., to Miss Agnes Charlotte Holen daughter of the home of the bride's mother in Jersey City. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Kenyon. The wedding was a private affair, only the near relatives and a few intimate friends of the neighborhood being invited. Many beautiful gifts were bestowed as tokens of affection and esteem. After the ceremony the guests were driven to the Hotel Washington, where beautiful refreshments were provided. The happy couple left on the express at the Grand Central Depot, New York, where they took the cars for Boston and other points. They will return to Plainfield and will make their future home in that city for the present. Mrs. Hale is a niece of the Veronas of North Plainfield.

The Dorr of LeGrande avenue, entertained a party of friends Thursday evening. Progressive whist was the chief feature of the evening. Miss Patten, of Somerville, and Mr. Bonnell, of Plainfield, took first prizes, and Miss Hengerer and Mr. Pitts each obtaining a "booby". Among those present were: Miss Bonnell, of Plainfield; Miss Patten, Miss Bowers, Miss Crane, Miss Lowrie, Miss Boyce, Miss Thorne, Miss Hengerer, Miss Hengerer, Miss Baltzman, Miss Hengerer, Miss Holmes and Miss Abbott, of Plainfield; Miss Sackett, of New York; Messrs. A. Pitts, A. Hairston, H. Patten, Mr. Smith, H. Williams, Dr. Baker, Mr. Lowrie, E. French, C. Faber, G. Drayton, F. Rockwell, H. Day, A. Freeman and J. Stevens, of Plainfield; Mr. English, of Verona; and Messrs. C. H. Bogardus and C. Allen, of Elizabeth. Informality reigned supreme, and a most genuine good time was enjoyed by all.

Miss Mitchell, who had been a respected teacher in New York since 1836, died of pneumonia at her residence, 30 West Fifty-sixth street, at 2 o'clock Tuesday morning, after an illness of a few days. She was born in Belfast, Ireland, in 1825, and came to this country when he was 9 years old. He went into the sugar business in Philadelphia, and in 1866, came to New York city and became a partner of the late Francis Baldwin. Eventually the firm adopted the name of Baldwin, Mitchell & Co., and in the last few years took rank among the leading firms of sugar brokers in Wall street. Mr. Mitchell was a member of the Delta club and of the Union league club, and of St. Thomas's church. The funeral will be at the residence Friday morning, at 10, and the interment at Woodlawn. Mr. Mitchell leaves two daughters and two sons. The elder son is at the head of the firm of L. W. Mitchell & Co., and the youngest, Thomas Mitchell, jr., who was long a resident of this city at Broadway and Ninth street, is a partner in his father's firm.

A Great Thing: Where, by Comet.

[Elizabeth Journal.]

The enterprising people of Plainfield are ambitiously in a fever of excitement over the prospect of a new hotel. They have recently added electric cars to the other progressive institutions of the city, and now it is rumored that the Pennsylvania railroad company has decided to erect a handsome hotel at Watchung, the Orange, theatre through Millburn, Springfield, and Scotch Plains, and on to Plainfield, and it is not unlikely that the people here may be of great advantage to Plainfield, and it is not unlikely that the people here may be of great advantage to Plainfield, and it is not unlikely that the people here may be of great advantage

ANARCHISTS AT HOME.

Secret Societies in Which Bratty Brutality Attains Its Ends.

The Outbreak's Secret Head — How "Sinner" Are Removed—A Hidden Factor in the Hungarian Trouble.

[COPYRIGHT, 1892.]

It is always an ill wind that blows nobody good, and the barrier which the cholera has unexpectedly set up against the inroads of foreign immigration has also put a temporary stop to the horrors within our gates of the destructive doctrines of social conspiracy. It can hardly with truth be claimed that the Americans are even one-half aware of the hidden fires forever smoldering in their very midst—fires fanned and fed from day to day, from hour to hour, by the conspiracy of anarchists and cherished revolutists perpetually being imported into the country. The secret societies peculiar to that truly certain element of the population of Hungary, Bohemia, Galicia, Dalmatia and Jewish Russia, are unknown and unheard in their entirety when individual members of them settle here. To this fact may be traceable the frequent mysterious murders which periodically startle the public, occurring in those districts peculiar to every large town, where the lower class of immigrants congregate.

To instance this we will begin with the Ouladina, a secret society which first spread southward from Bessarabia and westward to Hungary, Servia, Bosnia and Croatia. It is now the most powerful one among our Hungarian and Slavish population, and in large native lands its wide ramifications have long been known to the authorities. Information gleaned from official sources goes to prove that the Ouladina's future success continues to spread among its members long after they emigrate, for the same system of holding together and observing the traditions of their secret mutual bond is characteristic of the expatriated Hungarian working in the Pennsylvania coal mines, or in the great industrial concerns of that state, or still further west.

Here is the situation: A certain bona workman is obnoxious to a large number of his fellows for reasons "too numerous" him. The next question is how shall it be done. The Ouladina is the big loyal members of the Ouladina, proceed systematically, and after the first sensation of the immediate "removal" dissolves, a piece of red paper is sent to another village where members of the order are quartered. This contains the name of the victim and is addressed to one of the faithful selected by a majority vote to execute the sentence. The latter knows the secret missive means bloodshed so he forthwith arms himself with knife and revolver and proceeds to the village wherein it is dated, and from that goal to the residence of the local head of the order, and as he enters places the index finger of his left hand between Adams' apple of his throat—thus giving the secret sign of identification—following this with the password, delicately framed and lengthy sentence, the exact translation of which even the writer has been unable to secure. Then the two proceed to business; the chief arranges for the commission of the deed, and dispatches the assassin on his fatal errand. Nothing more is heard of the matter, community is aroused to the consternation of the assassin's work. Suspicion may rest upon one of the Ouladina's Croats dwelling in the immediate vicinity, but it is, of course, impossible to establish a case against them, because not only are none of them directly guilty, but, knowing beforehand the precise line of action attempt would be made, they each and all have taken excellent care to be at that moment in other places so far away from the scene as soon whose evidence would suffice to clear them if accused. The alibi is thus the unbreakable defense, and while the local police are vainly expending their energy and sagacity, the real murderer has returned in safety to retreat, as much beyond the danger of detection as if he had never been born.

Does the shadow of a ghastly crime, would fain ask the thoughtful reader, that the several murders so lately committed in Pennsylvania, when American former in charge of Hungarian "Huns" burned last year, the enormity, and the responsibility for which could never be placed, were actually accomplished by the methods I have described?

No less dangerous is the organization existing among the Slavs who are found in large numbers in the extreme of Michigan, Michigan and other northwestern states. It is the outcome of the revolutionary spirit which permeated Poland after the dismemberment of that unfortunate country, and had for its motive the protection of the oppressed natives against the tyranny of the conquerors. It united together in self-defense under the watchword of patriotism, and largely recruited from the ranks of the peasant agriculturists who, under the leadership of the nobility, organized, armed with their scythes the sabers and bayonets of Russia's troops, the "Society of Scythemen," as it was called, while retaining in great part its original membership, altered its aims when transferred to the shores of America and the new world. When the scythemen, in short, left Poland for America they began to form lodges all about Pittsburgh and the memory of Kosciusko. They still retain the spirit of their secret brotherhood, and, carrying its general principles of organization with them, adapted the latter to their requirements when the whole trouble lay, for these Polish-Americans, in the fact of resentment between the despotism from which they had fled and the free government which they found there existing. Anything which in their eyes took the form of legalized authority was at once to be condemned, and it did not matter that this authority took the form of organized employing labor, to them it was hopelessly suggestive of tyranny all the same. The neighborhood, more or less extensive, where all things, gradually developed into secret societies, naturally were. For the purest blank of anarchy were to prove those in a theory and practice of absolute depredation. Secret lodges formed one outcome, and these, while being in reality nothing more or less than benevolent societies for the mutual lifting of suffering the order for the purpose of bleeding their more fortunate brethren. Strictly speaking, those who had completed the ordeal of getting on well in the world quickly appeared suspicious. Well-to-do Poles have disappeared in several parts of the West without much comment from the police, because the latter knew that the people knew the opportunity for a safe shooting was too good to be lost by the scythemen. I do not absolutely guarantee, but it is contended, that some of the murders which have startled the public of late in Pittsburgh and vicinity have been due to the secret societies in question. The organization is radical throughout, and in the extreme sense of the word, including murder, boycotting and the destruction of the property of non-belonging persons.

There is yet another class of foreigners who like the Poles consider their selves an oppressed and down-trodden people. These are the Bohemians, who, never at any time absorbed into the homogeneity of the Austrian empire, have always fretted under the iron heel long years. This unwilling subjection on their part to an alien rule has produced the result familiar to all. Its consequence has fostered the development of secret societies. Ignorance, while not destroying this principle of patriotism, has tended to really demoralize it, as I will explain. The better class of Bohemians who comehere are most easily thrown their sturdy, staid qualities and the beneficent influence of American civilization from drifting astray, and it is only those of blunted moral perceptions who are found in the ranks of the pariahs. Secret organization is the curse which may be called Bohemian brigandage, so far as its operations here are concerned. In other words it is less to-day than that existing among the other nationalities described above, for the inevitable tendency of a people to isolate themselves, running contact with a peculiar system of swindling and robbery, from which it has drifted from its former phase of blackmail.

THE BOHEMIAN SHARK AND HIS VICTIM.

Divided into two principal sections, this Bohemian secret organization itself most strongly in New York and Chicago. Its objects are attained by lawful means, and simple. Some of the steamers arriving in New York are regularly watched by detailed members of the local gang, who, when they learn that the gang's usually worn by their countrymen when they first land. Arriving families are promptly looked out for, and their worldly degree of prosperity at once made out. When they step ashore if they are, in the estimate of the waiting shark, worthy of his attention, he approaches and introduces himself. Recommending his proteges to one of the lodging houses in Greenwich street, near the Pennsylvania pier in New York, kept by Bohemians, the shark at once telegraphs to confederates in Chicago—provided that be the place of the victim's destination—and if to some other point he so does it that his confederates have time to start on ahead and mature their plans. In either case the result is the same. Chicago is the objective point the confederates stationed there, being advised by wire, at once organize a feast in honor of the party. If it is anywhere else the New York confederates arriving there first engage the rooms and summon the feast. This contains the name of the victim and is addressed to one of the faithful selected by a majority vote to execute the sentence. The latter knows the secret missive means bloodshed so he forthwith arms himself with knife and revolver and proceeds to the village wherein it is dated, and from that goal to the residence of the local head of the order, and as he enters places the index finger of his left hand between Adams' apple of his throat—thus giving the secret sign of identification—following this with the password, delicately framed and lengthy sentence, the exact translation of which even the writer has been unable to secure. Then the two proceed to business; the chief arranges for the commission of the deed, and dispatches the assassin on his fatal errand. Nothing more is heard of the matter, community is aroused to the consternation of the assassin's work. Suspicion may rest upon one of the Ouladina's Croats dwelling in the immediate vicinity, but it is, of course, impossible to establish a case against them, because not only are none of them directly guilty, but, knowing beforehand the precise line of action attempt would be made, they each and all have taken excellent care to be at that moment in other places so far away from the scene as soon whose evidence would suffice to clear them if accused. The alibi is thus the unbreakable defense, and while the local police are vainly expending their energy and sagacity, the real murderer has returned in safety to retreat, as much beyond the danger of detection as if he had never been born.

THE SCYTHEMEN'S GRIP.

Does the shadow of a ghastly crime, would fain ask the thoughtful reader, that the several murders so lately committed in Pennsylvania, when American former in charge of Hungarian "Huns" burned last year, the enormity, and the responsibility for which could never be placed, were actually accomplished by the methods I have described?

No less dangerous is the organization existing among the Slavs who are found in large numbers in the extreme of Michigan, Michigan and other northwestern states. It is the outcome of the revolutionary spirit which permeated Poland after the dismemberment of that unfortunate country, and had for its motive the protection of the oppressed natives against the tyranny of the conquerors. It united together in self-defense under the watchword of patriotism, and largely recruited from the ranks of the peasant agriculturists who, under the leadership of the nobility, organized, armed with their scythes the sabers and bayonets of Russia's troops, the "Society of Scythemen," as it was called, while retaining in great part its original membership, altered its aims when transferred to the shores of America and the new world. When the scythemen, in short, left Poland for America they began to form lodges all about Pittsburgh and the memory of Kosciusko. They still retain the spirit of their secret brotherhood, and, carrying its general principles of organization with them, adapted the latter to their requirements when the whole trouble lay, for these Polish-Americans, in the fact of resentment between the despotism from which they had fled and the free government which they found there existing. Anything which in their eyes took the form of legalized authority was at once to be condemned, and it did not matter that this authority took the form of organized employing labor, to them it was hopelessly suggestive of tyranny all the same. The neighborhood, more or less extensive, where all things, gradually developed into secret societies, naturally were. For the purest blank of anarchy were to prove those in a theory and practice of absolute depredation. Secret lodges formed one outcome, and these, while being in reality nothing more or less than benevolent societies for the mutual lifting of suffering the order for the purpose of bleeding their more fortunate brethren. Strictly speaking, those who had completed the ordeal of getting on well in the world quickly appeared suspicious. Well-to-do Poles have disappeared in several parts of the West without much comment from the police, because the latter knew that the people knew the opportunity for a safe shooting was too good to be lost by the scythemen. I do not absolutely guarantee, but it is contended, that some of the murders which have startled the public of late in Pittsburgh and vicinity have been due to the secret societies in question. The organization is radical throughout, and in the extreme sense of the word, including murder, boycotting and the destruction of the property of non-belonging persons.

There is yet another class of foreigners who like the Poles consider their selves an oppressed and down-trodden people. These are the Bohemians, who, never at any time absorbed into the homogeneity of the Austrian empire, have always fretted under the iron heel long years. This unwilling subjection on their part to an alien rule has produced the result familiar to all. Its consequence has fostered the development of secret societies. Ignorance, while not destroying this principle of patriotism, has tended to really demoralize it, as I will explain. The better class of Bohemians who comehere are most easily thrown their sturdy, staid qualities and the beneficent influence of American civilization from drifting astray, and it is only those of blunted moral perceptions who are found in the ranks of the pariahs. Secret organization is the curse which may be called Bohemian brigandage, so far as its operations here are concerned. In other words it is less to-day than that existing among the other nationalities described above, for the inevitable tendency of a people to isolate themselves, running contact with a peculiar system of swindling and robbery, from which it has drifted from its former phase of blackmail.

THE BOHEMIAN SHARK AND HIS VICTIM.

Divided into two principal sections, this Bohemian secret organization itself most strongly in New York and Chicago. Its objects are attained by lawful means, and simple. Some of the steamers arriving in New York are regularly watched by detailed members of the local gang, who, when they learn that the gang's usually worn by their countrymen when they first land. Arriving families are promptly looked out for, and their worldly degree of prosperity at once made out. When they step ashore if they are, in the estimate of the waiting shark, worthy of his attention, he approaches and introduces himself. Recommending his proteges to one of the lodging houses in Greenwich street, near the Pennsylvania pier in New York, kept by Bohemians, the shark at once telegraphs to confederates in Chicago—provided that be the place of the victim's destination—and if to some other point he so does it that his confederates have time to start on ahead and mature their plans. In either case the result is the same. Chicago is the objective point the confederates stationed there, being advised by wire, at once organize a feast in honor of the party. If it is anywhere else the New York confederates arriving there first engage the rooms and summon the

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.
H. L. FORCE & A. L. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors.
AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.
TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXV. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1892. No 49.

"Support the Constitution, which is the consent of the States, as well as the Resolutions as to its authorities."—Madison.

Rates of Advertising

Space	1 W	2 W	3 W	1 M	2 M	3 M	6 M	1 Y
1 in.
2 in.
3 in.
4 in.
5 in.
6 in.
7 in.
8 in.
9 in.
10 in.
11 in.
12 in.

All Electric matter to be solid metal.
Double rate, 50 per ct. advance of above rates.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODDINGTON,
Counsellors-at-Law,
Commissioners of Deeds, Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public, and Solicitors of Patents.
Office, Front street, corner of Park avenue and Second street, Plainfield.

GEORGE W. DAY,
General Auctioneer.
Sales of Personal Property solicited. P. O. Box 143, Dunellen, N. J., or residence, 111 East Front street, Plainfield. Terms reasonable.

DR. CHARLES E. TERRY,
Dentist,
19 West Front street. A new local anesthetic applicable for extracting teeth without pain. Gold filling a specialty.—[p-62

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VanArsdale,
PIANO TUNER.
Instructions given in thorough system. Tuning and repairing done in the best manner. Orders left at Wilcox's store corner of Park avenue and Second street, or Box 1, Dunellen, N. J., will receive prompt attention. [p-62

T. J. GILLIES,
Auctioneer & Real Estate Agent.
A. S. BERDAN—Middlesex Avenue and Pitt's Lane, PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Goods received on consignment.

John Chandler,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence and shop No. 36 East Third street.
Jobbing promptly attended to. [p-62

E. B. MAYNARD,
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 26 PARK AVENUE.
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at their residences. Shaving, Shampooing, etc., satisfactorily performed. [p-62

CARNEY BROTHERS, Agents,
7 West Front St.
TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS,
PARLOR STOVES,
COOK STOVES,
HEATERS.
Grates and Bricks for all Kinds of Stove s can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your Tinware mending to us. The best Workers, the best Plumbers, and the best Gas-fitters in the section. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.
Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.
Tinware Made to Order.
Ranges, Brick and Portable Furnaces
ANITARY PLUMBING.

Parlor Stoves,
Furnaces, Ranges,
Water Piping. Plumbing.
Heater Work. Tinning,
Hardware.
A. H. GRIFFEN,
12 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 5. 11 11-92

Beautiful Assortment!
Furniture!
Largest Assortment!
Best Goods!
Lowest Prices!
Ever Offered in Plainfield!
23, 25 and 27 PARK AVE.
Garret Q. Packer.

SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc., Etc.
If unprovided to do any of the above branches in a first-class, workmanlike and satisfactory manner.
Having associated myself with the Union Plumbing Association of New York, I am prepared to furnish first-class workmen at short notice, and guarantee all work done by me. I solicit your favors, and will endeavor to merit your confidence.
D. W. LITTELL,
No. 9 North Avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

MISCELLANEOUS.

FOR MALARIA,
GENERAL DEBILITY
AND
ALL STOMACH TROUBLES
COLES'
PERUVIAN BARK
AND
WILD CHERRY BITTERS
ARE THE BEST.
A Vegetable Substitute for Quinine.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
Price, 50 cents and $1.00 per Bottle.
Manufactured only by
D. F. COLES DRUG AND MFG. CO.
Bayonne, N. J.

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS,
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS,
SENT IN THE WORLD.
ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

ESTABLISHED 18.6.
C. E. & J. W. RROWN,
(Successors to C. F. & C. E. Brown & Co.)
Importers, Whole sale and Retail Dealers in
WALL PAPER.
321 Canal Street,
NEW YORK.
English Tiles, Anaglypta, Hand, Leather Relief Flock Papers, &c. Borders for Walls.
Manufacturers of Window Shades.

LIVERY.

A. M. SEGUINE,
(Successor to John W. Laing.)
Laing's Hotel Stables

Front street, opposite Madison avenue.
Coaches for Weddings, Parties and Private Calls. Light carriages of all descriptions for pleasure.
RIDING OR LIVERY.
Careful, safe drivers for shopping calls or conveyance of children. Special attention given to boarding horses by the day, week or month.—[p-1y
TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 96.

RICKERT'S
ACCOMMODATION EXPRESS.
OFFICE—Vanderbeek's Music Store, Park avenue. The "Accommodation Express" will attend to the general carrying business of the city, delivering goods to and from the depot, or from place to place.
Orders left at Vanderbeek's, Plainfield, etc., will receive prompt attention.

INSURANCE.

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.

Fresh Garden Seeds
AND FERTILIZERS,
Farm and Garden Implements,
Lawn Mowers Refrigerators,
Ice Cream Freezers
Gasoline Stoves,
Hardware, Tools, etc.
J. J. HEIDELOFF,
No. 12 SOMERSET ST. [p-62-tf

GEO. A. MOORE. GEO. H. COOK.
Moore & Cook,
Dealers in
Fruits and Vegetables,
Game and Poultry
At wholesale. Terms cash.
NO. 14 NORTH AVENUE.

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE
Hugo Weigman,
19 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Building.

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON,
(Successor to E. J. Cory.)
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—39 W. FRONT ST.
Large Covered Vans for Goods. Goods Insured and Stored. Furniture Packed for Shipping. Pianos a specialty. P. O. BOX 68. [p-62

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.

H. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of the Celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR.
The Constitutionalist says: "We have smoked this cigar and find it a good one."
CLEAR HAVANA SEGARS A SPECIALTY.
A large assortment of Smoking and Chewing Tobacco always on hand.
Segars and Tobacco in Great Variety.

C. M. FINE,
Agent for Richard & Gunther's
SEGARS!
No. 18 PARK AVE., (Next to Post Office) PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Tobacco and Confectionery Manufactured.
Fine Confectionery, Ice Cream, Oysters, Soda Water, Etc., Etc.

A. WOLFF,
Manufacturer of
CIGARS,
And Dealer in all kinds of Smoking and Chewing Tobacco, and Smokers' Articles. Also, all the newest fruits from 305 W. Front street, to 21 E. Front street, and from 20 Park avenue to 21 Park avenue, and from 20 Park avenue to 21 Park avenue, and from 20 Park avenue to 21 Park avenue

The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORCE, Editor and Proprietor. A. L. FORCE

GLORIOUS.

The recent Presidential election, aside from individual disappointments, naturally to be expected, certainly gave cause for universal exultation.

From end to end of our vast domain there was no violence, no riotous demonstration, no bloodshed, no friction of moment, but peace and good order prevailed throughout, while millions of freemen, stilly as snowflakes fall upon the sod, deposited their ballots and thereby lawfully changed the political complexion of the national administration.

Partisans of every name, Democrats, Republicans, Prohibitionists and Populists, ought to joy in such a glorious fact, because it furnishes undisputable evidence of the people's capacity for enlightened self-government, a vital principle of the great American Republic and the living antagonism to monarchy.

It is glorious in more aspects than one.

Glorious to Americans as a renewed proof of the stability of free institutions.

Glorious as a powerful warning to Kings, Queens and Emperors to beware how they trifle with popular rights.

Glorious as a hope of ultimate freedom to the down-trodden masses of the whole world.

Glorious as a cheering example to all sister Republics.

We have frequently heard the saying that intelligence had its headquarters in the Republican party, but the claim now put forth by some partisan journals that thousands of Republicans could not be made to comprehend the plain Australian system of voting, indicates a sad growth of Republican ignorance.

A government composed of the "ten and the well born" was the Plutocratic aim of old-time Federalism. Democracy opened fire against that detestable heresy long years ago, and the roar of Democratic guns still reverberates throughout the land.

If those Republicans who declared they would retire from business pursuits if Cleveland was elected will only do as they promised, what a grand opening Democrats and Mugwumps will have to make money. Retire, gentlemen, retire!

Some of our Republican friends have returned from the inhospitable shores of Salt River. They come back well content to brave the predicted deluge of Democratic ruin, feeling assured that it will not be much of a shower after all.

The Cleveland and Stevenson Business Men's Club of New York, after promptly paying all indebtedness, appropriated the balance in treasury, about $500 to deserving charities. That is the way to do business.

Harrison carried Ohio by only a beggarly 1,000 plurality, and in face of the fact that Ohio is the home of McKinley the great. Shades of Napoleon!

With incrested heart and tear-moistened eyes, the New York Tribune is at length compelled to admit the election of Cleveland and Stevenson.

Iron dipped in a solution of lead and called American tin plate will not be a permanent fraud.

Organized labor acts as a stone wall against the inroads of monopolistic wolves.

The boys of Tammany kept step to the strains of Democratic music.

The next President of the United States will be a Democrat.

The days of worthless shoddy are numbered.

The secret ballot is freedom's shield.

United States Senator Abbett.

It seems now as though it was a settled matter that governor Leon Abbett will succeed the Hon. John Rodgers Thomas United States Senator during the forthcoming Legislature. According to reports senator John R. McPherson advocates his appointment, and Allen McDermott. And now governor-elect Werts has expressed his choice in Mr. Abbett. At the banquet given the Democratic society of New Jersey, in Jersey City, last Thursday, governor-elect Werts—in the course of his remarks—s 1t:

So far I am concerned, and I have united with many men on the subject, and now that the election is over and a personal question is at hand, I wish to say I believe the Democratic party in the Legislature will come up nobly to the carrying of the man who is our choice for our senator. It will be its duty as well as its pleasure to elect a Democrat to the United States Senate, and that Democrat will be the man who has done much for the State of New Jersey, the man who has followed up his victories and defeated the corporations to help bear the burdens of the State. I hail him as the next United States Senator, Leon Abbett.

We have always advocated the selection of governor Abbett as United States Senator. He is entitled to that honor for his staunch advocacy of Democratic principles and faithful performance of duty. He has made an excellent governor and will make a like good national representative.

West Madison Avenue Widened.

Peter Wooden, Julia A. Rogers, the M. E. church, and others, have petitioned the common council to widen Madison avenue from Front street to the railroad to the uniform width of fifty feet. The committee on streets will take charge of the proposition.

Reception of the Sate Carrol.

Ed. Young, Prescottville, Ontario, Canada, says:—"I have used Hood's Sarsaparilla Pills for the past fifteen years, and think them the best family cathartic and liver remedy known. For some five years I have suffered from an eruption of the skin on the face, over lyes and temples. I tried different blood purifiers, but, although relieved, eruption still breaking out worse than ever. Finally I started to take a thorough course of Sarsaparilla Pills, and took six vials, eight for four nights, then one each night for four nights, then one every other night for four nights, then one every third night for four nights, and then one every week with the happy result that my skin is perfectly clear and has been so ever since.

SURPTUOUS HOLIDAY DISPLAY.

Lovely Things to Be Seen in Park Avenue Show Windows.

Don't go up Park avenue if you want to escape the temptation of wanting to stop through a plate-glass window. At Pardee's big furniture establishment the display of household is really so attractive that the spectator is prompted to wreck the nearest window, that he may reach the desks to go in and take possession. At the corner double window there is a magnificent assortment of handsome bedroom tables, dainty reception chairs, elegant rockers, parlor suits and other beautiful things, fashioned by rare workmanship and after exquisite designs. Just what the good wife or other loved one would demand. The apartment is fully furnished, carpeted, papered in antique panel and by artistic hands. Between Pardee's establishment and Young's Opera House pictures. The table is ready set, and the eye glistens and the mouth waters in anticipation of the delicacies to be served in the dining-room repast. The choicest of furniture is arranged in the most fashionable taste. There is the loveliest and richest parlor suit that the heart could wish,

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF ESSEX.

J. A. DEMAREST - - City Editor.

—It is a political Waterloo for Mr. Ulrich.

—Finkbeiner's city judge will still be a secret Willson.

—There will be an entertainment at the Boys' club on Monday.

—THE PRESS congratulates its candidate on his deserving triumph.

—Manager Mapleson will bring his entire company to Music Hall, Thursday evening.

—The Coddingtons, whether they spell with one d or two, seem to be popular among the masses.

—Fleet Bernhardt has petitioned Council for an assignment of taxes on the Daniel Martine farm.

—They have shut off that elephant's hay supply that "Anti-Addition Republican" wrote so feelingly about.

—The women of the Children's Home are arranging for a reading by Kate Douglas Wiggin, from her own stories.

—Will the increase in public taxes for the Mapleson Opera company's appearance at Music Hall, Thursday evening.

—The would-be judge must find the sentence of the adjudging misters pretty severe. The merest ballot can make Hauf quite a "busy terror".

—Mayor Saunders says that it is the duty of the people to complain of nuisances and abuses and defects, and then the council will remedy faults.

—The Central New Jersey Land Improvement company has declared a dividend of $2 a share, payable at the Liberty National bank on December 9.

—The Republican, Profession of New Brunswick telephone to THE PRESS: "Ho, hi! Number 'Nine!' Does it seem popular in his own bailiwick?"

—When judge W. R. Codington goes after game he generally brings down his quarry. He owns trustworthy dogs, too. Indeed, how to load for b'ar as well as for rabbit.

—The Reading Railroad company has given out the contract for the extension of the block signal system from Bound Brook to Philadelphia, and as soon as possible this automatic system will cover the entire Reading system.

—The Plainfield common council will meet again Dec. 19, to hear the final report of the commissioners in the matter of widening the present Peace street. The report will be in favor of the widening, and the Council will approve it.

—The milk-cart editor of the Courier has been spelling in his fine work, and makes the important announcement that "within two hours thirty-seven milk wagons passed the corner of Front and Somerset streets yesterday morning."

—The startling statement was made by the Courier that "On account of its rapidly increasing business, Dr. Edward Rushmore has been obliged to lease from M. Quinn the vacant lot at the corner of East Fourth and Sycamore streets."

—The roll call at meetings of the North Plainfield borough council will be dispensed with hereafter. Mayor Saunders thinks it unnecessary and undignified, and the clerk will merely count noses and announce whether a quorum is present.

—New Yorkers who read the Courier editor's talent of the terrible torture on of the Plainfield colored people over the supposed coming of the comet, are saying what kind of fool negroes there are in Plainfield. It is n't fool negroes, dear New Yorkers, but only fool paper.

—For $200 Peter Wooden has transferred to Truman W. Bitgen and George W. Wright his property on Plainfield. For $1 Alexander Kenney has transferred other North Plainfield land to Mary A. Kenney. Sarah M. Sandford has made a like transfer to Joseph W. and Wm. M. Sandford

—The situation of the Union county jail warden matter seems just now to be very much like Charles Decker in the present Republican incumbent. He has 7 Republican votes and 1 Democrats to start with, with another Democrat eyeing for one of his. All that are necessary for a choice are 9.

—The proprietor of the Somerset street sheet, who vilifies the electric road in his own paper, sent some of his scrimage to the Journal of the Home Rule that he became of the proposed extension of the road into the borough real estate along the route has advanced enormously in value.

—In regard to a statement which recently appeared in this paper to the effect that the heirs of the estate of Job Male, deceased, value between $30,000 and $40,000 on some portion of the estate, THE PRESS is informed by one of the heirs that it is not so, as no attempt of the kind has been made or even thought of.

A Plainfield Woman at Her Brother's Wedding.

The Elmira Telegram tells of a quiet, but hearty wedding, which took place on Wednesday morning, at the rectory of St. Patrick's church, when Rev. Father Quinn united in wedlock, Daniel J. Buckley, of New York city, and Miss Agnes M. Dey, of Greene, N. Y. Miss Annie Buckley, of Plainfield, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid, and Benjamin Colwell, of Monmouth, N. J., performed the duties of groomsman. Mr. Buckley for several years was connected with the Cortland Wagon company, but at present holds a responsible position in the employ of the metropolis, and both he and bride have many friends here and elsewhere to wish them a happy and prosperous married life.

The groom and his Plainfield sister are the children of Cornelius Buckley of Monmouth-st., and are well and most respected citizens of Ulster county.

The Roller-Skating Season Under Way.

The Crescent rink was opened Tuesday night under the auspices of the National Skate and Bicycle syndicate, with a big crowd who apparently enjoyed themselves with an old-time skate on the "rollers." The Plainfield band furnished some very fine selections, which were applauded in several instances, one piece being repeated. They will play two new pieces for the first time in this city next Saturday night.

The "syndicate management" is famous for the fine music furnished at its skating and bicycle rinks, and also for its ways keeping its establishments warm and comfortable. By perusing the advertisement in another column it will be seen that by purchasing admission tickets the skate checks in packages a large reduction can be obtained on the regular rink prices. The syndicate is doing its best some pay so as to keep objectionable persons from intruding upon its patrons, and has arranged everything with a system to be made of perfect. The floor is in good condition and skates will be the popular thing this winter, when a party of gentlemen and ladies can attend the rink in a body, and if desired, can secure a car on the regular prices by purchasing package tickets.

The championship skating race for a gold watch will undoubtedly interest the school boys. Entries for the first trial heat can be made next Saturday afternoon at the rink.

"A Dollar saved is Dime's Worth." Just so. Don't send away for Dress Goods, Trimmings, Underwear, Hosiery, Gloves, Notions, Ribbons, Laces, Embroideries, Handkerchiefs, Corsets, Shawls, Cloaks, Jackets, Capes, Suits, Skirts, Wrappers, Blankets, Comforts, Flannels, Quilts, Sheets, Pillow Cases, Towels, Table Linens, Napkins, Oil Cloths, Carpets, Rugs, Mats, Curtains, Portieres, Lambrequins, Upholstery Goods, Furniture, Stoves, Ranges, Crockery, Glassware, Tinware, Woodenware, Lamps, Clocks, Silverware, Cutlery, Toys, Games, Albums, Books, Stationery, Pictures, Frames, Jewelry, Watches, Musical Instruments, Sewing Machines, Bicycles, Guns, Fishing Tackle, Base Ball Goods, Boots, Shoes, Rubbers, Trunks, Valises, Hats, Caps, Furs, Gents' Furnishings, Underwear, Neckwear, Suspenders, Gloves, Mittens, Umbrellas, Canes, Clothing, Overcoats, Ulsters, Reefers, Pants, Vests, Boys' Clothing, Children's Clothing, Infants' Wear, Millinery, Ladies' Furnishings, Corsets, Cloaks, Jackets, Capes, Suits, Skirts, Wrappers, Underwear, Hosiery, Gloves, Mittens, Handkerchiefs, Ribbons, Laces, Embroideries, Notions, Toilet Articles, Perfumery, Soaps, Combs, Brushes, Mirrors, Jewelry, Watches, Clocks, Silverware, Cutlery, Optical Goods

A COMFORTABLE GOWN.

All About the Kimono and How It Is Made.

One of the Most Useful Garments for the House Ever Invented—Something Apparent Even When You Are Wrong.

Take two lengths of cloth of whatever kind you wish, each 14 inches wide and four yards long. Now look carefully at this illustration. Here the cloth must be laid side by side plus two bits sewed on to each, the purpose of which will appear by and by.

Sew together the two sides marked I B. Then sit down where you intend wearing one each breadth half way across. The purpose of this will appear by and by. Now double the entire piece of cloth, and joining the two points marked X to the two points marked Z, sew those sides together to within 10 inches of the middle fold. The purpose of the unsewed space will also appear later on.

IN A CRUDE STATE.

Now take two more straight pieces of cloth, each 42 inches long and 15 inches wide. Double each just as if you were going to make a bag and sew the short ends together. Then sew one of the long sides half way across and stop. Sew the other long side into the edges of the slit left in the side seams X Z. It will be a little long to fit exactly, but never mind that.

Now go back to the point where you cut the two breadths half across. Fold each triangular piece formed by cutting the breadths half across, backward, lapel-wise, on the inside edge of the cloth, forming a V-shaped opening.

Now, perhaps, you will begin to see what those blind directions I said in D. If you don't, slip the outer pants over your shoulders, putting your neck into the hole formed there. Instinctively your arms will stretch out sideways and go through the bags at the side, which will carry off the under side of the cloth.

Now go and look at yourself in the glass and you will see what you have been at so long. It is a kimono, the almond-eye, and is your hair done up in Japanese loops on either side of your head? Something else will also be useful together with you, at any rate. Why, you have a true Japanese gown on!

You turn around and take a look at the back. Yes, it has the seant, straight skirt and the long sleeves. It is exactly like the imported garment sold in the shops as the everyday garment of the Japanese women.

Now take it off; you are not quite done with it yet. The front of the skirt is too narrow to clothe well; widen it by two narrow widths on each front breadth, running from the bottom to the supposed waist line and narrowing towards the top. The diagram makes this point clear.

WEST FINDINGS.

Hem the skirt at the bottom, finish the neck by putting a straight band of the cloth three inches wide all around the neck. Then the kimono is complete. There is no planning and cutting and shaping and trying. The garment is lapped lightly at the waist and is girded with a twisted cord. Make one of those out of white tissue paper, with a china-blue figure in it. Put it on any of these days, says the World. Then sit down and write home that you are sending missionaries to the Japanese.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

Tar following is a splendid liniment for childlains: One ounce of camphor gum, four fluid ounces of olive oil. Dissolve together by a gentle heat and apply to the afflicted parts.

If you find your hands growing cold and clammy, wash them together and rub them as much as possible. Bathe them well, first in hot and then in cold water, using a Turkish towel to produce friction.

Nothing so good for tired eyes has yet been discovered as bathing them in hot water, and sewraigin in nine cases out of ten will yield to applications of cloths wrung out in water in which the hand cannot be borne.

The cost of washing dishes is of some importance. Glass should be taken first, then silver, then china. After the dishes are done carefully scald, clean and dry dishcloth and towels. If they can be dried in the open air so much the better.

THE CASAS GRANDES.

Prehistoric Ruins to Be Surrounded a Few Years Hence.

Along the cliffs bounding many of the mountain streams in Arizona the explorer will find cliff dwellings made in the solid rock, and which at some time long previous to the white man's advent had been the abode of human beings. Fragments of ingeniously wrought pottery, stone implements, and bones of animals and beans, are found about these mysterious retreats, and since the time of the Spanish conquest descendants of the laborer, we often dug from the ground in the vicinity. These are the ruins of the cliff dwellers, about whom so much conjecture have been made by scientists and so much has been written. First among the ruins of this nature, both in extent and state of preservation, are the famous "Casas Grandes." They are situated in the valley of the Gila, about twenty miles from the station of Casas Grandes, on the Southern Pacific railway, and are by far the largest in extent and in the best state of preservation of any prehistoric ruins in the United States. The features of the cliff ruins are peculiar and in all respects unlike those found in the cliff habitations of Los Casas Grandes were to them as an Anglo-American people are to the native Indians of to-day. The "cliffs" were the abode of a hunted race who burrowed in their caves with the instinct of wild animals, and who only came to an animal when it would avoid its enemies. The builders of the valley lived in peace, unmolested and guarded by their fields, their lands and their flocks, and their dwellings were built in relation to the development of their industries and not entirely with reference to defense. In short, several of the ruins now in the territory give evidence of the presence of a people who had reached a high degree of civilization, and who had made considerable progress in the arts of peace.

ANCIENT HOUSE OF THE CASA GRANDES.

THE HOME GARDEN.

How to Prepare Plants During the Winter Season.

An Accompaniment That Will Meet the Demand for Such a Conservatory Found in Many a Dwelling.

If you have a sunny bay window you can keep many of your favorite plants over the winter, and by way of arranging such a one is to have a support for your plants that will bring them near the glass. The shelves may be of wood, painted to correspond with the window sash, or they may be of wire, which is better, as it will not obstruct the light. Then there is no need for large spaces between the shelves for they would not again draw a breath; then leave a space of twenty inches for the next shelf, and so on, the width, when finished and covered with oil cloth, will be about twenty-four inches.

FRAME FOR PLANTS.

Your plants will require a rich soil, and if you have a sunny friend or acquaintance who has a garden, you can get from them a bucket of leaf mould. Remember that the leaves that fall on the ground are the richest and best for plants. Next proceed to pulse the orchids in a basic conventional manner in rock work, or a background of bamboo, suggested, of palms done in graphic growth. The drawn work may be done in white. For the latter purpose white colored rot.

BRINGING PLANTS INDOORS.

The best effects are produced on burlap with dyes. Forty cents will buy all the colors you require. These colors should be fixed by boiling.

Dissolve a very small quantity—as they are very powerful—of each in a separate cup. Then put a pint of water in a shallow dish and mixing as required when about to use them.

The burlap or other cloth should be mixed with turpentine instead of oils, and you can vary this in all parts but high lights.—Author Hessie Gilmore.

ABOUT CRUSE REFORM.

A Movement That Deserves the Support of Every Woman.

There can be no doubt that as long as women remain the slaves of fashion they are helpless to improve their condition in the world. A thoroughly healthy mind can live only in a thoroughly healthy body. Those who cruelly suffer from contraction of the thorax and of the thousand ills it entails, are the victims of fashion. The inflexible corset on the hips, interferes with all proper circulation, and the wholesome physical exercise and pastime denied the imprisoned waist is set up on the stomach.

Woman's evolution or elevation depends upon the adoption of a dress reform which will give her chest room to breathe and her lungs room to play. Liberate the body from the shackles of insensate drapery. It is one of the crying evils of the day. The leaders of the woman movement, however much they may differ on other questions, are unanimous in their earnest and enthusiastic in their advocacy of dress reform.

Woman, like man, was made in the image of God. We have no sympathy with the "fearfully and wonderfully made" theory. The distortion of the skirt forces it into the form. The skirt is a badge of women's inferiority. The men have set it there, and the former keep plants in perfect condition.

On warm, pleasant days the plant can get a good spraying with water, which will help it greatly. The soil in the pots should never be used on plants; of very cold days or nights it may be necessary to be kept in the house or even the sash.—Household Quotes.

NOTES ABOUT CARVING.

Beef's heart should be cut in thin slices and served hot.

A great deal may whether he be present the roast rare or well done.

A punch of the back and belly of salmon should go to each person.

Tongue must be cut very thin; the central portions are the choicest.

Tart roasts are in ruins with the skill and, not like the pastry cook.

A saddle of venison should be carved in slices down to the bone, from the tail toward the head.

A few drops of lemon juice and a little pepper and salt improve the flavor of mutton roasted cold.

Great care should be exercised in the carving of fish, to keep the flakes from falling to pieces.

Have plenty of room upon the platter and in its vicinity; a great many mishaps are thus prevented.

Make a hasty lies of tar about the paper on which the sugar has stands if you have any left over with cake, as they favor cross a tar line.

The steaks of beef should be cut in the thick portion with the grain, and not the tenderloin going on with plate.—Good Housekeeping.

One Way to Do Dishes.

The dirtiest left, if properly managed, clear any house of rotten bugs. Buy four pounds of borax and mingle it with enough of the cream dough for cookwork; also another over the shelves, closets and in all spreadable in every nook and corner where the cockroach is found. Three times repeat the dose, and always after the week's scrubbing. The effect is magical. Instruct the servants that they may imbibe not, if possible, to remain undisturbed for a day during the weekly clean. If house-cleaning would only follow in this way spring and fall they would enjoy complete and blessed immunity from Cheap cockroaches.

An Apt Pupil.

Friend—You took your son into your establishment, I understand, to learn him the business, I understand. How did it turn out?

Business Man (sweetly)—Great success. He's teaching me now.—Boston Globe.

Mr. Sufferin' Cats!

Mr. Sufferin' Cats! (with a terrific howl)—What—what little finger nails you have. Professor's Little Brother (from the bed)—Yes, sir; I'm sorry you got caught in that 'un scratch, Mr. Sufferin'.—Chicago News Record.

MISS LEADING.

Bicyclist—I don't know Jack Redfield, but great talker! He was invented you today.

Bicyclist—For what?

Bicyclist—He was talkin' a streak to a crowd on the corner, with a bicycle in front of him, and I couldn't tell when he stopped.—N. Y. Herald.

Prepared for Absence.

Husband (at dinner)—Well Mrs. Fitch, I'm going to the country for a few months. Fitch, spread Fitch upon his arm. What's up? Do you expect some Wife—No; but I promise the next time.—N. Y. Weekly.

And Those Boots.

Bachelor Friend—Your schoolmaster that Miss Flyaway that you're engaged with, isn't he? Isn't he rather fond of her?

Little Girl—Why do she kiss him so much?—Truth.

Her Reason.

Little Girl—Why do she kiss him so much?—Truth.

BUSHLAP POSTHERE.

A Beautiful Thing if Made According to Some Directions.

The girls purchase cloth in the form of a half yard square, usually having had this cut to test for fitness under a pencil. The fringe and threads are drawn out to a depth of two inches on each side, and the corners are cut off to form a point. Then the cloth is folded over, and the fringe is drawn out from the edges of the folded cloth, leaving a narrow fringe. The corners are pointed, and finished with a tassel of the fringe. Of course, the colors should harmonize, and only the shades of red or pink. The centers should be of a mellow yellow to brown, or gold thread may be used. The corners should be worked in with the same colors. The lines should, of course, be stretched on embroidery hoops, and the stitch used which will best carry out the design. The satin stitch is handy, and the "long and short stitch" arranged in the best manner to suit the subject, are recommended.

CORNER OF BURLAP SCARF.

The above illustration presents a simple clover-leaf design for a harem scarf, which floats, of course, as they may be used, and it should be cut about two inches by 12 wide, or to fit the harem for which it is intended. Care should be taken to arrange the stems so that they will run gracefully, and not look as if put on in a purchased appearance. The three and four-leaved ones may be used together, to suit the fancy, or about the edge. The sage-green embroidery silk, allowing the darkest part of the shade to be used in the center, and seen in the natural clover leaf.—Farm and Home.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA.

FEATURES PROMINENT IN THE Manufacturing Growth and Wealth Gained Through Railroads.

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

TELEPHONE COMPANY!

MARKETS IN MOSCOW.

MISCELLANEOUS

MISCELLANEOUS.

E. P. THORN,

No. 17 Park Avenue,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Pure Wines and Liquors,

For Family and Medicinal Use,

A SPECIALTY.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted, and I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria in preference to the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup, and other stupefying agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although each has some special formula, all acknowledge that it contains the best medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won its way to look with favor upon it."

UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY, Boston, Mass.

ALLEN C. SMITH, Pres.

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

Yours experience in the business.

ALBERT HEDDEN,
LIVERY and BOARDING STABLES
FOURTH STREET.

Mae Completes It.

"Miss Sharp said you a compliment the other day, Cholly."

"Aw, indeed? Let me hoah it. ca bee."

"We were speaking about you, and in answer to a remark she made, I said you were not so big a fool as you looked, and she said she thought not."

"Haw, haw, haw! Did she? She's a very agreeable girl. is Miss Sharp."—N. Y. Press.

Enforced Attentions.

Lady (to new girl)—You should take a lesson from the cook. You are slovenly, whereas she washes her face three or four times a day.

House Girl—No wonder. The fellow who comes here to court her is a chimney sweep.—Texas Siftings.

Up to His Neck That Way.

"I fell into the pond to-day, and it was up to my neck," said Walter.

"Nonsense!" said Jack. "The water in the pond isn't more than a foot deep."

"Ah, but I went 'in head first," said Walter.—Harper's Young People.

Willing to Help Her.

Amateur Actress (who intends to adopt the stage as a profession)—Now Mr. Kerasmith, I cannot marry you, nor any man; it would interfere with my chosen career.

Mr. K.—But think how a divorce would boom you!—Life.

He Ought to Keep It.

Cawker (sentient store)—Let me have a bottle of arnica, please.

Dealer—This isn't a drug store.

Cawker—I know that, but you have a sign in your window which says: "Bicycles' supplies."—Judge.

An Illustration.

Tellingly—He's always how vindictive some women can be.

Dimling—It is.

Tellingly—Here's a Kansas woman who married one of the men who lynched her first husband.—Brooklyn Life.

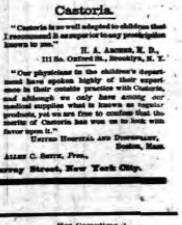
Of Charitable Institutions.

Charley Harrisly is a generous sort o fellow.

"Think so?"

"I know it. Why, I saw him throw a dime to a hungry dog the other day."—Puck.

A NATURAL SUPPOSITION.



Gentleman—How do you sell those chickens?

Dealer—Eighteen cents a pound.

Gentleman—Oh, I thought probably you sold them by the head.—Harper's Bazar.

The Society Crime.

Col. Yerger is one of those men who live to eat. Not long since he said to Mr. Stanley: "We are going to organize a secret society. Don't you want to join?"

"What is the object of the society?" Stanley asked, I guess. He's enough fun for one to know that the society is going to have a big dinner once a month."—Texas Siftings.

The Other Man.

He—I suppose his marrying you depends on what your father finds out about him?

She—Well, partially—and partially about what he finds out about papa. Fortunately, papa has the advantage of experience.—N. Y. Herald.

Of for a Procession.

Mamma—I haven't seen the kitten to-day, Bessie. Where is she?

Little Dot—I don't know; but I put a blue ribbon 'round her neck this morning, and I guess she's on showin herself.—Good News.

Not Fitted for It.

She—You say you are not fond of walking.

He—No. I fairly detest it.

She—And yet you tell me that you are seriously thinking of studying for the stage.—Judge.

He Makes for His Love.

Cholly—Do you know whom I love better than all the world besides?

Pudge—Yes, and I can assure you that you are quite alone in your infatuation.—Chicago News Record.

Writer's Wish.

"I wish I was twins," said Willie.

"Why?"

"I'd send the other half of me to school and this half would go fishing."—Demorest's Magazine.

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.
W. L. FORCE & A. L. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors.
AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.
TERMS—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXV. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1892. No 50.

"Support the Constitution, which is the consent of the Union, as well as the Institutions as to its authorities."—Madison

Rates of Advertising

Space	1 WEEK	2	3	1 MONTH	2	3	6	12

All Notices must be sold count.
Double rates, 50 per ct. advance of above rates.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CODDINGTON,
Counsellors-at-Law,
Commissioners of Deeds, Masters in Chancery, Notaries Public, Office: corner of Park avenue and Second street.—[sold]

GEORGE W. DAY,
General Auctioneer,
Sales of Personal Property solicited. P. O. Box 123, Dunellen, N. J., or address in care of Constitutionalist. Telephone connection.

DR. CHARLES B. THRIFT,
Dentist,
29 West Front street. A new local anesthetic administering treatment without pain. Gold filling a specialty.—[sold]

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VanArsdale,
PIANO TUNER.
Instructions given in Harmony, with a Thorough Knowledge of Music and Organ for those about to learn. Orders may be left at Music Store of Geo. W. Day, or at residence, No. 8 Park avenue, or by mail at Box 1, Dunellen, N. J. Satisfaction guaranteed in every instance.—[sold]

T. J. GILLIES,
Auctioneer & Real Estate Agent.
OFFICE—Rooms 2 and 3, Second floor, Price's Building, 118 Park Avenue.
Residence—Corner Second and Grant streets.
Orders received at Constitutionalist Office.

John Chandler,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER.
Plainfield, N. J.
Residence and shop No. 16 East Third street. Jobbing promptly attended to. apr2

E. B. MAYNARD,
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 26 PARK AVENUE.
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at residence, if desired. Shampooing, &c., in a masterly performance. [1793]

CARNEY BROTHERS, Agents,
7 West Front St.
TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS.
PARLOR STOVES,
COOK STOVES,
HEATERS.
Grates and Bricks for all Kinds of Stove can be found here at Jobbers' prices. Bring your Tinware mending to us. The best Tinsmiths, the best Plumbers, and the best Gas-fitters in the country. We use none but the very best of materials, and our work always gives satisfaction.
Keys of All Kinds are Made Here.
Tinware Made to Order.
Ranges, Brick and Portable Furnaces
SANITARY PLUMBING.

Parlor Stoves,
Furnaces, Ranges,
Water PIping.Plumbing.
Heater Work. Tinning,
Hardware.
A. H. GRIFFIN,
128 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 6. 11 11-42

Beautiful Assortment!
Furniture!
Largest Assortment!
Best Goods!
Lowest Prices?
Ever Offered in Plainfield!
23, 25 and 27 PARK AVE.

Garret Q. Packer.
SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc., Etc.
If the proposed to do any of the above branches in a skillful, workmanlike and satisfactory manner.
Estimates cheerfully given with the Newest Improved Appliances of New York City. I am determined to please my customers, and will guarantee satisfaction. I employ in every case nothing but first-class Workmen and Mechanics.
D. W. LITTELL,
No. 2 North Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

MISCELLANEOUS.

FOR MALARIA,
GENERAL DEBILITY
AND
ALL STOMACH TROUBLES
COLES'
PERUVIAN BARK
AND
WILD CHERRY BITTERS
ARE THE BEST.
A Vegetable Substitute for Quinine.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
Price, 50 cents and $1.00 per Bottle.
MANUFACTURED ONLY BY
D. F. COLES DRUG AND MFG. CO.
Rahway, N. J.

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES. PROVISIONS.
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS,
RENT IN THE WORLD.
ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE OF CHARGE.

ESTABLISHED 18 6.
C.E. & J.W. RROWN,
(Successors to C. F. & C. E. Brown & Co.)
Importers, Whole sale and Retail Dealers in
WALL PAPER.
321 Canal Street,
NEW YORK.
English Tiles, Anaglypta, Hand, Leather Stained Flock Papers, &c. Burlaps for Walls.
Manufacturers of Window Shades.

LIVERY.

A. M. SEGUINE,
(Successor to John W. Laing.)
Laing's Hotel Stables

Front street, opposite Madison avenue.
Coaches for Weddings, Funerals and Private Calls. Light carriages of all descriptions for pleasure.
RIDING OR LIVERY.
Drivers, safe drivers for shopping calls or stone-ride drives. Special attention given to boarding horses by the day, week or month.—[sold]
TELEPHONE CALL, NO. 28.

RICKERT'S
ACCOMMODATION EXPRESS.
OFFICE—Vanderbeek's Music Store, Park avenue. The "Accommodation Express" will attend to the collection and delivery of goods in the city, delivering goods or baggage to and from the depots. Orders left at Office
Moving of Furniture, Pianos, etc., with care and safety.

INSURANCE.

WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.

Fresh Garden Seeds
AND FERTILIZERS,
Farm and Garden Implements,
Lawn Mowers Refrigerators,
Ice Cream Freezers
Gasoline Stoves, Hardware, Tools, etc.
J. J. HEIDELOFF,
No. 19 SOMERSET ST. 2-15-tf

GEO. A. MOORE. GEO. H. COOK.
Moore & Cook,
Dealers in
Fruits and Vegetables.
Game and Poultry
At wholesale. Terms cash.
NO. 14 NORTH AVENUE.

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE
Hugo Weigman,
20 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON,
(Successor to T. J. Corey.)
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—26 W. FRONT ST.
Leave Ground Floor or Trucks. Goods safely handled. Furniture moved by the piece or load. Terms moderate. P. O. Box 1

TOBACCO, SEGARS, &c.

H. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue.
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of and Wholesale Dealer in
C. O. D. CIGAR.
Also wholesale agent in the State, and manufacturer's agent for the manufacturer of CELEBRATED HAVANA & SUMATRA
Key West and Domestic Cigars. Cigarettes and Smokers' Articles in Great Variety.
Smokers always welcome.

C. M. FINE,
Dealer in HAVANA & DOMESTIC
CIGARS!
No. 18 PARK AVE. (NEXT DOOR TO CROCKETT'S)
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Tobacconist and Smoker's Materials.
The celebrated Julius Lauterbach Cigars.

A. WOLFF,
Manufacturer of
CIGARS,
And Dealer in all kinds of Smoking and Chewing Tobacco, and cigarettes. Agent for the celebrated brand of Mrs. W. Frost, widow, in all kinds of Smoking Tobacco. Also Agent for the celebrated brand of Mrs. Frost, widow, in all kinds of Chewing Tobacco. Also Agent for the celebrated brand of Mrs. Frost, widow, in all kinds of Cigarettes. (1-6-y)

PAINTERS & PAINTERS SUPPLIES.

Paints, Varnishes, Glass,
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALL PAPERS!
PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY.
A. SWAIM,
No. 8 North Avenue, Plainfield.

J. P. MINGE. A. P. MINGE.
Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS,
Wall Papers,
ARTISTS' SUPPLIES. 28 SOUTH AVENUE.

WHATEVER form of printed matter you require we can be of service to you; whether it be

Letter Headings,
Circulars,
Programmes Menus
Addresses,
Memorials,
By-Laws of Societies,
Prospectuses and Reports of Financial Associations, or any other matter for Public or Private Circulation.
Everything

WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONALIST
DAILY PRESS
(Chautauqua Building),
PLAINFIELD N. J

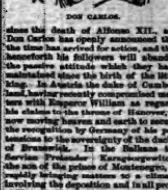
MEN CLAIMING THRONES.

Kingdoms Where Rule Are Threatened by Royal Pretenders.

The Grand Duke Nicholas of Russia, who is said by a Vienna paper to be dangerously ill, is married to Princess Anastasia of Montenegro, a sister of Princess Militza, wife of Prince Peter, heir to the throne of Servia. The Grand Duke Nicholas is the son of the late Grand Duke Nicholas, who was a brother of the late Czar Alexander II. The present Grand Duke Nicholas is a first cousin of the present Czar Nicholas II. He is a general in the Russian army, and is a man of great ability. He is a favorite with the army, and is very popular with the people. He is a man of fine appearance, and is a great favorite with the ladies. He is a man of great wealth, and is a great patron of the arts. He is a great lover of horses, and is a great breeder of them. He is a great lover of dogs, and is a great breeder of them. He is a great lover of cats, and is a great breeder of them. He is a great lover of birds, and is a great breeder of them. He is a great lover of fish, and is a great breeder of them. He is a great lover of flowers, and is a great breeder of them. He is a great lover of trees, and is a great breeder of them. He is a great lover of shrubs, and is a great breeder of them. He is a great lover of vines, and is a great breeder of them. He is a great lover of grasses, and is a great breeder of them. He is a great lover of mosses, and is a great breeder of them. He is a great lover of ferns, and is a great breeder of them. He is a great lover of lichens, and is a great breeder of them. He is a great lover of fungi, and is a great breeder of them. He is a great lover of algae, and is a great breeder of them. He is a great lover of bacteria, and is a great breeder of them. He is a great lover of protozoa, and is a great breeder of them. He is a great lover of animals, and is a great breeder of them. He is a great lover of birds, and is a great breeder of them. He is a great lover of fish, and is a great breeder of them. He is a great lover of insects, and is a great breeder of them. He is a great lover of reptiles, and is a great breeder of them. He is a great lover of amphibians, and is a great breeder of them. He is a great lover of mammals, and is a great breeder of them. He is a great lover of birds, and is a great breeder of them. He is a great lover of fish, and is a great breeder of them. He is a great lover of insects, and is a great breeder of them. He is a great lover of reptiles, and is a great breeder of them. He is a great lover of amphibians, and is a great breeder of them. He is a great lover of mammals, and is a great breeder of them.

DON CARLOS.

DUKE OF CUMBERLAND.



VICTOR NAPOLEON.

IS NANCY IN DANGER?

Mr. Bonner Thinks He Will Lower Her Record.

Although Maud S. is Eighteen Years Old She Is Free from Blemish—May Be Expected to Beat Her Steady Record.

[COPYRIGHT, 1892.]

"While I do not in any way wish to disparage the performance of Nancy Hanks in trotting a mile in 2:04 on the 4th of July," said Mr. Robert Bonner, at his home, No. 8 West Fifty-sixth street, to a reporter, "I believe Maud S. will be a bicycle sulky, upon the modern kite-shape track, would be the fastest trotter that ever lowered the record of Nancy Hanks.

"A year ago, as you remember," continued Mr. Bonner, "I offered to give $5,000 to the owner of a horse who trotted a mile in 2:05 within two years on any of the four principal tracks—New York, Cleveland to Hartford. That offer was accepted by a letter which I wrote to Gen. R. F. Tracy just a year ago. I further said," reading from the letter, "that I would not want the horse to be unduly handicapped, but I was publicly credulously have to pay it, to which I replied, I do not believe Gen. Tracy would impose it.

"In his reply," said Mr. Bonner, "Gen. Tracy says: 'I have long believed that a mile could be trotted in considerably less than two minutes, but I have never seen any time within which I thought it could be accomplished.' I do not believe myself that you or I will live to see it, although I hope we may.' The letter concluded with a statement that I had deposited in the trotting park was $26 on 2:05, I have forgotten which, and I refer to the letter for the exact sum, for I have not kept it. I have never said it would be a pleasant to two years, and, with the handicap Gen. Tracy proposed, I don't think he can reach that figure, while I am obliged to admit that I believe I do not believe Gen. he will trot in 2:05 in the next two years.

"When I made the offer of $5,000 I did not believe it to be an inducement to an improvement in mechanical devices. I intended it simply as an incentive to produce the result. I do not believe Nancy Hanks ever saw the day that on a regulation sulky. But there are a number of horses that have trotted better than 2:05 this year. It is unparalleled in the history of the turf that in the last three years, when put before a bicycle sulky, they have trotted from two to three seconds from their records

The Constitutionalist.

W. L. FORCE, Editor and Proprietor. A. L. FORCE

Editor and Proprietor.

NATIONAL FINANCES.

The reports of the present Secretary of the Treasury do not afford satisfactory financial information.

The people are not content with muddled accounts, they want, and it certainly is their right to have, a plain and positive detailed statement of all facts regarding the public funds.

We hope and expect the Financial Secretary under President Cleveland will, as one of his first duties, investigate and make public the real condition of the National Treasury.

Showing the amount of money on hand March 4, 1889.

The aggregate amount of funds which should be held intact for redemption purposes.

The actual standing of the Sinking and other Trust Funds.

The total pending liabilities of the Government, including ALL UNPAID APPROPRIATIONS VOTED BY CONGRESS.

The amount of cash resources unpledged and available for the payment of current obligations.

And, if a deficiency exists, what its real amount and how incurred.

The people want the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the unvarnished truth.

THE MESSAGE.

President Harrison evidently labors under the delusion that a multitude of words constitutes the ideal of an official communication.

He is wide astray.

If His last message to Congress, like his letter of acceptance, was a wordy labyrinth, through which few people cared to wander. If he had condensed it one-half or two-thirds, and confined himself to a review of appropriate matters, his writing would have commanded a vast deal more attention both in and out of Congress, and not detracted so much from the reputation of statesmanship.

An editor of a St. Louis Republican journal places the number of words in the message at 15,000 and says—"Under the circumstances 1,000 would have been sufficient."

A sorry compliment from a partisan.

A HEALTHY SIGN.

The election of Wm. A. Coddington, Democrat, to the City Judgeship of Plainfield over John Ulrich, Republican, by a decisive majority, teaches a salutary lesson.

It affords additional evidence of the fact that the evil day has passed when an improper nomination, simply because it is formally partisan, can be forced upon intelligent voters.

And it further proves that the sovereign people are more discriminating in judgment and more independent in action than ever before.

It is a healthy political sign.

The Republicans are plotting to secure the return of United States Senators from Kansas, Wyoming, Montana and Nebraska by counting out duly elected Democratic and Populist members of the Legislatures of those States. Public indignation is growing intense, and if the theft is consummated and needed reforms thereby delayed, good-bye to the G. O. P. in every Western and Middle State, with the exception of Quay-ridden Pennsylvania.

An Indiana Democrat forwarded to the Lakewood House, New Jersey, as a present for President-elect Cleveland, a fine Brahma rooster. The enthusiastic Democratic bird crowed so incessantly and loud that the landlord had to place him under the care of a neighboring farmer. It was Indiana that gave birth to the old-time political adage—"Crow, Chapman, Crow!"

There has been much silly talk about an imaginary "wild cat currency." Suppose the present onerous tax on State Banks was removed, and the two sound and well-conducted institutions in Plainfield were permitted to issue notes secured by a deposit of Union County bonds, what better or safer money circulation than that could possibly be devised?

Prudent economy and rigid accountability in the management of public finances, providing everything essential for the safety and well being of the people, but protecting them against corrupt jobbery, prodigal extravagance, and waste of all kinds, is the Democratic policy—the Cleveland-ism method.

The City of Elizabeth glories in having among her citizens no less than six Union County officials, namely—two Common Pleas Judges, the Sheriff, County Clerk, Surrogate and County Collector. Rahway has one Judge, while Plainfield is left out in the cold.

Forster's 1890 census has already cost the Government several million dollars, and still more money is craved to pay salaries and augment an army of unreliable figures. Would it not be wisdom on the part of Congress to stop at once such unprofitable work?

A hundred-fold more honor and sweet fragrance lingers around the memory of an honest and conscientious man who dies poor, than that of one who passing death's portal leaves behind him millions of unscrupulously acquired wealth.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

BEWARE THIS FAKER.

How He Fooled the Gullible Country People West of Plainfield, and What His Statements Are Made Of—Worthless and Dangerous Connection—Concrete With the Farmer's Daughter Who Eloped to Become His Bride.

C. A. Rosenberg, a faker of patent medicine, has been hanging the farmers and business men of Somerville, White House and other places of that section. Can at his specialties is a "Celebrated Drink" or cure for rheumatism." He left only when he was driven out by the tough gang from Raritan. The last night he was there something like a dozen quarts of tobacco, blinding him in the eye. That settled it. He decamped for White House, taking with him two Somerville negroes, Willis Reed and Sam Nevius, to assist him in his free shows.

When he reached Somerville he had with him a young woman of pleasing appearance who he claimed was his wife. They were said to be married in Philipsburg, as evidenced by a certificate she showed to one of the negroes. She soon left for Bloomsbury, and the negroes brought from her father's home in a little town near Allentown, Pa., and they had only been married eleven days when they made their bow in Somerville.

While there, one evening, to prove the virtues of his "sure cure" Rosenberg called a small boy to the platform and removed a large wart from his finger. After rubbing the salve over the wart he dug under the edges until he could get a good grip, then tore it off by the roots, causing the little fellow to cry from the pain. After this great act, Rosenberg gave the boy a box of his salve to squeeze things. He left Somerville without paying for some goods contracted for. At White House he ran short of medicine and manufactured enough to last for several days. His mode of gulling the public and an analysis of what the remedies are sold at no doubt be interesting.—

Sam Nevius, the negro who went from Somerville with Rosenberg under a salary of $1 per day, "and found", as the great African Rosenberg called him, is authority for the story. Sam can do the fire-eating trick very nicely, as well as thump the banjo; therefore his services were of considerable value to Rosenberg. On Monday morning after reaching White House Rosenberg sent Sam back to Somerville with money enough to purchase two gallons of alcohol. This Sam bought, and took with him on his return. The next morning the quartette went to the hall and after filling the door Rosenberg proceeded to manufacture his "Celebrated French oil". Into the two-gallon can of gasoline Rosenberg put one-half pound of camphor gum, two pounds of Epsom salts, two pounds of Glauber salts, and a small amount of oil of citron. The roots gave to the mixture a beautiful red color, while the perfume disguised the odor of the gasoline. After allowing the mixture to stand for some hours, Rosenberg proceeded to fill two hundred bottles, which he had that morning received by freight. These, pasting an attractive label on each bottle, and corking tightly, he had enough "French oil" to last one week.

Each purchaser is warned not to apply to the raw flesh or to get any of the stuff near the eyes or fire. And in it any women-folks should be unfortunate to get this stuff that fakir as he is Rosenberg does not want to run the risk of having manslaughter on his hands? There is a law in this State, however, that if the directions of medicines, but nothing covering the sale of such poisonous stuff as this. In most towns now, traveling patent medicine men are charged a high license. Somerville is one of those towns, and yet Mr. Rosenberg went to Somerville, regardless of statutes, and sold his worthless compounds, and skipped without even being asked to pay a license.

Rosenberg's business was to take people, and he knew his business well. On the last night he remained in White House the crowd completely filled the hall, and here is where Mr. Fakir made his set strike. He fooled them all by the ancient, time-worn trick of giving all the money back after the sale of his corn cure and blood purifier, and then not saying that he would do the same with the French oil scooped in nearly sixty dollars. The harvests hit eagerly. Mr. Woodse, the hotel keeper, lost three days board for the four people in the show.

Rosenberg did not make one-night stands, as he was supposed to stay two weeks in a place, but he did n't. Two days was enough to get into the good graces of the people, and in that time he secured much money for all his fakes.

From White House he went to High Bridge, and there he had great luck. He went to the printers and had struck off quite a number of handbills telling of the show that on Thursday evening a grand show would be given in the hall—"Band of ten pitches, seven star specialty artists, Alderman Jones, Every person at the ticket gets a prize, And admission only ten cents". In consequence, as High Bridge people are not used to such things, the hall was thronged, and Rosenberg by the time the show began had thirty dollars in bright shining ten-cent pieces in his inside pocket. After giving them a half hour of wretched variety performance, Rosenberg brought out his medicines, and without turning a hair sold to those people nearly fifty dollars worth of the worthless stuff. Then came the time for making the present to each buyer of a ticket. In a smooth little speech Rosenberg told how he formerly was a peddler traveling in Brazil some years ago he had been able to secure a great number of Miambi love charms, which the natives set store by a little. He next told them and that while one wore this charm they would be lucky in love, always have money, and would never be without friends. Then producing a bundle of small envelopes he gave each eager listener one of them. On being opened, each was found to contain three or four red beans or beads highly polished. Everybody took one and went their way rejoicing, believing just what Rosenberg said. A search of each house in High Bridge at the present time would no doubt find at least one of these love charms, and the enlightened people of that will be handed down to the children and the grandchildren. Such is the innocent belief and susceptibility of people up country.

The two Somerville negroes have since left the fakir, being compelled to scrunt the ties hence for eighteen long and weary miles. Sam Rosenberg did not seem possessed of the "love charms" he confidently assuring. On the afternoon of the day on which the performance was to take place Rosenberg went to one of the stores to get three quarts of common white beans. Going himself to the dry store, he purchased a small can of vermillion paint, mixed with lots of dust. Again the surest resource of the ball were the cause of action. Taking the white beans, Rosenberg put them with the red paint into a large pail and allowed them to become thoroughly covered with the color. Then drying the beans in the sun, he poured them into sacks, he ordered Sam to shake them from side to side for ten minutes; after which, being dried out on the table, each bean was found to have attained a very high gloss. Putting three of these into each small envelope, Rosenberg had gifts for fully six people. This was the "love charm" he sold so freely among the natives of Brazil and foisted upon the innocent people of High Bridge. From High Bridge he went over into Monmouth and has not since been heard of.

Rosenberg's case takes in much of nothing but fame and bad, filthy and

MR. GROENDYKE'S VINDICATION.

Disgrace of the Charge Preferred Against Him—The Commission Absolves Him Not Richard for Over Eighty Years.

Craig A. Marsh, as counsel for Mr. Groendyke, has furnished Tom Tame with the following communication and requested its publication. By complying with the request we do not by any means a single act of justice to a gentleman who has patiently submitted to abuse, content that in the end he would be righted.

To the Editor of The Press:—When Mr. Groendyke was charged by the borough health inspector with a violation of law, he promptly denied the charge in a written communication addressed to the board of health, and declared that the alleged violation was the result of his not having complied with a notice served upon him over eight months. When, later, he was viciously attacked by others, some of whom got their source of information, I am told, and he to avoid unjust prejudice to any of his legal right to assert the amount of those who were responsible for the illegal act, he at once took steps to have it known that the board of health was composed of gentlemen who would not and did not give publicity to the charges pending the investigation, and with equal fairness and justice to do full justice in this case. The end has come. Mr. Groendyke has been absolutely vindicated from the charge preferred against him, and is entitled to have that vindication given as much publicity as was given to the original charge, and that the latter defamation.

It won't do to say that "he is guilty to a less extent than was at first reported", and "that investigation exonerates him from the most serious of the charges against him". There is no half way about it. He was either guilty or not guilty. He was charged with committing a legal offense, and he is not guilty, and threatened with prosecution if he did not stop. He said there was no truth in the charge, and of course he could not stop what did not exist.

There can be no two opinions about this, for the charge was in writing, and it was the duty of the board to have the existence between the bath room and the conduit in question. This it was that he was ordered to serve. He denied that it existed. That was the issue and the only issue to be determined. It was determined by the board of health in favor of Mr. Groendyke.

Now, any connection with conduit other than the one specified in the charge, there never has been any dispute. Mr. Groendyke had his letter to the board of health as to Yonkers, N. Y. Mayor Wellor of that city is just such an earnest, efficient and enthusiastic servant of humanity as Mr. Groendyke is of Plainfield, but the former is endowed with more ways of power and means of accomplishment than the latter. Being the most noticeable feature of the mayor Saunders would like to be able to bring about for the public health of his city what the people of Plainfield are to-day mostly praising mayor Weller for consummating.

Stood It as Long as He Could.

The Doctor—This is a big ball to fill with one volce. How much could you hear of my speech?

The Citizen—The first five minutes or so. I could hear first rate. Then I'd be unconscious.—Chicago News Record

The Whole Thing in a Nutshell.

"Everybody calls you 'colonel,' isn't that getting to be a good deal of a chestnut?"

"I earned the title, sir, by faithful service in the army. If it's a chestnut, sir, it's one with a second colonel."—Chicago Tribune.

Their Way.

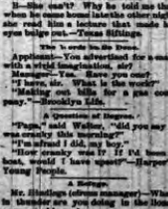
Mr. Bragg A. Doole (of Chicago)—Yes, sir, when we people attempt to do anything we roll up our sleeves and pitch in.

Mr. Fulton (of New York)—Yes, I have noticed it; I took dinner in your town once.—Puck.

No Straits.

He who himself doth love full well
Will never feel his bosom swell
With great jealousy.
—Puck.

AT THE SPANKING LESSON.



Stout Student—Say, professor, Jones isn't spanking fair. He's hittin' below the waist.

Jones—Well, professor, I've got to hit somewhere.—Judge.

Satisfactorily Arranged.

Wiggs—Have you distributed the parts to the satisfaction of the amateurs?

Phillips—Yes; I've arranged the cast to admit of eleven Hamlets and sixteen Ophelias. We shall have to do Polonius ourselves, however, first-class figures, sling and queen between us.—Judge.

A Lie Out Somewhere.

A—Some wife has had no primitive whatever. She can't even cook.

B—She can't? Why he told me that when he came home late the other night she read him a lecture that made his eyes bulge out.—Texas Siftings.

The Trouble in the Dress.

Applicant—You advertised for a man with a strict knowledge of dress?

Manager—Yes. Have you one?

Applicant—Yes, sir. Wooler's the name.

Manager—Making out bills for a gas company.—Brooklyn Life.

A Question of Depth.

"Pagan," said Wotan, "did you say I was crabby this morning?"

"I'm afraid I did, my boy."

"How crabby was I?" If I'd been a boat, would I have upset?"—Harper's Young People.

A Swipe.

Mr. Hastings (editor-manager)—What is the matter are you doing in the business office? Where's Jones?

Mr. Medley (fleet typist)—He's all right, boss. I'm expecting my wife any minute.—Puck.

Have No Knave.

"How do you like your new beau for a marriageable daughter?"

"I don't know; he pooped for breath when I was still was presumed to be within ago."—Brooklyn Life.

Historical.

Mistress—Bridget, all this sponge cake! Why, it's as hard as can be.

New Cook—Yes, mum; that's the way a sponge cake should be. Sure, it is in your book, mum.—N. Y. Weekly.

Well Loaded.

Little Bob—What do they call it an auto-mobile for, pa?

Little Bob—Cause you have to drink so much water with 'em, of course.—Good News.

It's a Way They Have.

Lushton—Barkeep, scrape us up quaintance very quickly.

Barkeep—Yes, sir. They can over a mile to cross line this.—Judy

Natural Result.

"Mamie, Tommie tells me of your quarreling to-day. What was it about?"

"Why, he was trying to make me believe that I was a fool, or something."

"Mamie—If you prefer differences how readily and naturally settled?

Mamie—Yes.

Mamie—Who connected the propositions?

Mamie—I did.

Mamie—And what was the outcome next?

Mamie—I agreed to retract my remarks and he agreed not to borrow my car.—Puck.

Proof of Affection.

Rich Papa—(to his daughter)—I say, Eunice, I think that young man who calls on you so much really means business.

Eunice—What makes you think so?

Merchiser—Nothing, except he never ate his corned-beef and cabbage last week to find out how much I was really worth.—Texas Siftings.

Too Good an Ear.

Visitor (admiring the new piano)—Yes, it's very pretty, dear. And you play it splendidly, do you? Can you play by ear?

Little Girl—O, dear, no! But papa can, I 'spect. I heard him tell me he was going to pay for it by note.—Chicago Tribune.

Liked Church-Going.

Little Boy—I'm glad I'm goin' to church to-morrow.

Good Minister—I am delighted to hear that. You love to go to church, don't you?

Little Boy—Yes, indeed. I always get so hungry that dinner tastes twice as good.—Good News.

Good Cause for Pride.

Butler—Say, John, what making you look so jolly to-day? Have you won de lottery?

John—No, sah; I'm de happiest man in de city. I'm de only man in de city dat has a Cab Driver (whose stand is very ancient)—No, but I was fined five dollars this morning for driving too fast.—European Exchange.

An Instance Given.

Teacher—Some lines always expand and cold always contract?

Tommy Taddles—Cold expands sometimes.

"Indeed? What does cold expand?"

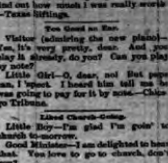
"Coal bills."—Detroit Free Press.

Ah's Compliments.

"I wish those horrid mosquitoes would let me alone," said mamma.

"I don't blame 'em, mamma," returned Almon. "You're pretty sweet."—Harper's Young People.

BAD OUTLOOK FOR A CHICKEN DINNER.



Deacon Watson—Dears' yo' think it orate to keep dat dog chained up all de time?

Professor Smithers—Oh, I let him loose at night!—Puck.

A Lucky Dog.

"Johnnie, what are you saying to that little girl?" asked Harlem mother of her little boy.

"I was just talking to him. I just told him I'd love him if he'd give it to me. You don't have to wash your face on comb your hair and you don't even have to go to school."—Texas Siftings.

He Was Too Late.

"What do you want?" asked Bloomper of a man he found in his bedroom at two o'clock in the morning.

"I was looking for a burglar."

"Oh, you are too late. I have just returned from an extended stay at Saratoga."—Judge.

Perfectly Horrid.

Mother (at a ball)—Are you enjoying yourself, dear?

Daughter—No, I'm not.

"What is the matter?"

"I've only had six dances hand running, and he doesn't seem miserable a bit."—N. Y. Weekly.

The Search of Progress.

"In days gone by the business man used to take his pen in hand," began Snooper.

"And nowadays he takes his type-writer in his arms," added Skidmore.—Jury.

Games for Lovers.

Tolling—Tennis and billiards are both lovers' games.

Dimling—Indeed?

Tolling—Yes; they go to court in the first but there are more kisses in the second.—Detroit Free Press.

An Interesting Point.

Marjorie—I've been reading over something for a long time, and finally said to Mamma, it came Rovers 'Pair of wild flowers' or 'a pair of wild flowers' or 'wild animals'"—Harper's Young People.

A Guilty Conscience.

He hasn't a word of complaint to pronounce,
He makes his facts better
He'll be thanked on me in his wife dying!
While—"My dear, how can you say that?"

A Common Sense Remedy.

In the matter of catarrhwe what you want is a remedy that will do its work thoroughly and permanently, and we believe that will give you no hesitation in recommending Ely's Cream Balm. It is certainly a most agreeable remedy. Sold by druggists at 50 cents. Ely Brothers, Owego, N. Y.

OVERCOATS!

Before you select an Overcoat we would like to have you call and examine the great variety of styles we have manufactured for this season. You will not be urged to purchase unless you are perfectly suited and fitted. Our

$12 OVERCOATS

Are not from blank, blue and brown Kersey, Chinchillas, Whitneys, etc., the colors are fast, they are well made and are cut in the same styles as our highest priced garments. Our

$15 OVERCOATS

Are our specialty. We have them in every style of goods, Fur Beavers, Fine Kerseys, Cheviots and the best Meltons, all double breasted with raw edges, wool lined, satin sleeve lining, &c., as stylish and serviceable a coat as a gentleman can wear.

KILPATRICK & BETTS,

745 & 747 Broad Street,

NEAR ACADEMY, NEWARK. 10 25 2m

Read This. 6 1-2 Per Cent 50 Yrs

Absolutely Safe Investment.

Quarterly Dividends. Can be sold at any time at par and interest.

Gen. Leonard, 262 Washington Street, Room 5, Newark, N. J.

Dime Savings Institution

OF PLAINFIELD, N. J.

In now receiving deposits payable on demand, with interest at the rate of three (3) per cent. per annum payable semi-annually.

JOHN W. HOWARD, President.
CHARLES E. HUBBARD, Vice-President.
EDMUND HARDEN, " "
ELIAS S. PAPE, Treasurer.

TOWNSEND'S

Marble & Granite Works,

30 SOMERSET STREET,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

If you have not engaged your work, I should be pleased to call and give you prices. Also, I have a large stock of Monuments, Headstones, Tablets, Posts, Curbing, Coping, Iron Fencing, Settees, Vases, Flowers, Etc., which I will sell at low prices. Orders left at my residence, 30 Somerset street, will receive prompt attention.

10 25 1m

Corporation Notice.

The undersigned commissioners heretofore appointed to make an estimate and an assessment of benefits and damages to the lands and lots that will benefit by the widening and laying out of Somerset street, from Plainfield avenue to the Dunellen line, and by the Ordinance to widen Front street, from Somerset street to the Dunellen line, and by the widening of Somerset street, and opening Madison avenue, from Somerset street to Front street, and by the widening of Front street, from Madison avenue to the Dunellen line, and that the same is now on file in the office of the City Clerk, and that the same is now open for the inspection of the property owners and all persons interested therein, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 15th day of January, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 22nd day of January, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 29th day of January, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 5th day of February, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 12th day of February, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 19th day of February, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 26th day of February, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 5th day of March, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 12th day of March, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 19th day of March, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 26th day of March, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 2nd day of April, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 9th day of April, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 16th day of April, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 23rd day of April, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 30th day of April, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 7th day of May, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 14th day of May, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 21st day of May, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 28th day of May, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 4th day of June, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 11th day of June, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 18th day of June, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 25th day of June, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 2nd day of July, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 9th day of July, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 16th day of July, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 23rd day of July, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 30th day of July, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 6th day of August, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 13th day of August, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 20th day of August, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 27th day of August, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 3rd day of September, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 10th day of September, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 17th day of September, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 24th day of September, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 1st day of October, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 8th day of October, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 15th day of October, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 22nd day of October, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 29th day of October, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 5th day of November, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 12th day of November, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 19th day of November, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 26th day of November, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 3rd day of December, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 10th day of December, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 17th day of December, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 24th day of December, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 31st day of December, A. D. 1894, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 7th day of January, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 14th day of January, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 21st day of January, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 28th day of January, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 4th day of February, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 11th day of February, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 18th day of February, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 25th day of February, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 4th day of March, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 11th day of March, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 18th day of March, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 25th day of March, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 1st day of April, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 8th day of April, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 15th day of April, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 22nd day of April, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 29th day of April, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 6th day of May, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 13th day of May, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 20th day of May, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 27th day of May, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 3rd day of June, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 10th day of June, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 17th day of June, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 24th day of June, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 1st day of July, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 8th day of July, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 15th day of July, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 22nd day of July, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 29th day of July, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 5th day of August, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 12th day of August, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 19th day of August, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 26th day of August, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 2nd day of September, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 9th day of September, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 16th day of September, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 23rd day of September, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 30th day of September, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 7th day of October, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 14th day of October, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 21st day of October, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 28th day of October, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 4th day of November, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 11th day of November, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 18th day of November, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 25th day of November, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 2nd day of December, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 9th day of December, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will meet at the Council Chamber, in the City of Plainfield, on the 16th day of December, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear any objections that may be made to the said assessment, and that they will

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF UNION.

J. A. DEMAREST - - - City Editor.

—The Red Cross bazar netted more than $900.

—The City National bank will elect directors Jan. 16.

—The furniture store men have agreed to keep their stores open evenings until after Christmas.

—The Evening Post refers to Judge W. A. Coddington as a "rapidly rising young lawyer who has a large career before him".

—The new fire alarm boxes have arrived. 46 is for West Front and Albert streets, and 52 for Fifth and Washington streets.

—The Courier is advertising for a new reporter. The Mr. Thomas who has been complacent on the staff is to leave Saturday night.

—Tier's elegant parlors on the second floor of his Park avenue building are a favorite resort for ice-cream or oyster supper parties.

—That tempting display at Packer's is a centre of attraction. The china and glassware in the dining-room scene is from Gorham Manufacturing Co.

—The Elizabeth Journal shows how much it knows of Plainfield politics in the statement that judge Collins'ten the present incumbent was reelected.

—A fair that is sure to be enjoyable to all who attend will be held at Bethel chapel Dec. 15 and 16, by the Earnest Workers, assisted by the Auxiliary society.

—Orange is to have a cable road up the mountain, with the observation cars. Such a road here would speedily build up the Watchung heights back of North Plainfield.

—The fair for the benefit of a poor crippled boy, held at 110 East Front street by Nellie Maschutt, Louise Wilbur, Georgie Derby and Lucilla Rockwell, cleared $18, which is very well for the little people.

—While the play progressed at the Casino, Saturday evening, either the back drivers or mischievous urchins outside the building, ate and carried away all the ice-cream from the freezers that awaited their pleasure.

—The official returns of Somerset county as filed at the county clerk's office, Somerville, have a discrepancy in the vote of North Plainfield. Sheriff Dilts received a majority of 77 in that township, and the official returns as filed only show 14.

—"Tales from Town Topics", No. 6, increased in size and containing an original novelette entitled "The Sale of a Soul", has made its appearance. The novelette relates a bright story of high and low life in New York and London, and the subject matter is the best that has appeared in the old numbers of Town Topics. Altogether the book is a desirable entertainment for the winter. 21 West Twenty-third street, New York.

—An excellent addition to Plainfield's fire department would be a chemical engine. In other cities three-fourths of the fires are carried out by chemical apparatus, and many an incipient blaze in Plainfield could be extinguished without flooding the house as is unavoidable with a big hydrant stream. The engine's carbolic gas not only promptly smothers all fire but cools the superheated air so that the firemen can live where with an ordinary stream they could not.

—Friday evening, the attraction at Music Hall will be Fitz and Webster and their merry company in "A Jersey Prince". This piece is one of the best farce comedies now on the stage, and never fails to attract large audiences. It is replete with catchy music and entertaining specialties. The selections on various musical instruments by E. B. Fitz and Kathryn Webster are vociferously applauded, as is also the trick equestrian act by Miss Orient Anson. The remaining members of the company understand their parts perfectly.

—Students of Shakespeare will have an opportunity to hear a lecture on "Macbeth" in All Souls church Friday evening of this week, by the Rev. H. H. Woude of Newburgh, N. Y. The promise of the course of lectures of which this will be the third in the series have placed the tickets at the low price of one dollar for the season and twenty-five cents for single lectures. Two lectures after Mr. Woude's remain to be given, one on Thomas, by the Rev. C. Chadwick, and the last by the Rev. Robert Collyer on a subject yet to be announced.

The Dentin of the Swallow-tail.

Plainfield audiences are supposed to be representative of Plainfield society, but one would be loth to judge society here by a public assemblage such as the one gathered to hear the first Meiopola or to witness the performance of "Young Mrs. Winthrop" at the Casino last week. In spite of the prefixed request on the tickets of the Meiopola that subscribers should wear evening dress, the conventional swallow-tail was very much in the minority, while morning coats predominated. As for the women, the few who came en grand tenue were completely overshadowed by the numerous black bonnets that surrounded them.

That many of the women do not care to go to the trouble of making an extensive toilet can be understood, but the TIMES PRESS cannot see why the men should object to getting into their evening garments the few times it is required of them in the season.

Independence in dress is to be admired, except where it entirely overstepe the boundary of conventionality.

ANOTHER FIGHT OVER JOB MALE PROPERTY.

The Chancellor Van Fleet Grants Counselor Reed an Injunction Stopping the Administrator's Sale of the Schoonmaker Collection.

Charles A. Reed, in behalf of the board of directors of the public library and art gallery, secured from Chancellor Van Fleet, yesterday, a temporary injunction restraining the sale of the Schoonmaker collection of cloisonne by the administrator, Job Male. Next Tuesday the latter must show cause why the injunction should not be made permanent.

This action was foreshadowed in THE PRESS the other day. The public library library directors want the intent and promise of Mr. Male carried out, whereby, it is said, he induced Mr. Schoonmaker to sell the collection complete to him for $9,000. Mr. Schoonmaker says that for the sake of keeping intact the collection that as much was worth fully $20,000, he agreed to sell it for $9,000 and Mr. Male pledged himself to present it to the public art gallery. It is said that Mr. Male has to personally deliver the collection, and part of it was in the library building when Mr. Male died. Since then some of the bodies, or drawers setting for them, have entered the building, taken the places away and advertised the whole collection for sale by auction.

—You can find more articles suitable for presents at Edsall's than anywhere in town.

—At Reid's you will be bewildered and overjoyed at the countless treasures to select holiday gifts from.

—You'll find a good selection of second-hand pianos and organs at Vanderbeek & Saldwin's. Want a bargain? Go and see them.

Personalia.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Cadmus and baby Helen, of 76 Dunc street, are home again from Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Leggett and Master Bertram are visiting Mr. Leggett's brother at Asbury Park.

Mrs. Marion S. Ackerman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick B. Wills of La Grande avenue, is seriously ill.

The Rev. J. A. Cubberly has resigned the pastorate of the New Market Baptist church to accept a call to a church in Boston.

The special cover for the Christmas number of Harper's Weekly just out, is the work of George Wharton Edwards of this city.

Mr. Ban Dunn, who went to Asheville, N. C., some six weeks ago, has secured a position at the Mountain Park Hotel, Hot Springs, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Doul Miller, of Halifax, are visiting at the home of Mrs. Miller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Agneton D. Shepard, Scotch Plains.

The funeral of John N. Schenck, who died yesterday morning, will be held from his late residence, 40 Manning avenue, Friday afternoon at 2.

George Wharton Edwards and a number of other distinguished artists will give a studio reception in the Manhattan building, 36 Fifth avenue, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Schleyer, who were married in Brooklyn last week, will give a reception at their home on West Seventh street some time next month.

Mrs. A. B. Warner of 62 West Second street, with Mrs. William H. Warner on sanctimonious, is spending a few days in Philadelphia. She will return on Saturday.

Frank P. Haffner, having left Westhampton Index, 2401, K. of H., of which he was treasurer, has transferred his membership to Tuscarora lodge of New Market.

Frank Vosseller of this city has been given a position as recorder under county clerk Gerbet. This is an office reorganized per folio. Recommissioner Enos D. Moffett retains the salaried position.

Master Robbie Mosker, son of the street commissioner, is convalescent from an attack of tonsilitis. The physician has been called to the house and the little fellow is up and around his room.

Grover Cleveland's little daughter has a namesake in Plainfield, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Snyder, 66 New street. Ruth's birthday was Thursday, when she tipped the scales at 7 pounds.

The patronesses of the first Assembly at the Casino, Monday evening, were: Mrs. Charles E. Brown, Mrs. Charles J. Fisk, Mrs. William T. Kaufman, Mrs. Wiley Fisk, Mrs. Harry G. Runkle, and Mrs. Robert L. Barnett.

Will Cadmus of Dover street, lost a little niece, yesterday morning. She was Dorothy Stagen, aged 6 months and 6 days, daughter of Will's brother Harry, of 603 East 139th street, New York. The cause of death was malignant scarlet fever.

A select few of the many friends of John H. Case gave him a birthday surprise at his home, 2 Spooner avenue, Wednesday evening. Refreshments were served, and dancing and fun indulged in. It joyed until a late hour, when the guests departed having spent a most enjoyable evening.

Mrs. William Morgan, wife of the celebrated artist, and sister of Augustus and Samuel Frazee of this city, died at her home, Morris Heights, N. Y., Monday morning. She never entirely recovered from the effects of the severe operation told of in these columns at the time. Her remains were to-day brought to this city and interred in Evergreen cemetery.

At the funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Jane Roome, Friday afternoon, scriptures were read and remarks made by her pastor, John F. Chaffee. Present were Mr. W. R. Honeyman followed, telling of his many visits to her home, of her motherly bearing towards him, her generosity, and of her saintly life. The Rev. Cornelius Schenck followed with prayer. Then all took a last look at the remains. Several bunches of beautiful flowers were displayed, and at the head of the coffin was a large pillow bearing the word "Grandma". Also noticeable was a large sheaf of wheat. The interment was in the family plot at Greenwood.

NOBODY ABOUT HER INJURY.

Genuine Feminine Comfort—Does n't Care for Newspapers, But Shouts Her Praises Aloud.

From the Press of December 13.

A young lady who said she was the one referred to in these columns yesterday as having accepted $50 from the Central railroad company for injury to her leg in the Greenville accident, called at the PRESS office with a call this noon and requested a denial of the article published last evening. She admitted, however, that she had been paid a certain sum of money, though holding that it was nobody's business; and she devoted so much of her monologue to abuse of reporters and to stating her views of the newspaper profession that she neglected to be explicit in making known just what she wanted denied. She said she had experienced as severe a nervous shock as had druggist Moy, and the inference is that she accepted damages for that shock instead of for injury to her "limb", which injury she held to be slight. THE PRESS regrets that so amiable, sensitive and modest a young lady, having been in fortune's way to accept the terms of a railroad accident, should have suffered from the use of the shocking word leg, which was used in the article in good faith and without shock. The chief of THE PRESS is that the leg is a worthy, useful and noble member of that marvel of mechanism the human body, and it is hoped for the gift of which mankind and womankind should be grateful to the Creator. The study of the stories of the use of the term leg would be profitable to those not up to modern ideas in the matter. The time is past when to say ank or even think of a leg is horribly vulgar. One can hear legs nowadays, and see the good old Danish-Swedish-Icelandic word, without detracting from his decency or dignity. Honest people are not ashamed of their legs, and blush to think of it. All of which is known to most people, but which THE PRESS would now seek to impress on the mind of the young lady.

As to the case of the young lady in question, THE PRESS is grieved that she feels offended at what was not intended for and was not the least in the fanatic. Yesterday's statement was made merely as a matter of news of the town in the people for whom THE PRESS is published. Whenever the aggrieved young lady points out any specific misstatement of fact, that will be promptly corrected. But as the matter only was mentioned, and as the young lady says she has a few opinions of newspapers and pays no attention to them, why should she care? She says she never reads newspapers, and if she did she would stop now.

One mistake was made—that of speaking of the young lady's employer as a druggist. THE PRESS does not keep documents; but those who do, say that not only is the employer a milliner but a very good one.

I have been a great sufferer from catarrh for many years. Have used many remedies, but found nothing equal to Ely's Cream Balm. It is the only remedy that has done me permanent good. I cheerfully recommend it to all sufferers. Mrs. Wm. Hoffman, Fort Plain, N. Y. Ely's Cream Balm is a quick cure. It is not drying, causing sneezing. Contains no cocaine or mercury. Price 50 cents. Sold by druggists or by mail. Ely Bros., 56 Warren street, New York.

Marriage Bond Issues Yesterday.

The following changes of North Plainfield property were recently recorded in Somerset clerk's office:

The Washington Life Ins. Co. to Asa Castle, Clinton, $1,000.

Geo. S. Redfield to Edward Henderson, $1,000.

Geo. S. Redfield to Geo. Klein, $1.

John S. Sanford to Sophronia F. Wisner, $1.

Mrs. Lieutenant to Margaret Elton, $1,000.

Moses H. Frank to Hippolyte Tonier, $1,000.

Hippolyte Tonier to Moses H. Frank, $1.

L. M. Collingwood, sheriff, to Thos. S. Davis, $20,000.

Lucius M. Collingwood, to successors of Archibald Colling, $2,400.

Lieutenant Governor Robert S. Hudnut to Morton B. and Alfred L. Dunlap, $250.

Alfred L. Dunlap, et al to William C. Kelly, etc.

Thos. C. Kelly, et al to Frederick G. Stanley, $1,250.

Frederick G. Stanley to Wm. C. Kelly, et al., $1,500.

Naval Officials Here in Plainfield.

The Commander in Chief of the United States Navy visited the Ford Machine Tool Works in this city Thursday afternoon, and, besides enjoying a delicious spread, was highly pleased with the official inspection of the government work being done by the company for the coast defenses of the United States. The company has for the past month been putting the finishing touches to turn out the big government guns. After the inspection, the officers were given a dinner by Mr. Maxwell for his company at the Union Club, Cranford by Mr. Maxwell for his company at the Union Club, Cranford by clubhouse. Those present were Major Conby, commandant of Governor's Island and of the New York arsenal, where the tests of the new guns are made, Captain Heath, Captain Morrison, Captain Crozier, Lieut. Wainwright, Lieut. Goodale, with E. L. Maxwell, A. C. Stebbins, D. W. Ford and H. S. Manning from the company. The dinner was fully up to the club standard, and that is sumptuous enough.

New Officers of the United Workmen.

At a regular meeting of Central lodge, No. 65, A. O. U. W., held Thursday evening Dec. 8, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Master Workman—Charles H. Smith.
Foreman—Charles B. Randolph.
Overseer—Caleb B. Mills.
Recorder—Edward D. Bedford.
Financier—Henry Lieske.
Receiver—Wm. H. Whitney.
Guide—Thomas E. Randolph.
Outside Watchman—George W. Clark.
Inside Watchman—Edward M. Lamyer.
Trustee—Benjamin J. Allebach.

Mrs. Reed Heads the Wheelwomen.

A meeting of the Plainfield Lady cyclists was held at the home of Miss Belle Bodine, 127 East Front street, Thursday afternoon, at which time officers for the coming year were elected as follows:

President—Mrs. D. W. Reed.
First Vice-President—Miss J. H. Powell.
Second Vice-President—Mrs. W. Ryder.
Secretary and Treasurer—Miss Belle Bodine.
Captain—Miss L. E. Price.
Lieutenant—Miss Mary Hickson.
Second Lieutenant—Miss Bessie Hall.
Sergeant—Miss Mary Brown.

Many and Reliable Insurance.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance company, which is noted as "the leading industrial insurance company of America", gives proof of its promptness in settlement of claims in the case of the Angenbener family. This morning its assistant superintendent, Mr. Hall, and Mr. Hoffman, and Mr. Hall, and Mr. Hoffman, and Mr. Hall, and Mr. Hoffman, and

HOWDY BREWS COFFEE

And Troubles in His Household at the Same Time:

Showing How Register or an Old Married Lad Was a Friend and Suggested Him to an Everything =| Told You So.

[COPYRIGHT, 1892.]

The average man is never so surprised when he suddenly discovers that something he has been told from his youth up by parents, teachers, mentors, newspapers, funny men, cartoonists and other high authorities is true. To take the very commonest illustrations, do you, gentle reader, really believe that an ice man's cousin will rise and testify against him at the last day; or that a Jersey mosquito can bite a man's wooden leg or hand that it will itch? But the day may come when these thing will be made clear to you. I was once equally bombastic myself. I did not believe that there was anything in these stories of the troubles which come to a man when he tries to show his wife how to cook. Ninety-nine out of a hundred men who will read these lines do not believe it. Pain is a matter still they are ripe, and then she will shake the tree, and they will fall, as I did.

TO DIVE FOR THE SUN.

We never had any trouble with cooks, and I had filed the servant girl stories away in the pigeon hole marked "time." So my first experiment was to get the Columbian parade, and she was so impressed by the record of the great discovery that she immediately discovered a new place to work and did not tell us anything about it. Then Maude assumed the responsibility of the cuisine and I paid myself the servant's wages for three months in advance and bought a wringer to connect with it. I did no other work in the culinary department during all that time except of our girl's absence, but on the following Tuesday morning I made the coffee. I did not use very clinical matter. Coffee is among the most surely fleeting and ephemeral of our earthly joys. I would not suppose that a pot of it would become immortal in our family just because I made it. But I am now certain that it will never die.

We were to have Sam at our house Monday night. He had come to the city to attend an important business meeting, so he told his wife. He was right. The meeting between "Judge" Lynch and Billy the Kid was strictly business. They did not hammer each other three hours for fun.

Sam is a good judge of coffee and several other drinks, and I knew that a cup of the second kind, if made by a competent person, would be especially grateful to his palate on the morning after the important business meeting. So I arose early and built a fire in the range. Half an hour later I built another, because the first had gone out. Then I prepared the coffee. I had made barrels of coffee in my day, but never before within the confines of civilization. I had brewed it over driftwood fires on the Island Coast of the Maine coast. Hot and strong I made it in those days, so that a single cup, drank standing, would keep me from salt water out of the lindings of my rubber boots, and the steam from the spout of the coffee pot would prevent rain on the sea fog and "down," it. I could not feel quite at home in a kitchen, but yet it was with considerable confidence that I measured out the usual dose, and broke an egg into it for richness.

Maude had appeared upon the scene by this time, and she began to criticise me in that motherly fashion which never does the victim any good, but leaver vast opportunities for "I told you so" afterward. One cannot tell a woman does not wish to convince. It would break her heart if one followed her advice. She would think his shoulder "got his own way and fail, and never bear the last of it.

"IT WAS THAT EGG, HOWDY."

"I wouldn't put that egg in," Maude had said; "it will taste."

Then I had hesitated, and she, for fear I wouldn't do it and would make good coffee after all, had hastily added: "Oh, put it in if you want to. Here's another one; we've plenty of eggs, but"—and now the egg was irretrievably in—"remember that I told you not to do it."

The coffee did not cook very fast. There is a difference in coffee. Some boil over a feeble, straggling coal fire, and the blazing heart of a cord of driftwood. My heart sank when I saw that it should come to a boil in a hurry, but this remained calm, and threatened to simmer for the rest of the forenoon. I opened all the draughts, and then called Sam.

"Give it to him, Billy; hit him on the point of the jaw," he was muttering in his sleep. "Hello, Howdy; is it time to get up?"

I told him that it was, and added that some real old-fashioned coffee was awaiting him. Presently we three were seated at the breakfast table and ready to taste my stimulating decoction.

"Howdy made this himself," said Maude, as she lifted the coffeepot. "It is different from mine."

Yes, it was very different from hers; it was not like any I had ever seen before; but I was the architect of it, and I didn't propose to go back on it. When Maude started to pour it she found that she spattered it with about two ounces of egg, cooked to the consistency of dried leather. I took the coffeepot into the kitchen and removed this obstruction with the thing which we use to clean lamp chimneys. I tasted it, also, while I was out there, and was tempted to throw the whole business out of the window for the sake of decent, but my pride withheld me. Sam was sure to like it for politeness' sake, and then I should have the laugh on Maude.

"This is the sort of coffee," said I, returning, "that puts a man on his feet after he has lain four hours in a swamp waiting for ducks that have an engagement in some other part of the country."

Sam and Maude tasted it.

"I remember the coffee we had on Western Island," I continued, "the morning when you dropped your shotgun overboard and we had to fish after it in ten feet of ice water? That's the sort of experience that teaches a man how to make coffee. I've never been satisfied with the mild, pale product of civilization since then."

"I told you not to put an egg in it," said Maude.

"Nonsense," I rejoined, cheerfully; "that gives it flavor. Of course," I continued, turning to Sam, "we don't get quite such coffee as this every day at home. When a fellow goes out into the wilderness he deposits his anxieties and the accustomed who sets it to him upon the safe responsibility. He knows that if he puts up an inferior article, the hunter will return with a double-barreled gun, full of duck shot and reason with him. You can't shoot a groomsman here in the city, and you can't shoot your wife."

"I know that one easily," said Maude, "for I don't know good coffee when you get it, my dear," said I. "Fill up Sam's cup and give me another. This is a hard one to please every day."

"I told Howdy not to put in a whole egg," said Maude, "but he would do it."

"This has the real strength," said I. "You remember the coffee I made at the head of Dead river?"

"I recall it at that time," said Sam, "and Johnny Brooks got the wood."

This reminded me of Brooks, but I would not bother them now, and so I went on and stoke his old friend's whole married life wrenched for the sake of a mere coffee.

SO I AROSE EARLY AND BUILT A FIRE.

"If you hadn't put that egg in!" Maude began.

"That gives it body and color," said I, stirring the muddy fluid, "I'll take another cup, my dear. I seldom drink more than two, but this reminds me of old times. Have some more, old boy. Don't be backward."

"I'll try it," said Sam, with that solemn deliberation which marks his most important situations. "Some coffee, please. I like an undertone flavored with gravy on it."

"Now," said Maude, "I told you not to put that egg into it."

So I was alone, and my old friend had turned against me, but I was not to be defeated so easily. I rallied at them. I told them that they had no appreciation of a good thing, and that Sam's family sitting with a lady through a stage of nervous excitement.

"No," said Maude, "it's that egg. I told you—"

I would not let her proceed. I called for another cup of coffee and as we finished the breakfast somehow, and Sam said I went to town. But the coffee began to get cold of me. It is always very trying to my nerves when I am talking to have the coffee cold as late that I had just put the same amount into the coffeepot that was consumed at a full dose at a party of six hunters, and that I had drank it almost all alone. My hand shook so by eleven o'clock that I could not get a drop into my mouth without risk of poking it into my eye. We went over to the room in order to complete Sam's business in the city, and I was as nervous as if I had been losing my own money instead of Sam's.

That night as I lay starting up to the disharmony of the ceiling, counting a thousand or trying to remember an old dream, or using some other of the hundred tricks which are said to bring on sleep and never do it, I heard a murmuring beside me, and a drowsy voice said: "It was the egg, Howdy; I told you."

HOWARD FIELDING.

Inexperienced.

Mr. Sparrite (just accepted) — Now you are mine forever and forever!

Miss Tarrars (of Chicago, pityingly) — How boy! you've never been engaged before.—Boston Globe.

Rather Superficial.

Bloobumper—After all, beauty is only skin deep.

Spatts—In many cases it is not so deep as that. It is often laid on the skin's surface.—Judge.

The Rule of Contraries.

Tom—How do you know he threw her over?

Lelia—Everybody says she jilted him.—Truth.

HANDLED WITH CARE

A Tailor Tells of Troubles in Fitting Fashionable Dames.

Ladies Who Prefer a Man Contractor, Men Dislike Him to Take Their Measurements—Some Curious Customers Are the Most Perfectly Knitting.

[COPYRIGHT, 1892.]

As I was entering a fashionable tailoring establishment on upper Fifth avenue recently, I was followed by a handsome woman in a ladies-made gown that fitted her superb, symmetrical figure without a suspicion of a wrinkle, and set off her well-rounded proportions in a manner that no doubt greatly gratified her, and certainly pleased an admirer's eye.

"I want you to tell me just how it's done," I demanded of the proprietor, "from the time a Venus like that is measured until she leaves the establishing object of beauty to rend into ribbons the heart of every man who meets her."

The proprietor smiled and intimated that the lady's physical charms had much to do with the general effect, although he considered that his own skill had a great deal to do with it.

THIS IS THE KIND OF GIRL TO WEAR A TAILOR-MADE GOWN.

"I'll tell you," he said. "Once we do it. When you are unsatisfactory enough to suppose that it must be real fun for the cutter. That's where you're dead. It is drudgery, and the life of a ladies' tailor is like an artist painting a picture. He is constantly trying to wrest up his art, and he is not admitting the subject shape."

"Do you think you would like your wife to be tape-measured, pinned-up, smoothed-over, basted and stitched by another man?" I asked myself if the average man was more reasonable.

"Now, next to her complexion, the most important of a woman's charms is her figure. All women having none are fashionable vain. Of course, they have faults, but they are the faults of symmetry. I like the copper wire wrappings of a cable. It is upon this vanity that the success of a tailor in the modiste and milliner both. Therefore, if your wife is a woman of fashion, she must, too, in having her appear well—she is a man to be fitted, you cannot prevent it.

"In view of the fact, which cannot be disputed, that men can fit better, can be trusted with a free hand in a garment superior to the dressmakers, it cannot be considered strange that they are patronized by the opposite sex.

"Now, as to the operation. No, our customers do not partially disrobe before the cutter. We have a private room upstairs room and an attendant is waiting. In what condition a woman presents herself to be measured depends largely upon the woman.

THE OLD-FASHIONED WAY.

"Her intimate attorneys are not as timid and modest as the average man. The average man, who has measured and fitted himself, does not like to be touched by the tailor. Other women are more sensitive. We make a study of the individual.

"Let us begin with the fashionable society woman, who wants her dresses to fit. She removes her outer wraps in the reception room and is ushered into the cutting and trying on room. Now she shows point of her undressing at a ball, and retire as much as possible. She has on a pair of tights, a corset cover and a skirt, and is ready to be measured. Her arms have been bared from the neck on down, and the sleeves have been pulled down over the shoulder blade and part of the shoulder. Then his measure is a straight line from the throat down to the floor, with the end of the waist, which is now worn long. Then he measures the sleeve from side to side over the shoulder blade. The waist measure follows. Then diagonal lines are taken from the top of the shoulder to the middle line of the bust, and are continued below and to the narrowest part of the waist. Then a line is taken from under the arm down to the waist. The measurements of the back are now taken.

"Yes, all obligingly mentioned the tailor, "the different measurements, and the latter most assuredly lightly touch the person. But the whole proceeding is done in a delicate and especially polite manner.

"Many fashionable ladies are measured over a corset cover, which conceals the bust. Others prefer to have the measurements taken over the corset, which conceals the figure from the side, and while others decline to have men measure them, and the corset is worn over the chemise. The rotting and fitting in all cases, however, is done by ladies.

"After taking the measurement the cutter at once withdraws, and in due time the garment is sent home. The customer returns to be fitted. The trying on, or fitting, of the dress is much longer and more difficult. If she has other than women and children to wait upon, she has a full dress rehearsal, with hooks and eyes and buttons and basting threads and pins. Then the second and the last time. The latter is the practical eye quickly over the form before him; discovers and remedies with the best; loosens or tightens the fit under the arms; draws in a bit at the back; lengthens the waist, and, when it is over, the dress fits as tight as a drumhead. Then she steps down and off the platform and totally sets the dress upon it, but the result cannot be so satisfactory as upon the living form.

"The most difficult dress to fit and to make," said the tailor, "is a riding habit. Well-nigh impossible upon the fit of this garment. We make the habit without the skirt. Then that of the ordinary tailor gown, and the skirt is fitted by an entirely different system. We have a wooden horse—a wooden horse and carefully fit the skirt to the curve of the knee on the position and the slope of the hip. It is positively difficult to fit a riding skirt so that it will not wrinkle.

"When I was requisite to wear trousers under the skirt our lady attendant would take the measure and the cutter cut them. But you can't fit a woman with a pair of trousers, anyway. This fact is patent to any body who has ever had occasion to see the lower extremity breadth of hip and thickness of thigh, peculiar shape of limb and muscle which distinguish the ballet girl on the stage dressed in man's clothes.

READY TO BE FITTED—A BOTTICELLI TAKE.

"It is not now fashionable to wear trousers under riding habits, but tights or silk tights. Yes, regular stage tights. The skirts are cut to the form described, and the fitting begins with a fine figure is certainly an object of delightful contemplation.

"As I said, we are entirely informal, whenever give us the least trouble and we like them best of customers. When they come to be fitted for a tailor-made gown they don't waste any time over the operation, nor do they act modestly. They want their dresses altered and they demand a perfect fit, and they get it.

"I make the clothes of a well-known actress who shines in male character parts. She is built on the lines of the Venus de Milo, and has a head and mouth of her mamma upon the nobby and exquisitely fitting suits she wears. In fact I make the clothes for several actresses who come into square in my parts. In all cases the measurements are taken in the same manner.

SHE WANTS A TIGHT-FITTING DRESS TO MAKE HER LOOK THIN.

"The ladies bring with them a pair of silk tights, and I fit them to the form with a corset, in the private dressing room. The tights are put on over all underclothing, and the man or any other girl or tight open single perpendicularly a scale which follows the inseam, and is secured by the opposite sex.

"Now, as to the operation. No, our customers do not partially disrobe before the cutter. We have a private room upstairs room and an attendant is waiting. In what condition a woman presents herself to be measured depends largely upon the woman.

THE WOMAN OF FASHION.

"Her intimate attorneys are not as timid and modest as the average man. The average man, who has measured and fitted himself, does not like to be touched by the tailor. Other women are more sensitive. We make a study of the individual.

"Let us begin with the fashionable society woman, who wants her dresses to fit. She removes her outer wraps in the reception room and is ushered into the cutting and trying on room. Now she shows point of her undressing at a ball, and retire as much as possible. She has on a pair of tights, a corset cover and a skirt, and is ready to be measured. Her arms have been bared from the neck on down, and the sleeves have been pulled down over the shoulder blade and part of the shoulder. Then his measure is a straight line from the throat down to the floor, with the end of the waist, which is now worn long. Then he measures the sleeve from side to side over the shoulder blade. The waist measure follows. Then diagonal lines are taken from the top of the shoulder to the middle line of the bust, and are continued below and to the narrowest part of the waist. Then a line is taken from under the arm down to the waist. The measurements of the back are now taken.

"Yes, all obligingly mentioned the tailor, "the different measurements, and the latter most assuredly lightly touch the person. But the whole proceeding is done in a delicate and especially polite manner.

"Many fashionable ladies are measured over a corset cover, which conceals the bust. Others prefer to have the measurements taken over the corset, which conceals the figure from the side, and while others decline to have men measure them, and the corset is worn over the chemise. The rotting and fitting in all cases, however, is done by ladies.

"After taking the measurement the cutter at once withdraws, and in due time the garment is sent home. The customer returns to be fitted. The trying on, or fitting, of the dress is much longer and more difficult. If she has other than women and children to wait upon, she has a full dress rehearsal, with hooks and eyes and buttons and basting threads and pins. Then the second and the last time. The latter is the practical eye quickly over the form before him; discovers and remedies with the best; loosens or tightens the fit under the arms; draws in a bit at the back; lengthens the waist, and, when it is over, the dress fits as tight as a drumhead. Then she steps down and off the platform and totally sets the dress upon it, but the result cannot be so satisfactory as upon the living form.

"The most difficult dress to fit and to make," said the tailor, "is a riding habit. Well-nigh impossible upon the fit of this garment. We make the habit without the skirt. Then that of the ordinary tailor gown, and the skirt is fitted by an entirely different system. We have a wooden horse—a wooden horse and carefully fit the skirt to the curve of the knee on the position and the slope of the hip. It is positively difficult to fit a riding skirt so that it will not wrinkle.

"When I was requisite to wear trousers under the skirt our lady attendant would take the measure and the cutter cut them. But you can't fit a woman with a pair of trousers, anyway. This fact is patent to any body who has ever had occasion to see the lower extremity breadth of hip and thickness of thigh, peculiar shape of limb and muscle which distinguish the ballet girl on the stage dressed in man's clothes.

READY TO BE FITTED—A BOTTICELLI TAKE.

"It is not now fashionable to wear trousers under riding habits, but tights or silk tights. Yes, regular stage tights. The skirts are cut to the form described, and the fitting begins with a fine figure is certainly an object of delightful contemplation.

"As I said, we are entirely informal, whenever give us the least trouble and we like them best of customers. When they come to be fitted for a tailor-made gown they don't waste any time over the operation, nor do they act modestly. They want their dresses altered and they demand a perfect fit, and they get it.

"I make the clothes of a well-known actress who shines in male character parts. She is built on the lines of the Venus de Milo, and has a head and mouth of her mamma upon the nobby and exquisitely fitting suits she wears. In fact I make the clothes for several actresses who come into square in my parts. In all cases the measurements are taken in the same manner.

SHE WANTS A TIGHT-FITTING DRESS TO MAKE HER LOOK THIN.

"The ladies bring with them a pair of silk tights, and I fit them to the form with a corset, in the private dressing room. The tights are put on over all underclothing, and the man or any other girl or tight open single perpendicularly a scale which follows the inseam, and is secured by the opposite sex.

"Now, as to the operation. No, our customers do not partially disrobe before the cutter. We have a private room

AFTERNOON TOILET IN CLOTH AND FUR.

GOOD CAUSE FOR SHUDDERING.

Why Fleming a Small Body Made the Man Who Saw Him Shudder.

The Rising Author was strolling along the avenue with a friend. Whenever they met a beggar the Rising Author would look sorry the friend said:

"This is the day the Weekly Thunderer pays out. Let me go and get you a dollar."

"No, no," said the friend, "I don't want to go with you. I'll wait here."

The Rising Author went on alone, and as in the friend's mind that he was stood it at the club that evening. And he was greatly puzzled. Why, he thought, was that elaborate effort? Why was he allowed to say he had declined?

"I have it," said the other, evening. Two small pieces of cloth velvet rested on the lady's head. At the top of each piece of velvet some soft, downy lace, and resting between lay a small, dark, shiny object. Then a little tiara of brilliants crossed the folds of lace.

Another had a cache of black lace all around in place of the velvet band, and a bunch of the pale blue tips in front, with one blue aigrette at the side and gold pins. The lady's pale blue bodice was almost hidden by a lovely Marie Antoinette fichu of black lace, edged with lace, that was caught on the shoulders with standing bows.

Every lady wears a fichu nowadays. They call it paletrie in Paris, but its more than a fig soldier with a bow hanging from the back. It is made of a bit of shoulder cape, a cape that does not reach the elbows and doesn't cover them. This cape, usually made of black velvet, is trimmed with fur. Curve it slightly downward at the back over your own so that it will fit your shoulders.

THEATRE CAPOTE.

Take the pieces of felt that are left over, and make some pretty loops and bows for the front of the hat. Let the ends be quite long. Put on a few fancy quills—there are some pretty ones to be had that add a wonderful piquancy to a plain hat—and the hat is complete and becoming. If you want to introduce a little color, do so right. It may add to the good effect; but if you have only the quills and the felt, and combine them carefully, you will have a hat that is quiet, very genuine. However, it is and every one of these made opportunities for the display of the new and handsome hooks and hour and one, separated by and tastefully, his ability to make a friend. He turned and then the rest said to him: "Old man, what's the matter? Why do you shun the club when your kind of warm are cold? What's up?"

The Rising Author groaned. "O, you're all right," he said, "but, you see, my new book's just out. It's on the counters now. But I say, those plans of yours are splendid. You go on and get your dollar. I'll wait here."—Detroit Tribune.

A Blow.

Scene—After I left you last night a fellow knocked him out of the game.

Spleen—He must have hit you on the head.—Puck.

Railroads.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

THE STANDARD RAILWAY OF AMERICA

Operated, Controlled or Leased by the

PENNSYLVANIA COMPANY

TRAINS FOR THE WEST.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Standard Time at Station Foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in Effect, NOV. 13, 1892

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

PLAINFIELD AND SOUTH AMBOY.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

TELEPHONE COMPANY!

STRIKING CONNECTION WITH OVER 6000 TELEPHONES IN NEW YORK, BROOKLYN AND NEW JERSEY.

Central Office, North Avenue, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

TELEPHONE TOLLS RATES FOR FIVE MINUTES CONVERSATION.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY

Years experience in the business.

GROOM STREET, 2 DOORS ABOVE PASSAIC ST.

ALBERT HEDGES, Livery and Boarding Stables

FOURTH STREET,

Between Watchung and Park Avenues, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Wife—Dearest Love,

"Grandma, darling, do you love me?"

"Love you, sweetheart, my father with regard to your social and financial standing?"

"I love you, sweetheart, diamonds, and or Swift?"

"Everything."

"Then I will leave you, Reginald!"—Boston Globe.

In the Suburbs.

Mrs. Hardup—If there is anything I hate, it is to be a borrower.

Mrs. Subbub—So do I. Now, there is Mrs. Wombat, what a nuisance she is! She is always borrowing. I've told her time and again that the celery roots did not grow—that we didn't know how you managed to get them.—Judge.

Mrs. Hardup—The old cat! She took in washing a year ago to support the family, while all she did was on a stay with drunk. I hate gossips!—Truth.

Inconsistent Testimony.

Mr. Rocklin—I confess, Miss Mollygarvey, to having loved you for years.

Miss Mollygarvey (just admitted to the bar)—Mr. Rocklin, I have only to remind you that the standard writers on jurisprudence are unanimous in declaring testimony by other gentlemen as conclusive proof. Good day sir.—Detroit Tribune.

A Natural Question.

Son—My head is a whisky straight? Father (who knows whereof)—Essay, my boy, is a question of grant and ancient wealth; a disposition to fight a man twice your size as optional for men who have not the price of liquor, and to be receiving nightly; any one of them may be called a whisky's jests.—Judge.

A Misplaced Compliment.

He—You are still amiable and beautiful.

Miss Elderly—Don't say to tatty me. I was never lovely or amiable. I was always thought to be quite plain.

He—Will you allow me to say that you are remarkably well preserved?—Texas Siftings.

Couldn't Tell a Lie.

"Just throw me half a dozen of the biggest of them trout," said a citizen to the fish dealer.

"Throw them!" exerted the dealer.

"Yes and then I'll go home and tell my wife that I caught 'em. I may be a poor fisherman, but I'm no liar."—Boston Bud.

Trying to Please.

Wife (in railway train)—It's mortifying to have you not so. When you get up and help that young lady raise her window.

Husband—She's so pretty I was afraid you'd be mad.—N. Y Weekly.

A Fair Arrangement.

He—Will you kiss me?

She—But—that would be awfully bungler.

He (desperately)—Well, may I kiss you?

She (with surprise)—Why, certainly. —Truth.

Rude.

Wealthy but Economical Father—Do you know, my son, what strict economy would do for you?

Son—I don't know what it has done for me, father, and I respect you for it.—Brooklyn Life.

Neck and Neck.

—Truth.

As a Temperance Lecturer.

Guest—Waiter, bring me some rice pudding.

Waiter—Rum, I can't just remember de rice pudding to-day.

"What is the matter with it?"

"Puffin', 'cept dar ain't none."—Texas Siftings.

Starting in Wrong.

Dear me, you go so soon, darling? It is early yet, you know, and mother won't object if you stay until twelve.

Yes, my own, but that only gives me two hours in which to say good night.—Life.

Something Not to Swear.

"Why did you break your engagement with Miss Flimsey?"

"It had to be the disagreement or me, and I'm too fond of good living to go home boarderless."—Texas Siftings.

How the Doctor Puts.

Wellman—I say throw physic to the dogs.

Doctor—All right. Do as you please. As for myself, I can get more for it elsewhere.—Detroit Free Press.

A Private Matter.

Stout Lady—Does a bicycle reduce the flesh?

Mr. Slimpson (wearily)—If you buy it on the installment plan it does.—N. Y. Weekly.

"Your proposal is unexpected, Mr. Jaggles," said the lady at Saratoga. "Now I will give you time to think it over."

"Thank you, Miss Spencer. That is—what I have always—now then in the habit of doing—in cases of the kind."—Harper's Magazine.

Considerate.

The boys have been making a great deal of noise and at last their father appeared on the scene and, raising Tommy, spoke to Sarah Ann.

"Don't you suppose, mother, we have disturbed the neighbors?" asked Tommy.

"No, my son," answered Sarah Ann, "I am sure we have not disturbed any one but ourselves."—Texas Siftings.

Quite Unnerving.

He—I believe in the old saying that 'love is blind.'

She—Do you?

He—Yes-no; I've noticed that lovers never seem to discover it when they are left in the dark.—Truth.

As the Clock Struck Twelve.

Mr. Staylute—Yes, Miss Genevieve, I have been hunting for lodgings all the week.

Miss Genevieve—You seem to have found them at last, Mr. Staylute.—Cleveland News Record.

Know His Man.

Footpad—I want your watch.

Chelly—I—I—I haven't a—any with me.

Footpad—Oh, I know that. Gimme the ticket.—Chicago News Record.

A Woman's Reticence.

Mrs. Brady (proudly)—Me Mary Ann has a pianny.

Mrs. McNally (a rival)—Och! Yez needn't think I'm goin' to have me frien' th' neighborhood wid her outlandish p'anos.—Puck.

The Ages of Women.

The life of woman is of ages three:
The baby stage, the miss and then
The single state, and second time
There under the auspices dark Father Time.
—N. Y. Herald.

MISCELLANEOUS MISCELLANEOUS

E. P. THORN,

No. 17 Park Avenue,

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Pure Wines and Liquors,

For Family and Medicinal Use,

A SPECIALTY.

What is

CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria. Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

Dr. G. C. Osgood, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones by forcing upon their stomachs, sickening syrup and other horrifics down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. Kincheloe, Conway, Ark.

Allen C. Smith, Pres., The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

Manly Hurt.

Mrs. Wade was in our respect a "womenterested" woman to live with, as her husband experienced to his sad "no imagination," he said, and "would ask the servant girl to marry him."

At the supper-table Mr. Wade mentioned a tragic circumstance that he had heard that day on the newspapers. A passenger on a transatlantic steamer had fallen overboard in mid-ocean, and had never been seen again.

"Was he drowned?" asked Mrs. Wade.

"Oh, no!" of course not," said Mr. Wade. "But he sprained his ankle, I believe."

Willing to Compromise.

"No," said the young woman. "I can never be! I wish I could have spared you the pain of this refusal, but you would!"

"Don't say you will 'always be a sister to me,' Miss Merlelgh!" bowled the disappointed man. "Anything but that!"

"No, Mr. Wellelong," she said, gently. "I am hardly old enough for that. "But I might be—a niece or something of that kind, you know."—Chicago Tribune.

Sorry to Go.

Little Dot—Mamma is going to take me with her when she visits Aunt Jenny.

Little Dick—She's goin' to take me, too.

"Did she say so?"

"No."

"Then how do you know?"

"She'll never leave me here with that almost full of jam."—Good News.

A Consumer Needed.

"I don't need nothing," said Mrs. Jaysmith, when she opened the door in response to a ring and found a peddler there.

"Pardon me, madam," he replied, "but I think you do need a consumer. I'm sorry I do not carry them with me Good morning."—Harper's Bazar.

As a Close Shooting.

Jones—If Mr. Oldboy makes any such assertion I will denounce him as a liar.

President—Mr. Jones, I call you to order. Our by-laws do not allow you to go that far.

Jones—Then I call Mr. Oldboy a liar as far as it is permitted by the laws of the association.—Texas Siftings.

Solving the Problem.

Deacon Waybach—But the life o' me I can't see why the boys rush into the city an' leave the farm.

Farmer Corntossel—Well, I've an idee. It's because they're so tired o' the blamed thing they don't want to take it with 'em.—Texas Siftings.

Wanted Sustenance.

Queer Party—Got any barometers? Salesman—Not this is a book store. Don't keep 'em.

"Excuse me! but I notice in the weather reports that the barometer is sometimes stationary."—Texas Siftings.

Quite Unnerving.

He—I believe in the old saying that 'love is blind.'

She—Do you?

He—Yes-no; I've noticed that lovers never seem to discover it when they are left in the dark.—Truth.

As the Clock Struck Twelve.

Mr. Staylute—Yes, Miss Genevieve, I have been hunting for lodgings all the week.

Miss Genevieve—You seem to have found them at last, Mr. Staylute.—Cleveland News Record.

Know His Man.

Footpad—I want your watch.

Chelly—I—I—I haven't a—any with me.

Footpad—Oh, I know that. Gimme the ticket.—Chicago News Record.

A Woman's Reticence.

Mrs. Brady (proudly)—Me Mary Ann has a pianny.

Mrs. McNally (a rival)—Och! Yez needn't think I'm goin' to have me frien' th' neighborhood wid her outlandish p'anos.—Puck.

The Ages of Women.

The life of woman is of ages three:
The baby stage, the miss and then
The single state, and second time
There under the auspices dark Father Time.
—N. Y. Herald.

Ethics and Climacy.

Jonathon—Give a sentence illustrating the correct use of the words clean and cleanly.

Little Girl—If a boy's mother and his grandma and his aunts and his sister add the servant girl is cleanly, the boy will be clean sometimes.—Good News.

Parent of Her own Ideals.

Van Dennitt—Hear about the quee creek Mrs. Whitefiance made about the servant question?

Allen C. Smith, Pres., The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

Van Arndt—No; what did she say?

"Wished her cook may happy returns o the day."—Truth.

Nipped in the Bud.

"Seems to me I know your face," said Mr. Harrison to the office seeker. "Can I can't place you."

"Nuff said. If you can't place me I'll go home." And he went.—Brooklyn Life.

A Proud Boy.

"My brother wears long trousers," swapped Wallis.

"Huh!" sneered Bobbie. "So does my father."—Harper's Bazar.

The Bright Side of It.

Patient—I am very miserable, doctor; I have no appetite whatever.

Doctor—You are in big luck, now that everything has gone up in price.—Texas Siftings.

Darkness Had No Terrors for Him.

Binns—Are you as much in the dark in your profession as I am in mine?

Dings—More; the old gent shuts off the gas at ten.—Town Topics.

The Ideal of Wedded Bliss.

Arbelbright—I am very nearly happy in your married life?

Alicia—Yes, very. We have lots o quarrels, and I always win.—Truth.

Shop Has His Leads.

"Does she share her husband's burdens?"

"Yes. Jack's loads are her chief trial."—Life.

Great Provocation.

Mamma—Johnny, didn't you strike Willie?

Johnny—Yes'm; but he hit me back. —Puck.

What to Make Quick Cakes.

Two quarts of flour sifted with a teaspoonful of salt. One cup of fresh, good yeast, one cup of fresh milk and three eggs. Mix three-fourths of the flour (three pints) into a batter with the eggs, milk and yeast and beat it well. Into a clean, dry tin bucket sift the half of the remaining pint of flour, over this pour the batter. Sprinkle lightly over it the remainder of the flour and set it by to rise. Do this about dark, and at nine o'clock the batter will have risen up through the flour. Take out three-fourths of the sponge into a tray bowl and mix and knead it well. Put it back into the bucket and then roll it out on a floured work into the dough a large teaspoonful of nice butter. Mold into large sized cakes kitchen with a rolling pin to nearly an inch in thickness. Grease a pan and put them in to rise again; when light bake in a quick oven and serve at once. A delicious bread for breakfast.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Cornstarch Biscuits Lead.

Spread the lard out carefully on fine white paper and cover with calcined magnesia; fold the paper over it and lay away under a heavy weight for two or three days; then all it will need is a little rubbing to remove the powder, and your lard will look fresh as new.

A Lucky Creature.

Mrs. Meadow—My sister is just the luckiest girl that ever lived. You know she married a summer boarder, and he lives in New York.

Mrs. Lawnmo—Yes.

Mrs. Meadow—Well, she's got the branch so bad now she can't smell.—N. Y. Weekly.

Only Half Way.

Algy—Mr. Bunker, I think I have been in your employ long enough to be entitled to an increase in salary.

Bunker—I agree with you partly, Mr. Billfers. I think you have been in my employ long enough. You can go.—Boston Globe.

A Forgetful Man.

She—It is not right for you to be flirting with young ladies, particularly when you were married only last week.

He—By Jove, that's so! I had forgotten all about it. Please excuse me for my absent-mindedness.—Texas Siftings.

A True Son.

"Your boy's English is rather bad Mrs. Mockridge," said the merchant to the office boy's mother.

"Three for you, Mister Smithers. He's Oirish all true," replied the proud mother.—Judge.

True Views.

Marie—So man should kiss me unless he was engaged to me.

Claire—And no one should be engaged to me unless he kissed me.—Detroit Free Press.

The Constitutionalist,
A DEMOCRATIC WEEKLY.
R. L. FORCE & A. L. FORCE, Editors and Proprietors.
AT PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.
TERMS.—TWO DOLLARS A YEAR.

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST.

VOL. XXV. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1892. No 51.

"Support the Constitution, which is the cement of the Union, as well in its limitations as in its authorities."—Madison

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

JACKSON & CORNELIUS,
Counsellors-at-Law,
Solicitors of Bonds, Mortgages, Chancery, and Notaries of Wall Street, and General Agents, [1y52]

GILBERT W. DAY,
General Auctioneer,
Sales of Personal Property solicited. P. O. Box 118, Plainfield, N. J., or address 5 and 6 Cor. of Old Constitutionalist. Terms reasonable.

DR. CHARLES R. THEIS,
Dentist,
28 West Front Street. A new local anesthetic for extraction of decayed teeth without pain. Gold filling a specialty. [1y52]

BUSINESS CARDS.

P. P. VanArsdale,
PIANO TUNER.
Instruments put in thorough order. Orders left at Peterson's Music Store, Park Place, Plainfield, N. J., or sent by mail, will receive prompt attention. Terms moderate. [1y52]

T. J. GILLIES,
Actioneer & Real Estate Agent.
A. SEEDOZE—Radios Attorneys and Friends Plainfield, N. J.
Goods received on Consignment.

John Chandler,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
Residence and shop No. 56 East Third street. Jobbing promptly attended to. [1y52]

E. B. MAYNARD,
PRACTICAL BARBER
AND
Artistic Hair Dresser,
No. 26 PARK AVENUE.
Ladies' and Children's Hair Cutting done at all hours. Shaving, Shampooing, and Hair-dressing performed. [1y52]

CARNEY BROTHERS, Agents,
7 West Front St.
TINNERS,
PLUMBERS,
GAS FITTERS.
PARLOR STOVES.
COOK STOVES, & HEATERS.

A. M. SEGUINE,
(Successor to John W. Laing.)
Laing's Hotel Stables

Front street, opposite Madison avenue.
Coaches for Weddings, Parents and Private Calls. Light carriages of all descriptions for pleasure.

RIDING OR LIVERY
Careful, safe drivers furnishing rigs or horses are driven, when desired, without fee or charge. Leave word by telephone or otherwise. [1y52]
TELEPHONE CALL NO. 64.

RICKERT'S
ACCOMMODATION EXPRESS.
OFFICE—Vanderbeek's Music Store, Park avenue. The "accommodation" of Plainfield will be attended to the general carrying business of the town. Orders left at the office, or sent by mail to the store, or left at my residence No. 20 Watson avenue. Moving of Furniture, Pianos, etc., with care and safety.

INSURANCE.
WILLIAM A. WOODRUFF,
FIRE AND LIFE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Office cor. Front St. and Park Ave.,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Real Estate for Sale & Exchange.
MONEY TO LOAN
On Approved Security.

Fresh Garden Seeds
AND FERTILIZERS,
Farm and Garden Implements.
Lawn Mowers, Refrigerators,
Ice Cream Freezers
Gasoline Stoves,
Hardware, Tools, etc.
J. J. HRIDELOUP,
No. 10 Somerset St. [1y52]

GEO. A. MOORE. GEO. S. COOK.
Moore & Cook,
(Chesterson Building)
Dealers in
Fruits and Vegetables.
Game and Poultry
At wholesale. Terms cash.
NO. 44 NORTH AVENUE.

CANOPIES
For Weddings, Parties, Etc.,
TO HIRE. CHARGES REASONABLE
Hugo Weigman,
20 EAST FRONT STREET, PLAINFIELD, N. J.
[1y52]

LEWIS B. CODDINGTON,
(Successor to W. S. Corey.)
Furniture and Freight Express!
OFFICE—No. 27 FRONT ST.
Leave word with Mr. Goode, Goode Corey, and at your residence or office. [1y52]

D. W. LITTELL,
No. 2 North Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

MISCELLANEOUS.

FOR MALARIA,
GENERAL DEBILITY
AND
ALL STOMACH TROUBLES
COLES'
PERUVIAN BARK
AND
WILD CHERRY BITTERS
ARE THE BEST.
A Vegetable Substitute for Quinine.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
Price, 50 cents and $1.00 per Bottle.
MANUFACTURED ONLY BY
D. F. COLES DRUG AND MFG. CO
Rahway, N. J.

Jas. M. Dunn,
Dealer in
GROCERIES, PROVISIONS,
Vegetables, Fruits, etc.
No. 36 Park Ave.
OPPOSITE NORTH AVENUE.
THORBURN & CO'S GARDEN SEEDS,
BEST IN THE WORLD.
ALL GOODS DELIVERED PROMPTLY. [1y52]

PAINTERS & PAPERHANGERS' SUPPLIES.
Paints, Varnishes, Glass,
WINDOW SHADES AND FIXTURES.
WALL PAPERS!
PAPER HANGING A SPECIALTY.
A. SWALM,
No. 5 North Avenue, Plainfield.
[1y52]

ESTABLISHED 18 6.
C.E. & J.W. RROWN,
(Successors to G. P. A. C. E. Brown & Co.)
Importers, Wholesale and Retail Dealers in
WALL PAPER.
NEW YORK.
English Tiles, Asbestyne, Hand, Louvre' Raised Flock Papers, &c. Borings for Walls.
Manufacturers of Window Shades.
[1y52]

LIVERY.

A. M. SEGUINE,
(Successor to John W. Laing.)
Laing's Hotel Stables

Front street, opposite Madison avenue.
Coaches for Weddings, Parents and Private Calls. Light carriages of all descriptions for pleasure.

RIDING OR LIVERY
Careful, safe drivers furnishing rigs or horses are driven, when desired, without fee or charge. Leave word by telephone or otherwise. [1y52]
TELEPHONE CALL NO. 64.

Parlor Stoves,
Furnaces, Ranges,
Water Piping. Plumbing.
Heater Work. Tinning,
Hardware.
A. H. GRIFFEN,
12 East Front Street.
TELEPHONE CALL, 6. [1 11-12]

Beautiful Assortment
Furniture!
Largest Assortment!
Best Goods!
Lowest Prices!
Ever Offered in Plainfield!
23, 25 and 27 PARK AVE.

Garret Q. Packer,
SANITARY PLUMBING,
Brick and Portable Furnaces,
GAS FITTING,
TIN ROOFING,
Etc., Etc.

"I am prepared to do any of the above branches in a strictly first-class, workmanlike manner."

Having associated myself with the Tower Ventilated Combination of New York city, I am prepared to put one of their ventilators on any house. Satisfaction guaranteed. Parties in want of work will please call and leave address at store.

TOBACCO, CIGARS, &c.

H. EGGERDING,
No. 17 Park Avenue,
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Manufacturer of the Celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR,
Composed entirely of the finest and most delicate Havana tobacco. Also manufacturer of HAVANA CIGARS A SPECIALTY.
A large assortment of the choicest Brands of Imported and Domestic Cigars always on hand. Retail Agent for Actiebrau in Great Variety. [1y52]

C. M. FINE,
Dealer in HAVANA & Domestic
CIGARS!
No. 10 PARK AVE., (NEXT DOOR TO RECORDER.)
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Tobacco and Smoker's Articles, Fancy Goods, etc.
Also manufacturer of the Celebrated "Fine" Cigar. [1y52]

A. WOLFF,
Manufacturer of
CIGARS,
and dealer in all kinds of Smoking and Chewing Tobacco. Also agent for the celebrated Actiebrau Cigars. Store next to W. Front street, in 61 West Front street, you find one of the finest stocks of cigars in the city. Call and be convinced. [1y52]

Woolston & Buckle,
PAINTERS,
Wall Papers,
AUDITORS SUPPLIES, 28 NORTH AVENUE
[1y52]

Notes of Advertising

Space	1 W	2 W	3 W	1 M	2 M	3 M	6 M	1 Y
1 in.	$1.00	$1.50	$2.00	$3.00	$4.00	$5.00	$8.00	$12.00
2 in.	1.50	2.00	2.50	4.00	5.00	6.00	10.00	15.00
3 in.	2.00	2.50	3.00	5.00	6.00	7.00	12.00	18.00
4 in.	2.50	3.00	3.50	6.00	7.00	8.00	14.00	21.00
5 in.	3.00	3.50	4.00	7.00	8.00	9.00	16.00	24.00
6 in.	3.50	4.00	4.50	8.00	9.00	10.00	18.00	27.00
7 col.	10.00	15.00	20.00	30.00	40.00	50.00	80.00	120.00

All Electric's must be cash must.
Double rate, 50 per ct. advance of above rates.

THE CITY AS SQUATTER.

He Could Easily Have Subsisted on the Pokumus of Job.

Sickness at the rate of Everybody Who Has Chosen Those Quarters.
Children Dying Like Flies Scattered by Open Sewers.

[Special Letter.]

A KANSAN once was the home of a typical squatter. There were acres upon acres of the county, but it fell to the lot of the Arkansan squatter to be made famous by a seeming story of a piece of rolling prairie. The squatter was a man of the backwoods and the squatter has retired up his few hogs and corn and his family, and his log cabin, for stretch a fence with barbed wire upon it, he has put aside his long rifle and his pistol to a corner, and has become a tiller of the soil. Like most of the features of a new nationality he will after a while become widely known as a tradition, a lofty historian, in striving to catch the spirit of great epochs, will be compelled in drawing colors the strange conditions of the past, will scarcely notice the squatter, will be content with a few words and his pretense of never yielding to surprise; but the squatter's wild morals, more and more tame as the years pass on and his pretense of never yielding to surprise; but the squatter's wild morals, more and more tame as the years pass on, will whistle and fiddle its way from the past to the future.

I came upon a genuine squatter not long ago, while traveling at a meager rate of speed through the Cherokee nation. It had crossed the Cherokee nation but had crossed the Arkansas River when it occurred to me that I didn't know whither I was going. In truth, I was lost; and, after wandering about in the woods for nearly a day, I came to a small cabin surrounded by a "post" fence. The first survey revealed no sign of life, but a closer one discovered a gaunt old fellow sitting on the ground with his back against a tree. I rode up to him and, with a show of composure as to what form of salutation might most acceptable to him, I began to search my stock of cordial greetings, when the old fellow looked up and with a drawl said:

"Hillo! or just a-goin' somewhere?"

"Well, I had thought of going somewhere, but I am simply riding for a ride."

"No, you ain't! you air just settlin' thar on a hoss."

"I'm not right," I acknowledged, and then added: "How can I strike the Fort Smith road?"

"With a rock, I reckon, an' maybe if you was to git good enough you mout hit it with a stick."

"How can I find the Fort Smith road is what I mean."

"Then why didn't you say so?"

I waited for him to give me directions, but he said nothing. Indeed, he appeared to have dozed off.

"How can I find the road?" I asked.

"Jy hookin' for jy, I reckon."

"But where shall I travel?"

"I reckon on the ground would be the best place to travel."

Oh, come now, you are perplexing."

"Yes, so is a hoss."

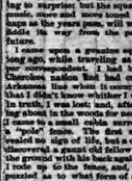
"You mean for a horse?"

"I'm not hookin' for a hoss," I said, thinking that the better plan would be to propitiate him.

"Well, what d'ye want for one thing?"

"What's that?"

"There's a dog round yander behind the house."



"RIDES ON FIRST A-SIDE" SOMEWHAT."

"Where are all your people?"

"Stranded back in the woods."

"Hoosier or Buckeye?"

"Don't know exactly, but wife she says I don't favor your'n."

"I don't know squarely, but wife she says he favors me some."

"Ain't hey mostly hops or mostly girls?"

"I don't know as to that, but they air pretty badly mixed."

"How old is your oldest?"

"Don't know; she's older than the youngest."

"Well, how old is the youngest?"

"Well, he wasn't he's till after the red row fell off'n the bluff."

"When did she fall off?"

"Oh, 'bout six months bein' my youngest child was hatched."

"Ah, you are quite a character."

"No'n a goat."

"My dear sir, I am lost and should like to get all my wits and—"

"Here you are."

"Yes, that's a fact, and what I want is to know how to get away from here."

"Ride away, or lead yo' hoss and walk."

"Come, tell me—"

"Don't wanter come; rather set whar I am."

"You'll force me to lose my patience after awhile."

"Lose all you want to; they are safe round here."

"Will you tell me or will you not, how, by looking on the ground or in any other way I can find the Fort Smith road?"

"You, by goin' to it."

"Ah, but how can I go to it?"

"By ridin' or walkin'."

"I'm half inclined to get down there and—"

"Wash your mouth. Ain't shuck none sence I had the chills. Like to shake my teeth out. Them chills are such a power of good to stretch."

"I didn't think that such a human being as you could be found living on this earth."

"Well, I don't livin' none too purty at present, but I reckon I'll git better 'fore taxes gits ripe."

"Do you know where the Fort Smith road is?" I asked, getting down a little angly.

He looked up innocently and answered:

"You foot in one place an' then in another."

I turned away disgusted, and had not gone far when I heard the old fellow laughing a chuckling laugh, and I fancied that it was his way of laughing at his own drollery.

Believing that I should soon come upon some translation worth of civilization and hoping that I might then meet with a more polite native, I continued to ride, but nothing of the kind occurred. The pine trees still the forest was unbroken. The sun went down in a cerulean tinge, and then in a short time I was lost in the darkness. I wondered myself in the wilderness of space for not having shaken off the old fellow, and then I began to fall to—I was just about indulging in a bellow that would have been a cry for help, when I saw a light flickering in the distance. I rode toward it, and soon came to a cabin. Dismounting, I rode toward it, and soon had arrived for a bellow that would have been a cry for help, when I saw a light flickering in the distance. I rode toward it, and soon coming to a spot of fence I halted and shouted a hello.

"I'M LOST AND ALMOST STARVED."

The door slowly dragged open. A man's voice cried:

"Git!"

"Say sir, I'm lost and almost starved. Have you a dog in the house?"

"Yas. What'll you give me for him?"

"Gracious alive, I don't want him."

"No did I."

"Say is it possible that you are going to use me this away in this rain?"

"Dogs don't mind rain, nor dark."

"You are an infernal scoundrel, that's what you are."

"Well, you mout be makin' up yo mind too fast. You ain't disinterested all my fine p'ints yit."

"I have been told before, I didn't believe that such a human being as you existed on the face of the earth."

"Well, you better go back an tell what he's spoilt to strike. No man ain't so bad but what he mustn't l'arn nothin' the next day."

"I'll try you one more time. May I have the dog or not?"

"Why, of course. You air perfectly welcome."

I jumped down and was soon inside the cabin, where I found a gaunt woman and I don't know how many children.

"Now I'll go out and take yo' hoss and feed him, an' then, you know the rest. Jump in an' git to bed."

They gave me the best they had—bacon and, they insisted upon making him only bed in the house while they slept upon the floor. In the morning they gave me a digital, which I took as a compliment to a guest in the backwoods of the south, and when I asked the old fellow for his bill he laughed heartily.

"Why, you don't owe me nuthin'," he said, "an' I don't want you ter try ter make me, for I won't have it."

I thanked him profusely and had mounted my horse to ride away, when he called me back and gave me minute the direction to the Fort Smith road.

"Say, stranger, I reckon you'll remember this old yan say it was to the Fort Smith road?"

"I will," he answered with his aggravating drawl.

"Are you going to see me ride off this way or not?" I asked.

As idea struck me and I got down and went back into the house.

"By the way," I asked, "how can I find the Fort Smith road?"

His manner had undergone a complete change. "Go right out yonder the first blazed oak tree, take the path yander' a mile, then left, ride straight ahead an' you'll come to the road."

The evening of the threshold found a world of difference in the squatter that cabin, all men were the legitimate prey of his annoying drollery, but, inside the house, they were friends, and he was delighted to serve.

OUR BRAIN.

THE CUP THAT CHEERS.

It's Not Popular in Washington's Official Circles.

President Harrison Every Inch a Prince at His Receptions—Diplomatic Parade—A Congressional Row.

[Special Washington Letter.]

During the first session of the present congress the country was surprised and pained by the announcement that Hon. Mr. Watson, of Georgia, had a member of the body of representatives had been in an intoxicated condition while making a speech upon the floor of the house. The charge was investigated by a committee of the house, and, after taking testimony, reported that the charge of intoxication was without foundation. The committee, the impression prevails throughout the country that there was a great deal of social tippling done in Washington; and there is something of truth in the exaggeration in the main assertion.

It is true that it is customary in society here, as it is in social circles in other cities, to have wine at banquets and receptions, but it is not true that this custom is always observed to an unlimited extent.

It is well known that the president of the commander in chief of the army and navy, is a total abstainer. Gen. Harrison on the subject of temperance views of such a prominent character that the friends of the cause have looked into the white house all alcoholic liquors were banished. However, at a recent dinner given by the president in honor of a senator, wines have been served, but the president himself has been seen to drink nothing but water. On the other hand, Mrs. Harrison is a strong temperance woman, and while declining to preach temperance principles herself, she has by her influence succeeded in securing the total abstinence pledge of many of the ladies who are prominent in official circles.

Vice President Morton and Mrs. Morton are also total abstainers, and the latter is a leading temperance worker in the capital. Secretary Tracy and Mrs. Tracy

The Constitutionalist.
W. L. FORCE, A. L. FORCE
Editors and Proprietors.

UPSET.

In the early days of railroad construction in Tennessee, that, now, the tariff question was a leading topic for discussion. While the village store and around the smithy's shop rustic denizens were wont to assemble and attentively listen to local oracles as they fiercely denounced the evil effects of a tariff, picturing it as a monster of hideous aspect, in fact little short of a destructive demon.

Two mountaineers who had been thoroughly imbued with tariff ire, but who had never seen a railroad, started one day for a trip down country. Leisurely jogging along they came to a road laid with iron rails, and as they were in the act of crossing, self-confident and deaf to danger, around a curve came a whining locomotive and train of cars, striking and knocking their old wagon into kindling wood and hurling its occupants into a muddy ditch alongside the roadbed. When the frightened fellows emerged slime-covered and had regained sufficient consciousness to speak, one of them, rubbing the liquid dirt from off his face, thus accosted the other:

"I say, John, what on airth was that thing what upset us?"

"I dunno exactly know Bob," replied his companion, "but I think it must have been that bloody tariff broke loose."

The Republican party encountered a similar catastrophe on the Western prairies last month.

What struck it?

POLITICAL MORALITY.

What constitutes political moral forces?

Hon. Carl Schurz truthfully answers the question as follows:

"They are that patriotism which subordinates every other consideration to the general welfare, honor, and greatness of the country.

That instinct of justice which loves right as right, abhors wrong as wrong, and wishes every man to have his due.

That sense of duty which inclines a conscientious endeavor to understand what is best for the country and every citizen in it.

That honest purpose and courage to do what is right.

That loyalty inauilinese which disdains shame and subterfuges."

And the fact that Grover Cleveland was known to honestly possess and would, as President, carry into effect such political virtues, gave him November's overwhelming popular majority.

CHRISTMAS.

We are again on the threshold of the blessed anniversary of Christendom, a reminder of that natal day when the angelic choir sang—"PEACE ON EARTH AND GOOD WILL TO MEN."

It is a season of hallowed memories, of joyful rejoicing, of happy commingling, kindly greetings, generous offerings, and may it prove a benediction of good for all, both rich and poor, within the palace and lowly hut.

Peace in lieu of wrangling discord.

Good will instead of embittered word and deed.

With thankfulness for the past and hope for the future our salutation is—A MERRIE CHRISTMAS!

Mr. Armour, the most millionaire of Chicago, has presented to that city a princely sum for the establishment of an institution to be known as the Armour Institute, and designed for the teaching of manual training, science and art. That is much more commendable than subscribing to a political corruption fund for the purpose of trying to carry the State of Indiana for Harrison.

The will of Jay Gould, covering an estate valued at seventy-two million dollars, has been filed with the Surrogate of New York City, from which property the State will realize about $700,000 collateral inheritance tax, fortunately leaving enough to provide food, clothing and shelter for the testator's six children.

A large boodle sum was fried out of the New England tariffites to infuriate the Republican Presidential machine. The investment having failed to pay back rich dividends as expected, some out-of-pocket gentlemen now want to know where their money went.

Mrs. Miller's Kind Advice for the Little Ones.

The ladies of the Children's Home wish to thank most cordially all the friends whose gifts made Thanksgiving Day so happy for the children; to all the members of the Women's mission for their gifts in money, and a generous supply of fruit, groceries, etc ,and to Mrs. J. B. Miller, who sent all the proceeds of the children's fair at her home. The ladies would say to those who ask, "What shall we send for Christmas?" Crash for handkerchiefs, crash and glass towels for the kitchen, gingham for aprons, shoes, stockings and rubbers, knee-pants for boys from 3 to 11 years old.

The Most Costly Residence Site in Plainfield.

John J. H. Pollion has purchased of George H. Baldwin, through E. C. Mitford the real estate dealer, that remarkably fine building site, 225 feet front on West Seventh street, opposite the home of ex-councilman Ackerman and Col. and Capt. J. Frank Hubbard. The property was formerly the Gardenvoir estate and occupies the entire block from Madison to Central avenues. Mr. Pollion will erect on the site a handsome colonial residence.

The price given is the largest ever paid for any residence site in this city. E. H. Edwards Fisher who built the Fleming house and is now erecting one for F. O. Herring, will be Mr. Pollion's architect.

I have been a sufferer from catarrh for many years. I found a remedy which relieved me at once and effected a permanent cure. I will send a sample free to any sufferer who will write for it. I also have a positive remedy for deafness and will send it on trial. Address, naming this paper, Prof. W. H. Graham, 1032 Wood street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Mayor Hugo Bedin is North Plainfield's right bower. Don't forget to call on him for a loan. Insurance written in the best companies. Office with Wm. A. Lovell, Franklin Pl.

SHOT HIMSELF FOR LOVE.

DRAMATIC SUICIDE OF A YOUNG ORIENTAL.

His Fiancee's Father Refused to Sanction Him His Blunderings, and He Feared that Rivals Would Capture His Treasure—Sad Ending of a Love Affair.

Ellis Island, age twenty-two, dealer in oriental embroideries in New York city, killed himself at the home of his prospective father-in-law, Mr. Mendes Phillips, and Miss Theresa Hamlin, Clarion Roberts, jr., was the cause.

Miss Hamlin gave assisted pleasure parties at her residence, No. 1,000 Madison avenue, on Thursday evening, and Mr. Phillips was present. Ellis was in love with Hattie, the pretty and pious young daughter of Rabbi Bernard, a leading Hebrew of Jerusalem, who resided at 197 West 39th street, New York.

Bernard's home is a modest cottage at 20 Greenwich road, corner of Harrison street. Akaoui has for three weeks been a guest there. His suit for Hattie's hand had been favored by Mrs. Bernard. The girl's father, however, was opposed to the marriage, and as a dutiful young man he did not wish to marry in opposition to the father's wishes. He was about to leave town, and in his intense jealousy feared that during his absence some rival suitor would captivate his loved one's heart. Altogether he made himself most unhappy, and brooded continually over his sorrow.

Yesterday he told Miss Bernard that business pressed, and that he must go to the work of plastering, in the Seventh-day Baptist church. Yesterday he wrote a letter in French to another paper, stating that he was going to kill himself, since Estelle's father would not let him marry her till he had made a certain amount of money, and that he would die, he feared he could never fulfil. Ellis came to this country from Constantinople not long ago.

Ellis passed a sleepless night, and early this morning told Miss Bernard that he was going to pack up and prepare to go away. He had her cut some clean garments for him, and then shut himself in his room and asked not to be disturbed.

A moment later and two loud pistol shots were heard in quick succession.

At the noise of the shots, Miss Bernard rushed to Ellis's door just in time to intercept her terror-stricken daughter Hattie from entering. The girl was still shut in her night dress, having been dozing in bed when alarmed by the reports. The mother urged the daughter to refer to herself properly, and then by hasty investigation satisfied herself that her fears were realized. Ellis had killed himself.

Mrs. Miss. Bernard told poor Estelle the truth. The girl burst into the young man's room and threw herself in a swoon upon the couch where lay young Ellis dead.

The young man had fired two bullets into his breast, both entering the heart. Death had been almost instantaneous. There was an ugly hole in his breast, where the bullets had torn the flesh. No blood whatever issued from the wound; the bleeding was internal.

Dr. O. L. Jenkins was speedily summoned, but the only service he could render was officially to pronounce the man dead. He notified county physician Westcott, who made an investigation later in the day and gave a burial permit.

A Times reporter was admitted to the scene of the tragedy by the afflicted Emilie herself. Her eyes were much swollen with weeping. She moaned and shrieked as though with a violent nervous shill.

The walls of the entrance hall and stairway were hung with plaster medallions made by M. Bernard for the decoration of Plainfield homes. The little bed room at the head of the stairs was where the suicide had occurred. The body of Akaoui was stretched out on the couch in the corner where he had fallen after firing the shots. The left arm lay by his side, and the right arm stretched across the couch where he had flung it when he dropped the revolver. Miss Bernard had tenderly arranged the covers and after the physician's visit, prepared for the deathly whiteness of the flesh and the half-open, staring, wayeing eyes, one might have supposed the young man was simply sleeping.

All of the blood had left the face, which even to the lips was of a chalky hue. A small, short black mustache graced the mouth. The hair was black and cut pompadour. The features were regular and well chiseled. Akaoui seemed to have been a good looking and promising young man.

Emilie flung herself down beside the respectable clay of her loved one, pressed her cheek against his, kissed him and sobbed out her passion of grief. She called him by every term of endearment, and begged and plead with him to come back to her. She showered kisses upon his pallid lips, and her tears rained upon his brow. Finally she took refuge in her mother's enfolding arm, crying: "Oh, Mama! Mama! He loved me so!"

The mother sadly stroked the daughter's tresses and said "Poor Emilie! Poor Ellis! He was the best young man that ever lived; so gentle, so good-natured! Only yesterday he spent fifty dollars for Christmas gifts. Poor Ellis! Why did you do it! Poor Emilie! What you do now?"

"He looks so natural"—the mother continued to her brown English, bending her head to listen, as though to catch his heart beats.—"I think every moment to see him breathe again, to hear him speak. But ah, he speak not again, he smile on poor Emilie never more."

The reporter left the simply furnished room, with its saddest mantle. Its broken hearted maiden, its silent dead, its heartrending grief. A number of photographs hanged down from the wall, where Emilie's loving hands had arranged them, and a hand mirror stood on a small table at the foot of the couch. It was the last thing Ellis had looked into before he left the room for the last time. It was the last thing Ellis had looked into before he left the room for the last time. Emilie was gazing into the glass as though she would summon his dying glance from its mournful depths.

How One of Plainfield's Most Successful Firms Does Business.

One of the busiest places in town these fine days is the store of White & VanArsdale. This enterprising firm has opened neither palace of commerce, but has given the people the finest selection of holiday goods ever displayed in this growing town, and the elaborate orders of the store prove that the Plainfield people are buying their Christmas goods at home. They buy in large amounts direct from the manufacturers at the lowest prices and give the trade every benefit possible.

Business to Bear Testimony.

Henry Thorne, traveling secretary of the Y. M. C. A., before from Rutgers Hall, Rutgers College, New Brunswick, N. J.:

"I desire to bear my testimony to the value of ALCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS. I have used them for pain in the side and pain across from shoulder to shoulder blade, and they relieved me at once. I have also used them for lame back, and they relieved me in a few hours. They are worthy of all that is claimed for them. I cordially recommend them to all who are troubled with pain."

Sold by druggists. Price 25 cents. Mailed on receipt of price by John Wyeth & Brother, New York.

FIRST OF THE CHORALS.

A Most Excellent Concert With Soloists and Other Features of Interest.

The first subscription concert of the Choral society, which was given Tuesday evening at the Library Hall, was in every respect a most delightful success. The first part of the programme was miscellaneous and the latter part, Gounod's cantata of Rachel's Athalie.

The soloists were Mrs. Charles Tyler Dutton, previously known to Plainfield audiences as Miss Lizzie Bond, Miss Blanche Fellows, and Miss Thomas Hamlin. Charles Roberts, jr., was the reader.

Miss Hamlin gave unstinted pleasure in the programme assigned her, and her full rich tone, remarkably even in quality, her solo, "I have lost my Eurydice," from "Orpheus" by Gluck, was heard with delight and won a double recall. Mrs. Dutton gave "Mirlah's Song of Triumph," by Gounod, in splendid style, showing that she possesses a contralto of ability. Miss Fellows will sustained her part in the quartette.

Mr. Roberts has lost nothing of his ability as a reader that has been gained at last appeared upon a similar occasion, in the same place. His rendition of Boutbet's "A Song in the Market Place" was about to leave town, and in his intense jealousy feared that during his absence some rival suitor would captivate his loved one's heart. Altogether he made himself most unhappy, and brooded continually over his sorrow.

Yesterday he told Miss. Bernard that business pressed, and that he must go to the work of plastering, in the Seventh-day Baptist church. Yesterday he wrote a letter in French to another paper, stating that he was going to kill himself, since Estelle's father would not let him marry her till he had made a certain amount of money, and that he would die, he feared he could never fulfil. Ellis came to this country from Constantinople not long ago.

Ellis passed a sleepless night, and early this morning told Miss. Bernard that he was going to pack up and prepare to go away. He had her cut some clean garments for him, and then shut himself in his room and asked not to be disturbed.

A moment later and two loud pistol shots were heard in quick succession.

At the noise of the shots, Miss. Bernard rushed to Ellis's door just in time to intercept her terror-stricken daughter Hattie from entering. The girl was still clad in her night dress, having been dozing in bed when alarmed by the reports. The mother urged the daughter to refer to herself properly, and then by hasty investigation satisfied herself that her fears were realized. Ellis had killed himself.

Mrs. Miss. Bernard told poor Emilie the truth. The girl burst into the young man's room and threw herself in a swoon upon the couch where lay young Ellis dead.

The young man had fired two bullets into his breast, both entering the heart. Death had been almost instantaneous. There was an ugly hole in his breast, where the bullets had torn the flesh. No blood whatever issued from the wound; the bleeding was internal.

Dr. O. L. Jenkins was speedily summoned, but the only service he could render was officially to pronounce the man dead. He notified county physician Westcott, who made an investigation later in the day and gave a burial permit.

A Times reporter was admitted to the scene of the tragedy by the afflicted Emilie herself. Her eyes were much swollen with weeping. She moaned and shrieked as though with a violent nervous shill.

The walls of the entrance hall and stairway were hung with plaster medallions made by M. Bernard for the decoration of Plainfield homes. The little bed room at the head of the stairs was where the suicide had occurred. The body of Akaoui was stretched out on the couch in the corner where he had fallen after firing the shots. The left arm lay by his side, and the right arm stretched across the couch where he had flung it when he dropped the revolver. Miss. Bernard had tenderly arranged the covers and after the physician's visit, prepared for the deathly whiteness of the flesh and the half-open, staring, wayeing eyes, one might have supposed the young man was simply sleeping.

All of the blood had left the face, which even to the lips was of a chalky hue. A small, short black mustache graced the mouth. The hair was black and cut pompadour. The features were regular and well chiseled. Akaoui seemed to have been a good looking and promising young man.

Emilie flung herself down beside the respectable clay of her loved one, pressed her cheek against his, kissed him and sobbed out her passion of grief. She called him by every term of endearment, and begged and plead with him to come back to her. She showered kisses upon his pallid lips, and her tears rained upon his brow. Finally she took refuge in her mother's enfolding arm, crying: "Oh, Mama! Mama! He loved me so!"

The mother sadly stroked the daughter's tresses and said "Poor Emilie! Poor Ellis! He was the best young man that ever lived; so gentle, so good-natured! Only yesterday he spent fifty dollars for Christmas gifts. Poor Ellis! Why did you do it! Poor Emilie! What you do now?"

"He looks so natural"—the mother continued to her brown English, bending her head to listen, as though to catch his heart beats.—"I think every moment to see him breathe again, to hear him speak. But ah, he speak not again, he smile on poor Emilie never more."

The reporter left the simply furnished room, with its saddest mantle. Its broken hearted maiden, its silent dead, its heartrending grief. A number of photographs hanged down from the wall, where Emilie's loving hands had arranged them, and a hand mirror stood on a small table at the foot of the couch. It was the last thing Ellis had looked into before he left the room for the last time. It was the last thing Ellis had looked into before he left the room for the last time. Emilie was gazing into the glass as though she would summon his dying glance from its mournful depths.

How One of Plainfield's Most Successful Firms Does Business.

One of the busiest places in town these fine days is the store of White & VanArsdale. This enterprising firm has opened neither palace of commerce, but has given the people the finest selection of holiday goods ever displayed in this growing town, and the elaborate orders of the store prove that the Plainfield people are buying their Christmas goods at home. They buy in large amounts direct from the manufacturers at the lowest prices and give the trade every benefit possible.

Business to Bear Testimony.

Henry Thorne, traveling secretary of the Y. M. C. A., before from Rutgers Hall, Rutgers College, New Brunswick, N. J.:

"I desire to bear my testimony to the value of ALCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS. I have used them for pain in the side and pain across from shoulder to shoulder blade, and they relieved me at once. I have also used them for lame back, and they relieved me in a few hours. They are worthy of all that is claimed for them. I cordially recommend them to all who are troubled with pain."

Sold by druggists. Price 25 cents. Mailed on receipt of price by John Wyeth & Brother, New York.

THE BUSIEST MAN IN TOWN.

How F. M. Hulett Has Built up a Business That Had Always Been Considered Impossible in Plainfield.

Standing on the spacious floor of F. M. Hulett's music warerooms, amidst one of the largest stocks of organs, pianos, musical instruments, etc., ever displayed in any city, a reporter of THE TIMES was struck yesterday as less than forty pianos were sold in the label "sold" had been placed that afternoon.

Through the door another, lately boxed, was being carted to a train for shipment out of town, while the affable and complacent proprietor was at that very moment engaged in selling one of his best makes to one of the most prominent members of Plainfield's cultured musical set.

No wonder F. M. Hulett is known by the title of "The busiest man in town". Indeed, it seems impossible that it could be supposed to be impossible to own this city's piano trade from the Van Wyck despisers. When more than two pianos were sold each week the market was supposed to have experienced an unusual boom. But since the arrival of Mr. Hulett and the sale of the big stock of establishment in the Schopflin block, the trade in this line has been won away from the metropolis by his enterprising methods and judicious skill in selecting stock, attractiveness as a buyer, reasonable charges and upright dealing.

His department of vocal and instrumental music trade has also been a revelation and a satisfaction to Plainfield. Every composition published can be found there to-day or will be procured to order on the morrow.

Mr. Hulett, at 74 West Front street, is now offering until after the holidays special inducements in all departments. His stock includes Kranich & Bach pianos, Mason & Hamlin pianos, Starr & Co. pianos, Jacob Bros. pianos, Loading & Co. pianos, Mason & Risch pianos and Mason & Hamlin, Estey & Co. and Mason & Hamlin reed organs, besides all the best makes of small instruments.

A New Way of Putting It.

Lawyer—Now, sir, you say the burglar climbed up the vine and entered the front window, began to walk slowly up the stairs; and yet you did not see him, although you were standing at the foot of the stairs at the time. May I venture to inquire why you did not see him?

Principal Witness—Certainly, sir. The fact is, my wife was in the way.—Puck.

The Connection.

Judkins—I see Mr. Hendricks drunk last night. What's the matter? He's going to the dogs.

Hodgkins—He proposed to two women this season.

Judkins—Ah, yes. Got rejected, of course.

Hodgkins—No; accepted by both.—Judge.

Missing Him Thus.

Great Physician (cheerfully)—Yes, sir, I can reduce you at the rate of five pounds a week.

Patient—How often shall I come around to see you, doctor?

Great Physician—I needn't come at all. I'll just send you a bill at the end of each week.—N. Y. Herald.

Decidedly Unadvised.

Aunt Jane—Thinks of emigrating to be a doctor, eh? Don't you do it.

Young Man—Why not, aunty?

Aunt Jane—You can't get so practice till you get married, an' ye can't get married till ye get practice, that's why.—N. Y. World.

Selfishness.

She (of Chicago)—I don't think I could ever marry an American.

He (also of Chicago)—I dare say not. But why?

She—They nearly always refuse to supply their wives with grounds for a divorce!—Truth.

Hard Lot.

"I had awful hard luck," said the forger to his companion in flag thing. "I spent a month getting the signature of a reputed millionaire down fine, and when I got him inked ready the fare fool went into bankruptcy."—Judge.

A Satisfactory Arrangement.

"Madam," said the lawyer to his client, "the jury gives you $10,000."

"Good" was the reply. "That, with the $10,000 we are suing the railroad for, will make quite a nice sum."—N. Y. Sun.

The Difference.

"We doctors have the advantage of you clergymen; we preach while you only preach."

"Very true; we can only tell people to go to Heaven, but you send them there."—Life.

Polite, Anyway.

Marie—Do you say "farewell," "adieu" or "au revoir" when you leave your friends are leaving you?

Jeannette—Neither. I say "Oh, say a little longer."—Chicago Tribune Record.

The Honest Way.

"Well," said the landlord impatiently, "your cake is dough."

"How do you account for it?" "We haven't a good butter."—Demorest's Magazine.

Not Used to Criticism.

Judge (to plaintiff in divorce)—You say the woman refused you to marry her before you were introduced, do you?

Plaintiff—Look at her, your honor, and judge for yourself.—Brooklyn Life.

Complimentary.

Chumley—I see in the paper that your son had accepted a position.

Hunks—He did—accepted it philanthropically; he was flunked.—Puck.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

MR. AND MRS. ROBIN AT HOME.

IN THE ROBINS' SONG.

Little Songs Learned in Very Tender Lessons.

It was a bright April morning. The sun was shining, the birds were singing, the lawn had sold the modern adorable that the was coming; and they had all turned pink. Mr. Robin was carrying last year's nest in the direction of the big cherry tree, when, all at once, the dreadful spectre of his glad little life broke into a heartrending horror by seeing Mrs. Robin.

Mrs. Robin, seemed so suddenly from her morning nap, popped her head out of the nest and, in a loud, gay, cold voice called to Mr. Robin:

"Oh, you little chirp! "You might better be getting breakfast, and not waking up the whole neighborhood with your rackets so fast."

Mr. Robin stopped in the middle of his nest trill, and looked down with amazement to the limb where Mrs. Robin was perched.

"What has the matter with her?" he thought, and then he hopped down by his limb and said, in a low voice, so that his little red-breasted made no cross that morning.

"What's the matter, my dear? Has anything gone wrong?"

"You, indeed," said Mrs. Robin, already ready to scold. "Here I have been all selfish, chattering sparrows in our dawn tree, where we were going to build our nest, and there, they have got the finest worms, and their nesty crumbs, the old widow. I don't see that I'll have to do so those lazy old new-birds do—lay my beautiful eggs in some one else's nest, and then I won't have any more little birds to feed and love. Oh dear! and Mrs. Robin began to cry.

Mr. Robin thought to himself: "This surely is an April morning; but," he said, with a bright little chirp, "I'll get you some worms, my dear, as soon as I can find them. Don't cry, dear, for we must be busy. We little red-breasted made no cross that morning.

"What's the matter, my dear? Has anything gone wrong?

CITY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE, THE COUNTY AND THE CITY, AND HAS THE LARGEST CIRCULATION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF ESSEX.

J. A. DEMAREST - - City Editor.

—The Courier says "His words of injunction read."

—The present common council will meet in final session Tuesday evening, Dec. 27.

—A decent mixed candy consisting of dipped cream bon bons and fine chocolates at Compton's at 40 cents a pound.

—Henry Hammell, of 30 Stebbins place, this city, has a fine collection of all kinds of butterflies on exhibition at the Central pharmacy.

—Among the features of the Corset Bead fair in the rink, is a pair of Bayonet extension canes to be voted to the most popular school boy.

—The Central railroad settled with Joseph Angerbauer, jr., Friday, for his slight injuries in the Greenville collision. The amount paid he refuses to state.

—Does the city owe you money? You must have your bill in the city clerk's hands by saturday, as the last meeting of the present common council takes place next.

—$64,000 on the new year's tarrot has already been collected. Or than the treasurer will pay to the county, Dec. 22, $30,000, to the city and $10,000 to the state.

—Those big show windows at Pastor's furniture emporium look finer than ever. They have been rearranged so as to present the handsome goods to good appearance.

—Freeholder George Bellows, whose house was robbed Tuesday night, claims to have secured evidence sufficient to warrant the arrest of the suspected person.

—The official count of the votes of the United States just completed, gives Cleveland a popular plurality of 391,979. His plurality in 1884 was 23,005; and in 1888, 96,534.

—Imagine a bird with ruffles on it. Yet that's what the Courier must mean when it speaks of "ruffled grouse". Sportsmen know of no "ruffled" species, but "ruffled" is something new.

—356 tickets have already been sold for the amateur theatricals at The Casino, Thursday evening, the 29th inst. They may be obtained at Reynolds's and the Central pharmacies.

—The committee on Christmas entertainment of the Crescent Avenue Sunday-school request the usual donations of cakes. Send them to the Sunday-school room, Friday morning.

—Don't forget the faithful and obliging mail carriers, in the distribution of Christmas tokens. They work hard for you the year round, and do favors out of the strict line of their duty.

—As a cure for sore eyes the Courier recommends that a fly alight in the dropped half a cup of hot milk. On the same principle, if your toe hurts, cut off a branch of a persimmon tree.

—J. Marshall & Ball, the people's clothiers, are obliged to keep their Newark stores at 807, 809, 811 and 813 Broad street, open every evening until 9 to accommodate their Saturday trade.

—Wonderful! The Courier now speaks of architect Teale as "auctioneer Teel", and says of a society event that "Marcel furnishes the music and a New York orchestra furnishes the music"!

—The rehearsals of the amateur theatricals to be given at the Casino, the evening of the 29th inst., show that a great deal of talent to amateurs talent of the sort has been hidden away or undeveloped "in our midst".

—Improvements continue on Westervelt avenue, formerly Bay street, the side of the road. Another long block is now to be built, on the plot at No. 14. Most of the sidewalks are already paved, and the balance soon will be.

—The road-bed along Prescott place in the western part of the city is in a disgraceful condition, and after a heavy storm it is impossible for pedestrians to pass. Residents who have lived on that street for a great many years say they never heard to complain that they have never seen the street commissioner and his men at work on that street since they came there. This is the only street that needs repair around this neighborhood.

They Should n't Do Anything Rash.

A word of warning to the Peace street objectors who are planning to fight the enterprise in the courts.

If they decide to join purses and go to the expense of getting a certiorari of the proceedings into the courts, they will be expending just as much as though they paid their assessments without grumbling, and then they won't have the street to show for their money. Furthermore, they will be putting the township to heavy expense which they as taxpayers will have to pay for.

The chief objector is W. E. Brock. He was assessed $50 benefits on each of his lots. He thinks this unjust. Yet a real estate expert says he pays value Brock's lots at $100 more apiece, because of the new street going through.

HYMENEAL.

Cobb—Southwick.

At the home of the bride's parents, 30 Sandy street, at high noon yesterday, occurred the marriage of Miss Florence Viviense Southwick and J. Clarence Cobb of New England City, North Dakota. The Rev. O. L. Goodrich was the officiating clergyman. Only the immediate friends were present. After the ceremony a sumptuous dinner was served.

The following instructors compose the faculty of the Y. M. C. A. educational department: G. Q. Packer, Geo. B. Chandler, J. H. Hunter, Rev. Samuel Pearson, Frank B. Randolph, H. C. Munger, R. H. Ladd, jr., E. A. Embury, E. L. Wain jr., and J. A. Robinson. A. J. Gerrell, C. H. Rose, J. C. Whiting and Frank W. Howland have either substituted or rendered temporary assistance in this department.

Rev. J. P. Armstrong, brother of manager T. S. Armstrong of Reynolds's pharmacy, set sail from New York some time ago on a Pacific Mail steamship bound for San Francisco, which he safely reached on the 1 02 train for Portland, Maine, where the honeymoon will be spent. Upon their return they will reside in Plainfield. The groom is largely identified with the sheep industry of the west.

Second Night of the Band Fair.

Should the attendance increase each night during the week as it did on the second night of the Plainfield Cornet band fair, the big Crescent rink will hardly be large enough to hold the crowd that will be present on the closing night, and that such will be the case is almost positive.

The large number of pretty and useful articles displayed should induce "buyers" for Christmas to visit the fair. The splendid music offered for the low price of admission is a good treat for "sweet tooth" ears. The nightly "hops" from 10 to 12 are a strong magnet for the lovers of the "light fantastic toe", and the object of the worthy object of helping the representative band of the city in uniforming themselves second to no organization in the state, to that their appearance will be a credit to Plainfield whether parading in other localities or while performing at the summer city concerts, is a fact worthy of the attention of the people of Plainfield and vicinity. The management have accepted the idea (advanced by the business manager of the National Stake and Dispole spokesman because of the Crescent rink) of holding a special matinee Saturday afternoon, commencing at 3 for school children and their parents or guardians, giving a "Gaslight Dance" from 8 to 5, for the children, who still undistinctly enjoy the treat of coming together a few hours before Santa Claus visits them.

PERSONALIA.

The engagement is announced of Miss Elizabeth Way and John Lent.

Mrs. Abner J. Cox will leave Plainfield in a few days for an absence of some time.

Ex-constable George B. Rockafellow is confined to the house with a heavy cold.

Albert Rampen, of Robt. Runyon & Co., has moved into his fine new house on Mountain avenue.

Miss Kate Kimball, general secretary of the C. L. S. C., is visiting her parents in this city for the holidays.

Architect Charles Smith is at work on plans for a fine residence for J. C. Peck, on Mercer avenue, Washington Park.

Mrs. John W. Murray and the Misses Murray will be at home Monday, January 2, from 4 until 7, at 119 Central avenue.

Jane Rotan, aged 81, wife of Robert Wood, died Tuesday at 62 East Fourth street, where funeral services were held Friday.

Signor Crippo, son of President Crippo of Tenerwale, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Griffin at their home on Thompson place.

B. Frank Fenfield is visiting his sister, Mrs. S. S. Struthers, at her home on Madison avenue, after his absence for four years in Nicaragua.

Invitations have been issued for a dance to be given at the home of Mrs. Mason W. Tyler, 23 West Seventh street, Friday evening, Dec. 23.

A $9,000 summer home for Miss Morgan, the millionnaire daughter of the late Homer Morgan, is being built at Southampton, L. I., by architect Forgate of this city.

The funeral of Mrs. Louis Maiter took place at St. Mary's church, on Monday. The Rev. Father Cassing officiated. A handsome floral tribute was presented by Mr. Maiter's fellow employees of Music Hall.

Dr. Comegys Paul, who was taken suddenly and seriously ill just after midnight of Friday last, that doctors and neighbors were summoned and his relatives and lawyer sent for, was much better Saturday.

Mrs. Richard Connors, of West Third street, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Gibbons, of Brooklyn, started Friday for Chicago to spend two weeks with their brother, who they have not seen for over twenty-five years.

The Rev. C. A. Herring performed his first Plainfield marriage ceremony Saturday evening, at 8 o'clock, at the Herring parsonage, Albert Wyckoff and Miss Evaline Thorn, both of this city, were the happy young couple.

John Neighbor is a marvel of letter-carriers. He knows every house in town, and can take any one of the routes and deliver every piece of mail on it as quick as the man on that route regularly. Such a man is a rarity.

Miss Maggie Gladdell, of Liscard, near Liverpool, England, is making a short sojourn with Mrs. C. Schedlin at Dunellen. Miss Gladdell is the daughter of the late Capt. Benjamin Gladdell, who has visited in this vicinity many times in the past.

The Rev. Robert Lowry's Christmas service of song this season, published by the Biglow & Main Co., is entitled "King of Nations", and contains the choruses "Hail to the Conquering King", and a solo and chorus, all the same beautiful vein as the revered composer's sweet music of the past.

Hon. W. Pitt's home on East Front street, where he has lived for over thirty years, is a model of mechanical art. This house, one of the oldest in the city, but well built, has been thoroughly overhauled, and the last touches of March, Ayers & Co's workmen make it one of the admired residences of that retired neighborhood.

Mrs. Catherine Rogers of Washington-ville, widow of Thomas C. Rogers, passed to her final rest in her home above, after a short illness, Tuesday night, aged 76 years. She was 56 years, 7 months and 20 days. She was the beloved mother of Henry Rogers who is well-known in this city and who has been a frequent contributor to the columns of The Press.

Pundita Ramabai, the accomplished Hindoo woman, who is well remembered in this city, and in all of whom a circle was formed for Plainfield, was a guest of a dish of King's Daughters among her pupils in India. She has translated into Marathi the Gospels of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John's workmen make it one of the admired residences of that retired neighborhood.

Mrs. Catherine Rogers of Washington-ville, widow of Thomas C. Rogers, passed to her final rest in her home above, after a short illness, Tuesday night, aged 76

THE LONE FISHERMAN.

Discovery of a Hermit in the Chicago Harbor.

He Lives in a Dilapidated Old Scow and Has No Friends But a Dog.

Mystery Due—A Mystery of Lake Michigan.

[Special Chicago Letter.]

Out on the waves forever—always their lapping voices to lull one to slumber; a rudely built scow for a home and the wide lawn of green waters for a door-yard; the only companion in the perpetual solitude a rough, shaggy dog, full of good spirits and ever ready for an allent master, but wondering back the only familiar sound in the wide stentorous What a life!

Away out on Lake Michigan, at the extreme end of the old government pier, moored by a stranded cable to the timbers of the pier, may be seen, winter or summer, an old scow, very small of stature, black of body, strong of mast and spar, sentimentally disdainful of paint, ornamentation or fine attire of any sort.

It does not require a nautical eye at once to detect that its black beams and worn timbers were wrought together by the unskilled hands of a decidedly amateur shipbuilder.

This queer old shell is the only home of a hermit fisherman named Carl Rious who, by means of his solitary habits, has earned among the fishermen on the pier the pseudonym of the "Lone Fisherman."

He is gray and old, and his face is worn and leathery from years of buffeting with wind and weather. Meeting with financial reverses years ago, disheartened by the death of his wife, he, having been a sailor for most of his life, in the great lonely peace and refuge from his troubles in a solitary life on the wave. For four years he has followed this romantic, if primitive mode of living, his only companion his faithful dog.

Every day, as long as the lake is open and Jack Frost has not yet stiffened to a frozen glare the smiles of the blue waters, he stands on the end of the pier, silent, in the midst of his jolly companions, waiting and watching like the great gray spider for the wriggling victims to get snared in his toils.

His strict attention to business, however, and his way economical ways have secured for him stores and gold more than sufficient to keep him in comparative affluence the remainder of his days; but he prefers his wild way of living and will probably continue till the final frost shall have stiffened his features to ice like to the wintry face of the lake he loves.

Every morning, while the early fogs yet press their white coverlets down on the sleeping bosom of the lake, he betakes himself, and, watched with great interest by the faithful Bobby, prepares his simple meal, and smiles forth. Leaving the dog to finish his breakfast and fond gambol, he steps down into the queer little dory that bobs around the old scow all night like a rat terrier nipping the staid heels of a great Newfoundland.

THE LONE FISHERMAN.

A great peculiarity of the old man's economy is that he invariably rows stern first and "backs water," that is, facing the direction in which he is going and reversing the usual position of the oars. The difficulty of this method of navigation is more readily seen when an examination of the little craft itself shows it to be flat-bottomed and square-sterned. It is very solidly if rudely put together, and like the rest of the handiwork of the old fisherman himself, as is his house, the old scow. Both are made of the heartiest timbers, and the boat in the dory being put in double, and yet stronger beams forming the skeleton of the scow.

It was a new "find," to us two people on the pier this afternoon, this queer mode of life—to us, whose business is to find out "how the other half lives."

The gray old fisherman after his day of solitary toil at the net, with the glistening, gasping spoils in the bottom of his boat, was now pulling—or rather pushing—homeward through the hungry white caps of the wazing high. The silver-lined wings of the sea gulls flashed across his way, so close as to seem with the friendship of familiarity, and the brisk breeze toyed carelessly with his tangled beard and broad, flapped cap, but he regarded them as old friends whose friendly advances he had known for years.

Putting out after him in a rowboat, we came up with him as he was climbing the iron ladder from the dory's stern.

When made to understand the friendly curiosity we entertained toward his dwelling place he motioned impressively bade us to come on board in very much splintered-up English. Bobby, seeming to possess the watchful impression that his master had gone crazy, forthwith proceeded to protect him by denouncing the intruders, by what we no doubt canine profanity, accompanied by a goodly show of fang. He was speedily pacified, however, by the united efforts of host and guests and incidentally by a dainty morsel of fish, and we "walked into the parlor" of the gray spider.

The scow was about twelve feet long and eight wide, divided into two compartments. The south one was the storeroom and the well. Here he packs all the fish he catches, ready for sale. The greater part of this box-like boat being under water, for economy of stands into these rooms, and for a stairway in such he has provided a plank leaned up against the roof with cleats nailed across—"chicken roosts," as one of the visitors called them—for the hens "with just enough room on each stair for one hen."

But the central point of interest lay in the "kitchen."

Clambering out of the store room up the stairway, we were provided a peek what seemed to be a tomato can fixed upright in the roof of the room under our feet, but which proved on inward gation to be the chimney—if one might so dignify it—to the mio-cocopic stove underneath. This tiny fuel-eater was joiced in one small lid and a fireplace about the size of a newspaper man's pocketbook—just big enough to show what there were in it. A square shelf low down on the left served as pantry and dining table. The furnishings thereof consisted of two tea cups, a tin pan, and a wooden spoon. The cooking utensils were of primitive simplicity and numbers and were summed up in an indifferent tin kettle and one small tin pail.

A sailor's bunk at one side and a camp stool completed the furniture of the living room of the family of two.

Up under the roof were small portholes for windows. But doubtless the crumbs of fish and dirty blanket scene from that rude table were soon hastily swept behind them, for Bobby, after a hearty meal, was ready for a romp.

THE ISOLATED ARK OF MUSIC.

Then, with a friendly "Good-by" and "Come again," we left the lone fisherman, which the stillness of the evening seemed more profound, imparted only by a hoarse, appalling bellow from the harbor tug, would be the only sound to break the repose that mind grey head are crowned and mountains than the dreamy, peaceful, hypnotic quiet of the lake. Even those who know but little can realize how much many have to endure in the way of loneliness than others seemingly more favored?

Anyway, this queer habitation, which it is understood is the result of fads, was quite clean and tidy—for a man. The hale old fisherman is evidently fond of his home and the culinary methods were most expeditious.

As we were leaving, he suddenly straightened himself to his upright form at either end of the scow, and, when one end was pointed toward the pier, stepped it impudently, as regards fanciful.

After washing, and salt water it is in winter," said one old salt to a landsman, "you should see what he means. It's cold days when the northwesters come sweeping down the lake that he would wrestle but for some further protection, so he sprinkles a hatchful up one end of the scow, and then another the other, which it down at the sides and is comfortably tented in from the wind and dashing spray.

After casting me down, with a dollop of his grimy cap, he called down mental anathemas upon the heads of the cussed and indignant Bobby: "Ain't Wiedemark's, Fyfe's, Patillon and his brother's, and Wiedemark's, and Fyfe's, and Patillon and his brother's Michigan, whose the jolly tugs were always singing and taking in the "wake" which was the signal for the scow, through the green swells and curling white caps one could scarcely help observing the dreary-looking craft—the queer folks in the world. And yet we are all queer. "For who is wholly sane?" But, as we were assisted to land by the kind and burly ever-amused boatman at the boat house, and plunged into the smoke-enveloped streets of the city, the cable's roar and the voice of the wind seemed echoing to each other: "And I, myself, am strange and lonely."

HIS OWN "CHIEF."

LILIAN C. PASCHAL.

An Outgoing Client.

Lawyer—Yes, I will defend you, but I must insist on my fee in advance.

Pickpocket—Wal, sr—de fact is, boss, I'm dead broke—ain't got a sip! Wouldn't jouse take a watch instead of de cash?

Lawyer—Um-m! It would have to be a good one.

Pickpocket—What style?

Lawyer—Well, if I could get a handsome gold watch like the one the judge wears, I'd—

Pickpocket (with enthusiasm)—Say! I'll see if I can't get a fudge to rob one for me about two seconds, and I'll git dat watch for you.—National Tribune.

Something of a Confidence Game.

"See here!" yelled the wrathful man in he took off his hat and showed a head as bald as a billiard ball.

"Yes, I see," said the druggist. "Did you ever try my unparalleled capillary lotion?"

"That's just what I did," answered the baldheaded man, in tones of wrath. "And here's the result."

The druggist mused a moment.

"It works that way sometimes," he said, "but half the people are so suspicious that it pulls itself out by the roots. Now, if you will only strengthen your scalp by using a few bottles of my aenestetical scalp balm—"

At this point they clinched.—Indianapolis Journal.

Forward.

When one woman rebukes another, the reproved one thinks it well to have his eye open. She was a woman whose clothes were better than her manners, and she was talking loudly.

She walked into the railway car, tilted her head supercilliously, sniffed once or twice, and called in a loud voice:

"Is this the smoking car?"

"No, ma'am," answered a demure young woman in the first seat. "I think you'll find it three cars forward."

CHECK.

Checked.

"Mrs. Small," said the lodger to his landlady, "I thought you didn't allow smoking in the parlor?"

"I don't," said Mrs. Small, with energy. "Who's doing it, I'd like to know?"

"Well, if you have time you might step in and remonstrate with the lamp."—Yankee Blade.

That Horrid Child.

"Good morning, my boy; is your father in his study?"

"No, sir; papa has gone to the dentist's to have mamma's teeth extended to."

"Oh, indeed!"

"But mamma is in."—Le Petit Parisien.

A Naturalist.

Philanthropist—What started you on your wanderings?

Weary Raggles—A good man told me to "go to the woods an' learn a lesson," ordering through the country, studying the habits of the interesting insect, over blade.—Puck.

Cousining.

An invalid undertaker is visited by a friend who is in the same business.

Sick Undertaker—Why, my friend, this is the most terrible attack that I have ever had.

Friend—Yes, poor fellow, and I hope it will be your last.—Texas Siftings.

Invitations Always Accepted.

Mr. Hopeful (feeling his way)—I am so much in your debt for your kindness in opera and theaters with me, I not?

Her Little Brother—Yes, Mr. Nicefellow is away, and you're the only one he isn't jealous of.—Good News.

School Vacillation.

Mamma—Is your new school well vencilated?

Little Girl—Our room isn't, but the room next to ours is.

"How do you know?"

"The children in that room all have colds in their heads."—Good News.

A Latter Day Proverb.

"Be sure you give your children a home," is what old Susy Goodsort said,
But this with little use is out of date—
Just get stated, and you'll be right.

Unnecessary Life.

The Noisy Pantos.

"Come, Ethel! come quick! The hotel is on fire and the halls are crowded with people."

"My gracious! Is my hat on straight?"—Chicago News Record.

Her Curriculum.

Maud—Going to start to college next week? That will be delightful. What do you expect to take for the first year?

Daisy—Oysters, terrapin and cold slaw.—Chicago Tribune.

As Sleepless.

Miss Splendiferous—The wrong family have stolen my diamonds, is our family have always been so unlucky.

Jack Dashing—Then you must be the exception that proves the rule.—Brooklyn Life.

Didn't See It.

He—Isn't that a new door mat you have? Strange I didn't notice it before.

She—You were standing on it before.—Truth.

Delicate.

"What did John say when he found the fish on the door?"

"Nothing."—Puck.

CARDINAL LAVIGERIE.

One of the Most Famous Men in the Catholic Church.

The Remarkable Devotion to the Cause of Liberty of Him the Protector of the Children of France to Revolt—an Active Man.

A Cleveland dispatch to the Telegram Company from Algiers says: that the French cardinal Lavigerie is dead. By the death of this prelate the Roman Catholic church loses one of its greatest prelates, perhaps the most widely known prelate in the world. He was a great friend of liberty, and for years was a champion for piety, and for devotion to the cause of liberty. Throughout his whole career he was a friend of the slave trade in the dark continent, and the founder of which he was always interested and successful foe of the slave trade in the dark continent, and the founder of which he was always interested and successful foe of the slave trade in the dark continent, and the founder of which he was always interested and successful foe